

Coney Elected National Officer

U. T. Man Named Vice-President Of American Library Association

Donald Coney, who as University librarian is head of the greatest library in the southern half of the United States, has been elected second vice-president of the American Library Association for the year 1939-40. Official notification of his election arrived early this week.

Mr. Coney, who came to the University as librarian in September, 1934, and under whose administration the Lamar Library has grown more than 100,000 volumes until it now totals almost 580,000 volumes, has been a member of the association since 1926 and a member of its executive council the past four years. He is also a fellow of the American Library Institute and a member of the Bibliographical Society of America.

Today one of the youngest major librarians in the country, Mr. Coney entered library work in his undergraduate days, at the University of Michigan, his native state. When he took his master's degree in library science there in 1927 he had had seven years' experience in various positions at the university library, and immediately he was made librarian at the University of Delaware.

After a year at the small northern school, he accepted the assistant librarianship of the University of North Carolina, where he remained until 1932. Then he was made supervisor of technical processes at the Newberry Library, one of the important scholarly libraries of the nation, located in Chicago. During his stay in Chicago, he also did editorial work on the Library Quarterly, a professional magazine; and in September, 1939, took his present position at The University of Texas at the age of 33.

During the succeeding years, the growth of the University Library—now the Mirabeau B. Lamar Library—has been fast and significant. The number of its volumes has increased by almost 20 per cent, and its physical quarters have been expanded. The periodical reading room has been greatly enlarged, and open shelf reserve reading room has been set up, a business and social sciences reading room has been set up, popular reading books have been made easily available; and actual use of the Library has increased greatly. A weekly list of

Old Spanish Laws On Display Today

Laws passed by Texas Legislatures since 1836 are "infants" beside some of their Spanish legal forefathers which will be on exhibit at the University Law Library for members of the Texas Bar Association when they convene here today for a three-day meet.

Most ancient of the rare and hoary decrees will be those sanctioned by Spanish kings 600 years ago, which held to some extent, in Texas until 1840. These are known as Las Siete Partidas, the earliest edition in the University Library being printed in 1587.

There will also be an 1839 printing of the Laws of Coahuila and Texas, published in English and Spanish, for the visiting lawyers' perusal.

Bound in a musty volume, the laws of the provisional government of Texas of 1835 have been obtained for the display. Among the many other old legal works on exhibit will be volumes containing the laws and Constitution of the Republic of Texas, printed in 1838; the Constitution of 1845 and laws of 1846; and United States Supreme Court reports autographed by Thomas J. Rusk, Texas Declaration of Independence signer, and John Hemphill, first supreme court justice of Texas.

July 3 Will See Rainey In President's Home

Dr. Homer Price Rainey, president of the University, is expected to return to Austin on Monday, July 3, to take up permanent residence at 108 West Twenty-seventh Street. The house, owned by the University, has been used during recent years as a practice house for home management by home economics majors.

Dr. Rainey will be the fifth president to reside in the house, as former Presidents Robert E. Vinson, W. S. Sutton, W. M. W. Splawn, and H. Y. Benedict lived there during all or part of the tenure of office.

Mrs. Rainey will return to Austin with Dr. Rainey next week.

Rainey to Speak At Open Forum

'Youth Problems' Subject July 6

President Homer Price Rainey, who on June 1 assumed his duties as president of the University, will be the principal speaker for an open forum on "Problems of the American Youth," to be held in the open air theater Thursday night, July 6, at 8 o'clock, Dr. Hob Gray, associate professor of the art of teaching and acting chairman of the University forum committee, announced Wednesday.

Dr. Rainey, who resigned a position as director of the American Youth Commission in Washington, D. C., in accepting the University presidency, will deliver his address prior to an open forum discussion on the problems of American youth. Dr. Rainey has been in Washington during the past week and has not announced the subject for his talk.

Dr. Gray, who is serving as chairman of the forum committee this summer in the absence of H. T. Shelby, dean of the Division of Extension, who is spending the summer in California, the second term of the Summer Session, with forums being held on vital questions.

Other members of the forum committee are Dr. W. E. Gettys, professor of sociology and director of the Bureau of Research in the Social Sciences; Dr. J. Anton Burdine, associate professor of government; and Dr. J. W. Baldwin, associate professor of the art of teaching.

Modern Woman for Streamlines; Takes More Physical Training

"The woman of today is taking more interest in physical training and physical education than she ever has before," says Dr. Mabel Lee, professor of physical education, who is teaching in the University this summer.

"The present fashion trends call for the streamlined figure, and exercise is the best beauty treatment for the figure and posture. Doctors, as well as beauty specialists, recommended supervised exercises for acquiring and keeping a graceful figure."

Dr. Lee, who is a professor of physical education and chairman of the Department of Physical Education for Women at the University of Nebraska, has come in contact with many women during her teaching experience. She finds that more and more college women are majoring in physical education. There is a greater demand for physical training for girls in the elementary and secondary schools, and there is, therefore, more opportunity for women teachers in this field. The increasing popularity of summer

Latin-American Institute Needed Here, Dean Says

Would Logically Fit National Policy, Hammond Avers

Great possibilities for The University of Texas are to be found in the establishment of a Latin-American Institute here, Dr. George P. Hammond, dean of the graduate school and head of the history department of the University of New Mexico, said Wednesday. Dr. Hammond is teaching courses in "The Foreign Policies of the United States: Latin America" at the University Summer Session.

