Cunningham-Kruppa, who begins her service on October 1, will oversee the preservation, care and protection of the Ransom Center's collections and will provide strategic direction for future preservation and conservation initiatives.

Since its inception in 1980 the Ransom Center's conservation department has been charged with the care of the Center's collections including maintaining an optimum preservation environment, overseeing preservation housings, conservation treatment and educating and training more than 80 future conservators.

"I am honored and humbled to be entrusted with the care of the Ransom Center's spectacular collections," said Cunningham-Kruppa. "It is a dream to have the opportunity to work with the Center's conservators and curators to envision an exciting agenda of projects and initiatives for the coming months and years."

We're so proud of you and happy for you,
Ellen!
