

Date: Mon, 01 Jul 2002 20:45:54 -0400
From: "Wellington, Jean (WELLINJS)" <WELLINJS@UCMAIL.UC.EDU>
Subject: RE: your last letter
To: 'emmett Bennett ' <ebennett@facstaff.wisc.edu>
X-Mailer: Internet Mail Service (5.5.2653.19)

I normally do not work the months of July or August, but my assistamnt Mike Braunlin whom I'm sure has helped you in the past will be in charge.

We look forward to seeing you. Let us know when to expect you.

Jean SW

-----Original Message-----

From: emmett Bennett
To: Jean Susorney Wellington
Sent: 7/1/2002 11:13 AM
Subject: RE: your last letter

Many thanks, and especially for your advice about the weather. We have strange stuff too. I do want even for other reasons to come down to Cincinnati soon, despite the upraised arms of my colleagues here. But this advice, even if I delayed so long to get it, is very good, and I will do something, and let you know about that something, I do have an email indeed, but I'm very allergic to ATTACHMENTS, which my machine messes up, and messes me up. I'll write again soon, if plannigs works. But, remember, I was a denison of CINCINNATI from 1928 (taken with tears from the fourth grade at January First, to discover that the promised start of grade 5 inCleveland was ILLEGAL IN CINCINNATI. But my parents persisted, so I know all about winder dark snow, and asthma. Best wishes

EmmettAt 09:13 AM 12/21/99 -0500, you wrote:

- >I was just about to print off this letter when I noticed that you did
- >have an e-mail address. Since I'm so tardy in responding, I thought I'd
- >better go the electronic route:
- >
- >
- >December 21, 1999
- >
- >
- >Professor Emmett Bennett
- >746 W. Main Street
- >#309
- >Madison, WI 53715-1467
- >
- >
- >Dear Mr. Bennett,
- >
- >We'll be delighted to see you when you come in Jan. or February BUT you
- >don't need to come to Cincinnati - unless you want to warm up down
- >South.
- >
- >There are two copies of your dissertation - one in Archives, which is a >non-circulating copy, and one in Classics, which is circulating. You >can request ours via ILL. Yours is normally non-circulating because of >the loose plates and chart in the pocket at the back, but just have your >ILL librarian make a note on the request that you have permission from >the Classics Librarian to be sent the entire dissertation -- loose >plates and all. I'm sure you'll take care that we get all the parts >back!

 >
 >I also checked on the copyright question. According to the assistant >head of the Archives Dept. any dissertation before 1953 (the beginning >of the UMI project which did take out copyright for the dissertations it >filmed) is in the public domain. If they get a request for a copy of >your dissertation, they would freely make an entire copy -for anything >later than 1953, they would only copy half. SO... you might indeed want
 >to reprint it in order to protect your work!
 >
 >I hope you have a lovely Christmas.
 >
 >Sincerely,
 >
 >Jean

DEPARTMENT, UNIVERSITY, AND PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

University of Wisconsin-Madison, Department of English, Madison, WI

Recording Secretary, Departmental Committee (Fall 1998, Spring 1999)

Member, Composition Committee (Fall 1998, Spring 1999)

Member, Graduate Committee (Fall 1998)

Member, Teaching Area Committee, Composition and Rhetoric (Fall 1998, Spring 1999)

Member, TA Review Committee (Fall 1998, Spring 1999)

New Mexico State University, Las Cruces, NM

Member, English Dept. Ph.D. Committee, 1996-1998

Member, English Dept. General Education Committee, 1996-1998

Member, College of Arts and Sciences Language Committee, 1997-1998

Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, PA

Member, English Dept. Graduate Committee (elected), 1993-1994

Coordinator, Rhetoric Colloquium (speaker series), 1992-1993

Advisor, Humanizing Technology Project, Engineering Design Research Center, 1994

Workshop Leader, Writing in the Disciplines, University Teaching Center, 1994

Lando Community College, Lando, TX

Chair, English Dept. Freshman Composition Committee (elected), 1990-1991

Member, Faculty Salary Placement Committee (campus-wide), 1990-1991

Member, Publications Committee (campus-wide), 1990-1991

Publication Reviews

Articles for Written Communication (1992, 1993)

Proposal for edited collection on writing studies, Lawrence Erlbaum (1993)

Proposal for advanced composition textbook, Houghton Mifflin (1993)

Revision of M. J. Minnie Kilgusworth's information in Action, Allyn and Bacon (1993)