"A university needs some policy to give it character and distinguish it from others," he said. "It needs a specific goal at which to shoot."

The Latin-American Institute fits in with national policy, Dr. Hammond explained. "Some institution or organization must give voice to the national policy," he said, "and I think a university is the most logical institution to do this."

Furthermore, he explained, The University of Texas is in the logical position to do this work. It is located at the gateway to Latin America and has the proper facilities.

Efforts to establish the Institute began in 1936. C. W. Hackett, professor of Latin-American history and chairman of the faculty committee which drew up the plans for the Institute, pointed to the University's 35,000-volume Latin-American Library and its extensive archives, outstanding in the United States, as an important nucleus around which to build the Institute. A collection of 1,010 books pertaining to Latin America was received by the University early this year.

America's policy of friendliness to Latin-American countries is her answer to the dictators, Dr. Hammond said. "Since we don't have much in common with Hitler and Mussolini, we naturally turn to our neighbors south of us."

Mastodon Skull Reburied by Flood

The skull of a 20,000-year-old mastodon was reburied by flood waters of the Brazos River this week, after geologists had reclaimed only its tusks.

Dr. E. H. Sellards, chairman of the Division of Conservation and Development of Natural Resources of Texas, said the skull, found near Port Sullivan in Milam County, had been exposed by recent floods. Another flood washed all of it away except the tusks, which had been removed the previous day.

B. H. Willis discovered the skull, and Homer Collier Jr. notified the University of the find. Collecting the skull were Richard Lewis, state supervisor, and Glen Evans, geologist, of the fossil collecting project carried on by the University, the Works Progress Administration, and Earl Chelf, curator in the Texas Memorial Museum.

Mr. Mayes died Monday after a heart attack at his home here. Also in the picture are, left to right, Lloyd Gregory, managing editor, The Houston Post, J. ## W. H. Mayes, First Journalism Chairman, Buried Wednesday

Funeral services for former Lieutenant Governor William Harding Mayes, 78 years old, retired professor of journalism at the University, were held in Brownwood Wednesday morning. Mr. Mayes died suddenly at his home in Austin last Monday afternoon of heart disease. He had been confined to his bed for about two months.

Often called the dean of Texas newspapermen, Mr. Mayes was credited with doing more to bring The University of Texas into prominence in educating journalism students than any other man. After he had served as lieutenant governor of Texas in 1913-14, he became the first chairman of the Department of Journalism of the University, created in 1914 by the Board of Regents.

In 1920-21 Mr. Mayes was president of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism. He continued teaching until 1926 when the Department of Journalism was abolished by veto of its appropriation by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. Since then he had written articles of special interest to Texans. At the time of his death he was writing a series of articles on prominent Texas educators. One of these articles, on Dr. D. A. Penick, professor of classical languages and assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, will appear in the Sunday edition of the Houston Post.

Mr. Mayes was born in Mayfield, Ky., in 1861. He was educated at Paducah District Methodist College, Milburn, Ky.; Norton's English and Classical School, Union City, Tenn.; and Vanderbilt University. An honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred on him by Daniel Baker College, Brownwood, Texas, in 1914.

He married Jessie Wise of Brownwood November 26, 1886. She died in 1899. Mr. Mayes' second wife was Anna Marshall, also of Brownwood. Admitted to the Kentucky bar in 1881, Mr. Mayes came to Texas the following year and was admitted to the bar. He practiced law in Brownwood from 1882 to 1886, serving as county attorney of Brown County in 1882-83. From 1887 to 1914 he was editor and publisher of the Brownwood Post.

of ways and means to improve their personal appearance," says Dr. Lee, "and corrective exercise is one of the most popular solutions. There are many effective exercises for aligning the hips, spine, and back; for removing bumps and bulges; and for strengthening sagging abdominal muscles. When a woman feels sure of herself, she has more grace and poise; and knowing that she looks attractive gives a woman more confidence than anything else."

"The health of the foot is also a beauty asset," Dr. Lee continued. "Today we women are coming more and more to stand on our own two feet, and it is therefore necessary that we keep them in good condition."

"Shoes have a lot to do with the condition of the feet. Women always want to step out in the latest styles, and right now to be fashionable, women are wearing the open-toed, heelless sandals. This type of shoe is injurious to the health of the foot," Dr. Lee said.

'Democracy Was Imposed on Us'

Dr. Webb Speaks To Open Crowd

"We Americans deserve no credit for developing democracy. We did not develop it. It was imposed on us by the conditions which we lived in the days of the frontier."

With this assertion, Dr. Walter Prescott Webb, professor of history, told a large Open Air Theater audience last night that America is at the tail-end of a world boom which began 500 years ago when Columbus and his associates uncovered new worlds.

Dr. Webb said that the democracy known on the frontier has vanished; in fact, it had passed away in the United States before Americans realized it. "There is no democracy in business," he stated. "We have a government that is democratic dealing with a group of institutions that have ceased to be democratic."

V. I. Moore, dean of student life and chairman of the open air theater committee, has announced that there will be a motion picture on Thursday and Saturday nights and a stage performance on Friday night. The stage performance will be a recital by Howard Milholland, impersonator, and Eva Garcia, pianist. On Thursday night "Mother Carey's Chickens" will be shown, and on Saturday night "Peck's Bad Boy With the Circus."

The stage show will begin at 8 o'clock, the motion picture at 8:15 o'clock.

