

MISS ALICE E. KOBER
1050 EAST 43RD STREET
BROOKLYN, N. Y.

Feb. 17, 1947

Dear Franklin,

Just a note to say I'm definitely sailing March 7, and leaving England April 17, probably reaching N.Y. about April 23. During that time I'll be incommunicado.

Second - and this is on my conscience: in a moment of mental aberration when I was writing to Dem. Coust. Ktistopoulou, the Greek who is working with the Minoan scripts, I suggested that the Journal might consider articles by foreign scholars. At the time I was thinking that if you were interested in articles on Minoan, you'd have to consider those of foreigners, since so few native Americans are working in the field. I don't know if he'll take me seriously, and I don't know, if he does, whether his work will be any good. I didn't make the suggestion in any official capacity, and if I shouldn't have done it, I apologize.

Third: when I get back I can, if you wish, review 4 articles by Sunderell on the Nagia Triada tablets;
he sent them to me, and anything
he does is important.

Is there anything I can do for you at Oxford?

Hastily

Alice

P.S. I understand Hrozný has published the second part of his "decipherment" of Minion, and that it's worse than the first.
