Dear Dr. Stenzel:

Under separate cover is my copy of Ranson's article. You will see that it is indeed "classic" and hardly worth the trouble. When I first saw it, I could hardly believe my eyes. I would like the copy returned after you have finished with it. I imagined that you would have reviewed one from Ranson himself. He might possibly have a supply of reprints.

Incidentally, there will also be a little item in the Journal de Conchyliologie much like the one in Véliger and Ranson has appended a note explaining that he will sooner or later [probably later] publish valid descriptions.

With best regards.

Sincerely,