Howard Milholland and Eva Garcia have recently returned from a four month concert and radio tour of Hawaii, New Zealand, and Australia. Milholland, impersonator and raconteur, was active in radio work on the West coast for ten years. Eva Garcia, daughter of a Spanish mother, has made a study of Spanish music.

In a lecture Monday night Dr. David Jacobson, San Antonio rabbi, declared that the Jew in America is intensely patriotic. The Jew in this country considers himself an American, said Dr. Jacobson, and has given both money and men in every major conflict of the United States since the Revolutionary War.

To refute the charge of radicalism, Dr. Jacobson cited statistics showing that out of five million Jews in this country only a few thousand are Communists.

Luncheon Honors Cornell Professor

Dr. W. I. Myers, director of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Farm Management at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., has been visiting on the University campus this week. He plans to return to New York Thursday morning.

Wednesday at noon, University officials and the University Bureau of Business Research, of which Dr. A. B. Cox is director, gave a luncheon in the University Commons with Dr. Myers as honor guest.

Law School Gets Braille Textbooks

Thirteen legal texts in Braille, for the use of blind law students who enroll at the University, were placed on open shelf Wednesday.

The volumes, given the University by the Library of Congress, are not likely to have readers until next fall when Lloyd Sparkman, blind law student from Dallas, returns to the University. Sparkman is the only blind student attending law school at this time. Ira P. Hildebrand, dean of the School of Law, said.

Each work, which in regular print makes a volume, requires several feet of shelving space when embossed in Braille. The Library of Congress has deposited a set of Braille volumes in each of ten libraries throughout the nation, one in each federal judicial district. There are at least 108 practicing blind lawyers in the nation now, the national library reported.

Texas Bull Thrower Deserts Wrestling for Bigger Bulls

MEXICO CITY, June 28.—About as close as most American youths, Texans included, get to a bull in their lifetime is a college bull session. Sidney Franklin was an exception. The Brooklyn youth was once a successful bull fighter in Mexico.

Texas will supply another American bull fighter in 25-year-old Douglas Henderson of Abilene. Henderson cannot be called a matorador as yet because he has not made his Mexico City debut. He will do so this fall.

For the past four years Henderson has received rigorous training and in the words of Armillita, one of the two best matadors in Mexico if not in the world, Henderson is good. Garzo, the other of the pair, says the same. Members of the Mexican sporting gentry who follow the bull fights, and who

B.B.A. Honor Roll Lists 89

All Have 3 Hours Above B Average

Led by Paul A. Funkhouser of Harlingen, who had seventeen hours above a B average, eighty-nine students are listed on the spring semester honor roll of the School of Business Administration released yesterday by Dean J. Anderson Fitzgerald.

To get on the honor roll, the student had to complete twelve or more semester hours of work with at least three hours above a B average, Dean Fitzgerald said.

Glenn B. Cross, Maynard H. Winogradoff, and Velda V. Woods each had sixteen hours above a B average.

Others on the list follow:

Fifteen hours, W. Neil Johnson and C. Carol McCarty. Thirteen hours, L. Judson Davis, William S. Swayze, Vern H. Vincent, and P. Glenn Williams. Twelve hours, Dave J. Johnson, Edwin W. Morris, Margaret Ott, Hilliard S. Thomas, and Richard W. Tideman.

Eleven hours, Harold J. Magner. Ten hours, Melton Lee Briggs, Darius W. Gregg, Robert A. Moran, Frances L. Sibley.

Nine hours, Charlie N. Bailey, Byron W. Cain, John W. Cargile, W. Thomas Caswell Jr., Keith Davis, Jack K. Ellison, John P. Harbin, William T. Miller, John B. Riley, Ernest L. Sanford, Hunter H. Schieffer, Herbert M. Schwartz, Charles Scott, Ruth Lee Stuart, and Jane Weeren.

Eight hours, Cathryn G. Melton, Charles C. North, and Emmet C. Wilson.

Seven hours, A. Bruce Keeckley, Mariam E. Rivers, R. Keith Weisinger, Delbert D. Williams.

should know, also praise Henderson. When a person really excels in a sport, the Mexicans say, "tiene la stila." He has the style. Henderson will appear in the Mexico City ring in October when the real season gets under way. At present only the "novilleros" (novices) are in the ring. They are youngsters who aspire to be bull fighters, but who have not reached a very high degree of skill in the ring.

Henderson has been wrestling in Mexico and will continue until his bull-fight debut. He is one of the top-notch scientific wrestlers of the world.

University Host To Group Friday

Presiding Officer Is Ex Texan Editor

The fifty-sixth annual convention of the Texas Bar Association will open in Austin Thursday for three days, with Judge Ben H. Powell of Austin presiding. Judge Powell was second editor of the Texan in 1901 and 1902.

On Friday the delegates, wives, and friends will visit the University campus, where a large majority of the delegates started their careers in jurisprudence. Saturday evening the group will have its annual banquet in the Main Ballroom of the Texas Union.

Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard University Law School; Walter S. Fenton of Rutland, Vt., member of the Vermont bar examiners; and W. L. Summers, professor of law at the University of Illinois, are among the speakers for the convention. A number of Texas lawyers will also appear on the program.

Dean Pound spoke before the Texas Bar Association in 1918. He discussed then some judicial reforms that have been adopted in Texas by the Legislature in the past year.

Mr. Fenton was a member of the Vermont legislature from 1917 to 1919. Since 1921 he has been a member of the American Bar Association and is now a member of the board of governors of the Association and an associate member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York.

