

LAW SCHOOL NEWS

Volume 9, No. 3

January 21, 1999

FACULTY WRITINGS

Susan Klein, Successive Prosecutions and Compound Criminal Statutes: A Functional Test, 77 Texas Law Review 333 (1998) (with Katherine P. Chiarello).

Sanford Levinson, The "Bad Man," the Good, and the Self-Reliant, 78 Boston University Law Review 885 (1998) (with J. M. Balkin).

Steven Ratner, The Genocide Convention After Fifty Years, 1998 Proceedings of the Annual Meeting, American Society of International Law 1.

Charles Silver, Do Lawyers in Tobacco Case Deserve Billions in Fees? Yes, Dallas Morning News, 20 Dec. 1998, at 1J.

Michael Sturley, Inadequate Maintenance, Wear and Tear, Error in Construction [Reports from Marine Insurance Symposium, Oslo, 4-6 June 1998], 242 Marlus 106 (1998).

FACULTY ACTIVITIES

News stories on the death of Dean Page Keeton included quotes from Dean Michael Sharlot and Charles Alan Wright in the Austin American-Statesman, Jan. 11, 1999; Ernest Smith and John Sutton in the Austin American-Statesman, Jan. 12, 1999; and Sutton in the Houston Chronicle, Jan. 12, 1999.

At the conference on "Access to Higher Education in the Post-Hopwood Era" sponsored by UT's LBJ School of Public Affairs, Jan. 28, 1999, Dean Michael Sharlot will give a presentation on the obstacles confronting graduate and professional school admissions, on a panel moderated by Teresa Sullivan.

At the Texas International Law Journal's symposium, "Human Reproduction and the Role of International Law," Feb. 4-5, 1999, at the Law School, Sarah Cleveland will speak on "The Effectiveness of Existing Human Rights Law for Protecting Reproductive Rights," John Robertson will talk on "The Arguments for Cloning," and Robertson, Antonio Benjamin, and Francesco Francioni will serve as moderators.

The business bankruptcy study being conducted by Teresa Sullivan, Jay Westbrook, and Elizabeth Warren for the National Conference of Bankruptcy Judges was featured in the Dec. 25, 1998, issue of Consumer Financial Services Law Report.

Philip Bobbitt spoke at the presentation of the Rebekah Johnson Bobbitt Prize for poetry to Frank Bidart, Oct. 22, 1998, at the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C.; his remarks were quoted in the Dec. 1998 LC Information Bulletin.

Jack Getman was quoted in the Christian Science Monitor, Jan. 5, 1999, on labor union organizing efforts in Texas.

Lino Graglia delivered a paper on City of Boerne v. Flores at the American Political Science Association convention in Boston, Sept. 3, 1998. He presented a paper on "Economic Rights in the Rehnquist Court" at a conference on the Rehnquist Court, Sept. 17, 1998, at the University of Tulsa School of Law. Graglia participated in the Liberty Fund Colloquium on American Judicial Interpretation, Liberty, and Responsibility, Nov. 5-7, 1998, in Jacksonville, Fla. He presented "Does the Constitution Still Exist?" as part of the St. Francis College Lecture Series, Nov. 19, 1998, in Brooklyn. Graglia gave talks on affirmative action to the Dallas County Republican Assembly, Sept. 10, 1998, and to the Learning Alternatives for Mature Persons program, Oct. 8, 1998, in Austin. He participated in debates on affirmative action at the University of Louisville's Brandeis School of Law, Oct. 2, 1998; at Lewis & Clark Law School, Oct. 15, 1998; at Willamette Law School, Oct. 16, 1998; and at the convention of the Jewish Federation of San Antonio, Dec. 6, 1998. Graglia debated "Justice Brennan-Hero or Villain?" at the New York Federalist Society Lawyers Chapter, Dec. 7, 1998, in New York City.

Dagmar Hamilton gave a paper entitled "Constitutional and Legal Grounds for Presidential Impeachment: Historic and Current Perspectives" at the Center for Socio-Legal Studies, Wolfson College, Oxford University, on Nov. 26, 1998, and gave a similar talk on Nov. 30, 1998, to faculty and graduate students of the departments of political science and public law at the University of Edinburgh. Hamilton was a visiting fellow at Oxford's Institute for European and Comparative Law in the Fall 1998 term.

Robert Hamilton was a senior fellow at the Center for Socio-Legal Studies, Wolfson College, Oxford University, and a senior visiting fellow at Oxford's Institute for European and Comparative Law during the Fall 1998 term. During his stay at Oxford, Hamilton gave lectures at Wolfson College and at the Faculty of Laws, University of Edinburgh, entitled "Corporate Governance in America, 1950-1998: Major Changes but Uncertain Benefits." The paper on which these lectures were based will be published next month as an occasional paper by the Institute for European and Comparative Law, and a revised version will be published later this year in the U.S.

Barbara Hines will be part of the faculty for "Keeping Families Together: Strategies for Advanced Issues in Immigration Law and the Family," a seminar sponsored by the National Lawyers Guild, Feb. 5, 1999, in Austin.

Teresa LeClercq taught a three-hour course on "Teaching the Brief" in Tucson, Jan. 9, 1999, sponsored by the Ayres Fellows of the University of Arizona Law School.

John Robertson testified on the ethics of using human stem cells before the National Bioethics Advisory Commission in Washington, D.C., Jan. 19, 1999.

Charles Silver was quoted on uneven enforcement of Texas barratry laws in the Wall Street Journal, Jan. 19, 1999.

Jordan Steiker was quoted in the Austin American-Statesman, Jan. 6, 1999, on a court challenge to the Texas death-row clemency process.