Not A-Bomb, but War Blamed at Hiroshima

By BARBARA RUBENSTEIN

Humans who can invent such a terrible weapon as an atomic bomb should be able to find a way to secure peace, the Rev. Kiyoshi Tanimoto said Tuesday evening.

Mr. Tanimoto, survivor of the Hiroshima blast, spoke to one of the largest crowds to assemble at a meeting of the Religious Emphasis Committee.

Throughout the speech, he emphasized that it was not the Atomic Bomb which the dazed victims of Hiroshima spoke against, but the war which caused such a weapon to be used.

The Rev. Tanimoto had been trying to evacuate the church property to a rural area during the time of the blast. He had passed by the city not 30 minutes before. He was in the western end of the city when he saw a blinding flash.

Mr. Tanimoto said he took cover under the stairs and lay down. He felt a strong blast of wind and saw a house behind him destroyed and blown away. There was a deathly silence in the area.

The few survivors who lived to tell the story of the atomic attack said they were in a state of confusion, Mr. Tanimoto said. Since there was no noise, they didn't realize what had happened. People 20 to 30 miles away heard a terrific explosion, he said, but there was no noise in the city.

"It took only a moment to destroy a city of 200,000 population. "The city was all on fire." He saw a street car, which had been hit during rush hour, full of people burned to death. A skeleton was grasping the handle and had one foot on the stair.

One of his friends wandered through the streets a few days later carrying a bundle in his arms. Mr. Tanimoto discovered it was the ashes of what once had been his friend's three lovely daughters.

"Hiroshima was a city of death on that day," he stated. Many who were away from the city later in the day entered to seek their relatives. Many of them were contaminated. Doctors and nurses got radiation sickness by personal contact, he said.

Tanimoto described his feelings as he walked through the burning city and heard the painful outcries for help. "I had to run away," he said, "for fear I would become contaminated also."

He estimated that 170,000 people died that day and 8,000 more during the first two months. The three main causes of death were heat, burns, and radiation. Thousands went to the school and died there. He showed slides of survivors who had lost their hair and had been severely burned as a result of the blast.

One man, Mr. Tanimoto relates, came to his church to pray. He was brown, swollen, and smelled like a dead man. He died while he said his prayers. Others flocked to the church because they thought the blast was a divine judgment of God. They prayed, "O God, forgive us our sins."

The first expression of the Japanese people was, "It can't be helped." This became their new philosophy of life. The people had to have a strong heart, Tanimoto stated, because survival was tough. Many of the remnants of the once populous city had no food, water, or shelter. Buildings were completely demolished.

The Japanese people were not angry at the Americans for what they had done, Mr. Tanimoto stressed. If the Japanese had had the bomb, he said, they would probably have bombed American cities. "It couldn't be helped," he repeated.

Japan Anti-Red Believes Tanimoto

By MILDRED KLESEL

"Japanese people as a whole are opposed to Communism and resent the Russians strongly," the Rev. Kiyoshi Tanimoto believes.

"Communism in Japan is decreasing—the number has dropped from 400,000 to 200,000 during the past two years. When the Japanese were given their freedom they did not know how to use it. Many fell in the path of Communism but now realize it was a mistake and are changing," said Mr. Tanimoto.

"Between 2,000 and 3,000 Japanese were captured in Manchuria and taken as prisoners to Siberia," he stated. "These people were indoctrinated by the Communists and sent back to Japan to preach their teachings. The majority of them now have denounced Communist ties, which means approximately ninety per cent of the total population is anti-Communist.

"The Japanese respected General MacArthur but the change in leadership will not affect their policies tword America," the Rev. Tanimoto said.

Mr. Tanimoto stated the Japanese people have no resentment toward America, but instead look to her for guidance and continued world peace. "The people of Hiroshima observe August 6 (day the bomb was dropped) as a day of prayer and thanksgiving for their freedom," he said.

The Rev. Tanimoto is one of the heroes of John Hersey's book "Hiroshima." At the time of the first atom bomb was dropped he was two miles from the city behind a hill.

He at first thought this to be another air raid, until he went over the hill and saw the entire city of Hiroshima ablaze. The city burned approximately ten hours and at the time 170,000 people were killed; 80,000 died within the next two months.

The Rev. Tanimoto has made a three-fold resolution following the destruction of Hiroshima:

1. To rebuild a great memorial church on the site of the destruction of his own church.

2. To engage in all forms of social service to help alleviate the sufferings of his countrymen from atomic radiation.

3. To originate and promote as his life's calling a great living memorial in Hiroshima of several institutions of mercy and care for the needy to be known as the Hiroshima Peace Center Foundation.

Foreign Student Meeting Topic

Schmoker to Give Campus Challenge

The challenge American campuses must meet in regard to their foreign students will be presented to the international convention by Mr. Ben Schmoker, who has been active in international student relations for many years.

At present Mr. Schmoker is executive chairman of the Committee for Friendly Relations Among Foreign Students. This organization provides much of the orientation and interpretation programs for the nearly 30,000 foreign students studying in the country.

The challenge will be made at the opening session of the convention, Friday morning at 11:30 a.m. There will be a coffee hour from 9 until 11 a.m. sponsored by foreign students for the delegates and other students.

University and students faculty may register for the convention Wednesday through Friday at a booth in front of the Texas Union. The booth will be open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Tickets for the whole convention, including all discussion series and the banquet, are $2.25. The picnic at Greenshores Friday evening will cost 75 cents for those registered for the convention and $1.50 for non-registrants.