Dr. Summers was professor of law at the University of Florida from 1915 to 1918, and from 1918 to 1920 was professor of law at the University of Kentucky. He became a member of the law faculty at the University of Illinois in 1920. In 1929 Dr. Summers did legal research for the Humble Oil and Refining Company and the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company in Houston.

"Legal Rights Against the Drainage of Oil and Gas" will be the subject of Dr. Summers' address to the mineral law section. The District and County Attorneys' Association, and the Junior Bar Association, and the law section are the other groups affiliated with the Texas Bar Association.

"Current Decisions and Legislation Affecting the Oil Industry" will be the subject of a talk by E. J. Fountain of Houston to the mineral section. Judge F. L. Hawkins of the Court of Criminal Appeals will be the luncheon speaker for the District and County Attorneys' Association, and Walter C. Woodward, chairman of the Texas Board of Insurance Commissioners, will address the insurance section on "What Brings About the Failure of Insurance Companies."

Portraits of the Texas Supreme Court and Court of Criminal Appeals and their respective commissions will be presented Thursday evening.

Reports of the special committee on the State Bar Act and reports of the committee on rule-making power of the courts will be among the outstanding reports made. As bills advocated by these committees have been passed in the last year, the committees are filing final reports on their work.

Mrs. Ben H. Powell heads the committee on arrangements for entertainment of the wives of members of the Texas Bar Association. Hostesses to the visitors will be the wives of Austin attorneys and members of the local bar and University law faculty.

From 9 o'clock Friday morning until 12 the visitors will be taken See POWELL, Page 2

Exams in Languages To Be Given Monday

Foreign language reading examinations will be held at 2 o'clock Monday, July 3, in Geology Building 14, Dr. C. M. Montgomery, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Language Requirements, has announced.

The examinations will be given to candidates for the bachelor of arts degree in Spanish, German, French and Latin. They will be the only foreign language examinations of the first summer semester.

Lonnie Hill in First Big Test
Other Steers in A.A.U. Meet
Odds and Ends From Here and There

By BILLY SANSING
Texan Associate Sports Editor

For several years the University of Texas track team has failed to have a dash man of the top rank. Not since the days of Chink Wallender has a Longhorn sprinter risen to be one of the best in the nation. It has fallen to the lot of Rice Institute to furnish this section with boys who can step the 100 in less than 10 seconds and run the 220 in 21 seconds.

But this season a young man wearing the colors of the Texas freshmen gave the followers of Coach Clyde Littlefield's squad their first genuine hope of having the finest sprinter in the country at the University since Wallender burned up the Southwestern tracks.

His name, if you haven't already guessed, is Lonnie Hill and he comes from Dallas. As a Yearling this past season he compiled as fine a record in the 100 as any dash man in the country, including such men as Mozelle Ellerbe and Clyde Jeffery, who finished one, two in the recent National Collegiate Meet in Los Angeles.

LONGNIE HILL

Next Monday Lonnie will get his first real test in big-time competition as a member of the Texas team. The occasion will be the National A.A.U. track and field meet at Lincoln, Neb. By way of explanation, the A.A.U. meet is open to any amateur in the United States, while the above-mentioned National Collegiate Meet is only for men who are eligible for collegiate competition. Hill, being only a freshman, was not able to attend.

Monday he will enter the junior section of the A.A.U. meet which is open to anyone who has never won a national championship. Fred Wolcott won the 100-yard event in this division last year. On Tuesday, July 4, the senior section will be held, and among the entrants in the century will be every top-notch sprinter in the country with the possible exception of Ellerbe, who pulled a muscle in the collegiates.

Getting back to Lonnie's record for this season, we find in actual competition, the Texas Relays, Border Olympics, San Antonio Invitation, and the freshman little conference meet, he had three times of 9.5 seconds and one of 9.7 seconds. Not a man in the country can compare to this in my opinion.

But even with this record, I hesitate to guess just what place Hill will take in either the junior or the senior. He is capable of taking first place, but there are about three reasons which might prevent him from it. In the first place, although he has been in several big meets, Lonnie cannot be classed as an experienced runner. Secondly, he has not had the benefit of a coach for over a month, a fact which might count heavily against him. In the third place, he may not be in the physical condition that some of the men are who have been running up through the last two weeks. He has not been in competition for over a month and a half.

Let it be known that this last reason is no reflection on Lonnie's training. I have known the tall sprinter for over six years, and gone to school with him through high school and a part of college. No one loves track more than he does, and no one trains more religiously during the spring months.

But despite the few reasons why Lonnie might not win, it wouldn't be a surprise to any of his followers to see him come breezing home in front of the pack. He is as good a stretch man as I have ever seen. His start, though still weak, improved all through the season, and during those long May afternoons, after track season, he spent hours with Coach Littlefield perfecting his getaway. Many coaches who visited here for the Texas Relays commented on the fact that few men can stay with him after he passes the 50-yard mark.

But despite his showing in the meet, Lonnie can certainly be depended upon to carry a large load of the Steer track burden for the next three years. He has made a good start towards a brilliant career. He made his grades with lots of room to spare, and he made many friends among the boys on the track team and the ones

Joe Louis Gets Technical K. O. Over Two-Ton Tony in Fourth

Champ Floored In Third Round

Keeps His Crown

Galento Is Game To the Finish

Facing one of the most courageous fighters of his ring career, Joe Louis successfully defended his heavyweight title against the challenge of Tony Galento Wednesday night before 40,000 fans in Yankee Stadium in New York City, technically knocking out the "Beer Barrel Polka" near the middle of the fourth round.

