to have worked out that way, even though our authors have normally taken their responsibilities very seriously and not allowed much humour or flippancy to enter into their work. I often wish they would let themselves go a little more. That is a long explanation but the position is clear: please feel free to report on our work at Kommos if you wish.

Thanks for your good letter; I am sorry we cannot oblige with a binder.

Sincerely,

A.D. Tushingham,
Chief Archaeologist.