The five discussion areas will be a presentation of the problem, orientation, organization, campus outlook, and community outlook. The groups will be led by students from this and other campuses.

Czech Club Hears Legislator Tonight

"The Relation of the Texas Legislature to The University of Texas" will be the title of a talk by Senator Gus J. Strauss of Hallettsville when he meets with the University Czech Club Wednesday night at 7 o'clock in Texas Union 309.

Senator Strauss will speak to students at the request of Dr. Edward Micek, professor of Slavonic languages.

"This is a crucial moment in our lives and we should show great interest in political affairs," Dr. Micek stated. "I want Senator Strauss to know that we are interested."

The lectures will last about 30 minutes, and the rest of the time will be devoted to discussion, he said.

HE Club Cookie Sales Add to Scholarship Fund

Hungry students looking for a mid-morning snack should go to the Great Hall of the Home Economics Building where homemade cookies are being sold every Monday and Tuesday from 9 a.m. until the cookies are sold out.

Money from the sales will go to the Home Economics Club scholarship fund.

2,000 Students Sign For Deferment Tests

Approximately 2,000 students had picked up their application cards for the College Qualification Test by 3 p.m. Tuesday, said Mrs. Mildred Smalley, clerk of Local Boards 119 and 120.

"Students should be particularly careful in filling out their application cards to give the address they used when they first registered under the Selective Service Act," Mrs. Smalley added.

Mrs. Smalley also said that if the student did not have his Selective Service number, which is a four-group number on the classification card, he should contact his own draft board and find out this number before completing the application.

Both of these points are important since they determine which draft board will get the results of the test and, therefore, may decide whether the student is to be deferred.

Students who were not able to pick up cards Tuesday at 304 East Fifth Street, local draft board headquarters.

Mrs. Smalley added that at the present time there is no dealine on picking up the application cards.

The tests will be given May 26, June 16, and June 30.

Finances Topic Of I-FC Trainees

Financial problems of campus organizations during the expected coming critical years will be discussed Wednesday in the second of three sessions of Leadership Training Week. The session, sponsored by the Inter-Fraternity Council, will begin at 7 p.m. in the Texas Union.

Bill Meredith will be the chairman of a panel of four to begin the discussion.

How to cope with financial problems arising from a decrease in chapter membership and increased in costs per member are some of the more vital points to be covered. Presidents of fraternities, co-ops, and clubs are particularly urged to attend.

Advice will be given regarding bookkeeping, food buying, and meal planning. In addition, there will be information on house bills, collections, bank charges, bank deposits, cashing checks, financial reports, and buying.

Architect Exhibit On Until Saturday

For those who prefer extremes in modern functional design, an exhibit of architectural photographs is among those being sponsored by the School of Architecture in Architecture Building 112 and 118. The exhibit will be open through Saturday.

Other designs are the pictures and floor plans on exhibition, which represent the best work of the Texas Society of Architects and the designers of the San Francisco Bay area.

There are two rooms containing photographs. In one are designs and plans of architects in Texas whose work has received awards and honorable mentions by the Texas Society of Architects. Among those on exhibition are the drawings and plans for the Fodren Library at Rice Institute, the Temple Emanu-El in Houston, the Rio Grande National Life Building in Dallas, and the St. Francis Cabrini Hospital in Alexandri, La. All have won awards for meritorious design.

Orange Jackets Tap Seven Girls

The Orange Jackets, University women's service organization, tapped seven prospective members Tuesday night.

They are Dorothea Bachemin, Carolyn Busch, Diana Gerson, Martha Harelik, Mildred Klesel, Bessie Meek, and Sidney Siegel.

The initiation banquet honoring the new members will be held at 5:45 p.m. Thursday in Old Seville.

Both new and old members of the Orange Jackets will wear their uniforms. This will give the seven new initiate Orange Jackets a chance to display the colors for the first time.

Longhorn Band May Receive New Uniforms

Athletic Council Recommends 150 New-style Suits

Fiscal machinery has been set in motion which may weave new uniforms for the Longhorn Band, Ed Olle, business manager of intercollegiate athletics, reports.

The Athletic Council has passed along its recommendation to President Painter. The Board of Regents must finally decide to appropriate the money from the athletic fund for the uniforms.

An estimate of $9,000 as the cost of the uniforms was presented to the Council by band officials. This estimate was based on a $60 cost per complete outfit for 150 members, M. H. Crockett Jr., associate band director stated.

The proposed uniform would hark back to the style prevalent before the bandsmen acquired their "fancy duds," Mr. Crockett reported. It would probably be of the military style with a double-breasted orange coat, orange trousers with a white stripe, and a white hat with an orange band, he said.

In the event new uniforms are approved the present cowboy-style dress would be used for special occasions, as out-of-state or the OU games, the associate director said.

"I would not want it understood that the band is anticipating action by the Board of Regents," Mr. Crockett asserted. "Nothing has been definitely settled regarding the new uniforms, and we are waiting for official approval before any concrete steps are taken," he added.

"If we are lucky, and could have them made in Texas, delivery might be made in September," he said.

Home Ec, Physics Coffee Hour Today

If home economics and physics students would like to meet their profs outside the kitchen and laboratory, they will have the opportunity today.