It was a fight that kept the crowd cheering—cheering because Louis was showing he is one of the greatest fighters in ring history, and cheering because Two-Ton Tony made Louis pound him into oblivion with his poisonous blows before he was ready to admit defeat. Not once during the fight did the beer-drinking bartender give evidence he believed himself the loser. He came in as long as his sturdy legs would allow, but the murderous punches of the Brown Bomber ripped his scarred face to shreds after the first round.

He lived at the football dorm. He will not only have the job for the next three seasons of grabbing off points in the dashes but will also have to anchor the quarter and half mile relay groups. He is one of the best Olympic prospects in this section, and to make that team in 1940 is Lonnie's greatest desire and ambition. It is a goal toward which he has been striving since he first took up track as a sophomore at Woodrow Wilson High School in Dallas. And I, for one, believe that he will not only make that team but also will be one of the nation's outstanding dash men for the next few years.

Besides Hill at the A.A.U. track carnival in Lincoln there will probably be two other Longhorn stars, Jud Atchison and Boyce Gatewood. Atchison will go to the meet fresh from his victory in the National Collegiate Meet in the broad jump. He will be favored to end high in the final standings. Gatewood will attempt to make a comeback after his unlucky race in the highs in the collegiates.

By the way, this meet will be a big preview of America's Olympic hopes for 1940 since most of the boys who Uncle Sam will have to depend on will be there. Among these will be Chuck Fenske, John Woodruff, Erwin Miller, Fred Wolcott, Pete Zagar, and Elmer Hackney.

Odds and Ends From Here and There:

Congratulations to Big Ches Granville, the Steer soph basketball ace last season, who took the Austin city tennis title the other day. . . . The San Antonio Missions are burning up the Texas League and the Dallas Rebels are back tracking just as fast. . . . That twenty-three inning 2-2 marathon staged by the Brooklyn Show-boys and the Boston Bees Tuesday. . . . The Dodgers' freshman pitching star, Whitlow Wyatt, who formerly hurled for Beaumont, tolled for sixteen innings. . . . Ernie Koy, ex-Steer outfielder for the daffy Flatbushers, collected only one hit out of ten trips to the plate. . . . but that hit scored the tying run.

Stumberg, Joseph Wickes, and Misses Lucy Moore and Helen Hargrave, Mrs. Charles McCormick, wife of the visiting professor from Northwestern University, and Mrs. Edmund Morgan, from Harvard.

A luncheon will be held Saturday at 12:30 o'clock in the ballroom at the Texas Federated Women's Club Building.

Special guests will be the widows of the former members of the Austin Bar Association, and they will participate in every social function. These honorary members are Mesdames R. G. West, T. B. Cochran, W. M. Key, Ada Penn, N. A. Stedman, A. S. Burleson, Charles A. Wilcox, S. L. Staples, E. R. Pedigo, R. C. Walker, L. L. Hoge, R. H. Ward, James R. Hamilton, B. H. Rice, D. W. Doom, O. W. Sandstrom, John E. Shelton, Bailey W. Hardy, and Victor Brooks.

Play Night to Feature Camp Craft, Barbecue

Play night, sponsored by the Physical Education 351 class, is to be held Wednesday, July 5, at 5:30 o'clock at the Country Lodge of Dr. Ruth Bass, assistant professor of physical education.

Features of the evening will be camp craft and a barbecue supper.

Transportation will be furnished if application is made in the physical education office. Cars will leave from the Y.M.C.A. at 5 o'clock. Directions for finding the location will be posted on the bulletin board in Sutton Hall.

Volleyball Finals Await Swede-Humdinger Game

After Marvin Sherrill's Blomquist Swedes and John Love's Humdingers volley it out Friday afternoon for the title in League C of the bouncing-ball round robin, one sport in summer intramurals will be ready to enter the championship fight.

The fast-playing Humdingers and the athletic Swedes have won three games, lost none. The three league winners will draw for games in the title series.

Allied Co-Op won League A Monday when the Coyotes defaulted; previously, Maurice Littor's boys beat Esquire Co-Op and Campus Guild. League B supremacy fell to the Darkhorses (old Progressive Czechs) when the Filibusters reneged.

In advancing to the League C finals, the Swedes Monday downed the Left Overs, 15-10, 15-10. High-scoring winners were Edwin Martin with ten points, and Jim Hardwick with nine. Left Overs who went over were J. W. McWilliams with four, and Ray Knease with four.

In the other game played, Campus Guild passed the day dropping balls upon the Esquire Co-Op team, until the games ended 15-4, 15-10. Jimmy Sargent was Guild master with nine points, Jewell Rainey under him with seven, and Steve DeBord Jr. leading the others with six. Manager Harold Schkurman inspired his team with four points, to no avail.

Except for the Left Overs' 8 to 6 victory over the Eagles Wednesday afternoon, no baseball games have been played this week. The Rowdy Dowdies won by default, but still held the cellar.

Handball, tennis, and golf were rounding into shape with all in or near the quarterfinals.

