

June 4, 1948

Dear Miss Kober,

I ought have written sooner, because I discovered the next day that I had taken notes of words which I thought I knew but did not, and since I didn't take down all I must have missed some. Therefore I shall put them down below, and unless contradicted, add them to my list surreptitiously.

The principal purpose of this letter, however, is to sell you something, or rather, in keeping with academic dignity, and my own inclination, to show you something I got for myself, and which you might like for yourself. This is a set of rubber stamps of the characters and necessary accompaniments, and can be made easily and quickly, and not at too great an expense. The manufacturers say a second set could be had for about $10.00, or perhaps a dollar or two less. I'll merely set the wares before you, like the tribes in Herodotus, and if you're interested, let me know.

Sincerely yours,

十 十 十 十

十 十 十

十
 十

P.S. This is a random order

there are 10 others which have gone back to be mounted more securely, including 𐌲 𐌱𐌰𐌸𐌹 𐌹 𐌺𐌻𐌼𐌽 𐌾𐌿 and one other I can't recall.

The words mentioned are as follows

𐌲 𐌱𐌰𐌸𐌹 𐌹

𐌲 𐌱𐌰𐌸𐌹

𐌹𐌺𐌻𐌼𐌽

𐌹𐌺𐌻𐌼

my printing technique is not yet perfect as you can see, since I've had them only ²⁴~~24~~ hours, but after a while they should come out properly spaced and on a line.

Although the ink is a bit blue, I think they out to photographs well enough for reproduction.