Another in a series of student-faculty coffee hours sponsored by the Cowboys will be held in the International Room of the Texas Union from 9 to 10:30 for students and faculty of the Departments of Home Economics and Physics.

Originally, the physics coffee hour was scheduled for Thursday, but it was decided to combine the two departmental groups for the Wednesday session.

"Due to heavy schedules for both the student and faculty members, it will require some juggling to attend," Miss Sallie Beth Moore, assistant professor of home economics said, "but I do think it (coffee hour) is worthwhile, and I hope and urge everyone to come."

Miss Phyllis Ilett, assistant professor of home economics, approves of "the idea to break down any barrier that may exist between the faculty and students, even though I don't drink coffee."

And Miss Lucy Rathbone, professor of home economics, had this to add: "All I can say is that I hope a good crowd comes."

But whether you are a coffee drinker or a "teetotaler" this is your chance to become better acquainted with student or faculty, as the case may be.

House Council Auditions Today

Tryouts for the annual House Chairmen's Spring Revue, a talent show, will be held today from 3 to 5:30 in Room 311 and from 8 to 9:30 in Room 316 of the Texas Union.

Members of the Council will judge today's eliminations, who will appear in the show Thursday, April 26 in the Main Lounge of the Union.

Last year's winner was Elsie Dvorak. A first place trophy and second and third place prizes will be awarded.

Bill Bridges, Ranger editor, will narrate the show, and campus personalities will serve as judges.

Every resident of a University-approved dormitory or house is urged to enter. Skits, modeling individually-designed dresses, displaying paintings, or any sort of musical talent is considered for the show.

Hart to Defend Financial Requests

BY AMY JO LONG

Chancellor James P. Hart and other representatives of the Council of Presidents of Texas state colleges will appear tonight before the conference committee studying appropriations for higher education.

Rep. W. H. Rampy of Winters, conference committee member and chairman of the House appropriations committee, said the college presidents would be allowed to give reasons for amounts requested for operations during the next two years.

Tuesday the conferees still had not begun consideration of the higher education portion of the package appropriations measure. For more than a week they have been adjusting differences between the House and Senate prociary, departmental, eleemosynary, and junior college operations of the state.

Consideration of higher education funds may take as long as all the rest of the items put together.

Thus far, senators and representatives have had no serious differences that couldn't be ironed out, reported Rep. W. R. Chambers of May, one of the conferees. But he expects more fireworks on the college funds.

"At least more opinions will be expressed," he predicted "We'll do well to finish in a week."

Among the main points of difference between the Senate and House-approved measures is the issue of line-item or lump-sum appropriations. The Senate bill followed the lump-sum practice established in 1947. The house partially returned to the line-item method of granting funds. Administrative salaries are listed individually, but faculty salaries are lumped together.

The House proposed cuts for several administrative officials, including Chancellor Hart and President T. S. Painter. It also failed to provide funds for the University Board of Development, which obtains gifts from private sources for the University.

Minimum and maximum salary brackets for faculty members in all state colleges were proposed by the House, which also voted to give a ten per cent raise to all state employees earning less than $3,000 a year.

Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton, a member of the conference committee, told the Texan he does not favor cutting essential services of the state, but he believes in economizing wherever possible.

Senator Phillips said he "would not be a party to destroying or reducing the high standards" of the University or any other state institution of higher learning.

Songs and Bandits Folklorists Topics

Another round-up will hit the campus Friday and Saturday when the Texas Folklore Society holds its thirty-fifth annual meeting here.

The society, whose main purpose is to collect, publish, and interpret Southwestern folklore, has full and varied sessions planned with reports by many experts, acording to Dr. Mody C. Boatright, secretary and editor of the organization and associate professor of English.

All sessions will be held in Biology Laboratory 12.

The session Friday night at 8 o'clock will include a report on Children's Counting-Out and Jump-Rope Rymes" by Sue Fraser. Mabel Major, an authority on the British ballad in America and English instructor at Abilene Christian College, will talk on "After Twenty Years."

Dr. Wilson Hudson, asociate profesor of English at the University will speak on "The Bear's Son Story in America"

"Banjo Songs" will be the topic of Julia Estill, author of several articles on folklore.

J. Frank Dobie will close Friday's program with a reqort on "Mustang Lore," the book he is getting ready for publication.

At the 10 o'clock session Saturday morning, Kenneth Porter, noted historian and folklorist who has taught at Vassar and Syracuse, will report on "An Anglo-American Poltergeist from Cisco."

Ernest S. Clifton, on the staff at North Texas State Teachers' College, will discuss "The Wade Hampton Legend in Texas."

Soleday Perez, who received her master of arts degree from the University in 1949, with a thesis on Mexican folklore, will speak on "Mexican Lore."

Gabriel Cordova will speak on "Border Folk Tales" and Cecelia Partearroyo on "The Resurection of Pancho Villa." These two are students of C. L. Sonnichsen author of several books on Texas, at Texas Western College.

Saturday afternoon at 2 there will be a business session followed by a report by Haldeen Braddy, ex-student now teaching English at Texas Western College, on "Pancho Villa Lore." "Selling with a Song; Occupational Folk Cries in Texas" is the topic of Elizabeth Ann Hurley:

Malcolm McLean, an instructor in Romance languages, will end the session with a lecture on "Guillermo Prieto, King of Mexican Folklorists." McLean has just finished his doctor's dissertation on this subject.

