Dear Professor Stephenson:

In response to your letter of December 1, 1960, there is being sent to you the reprints of all my articles in the Treatise on Marine Ecology and Paleocology. I am glad you are finding them useful.

I am now engaged in a study of the family Ostreidae for the Treatise on Invertebrate Paleontology and could use oyster material, both literature and specimens. If by any chance you have on hand shells of the common English oyster, Ostrea edulis Linne, I would appreciate them very much.

Sincerely yours,

H. B. Stenzel
