Dear Sir:

Dr. Mark Francis has sent me the crab clay which you found recently. He states that it was found in the Matagorda River about 20 miles from the bay. Would you please be kind enough to give me a detailed and exact description of the locality where the specimen was found, and of any further pertinent information that you might have concerning the specimen.

Are you, by any chance, going back to the same place? If you do, or if anybody else that you know, did go back there, could you pick up any additional material of any sort, not necessarily crabs, from the same place? This will be necessary to determine the formation from which the crab came which is impossible to do from the specimen alone.

Thanking you in advance for your help, I am

Very sincerely yours,