Membership in the society is open to everyone interested in exas folklore, Dr. Boatright said. The $3 annual dues include an annual publication. "Texas Folksongs," by William A. Owens, marks the society's twenty-third annual publication.

Other officers of the society are John Lee Brooks of Dallas, president; C L. Sonnichsen of El Paso and Hermes Nye of Dallas, vice-presidents; Miss Emma Mormand of Huntsville, Miss Eleanor James of Denton, and Mrs. John A. Lomax of Dallas, councilors; and Mrs. Marcelle Hamer, special collections librarian in the Barker History Center, treasurer.

Power Show Will Lead Off Crowded May 4-5 Week End

By DEAN JOHNSON and A. J. FISHER

Five events — Interscholastic League, the first Faculty Exposition, the Power Show, the annual Student Art Show, and Varsity Carnival—will vie for attention the week end of May 4 and 5. The Forty Acres will be buzzing with the University and high school activities, with an expected 6,000 high school guests here.

Much public relations groundwork will be laid during the events. The Exposition is designed to orient high school students on the University and the Capitol. And deans from the University of Houston are expected to look over Varsity Carnival as part of their investigation of Greek organizations, prior to a decision about initiating them on their campus.

The Art Show, to be held in the Music Building, will start early in the week and continue through the week end.

The Power Show, which will be held Friday night from 6:30 to 11, is expected to be more elaborate than any in its history.

The Faculty Exposition will begin Friday, but main emphasis will lie on Saturday's full schedule. The Student-Faculty Relations Committee, sponsors, will have a coffee at 9 o'clock that morning in the Main Lounge of the Texas Union to introduce visiting students to campus personalities. Tours leaving the union every 30 minutes will be conducted over the campus and through the Museum and Capitol.

For the first time in ten years, the Department of Chemistry will participate with exhibits in their own buildings, as a part of the Faculty Exposition. The Physics Building has opened its observatory but will hold no exhibits.

For the Power Show, the College of Engineering, the School of Architecture, the Department of Meteorology, and the Army, Navy, and Air Corps ROTC units will present brand-new displays such as Tessie, the Talking Turtle. There will be a few old favorites thrown in like George, the mechanical tic-tac-toe artist, who won first prize for the Department of Electrical Engineering last year.

A radio show at 9:30 in the Engineering Building patio will feature Chancellor James Hart and Dr. W. R. Woolrich, dean of the College of Engineering.

Advance publicity has been sent to almost 2,000 high schools in the state.

A letter from McGregor High School saying that a special bus has been chartered to bring 50 or 60 students to the Faculty Exposition, has been received by the Student-Faculty Relations Committee.

A poster exhibit can be seen in the Engineering Building now. Winner of this year's poster contest is Boykin Bartlett, whose design will also appear on the front of the program for the show.

So with miniature jets and movies, a gun that shoots molten lead, and a radio broadcast, the Power Show promises to be the biggest in Forty Acres history.

And May 4-5 promises to be one of the biggest week ends.

Picnickers and Ants Today

Picnics and swims won't be ruined by the weather today, for the Weather Bureau predicts a "nice spring day." Today will be partly cloudy and rather windy, with a high of 80 degrees. Mild nights and warm days will continue through Thursday.

1951 UIL Meet Opens Here May 3

The University Interscholastic League will holds its forty-first annual state meet here on May 3-5.

Registration and assignment to lodgings will begin at 2:30 p. m. at Gregory Gym. Plans for the contest include track and literary competition, one act plays, journalism convention, special conferences for tennis, slide rule, typing and shorthand, and ready writing.

The annual League delegate breakfast will be held May 5 at 7:30 in the Crystal Ball Room of the Driskill Hotel. The League plans to accommodate more than 200 delegates at this breakfast. Tickets sell for $1.

The business portion of the breakfast will be devoted to a report on ballots voted by member schools and special reports. Among these will be reports on the work of the Legislative Advisory Council, the Athletic Insurance Committee, and other committees assigned to special problems.

Leonardt Krisle, director of slide rule, has organized a tour for contestants and coaches to witness a demonstration of Dr. S. Leroy Brown's mechanical harmonic analyzer, which is capable of solving highly complex equations.

The twenty-fourth annual journalism convention, which runs concurrently with the contests, will be jointly presided over by the Lone Star and Four-City Division presidents, Victor Lary of Highland Park (Dallas) and Tommy Thompson of Arlington Heights (Fort Worth).

Science Professor Gets High Award

Dr. Frederick Albert Matsen, associate professor of chemistry and physics at the University, was one of two Texans receiving fellowship awards from the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation of New York.

The other Texan to win one of the awards, announced Saturday, was William Goyen, Houston writer.

Dr. Matsen's grant is for studies in chemical physics covering interpretation of electronic spectra of aromatic molecules. He is a native of Racine, Wisc., and received his bachelor of science degree at the University of Wisconsin. He took his doctorate at Princeton in 1940. Dr. Matsen was named to the staff of the University in 1942 and has written several articles in technical journals since then.

Carnival Leaders Meet at 3 and 7

Two Varsity Carnival committees will meet today to continue plans for the annual show. The publicity committee will meet at 3 p.m. in the Texas Union to organize its plans.

The whole Varsity Carnival committee will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union every Wednesday to complete plans and check on progress, Bob Blumenthal, Varsity Carnival chairman, reported.

