

January 17, 1963

AIR MAIL

The Director of the Albany Museum
Grahamstown, Republic of South Africa

Dear Sir:

Would it be possible for you to send me several well-preserved specimens of Exogyra imbricata Krauss from the Sunday River beds of South Africa? They are needed for study in connection with preparations for the Bivalvia Volume of the Treatise of Invertebrate Paleontology. In return, I could furnish you several species of Exogyra and Texigryphaea from the Cretaceous of Texas, which would be useful for comparisons with your local faunas.

Very truly yours,

H. B. Stenzel

HBS:rd

Shell Development Company
Exploration & Production Research Division