Carl Brett, favored by some in the upper handball bracket, had Harde LaSueur to face before entering the quarterfinals. Don Pritchard made it by defeating Charles Standifer, 21-14, 21-17, and William Lang did the trick ousting Frank Horak, 21-15, 21-15. B. A. Trevina, once University handball champion, eliminated Oland Moore, 21-4, 21-5. Maurice Coburn won two games to Louis Druss's one to advance. Marvin Wilkening and Paul Rosecrants won by default.

In tennis, Royce Jones entered the fourth round by outplaying Joe Tom Houston Jr., 7-5, 6-0, and advanced to the quarterfinals by default. In other third round matches, Jerry Hart beat C. J. Monroe, 6-1, 6-1; Bobby Arms outlasted Felix McGivney, 6-3, 7-5; Grover Isbell, new Austin junior singles champion, trampled Alvis Barrier, 6-0, 6-0; and Robert Bunting revived to beat Joe Downing, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3. # Steer Tracksters In National AAU

Hill, Atchison Head Longhorn Delegation

Special to The Summer Texan
LINCOLN, Neb., June 28.—Track and field stars from all over the country poured into this midwestern city today as preparations were being completed for the National A.A.U. Meet here Monday and Tuesday.

Headed by east-bound collegiate stars, fresh from their western campaign which included the N.C.A.A. meet in Los Angeles, the galaxy included such notables as Chuck Fenske, the Wisconsin boy who won the famed "mile of the century" two weeks ago; Bob Peoples, Southern California's American record holder in the javelin throw; Earl Meadows, world record holder and Olympic champ in the pole vault; and John Woodruff, Pitt's great colored middle distance man.

Among the dark horses who will begin competition in the junior division Monday and follow with the senior championships on July 4, are two Texas lads who may give their more noted rivals serious competition. One of them is Judson Atchison, the University of Texas jack-rabbit who upset the dope bucket in the National Collegiate Meet by taking first place in the broad jump. Another Longhorn who may come through with flying colors is freshman Lonnie Hill, a boy with a sensational record, who may upset the favored Clyde Jeffrey of Stanford in the dashes.

Boyce Gatewood, a third Steer star, will continue his efforts to defeat the defending champ Fred Wolcott of Rice in the high hurdles.

The meet will be the first forecast of what American track fans can expect on the 1940 Olympic teams. All winners of first, second, or third place will go to Europe this summer on a barnstorming tour.

new books, too, has been introduced.

Among the university and college libraries of the nation the Lamar Library now ranks fourteenth in size and within the first half dozen of those supported by states. In many respects it ranks among the nation's most valuable few—because of its Rare Book Collections, its Latin-American Collection, its Texas Collection and Archives Collection, and its newspaper collection.

In the years since he has been head of the Library here, Mr. Coney has served as chairman of the American Library Association's steering committee and chairman of its board on resources of American libraries. He has read several papers at the association's meetings, and is a contributor to library periodicals.

In recent years Mr. Coney has also taught library courses at the University of North Carolina, the University of Chicago, and the University of Illinois, and has been in charge of library science courses conducted here during the summer.

He is one of three University faculty members who have been included in "America's Young Men," a biographical directory of persons who have achieved distinction early in life.

Bobby Kamrath Smashes Way Into National Meet Semi-Finals

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 28.—Bounding Bobby Kamrath, blond tennis star of the University of Texas squad, blasted his way into the semi-final round of the National Intercollegiate tennis meet here Wednesday, defeating Marvin Wachman of Northwestern, 6-1, 6-2.

Kamrath's bomb-like services put the Illinois youth out of the tournament with remarkable ease and precision. He took an early lead in the first set and never let up. The Texan continued to mow down his less-experienced opponent relentlessly in the second set.

Kamrath is seeded second in the field of sixty-six collegiate aces. He was placed behind his Southwest Conference rival and defending national champ, diminutive Frank Guernsey of Rice Institute. Other seeded aces from over the country who were favored to reach the round of four were Robert Harman of California and Morey Lewis, Texarkana youth, from little Kenyon College.

In the doubles division of the meet, Kamrath and his partner, Warren Christner, swept through the second round with a smashing victory over George Dunklin and Landon Buckman, 6-3, 6-1.

In the opening round of the doubles competition, Maurice Fincher and Reuben Riskind, number two Steer doubles team, were swept out by the bespectacled Murphy twins of Chicago University, ranked tenth in the nation.

Hinds Thomas, who received his bachelor of journalism degree from the University last June, is now a member of the advertising staff of the Abilene Reporter-News.

Boyce Gatewood, a third Steer star, will continue his efforts to defeat the defending champ Fred Wolcott of Rice in the high hurdles.

By BILL NEWKIRK
Texan Correspondent

DETROIT, Mich., June 28—American League managers are wringing their blows and sharpening their pencils this week, for to them falls the task of picking the players who will oppose the National League All-Stars at Yankee Stadium, July 11. Each manager will submit his "best team" to President William Harridge who simply applies the majority rule principle to the eight lists of 25 players. As usual, there will be considerable dissension and debate over the final choices, but there are some players who will undoubtedly get unanimous support.

Joe DiMaggio, Bill Dickey, Tommy Bridges, Red Huffer, Bob Feller, and Hank Greenberg should go through without a whisper, but from here on it gets more difficult. Even Greenberg's nomination is a tough one to spot what with the Red Sox first baseman, Jimmy Foss, and the Browns' George McQuinn to consider. At this writing, McQuinn is leading the League batting with a .353 followed by Foss who has a .348. Foss has hit eleven home runs to Greenberg's sixteen, but the big Hank has got an edge on the boys in the runs-batted-in column—he is leading the League—and it's the runs that cross the plate that win ball games.