The first two posters from each participating organization are due Monday. They should advertise the carnival, not the show of the individual organization. Each organization will be sent a postcard telling when and where to turn them in.

Posters should be large, but the 5-by-5 foot size specified last week was intended as a guide. They do not have to be that specific size, Lois Anger, co-publicity chairman, said.

Rusk to Hear Hopefuls Thursday

Rusk Literary and Debating Society will hold its regularly scheduled meeting on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Texas Union 301.

Candidates for student president and vice-president will address the group and be available for questioning.

Those who will attend are Wales Madden and Tom Reid, candidates for student president, and Wilson Foreman, David Bennet, Newton Schwarz, aspirants for vice-president.

The public is invited.

This one is entitled "Read the Morning Paper—Always."

University Baptist pastor Blake Smith, in a Tuesday morning broadcast, mentioned that legislative committees should not call people like Mickey Cohen, who is "in another jurisdiction."

He commented that the committee would do better to quiz characters like Sam Maceo.

Maceo, unknown to Smith, died the night before in Baltimore.

He, too, was in another jurisdiction.

Temple Eagles Belt Austin, 8-4

Eagle Don Spyker Pitches 7-Hit Ball

Pitcher Don Spyker did double duty as he led his Temple Eagle teammates to an 8-4 victory over the Austin Pioneers Tuesday night in a Big State League opener.

Spyker scattered seven hits while working on the mound, one a single, the other a two-run homer, when it came his time to bat.

Two pitchers toiled for the Pioneers. Ed Santulli started, but was relieved in the second by Jim Bower.

The game, played in Temple, drew 2,034 fans.

Hard Workouts Prepare UT for Kansas Relays

By BRUCE ROCHE
Texan Associate Sports Editor

Track Coach Clyde Littlefield has seven of his squadsmen who will accompany him to the Kansas Relays this week end working out harder than usual.

Ray Marek, who won the javelin toss at the carnival last year with a heave of 205 feet 4 3/4 inches, has been throwing the pole around 190 feet in practice this week. But some of the experts expect him to toss the javelin over 200 feet at Kansas.

Ralph Person is entered in the 100-yard dash. Charlie Parker gave the Steers strength in this event last year, winning it with a sparkling 9.5.

Ray Womack has been jumping anywhere from 6 feet three inches to six feet five inches in practice in his specialty, the high jump.

Bobby Dillon, Floyd Rogers, Person, and Carl Coleman are entered in the spring relays. Charles Meeks will compete in the broad jump and will serve as alternate on the 440- and 880-yard relay combinations.

Meeks leaped 23 feet 9 3/4 inches to cop the Texas Relays broad jump title.

Coach Littlefield had his trackmen running time trials Tuesday in practice. In the 110-yard dash, Rogers finished ahead of Coleman by just a few inches. Rogers' time was 11.9.

In the 220-yard dash, Meeks was first, turning in a time of 22.3. Coleman, once again, was only a step behind. Person finished third, and Bobby Dillon, fourth.

Dillon has been out only a few weeks. He finished fourth at the tri-meet with A&M and Rice at College Station last Saturday. Texas placed Rogers and Person one-two in that event.

But coaches are dissatisfied with the weather. Trackmen must get up a sweat, they explain, to get in condition. And the weather has been too cool for any of the trackmen to work up a sweat.

While these seven thinnlies travel to Lawrence for the Kansas Relays, the rest of the varsity squad will compete against Howard Payne and Abilene Christian College in a tri-meet.

DIP HOUR AT WOMEN'S GYM

Summer Dip Hour Now Offered for Women

By BETTY SEGAL
Women's Intramural Writer

Make a big splash at the Women's Gym during Dip Hour or during a regular class!

Summer classes are offered for credit or non-credit in swimming, golf, tennis, horsemanship, and corrective exercises.

One-half credit is given for each six-week term, or two courses may be taken concurrently for one credit.

For a fee of $1.00 per term, a girl has the chance to get some exercise during the hot summer months, become skilled in a sport, or simply learn to swim for University credit.

The fee also includes the use of the swimming pool at the Gym during Dip Hour, the right for a girl to meet her girlfriends and classmates on the sun-deck to see who can get a darker tan the soonest, the use of the golf course with equipment furnished, and tennis court privileges.

Classes will also be given at the Women's Gym for non-students, including children, for a $10.00 per term fee. Those wishing to enroll in Dip Hour only, scheduled for 6 o'clock, may do so by paying a $3.75 fee.

CHILI BIGHAM

It Figgers . . .

By KEN TOOLEY
Texan Sports Editor

Bibb Falk's Longhorn baseballers are not only occupying the top berth in the Conference race at the present time, but three members of the squad are holding individual leaderships.

First baseman Chili Bigham, shortstop Eddie Burrows, and pitcher Jim Ehrler have acquired the leading honors.

Bigham, the sophomore hitting sensation of the Falk nine, blasted two hits out of four trips to the plate against SMU Monday to take Baylor's Bobby Stotts' place as the leading hitter of the Conference. Stotts got 0 for 4 against TCU the same day.

The stellar southpaw has been to the plate 21 times in Conference play and connected with 11 hits for an outstanding percentage of .524.

In their northern swing last week end, Bigham was at his best and hit an average of .615 in two games with TCU and one with the Mustangs.

The most amazing turn out in the equad at this point in the season has been that of Eddie Burrows who is second only to teammate Bigham in batting averages. Burrows has .480.

