Dear Mr. Stenzel

many thanks for your kind letter of May 15th.
Your suggestion of publishing an english translation of a section of my memoir seems very good. Maybe it was a mistake to have concentrated too many subjects in one paper. Since the largest part is paleontological, it came to be published in a serial that is likely to come only into the hands of paleontologists, most of whom do not care very much about problems of General Geology. And still, it is really the second section, on the structural evolution, which is really the conclusion of the work.

Have you any idea as to where this translation could be published? I could take the opportunity to add some figures (mainly cross-sections).

Yours, sincerely

A. Azzaroli