Second base brings up another problem, and this year it looks like Detroit's Charlie Gehringer will have to stretch a little to beat out Joe Gordon of the Yankees and Bobby Doer of the Red Sox. Both will give the Tiger wheelhorse some competition, but Motor City fans are confident Gehringer will represent the League in his seventh straight All-Star game.

Frankie Crosetti, Luke Appling, and Joe Cronin are the three shortstops most likely to succeed and here again the votes are split. Appling leads the trio in hitting but he's no great shakes as a fielder. Defensively, Crosetti is hard to beat but his batting is way down. Remember, however, that the Yankee shortstop is a lead off man and the way he gets on base is something to watch . . . being most hit player in the League makes Crosetti a valuable man.

U. T.'s Pinky Higgins will poll at least one vote for third base, but Red Rolfe of the Yanks has the inside track. Other players in the running are Cleveland's Ken Keltner, Buddy Lewis, Marvin Owen, and Harlan Clift of the Browns.

The outfielders, except for DiMaggio, come in pairs. Barney McCoskey and Pete Fox, of the Tigers; Joe Vosmik and Doc Cramer, of the Red Sox; Jeff Heath and Ben Chapman, of the Indians; Tom Henrich and George Selkirk, Yanks; Mike Kreevich and Gerald Walker, White Sox; and Myrl Hoag, of the Browns, are all going to come in for some voting. Then there is the ruling that each club must be represented on the All-Star squad, so that puts Wally, Moses and Bob Johnson, of the A's, in line for one of the six outfielding nominations.

Two catchers besides Dickey are required which makes the catching post more complicated than it should be, but George Tebbets, Rick Ferrell, Joe Glenn, Rollie Hemsley, or Frank Pytlak will get through the gate before it closes.

We've already named Ruffing, Bridges, and Feller for hurling honors, but the powers-that-be demand a list of eight or nine, so we'll nominate Buck Newsom, Johnny Allen, Lefty Grove, Clint Brown, Johnny Murphy, Ted Lyons, et al and wait to see what the managers think about it.

How will the game come out? Well, the American League All-Stars, of course, but we really don't know. Maybe they ought to simplify the whole business, as Sam Greene of the Detroit News suggests, by naming the Yanks as they stand and let it go at that.

It's been some time since the immortal Ty Cobb hung up an American League record of 96 stolen bases, but there's a young fellow by the name of George Case playing second base for the Washington Senators who, if he keeps up his hot pace, will come closer to that old mark than anyone has to date. Case has marked up 26 stolen bases already—maybe more by the time we see print—and his closest rival is Lee Handley, of the Pirates, who has 11. Crosetti won last year's stealing honors with 27. Now, you might be asking, why wasn't this guy Case named as an All-Star potential? Why, indeed, so let's name him, but it would be terrible to have Charlie Gehringer miss his seventh straight.

POTSHOTS: The year's best broad jump was 25 feet, 5½ inches, by Bill Watson of Michigan, but U. T.'s Jud Atchison won the N.C.A.A. crown against Watson and Brown of L.S.U. who has also cleared 25 feet . . . On the same day he was given second place rating by the N.B.A. in the light-heavy division, Gus Lesnevich, 24-year-old New Jersey slugger, won a technical over Detroit's Dave Clark, thereby establishing his claim as John Henry Lewis's successor . . . But John Henry has come out and stated he is still champion despite the NBA's lifting of his title . . . He will fight outside the NBA's jurisdiction . . . It's a pretty sight watching Bill Brink, Longhorn diver, practicing his tower diving from the Detroit Yacht Club's 30-foot platform . . . he is preparing for the Outdoor Nationals which will be held here about the middle of July . . . Kiefer, Planagan, and other U. T. stars will also be performing in the Nationals—all of them trying to clinch a berth on the 1940 Olympic team . . . An outfit here in town put a new wrinkle in the horse riding game . . . customarily, stable owners object when a horse is ridden or run hard . . . well, this outfit advertises race horses—"come and ride your own in thrilling, genuine track races."

Ex-Steer Tennis Captain Loses in Title Match

Paschal Walthall, University tennis team captain in 1937-38, failed to wrest the San Antonio men's singles title from ten-year champion, on the San Antonio Country Club courts, although extending him five sets. Playing an always defensive game, the planing mill workman outclassed Walthall all the way in a game colorless from too-steady play.

GRANVILLE COPS TENNIS
Chester Granville, University of Texas sophomore basketball star of last season, branched out into other fields of sport Sunday when he smashed out a decisive win over Moe Brown to win the Austin city tennis title.

James H. Scott, who received his law degree from the University last August, visited his mother, Mrs. Lula Scott, in Austin last week-end. Mr. Scott is now an attorney in Houston.

IMPERSONATOR and PIANIST.—Howard Milholland and Eva Garcia, who are to appear here in the open air theater Friday night at 8:30 o'clock, have recently returned to this country from a five-month concert and radio tour of Hawaii, New Zealand, and Australia. Their program of "Music and the Spoken Word" has been given in many parts of the world, and in this country. (See story on page one.)

Ann Sothorn Portrays Refreshing Character

By FELIX MCGIVNEY
Texan Amusements Staff

Projecting upon the screen a vibrantly different film character, M-G-M scores a praiseworthy success in "Maisie" with a minimum of effort. Maisie the ingenue, the independent, and the saucy, is highly ingratiating. She threatens to become one of the most vivid picture personalities of the year.