The little shortstop, who was thought to have a tough time filling the shoes of former star Ben Tompkins, not only is second best in Conference batting, but has scored more runs, collected more hits, and has more total bases to his credit than any other baseballer in the Conference.

He has accumulated 10 runs, 13 hits and has a total of 19 bases. But still more credit is due Burrows. He is tied with Guy Wallace of A&M with three two-base hits.

There is probably no doubt about Burrows' ability in the minds of Longhorn baseball fans.

The remaining individual leader on the Steer team, Jim Ehrler, the no-hit pitcher of the NCAA tourney last year, has hurled three games since the beginning of Conference play and has brought home a victory on each occasion.

Five other moundmen in the Conference also have a 1.000 per cent to their credit, but Ehrler has pitched one more game than any other top contender.

Teammate Jimmy Hand is only a game behind the leading Longhorn hurler and is tied for that position with Baylor's Ray Fitzpatrick. Each has won two games with no losses.

Also, credit is due Coach Falk and all other members of the Longhorn squad who have stepped two and a half games ahead of second place A&M.

The Longhorns have met Southwest Conference competition six times and won every time. A&M is the only remaining team that the Steers have not been up against this season and that test will come Saturday at Clark Field.

From all indications Texas should have no trouble with the Aggies. If they do get past them, the Steers very likely will remain undefeated in Conference play this season.

Beverly Hurls BSU Over LSA, 8-4

BSU pitcher Bud Byerly tossed a one-hitter for his team Tuesday night, in leading the Baptists to an 8-4 victory over LSA.

It was Byerly's second low-hit ball game of the year. He had previously corraled the same LSA team with a no-hitter.

Lambda Chi Alpha staged a six-run rally in the last inning to edge Phi Gamma Delta, 8-7. After an early four-run splurge by the Fijis, Lambda Chi starter Dan Hilt and reliefer Rod McDaniel held them in check.

Alba Club pitcher Maurice Zamarrida pitched a three-hitter to pace his team to an impressive 10-1 victory over Dorm H.

Wesley Foundation pounded out eleven hits in defeating Newman Club, 8-1. Wesley and Newman now will play each other once more to determine the league winner, and win the right to play BSU for the Church Division crown.

Boyd White of the Draft Dodgers allowed the Outcasts only two hits in the third low-hit ball game of the night. The Dodgers defeated the Outcasts, 10-1.

Two 8-1 ball games finished out the night's rather limited action. Pem Club pitcher Don "Bulldog" Cunningham had a hard time finding the plate and South Central Texas defeated the Physical Ed majors, 8-1.

NCAA Flag Goes Up Saturday at A&M Tilt

When the league-leading Longhorns meet Texas A&M Saturday in Austin's No. 1 collegiate baseball attraction of the season, there will be an added special event.

A flag-raising ceremony will be held in honor of the two-time national champion Longhorns before the Clark Field contest gets underway. The huge red, white, and blue pennant, symbolizing national collegiate supremacy, will be raised at 3:10 p.m. Saturday.

Dr. J. C. Dolley, vice-president of the University; Charles Robinson, vice-president of the student body; and the Longhorn Band will participate in the ceremony, Athletic Director Dana X. Bible announced Tuesday.

Two and a half games out in front in the defense of the conference championship, the Longhorns will be seeking their 54th conference victory on the home field Saturday. They have not been beaten at Clark Field in league play since April 10, 1943, when the Aggies scored a 12-0 victory over the Steers.

The Longhorns returned to practice on their home field Tuesday after whipping SMU, 12-3, for their sixth straight conference victory of the season.

In addition to leading the race for the Conference crown, the Longhorns are leading in team batting with an average of .311, and a close second to A&M in fielding (.953-.959).

This is only one of four athletic contests this week involving Longhorn and Aggie teams. There will also be a dual tennis meet here Saturday, a dual golf meet here Friday, and freshman baseball game at College Station Friday.

Many Jobs Waiting For Student's Wives

There's a quick, easy way for wives of students to get good-paying part or full time jobs in Austin.

At Durham's Business College here, girls can learn "Speedwriting," the modern, nationally-known shorthand in only six weeks time.

"Speedwriting is entirely unlike the old shorthand methods. "Speedwriting" uses the ABC's—it just turns your longhand into Shorthand.

Visit or write Durham's at 600A Lavaca Street—or telephone 8-3446 for full information.

Durham's is exclusively authorized to teach "Speedwriting" in Austin. It is the only business college here bearing the approval of the State Department of Education and fully accredited by the American Association of Commercial Colleges.

Radio's Responsibility

The Supreme Court Monday upheld a lower court ruling that radio stations are responsible for censoring political speeches made for a candidate by someone else.

A federal law which says that stations may not censor political speeches by candidates is still in effect. The law requires that radio stations, licensed by the government, must, in the public interest, make available equal time to all opposing political candidates and not impose censorship which might change the political views presented in their speeches.

Radio stations have interpreted the law as relieving them of responsibility for any statements made by persons speaking for a candidate. Obvious mudslinging and defamation could be broadcast over a station without fear of legal action against it.

The stations involved in the case before the Supreme Court argued that "The utmost freedom from censorship in political matters is in the public interest." The issue, they said, is vital to the public "whose welfare is the ultimate foundation of the right, and of the limitations on the right, of free speech."

