Dear Miss Lang,

I am glad I was permitted to be at your lecture. It was interesting, and I'm sure I got a lot out of it. I didn't know about the bathtubs, or the shape of the Linear B tablets. It was also interesting about the fresco deer that had fallen in two parts and had changed color because of the fire.   I wish someday I could be an archaeologist in Pylos. The throne looked uncomfortable as it was made out of stone.  The alter you showed us could have been an alter to Posidon because of the wavy pattern on it.  It must have been hard to clean the pieces of pottery.   I am sure I enjoyed myself thoroughly!

Sincerely yours,

Helen M. Wilson
