Dear Dr. Stenzel:

In reply to your letter April 5, 1961, I inquired the faculty of agriculture of this university as to the number of its journal which you want and found that all copies of the old journal were burnt at the end of the war. Upon my request, however, Dr. Itaru Hayami, here has kindly prepared a microfilm copy of Amemiya's article which is now forwarded ^{to} you by air mail.

As to Dr. Hirase's paper, the author has passed ^{away} years ago, but I heard from the librarian of the Science Council that Zoological Department or Laboratory or University Library of the Universities of Texas, Kansas, Illinois (Urbana), Chicago, Pennsylvania, St. Louis and many other universities in the states are on the mailing list of Japan. Jour. of Zoology. I hope that you will not have trouble to find any one of these libraries the number of the journal you want.

Yours very sincerely,

Prof. Taiichi Kobayashi