But the rights of freedom of speech and freedom of the press carry with them the responsibility of truth. The new ruling is a step toward assuring proper placing of liability for information or opinion spread by a mass medium such as radio.

A Change?

SAM MACEO, one of Texas' most colorful characters, died Monday of complications resulting from a cancer operation in Baltimore.

Maceo started out as a barber and became, says the Houston Post, "one of the nation's most colorful night club operators." Accused by many as holding a virtual stranglehold over certain Galveston enterprises, Mr. Maceo preferred to be known simply as a "businessman and investor." He was accused by the government in a $5 to $25 million nationwide conspiracy to violate federal narcotics laws, but was acquitted in 1942 after long court proceedings in Galveston and New York City. It was speculated that Mr. Maceo would appear before the Texas House Crime Investigating Committee about gambling at Galveston when he returned to Texas.

Although many charges have been made against gambling in establishments owned by Mr. Maceo, the law has taken very little action against such charges. But nickels continue to pour out of slot machines.

What effect Mr. Maceo's death will have on his organized activities will not be apparent for some time. It would be good for Galveston and Texas if order returned to the island city with regard for all of the public laws. While it is doubtful if the operations were on a nation-wide scale, or even state-wide, such carrying on makes a mockery of law enforcement's good intentions.

No Conflict

APPARENTLY La Prensa in Buenos Aires will continue to be published in some form or other, since its name has been expropriated along with its tangible properties.

A dutiful peronista Congress has confirmed the expropriation, so all is now "legal" in the process by which the greatest newspaper on the continent of South America is first silenced and then pocketed.

It is doubtful that the paper will have any future controversies with the peronista government.

Trinity A Cappella Choir Gives Concert Here Friday

The A Cappella Choir and Opera Workshop of Trinity University in San Antonio will present a concert Friday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Baptist Student Center. This will be the first performance of these organizations on their spring tour. The performance is sponsored jointly by the First Presbyterian Church and the Westminster Student Fellowship.

The groups will present eight choral selections and the opera, "Trial by Jury," by Gilbert and Sullivan, in addition to selections by the Trinity Trio. Mrs. Mary Beth Upshaw, associate conductor of the choir, will conduct the first part of the program.

John Seagle, founder and director of the Opera Workshop, is an internationally-known radio and TV artist and has been tenor soloist on "The Church in the Wildwood," "Cities' Service Program," "Highways in Song," "Voices Down the Wind," and "Evening Serenade." He is director of the Seagle Colony of Schroon Lake, N. Y., which is a summer school of voice and opera training, currently affiliated with Trinity University.

The choir program will include "Adoramus Te" and "O Holy Father" by Palestrina; "I Wrestle and Pray," "Come, Blessed Rest," and "All Breathing Life," by Johann Sebastian Bach; "Blessing of Peace" by Arkhangelsky; "On a Green Hill" by Grace K. Floering; and "Way Over Jordan," arranged by Noble Cain.

The Trio will sing "Allelula" by Randall Thompson, "Who So Dwelleth" and "Thy Giving Power" by Forrest Goodenough, and "Ballad of Brotherhood" by Joseph Wagner. Members of the Trio are Nora Sands, Jane Blake, and Patricia Evans School.

The groups will also present their program in Fort Worth, Dallas, Athens, Denison, and Wichita Falls.

'Mrs. Gus' to Sing Bach, Mozart Today

Edra Gustafson, instructor of voice who will be guest artist at Listening Hour Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Recital Hall, has been singing most of her life.

Her earliest newspaper clipping dates back to a performance when she was 3 years old. She sang at a political rally for Governor O. B. Colquitt when she was only 4.

Since that time however, she studied at Bethany Conservatory of Music in Kansas, Kansas State College, and the University.

She is the wife of F. S. Gustafson, a science teacher at Allen Junior High. They have two daughters, Mary, 11, and Martha, who is in nurses' training at Galveston.

"Mrs. Gus," as she is referred to by her music students, is from a Swedish family of many musicians. Both her parents were talented in music as were most of her seven brothers and sisters.

Her sister, Mrs. I. J. Broman, is a voice teacher in Austin. Her youngest sister, also a musician, is a Red Cross recreation worker in Korea.

Most of her music has been devoted to oratorios and church work. She is organist and musical director of Gethsemane Lutheran Church. She was recently soloist in the Faure "Requiem," presented by St. David's Episcopal Church.

She has also appeared as soloist with the University Singers and the Austin Symphony Orchestra. For four years she was assistant to Chase Baromeo, professor of music.

Mrs. Gustafson's accompanist for the recital tomorrow will be Miss Lois Zabel.

Her program will include "My Heart Ever Faithful" and "Bleed and Break, Thou Loving Heart" by Bach; "Alleluja" by Mozart; "Jeunne Fillette" by Dalayrac; "Apres un Reve" by Faure; "Chanson Nevecenne" by Foudrain; and "Ljus" by Erickson.

Also on the program are "Faceln's Visa" by Soderberg; "Min Sjal, Vak Upp" by Erickson; "The Time for Making Songs" by Rogers; "Workin, Workin" by MacGimsey; "A Brown Bird Singing" by Haydnwood; "At the Well" by Hageman; and "Jong frum Under Lind" by Berger.

Firing Line

"PAINFUL LOSS"

To the Editor:

The intense show of emotions by the people of the United States over the dismissal of MacArthur awakens me to an alarming danger. A large portion of the people and the legislatures of the United States are psychologically ready for fascism. The anxiety and insecurity inherent in our culture apparently has reached the intensity that existed in Germany during the '30's, and in order to alleviate their insecurity this large segment of our population is ready and willing to surrender its freedom for an infantile attachment to an all powerful leader. Omnipotent, omniscent, glamorous, dramatic, and mystical MacArthur fulfilled the need and to lose him was painful.

THE RIGHT TO VOTE

To the Editor:

Elections will be held Wednesday, April 25. It is the duty of every student on the campus to assert himself as a future voting citizen of the US and the world to go to the polls and vote. This campus is representative of a community and is a training ground for future leaders. One cannot truly be a citizen in the fullest sense of the word if he does not vote. Each vote shows that the person who cast it is accepting his responsibility as a citizen in his community, not a do-nothing.

Some will undoubtedly say that campus elections mean nothing—yet the University is our community and those who do not vote most probably will not vote later in general elections.

It is disgusting to know that only one out of every seven voted in the Student Assembly elections. What would happen if there were no student government? Yes, there would be an awful lot of griping. So why don't we do something about our rights? USE them.

French Student Presents Modest 'Normans' Claim'

This is the seventh in a series of ten articles written by foreign students and edited by Anne Chambers. The University will be host to the first international convention in the country this Friday and Saturday.

Hail the conquering Normans!

Jean Douy of the "Normanic tribe," which pitches its tents near the gates of Paris, has written with true Parisian humor in the article below the modest claim of the Normans upon the world.

It's a sensible claim, he insists.

Tall, lanky Jean arrived in Austin last September after seeing the United States via a bus trip from New York. Although it was an educational experience, he admits that it was also rather hard indoctrination after having been in the country only a few days.

Jean, who is not used to a strict curriculum supervision in college, finds—like most engineering students—that lab reports are very bothersome. So are 8 o'clock classes. He is most characteristically pictured lopping towards engineering row in the morning, late to a class but awake hardly enough to notice if the sun is up.

Carrying a full load of courses and a part-time job leaves Jean little time to just talk to people—what he likes most.

He would like to clarify the impression that France is all Follies Bergere. That's all the American tourists care about seeing, he said, and that side of French life is certainly not characteristic of the country nor the people as a whole.

★

"I was requested to write an article about France. The subject being much too specific, I had rather treat a more general problem—that of the Normans and their claim.

"And that I very modestly submit with the sincere belief that consideration will be given to it by the appropriate legislature.

"Here is the claim:

"We Normans

1. Considering the fact that OUR Atlantic fleet of 300 drakkars under the order of Knud the Stern, the year the morning star stood at midnight between the two sister red mountains when seen from Valhalla Creek, landed in that part of the continent which later was called Labrador.

2. That OUR Baltic fleet leaving from the Oriental coast of Scania (southern Sweden, went upstream the Leninskawa River to the Moskawan countries and established there OUR Eastern Kingdom after fierce battles against the Tartaric tribes.

3. That OUR Duke William the Conqueror (Bill the Conk for short), leaving from Normandy (kingdom of France) defeated Harold the Sax at Hastings in 1066 and established there OUR English Kingdom.

4. That Jacques Cartier from Dieppe (Normandy) discovered Canada.

5. That cavalier de La Salle from Rouen (Normandy) discovered Louisiana.

"Claim to be OURS those parts of the planet:

"Where the Scanian Vikings established OUR Eastern Kingdom, including Siam, Fipango, Tahiti and the Moskowite regions,

Where OUR Bill the Conk won his battle over Harold the Sax, including Scotland and South Africa,

Where cavalier de La Salle landed, as well as the neighboring countries, including Alaska, Argentina, and Texas,

More precisely WE very legally claim those parts comprised between the Tropic of Capricorn and that of Cancer, as well as those between these Tropics and the two poles.

This, in order to realize a long and sincerely world unity, which will permit US to raise OUR Apple Trees and drink OUR Cider very peacefully."

'Orpheus' Begins At Texas Theater

"Orpheus," a French picture starring Jean Marais, will open at the Texas Theater Wednesday for a three-day run. Mr. Marais is also the star of "Beauty and the Beast" and "The Queen's Lover."

A silent picture, "Son of the Shiek," starring Rudolph Valentino opens April 21.

Beginning April 24, "The Damned" will show the psychological effect the German defeat had on an assorted group of Nazi agents on a final mission bound for South America in a U-boat. This French film is not for children but provides dramatic entertainment for adults.

"The Angel" will close the Texas Theater's April series of foreign movies. The picture will open April 27.

Fontaine—Cotten Head 'Affair' Cast

A special premiere showing of "September Affair" will be held at the State Theater Thursday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The stars, Joan Fontaine and Joseph Cotten, will be appearing together for the first time. Miss Fontaine plays an American pianist studying in Italy where she meets a vacationing American, Cotten, aboard an airliner bound for New York.

"September Affair" also furnishes Madame Francoise Rosay, famed French actress, with her first role in an American film. Other supporting stars are Jimmy Lydon, who plays a homesick GI stationed in Italy, and Jessica Tandy. This is Miss Tandy's first screen role since her triumph in the Broadway hit, "A Streetcar Named Desire."

The filming was done in Rome, Naples, and the Isle of Capri and was directed by William Dieterle.

"September Song" provides the musical background for the Hal Willis production.