Not in many reels has there been such a player who dominates the scenes of a picture in the manner of Maisie. Her tart retorts, her bland raillery and her immutable tenets stand out like beacon lights in a production that would be hopelessly vapid without her presence. M-G-M privileged Ann Sothorn with the opportunity to depict Maisie on the screen. Finding the characterization unusually fitted to her own type, Miss Sothorn has made her work commendable.

"MAISIE"—At the Paramount Screen play by Mary C. McCall Jr. From a book by Wilson Collison. Photography by Leonard Smith. Produced by J. Walter Rohen. Directed by Edwin L. Marin. Released by M-G-M. The cast follows: "Slim" Martin, Robert Young, Maisie Ravier, Ann Sothorn, Subi Ames, Ruth Hussey, Clifford Ames, Ian Hunter, "Shorty" Cliff Edwards.

With all her unordinary traits and caustic repartee, Maisie might be any showgirl, out of a job and looking for work of any sort. She finds herself drifting and broke in a small Western town and in desperation elbows her way into work as a maid on a ranch. The setting is ideal, for Maisie's sprightly personality stands out in pungent contrast with that of the foreman, the polished Eastern business man and his sophisticated wife.

Robert Young is miscast. A week ago I wrote that he would only be efficacious as long as he adhered to the playboy type of role. His present performance is insipid compared to his acting in "Bridal Suite" last week. The male lead in "Maisie" would not be favorable under any circumstances, for the picture is consistently revolving around the activities of one female character. The lanky, non-committal foreman which Young plays is a portrayal that depreciates his usual light-hearted and airy personality, so well-known to motion picture audiences.

Maisie's philosophy of life impresses. It is wholesome and genuine, especially after the materialistic tidbits which have been served up in recent films. However, the makers of "Maisie" do more than simply proffer her creed to the audience. They prove how tenable it is. They compare the sincerity and trust of the showgirl with the hypocrisy and subterfuge of the genteel sophisticate.

'Prison Without Bars' Introduces New Star

By C. O. BROWN
Texan Amusements Staff

"Prison Without Bars" becomes a fairly entertaining picture because it presents some very entertaining new faces. Chief among these is Corinne Luchaire, blonde, homely, provocative 18-year-old French actress, in the same role she played in the French film from which this English version was adopted. Intended principally for the display of Miss Luchaire, the picture almost is good enough to overshadow her.

Particularly strong competition came from brunette, hoyendish Mary Morris, English actress who plays one of the institution's incorrigibles.

The story embraces two main plots. One has to do with the difficulties of Edna Best, as the idealistic new superintendent of a cruelly run girls' reform school near Paris, in trying to reform the reform school. The other is a love triangle with Corinne Luchaire.

"PRISON WITHOUT BARS"—At the State. Adapted from a play by E. & O. Elis. Screenplay by Arthur Wimperis. Direction by Brian Desmond Hurst. Photography by Georges Perinal. Production by Alexander Korda. Released by United Artists. The cast follows: Suzanne Yvonne, Corinne Luchaire, Edna Best, Dr. Georges Marechal, Barry Barnes, Renee, Mary Morris.

male doctor in the corners. Corinne Luchaire, as Suzanne, is Miss Best's favorite inmate, but when the superintendent discovers that the girl is also the doctor's favorite patient, she is faced with a dilemma that few women would have solved so manfully.

Should she sign Suzanne's pardon and permit her to join the doctor in India? After all, his happiness is her happiness. Or should she refuse as well she could since Suzanne innocently has become involved in the theft of some alcohol from the infirmary (to provide an exciting spree for the inmates) and get revenge by keeping apart the two unhappy lovers? Needless to say, she finds out who are the real prisoners in the reformatory.

No great picture, "Prison Without Bars" at least neither lags nor bores. The story is meatier than most, and the freshness of the actors was as soothing as the air conditioning.

STARTS THURSDAY MORNING!

Texas and Latin America

THE IMPORTANCE of the new Latin American Institute which Dr. Homer Price Rainey and other University officials are outlining is not only receiving state-wide attention but favorable comment from nationally known publications. The University is planning thirty-three courses which will implement the "good neighbor" policy's good intentions with a clearer understanding of the problems and possibilities of relationships between Latin American countries and the United States.

"Texas is a bridge between North America and Latin America, both geographically and culturally," the National Geographic Society magazine stated in a recent publication. "The principal highways and railways, and some of the airways which string the Americas together, enter the United States through Texas. About half of the 1,423,000 Mexicans in the United States make their home in the Lone Star state; one-fourth of the total are concentrated in twelve southeastern counties.

"The longest international frontier that any State has is the 1,300-mile boundary between Texas and Mexico. It is, moreover, a variable river boundary that brings up international complications every time heavy floods shift the course of the shallow Rio Grande. Water rights for irrigation on both sides of the boundary river are another problem that Texas and Mexico have in common.

"Beginning with the cruise of the Spanish explorer Pineda, who first skirted the Texas coast in 1519, the banner of Spain waved over the region more than three times as long as the Stars and Stripes have flown there. The State's Spanish tradition dates back to Cabeza de Vaca and Coronado and the survivors of de Soto's expedition. Spanish priests braved the Indians—not all as friendly as the Tejas tribe which gave the State its name—and established missions with Spanish language, customs, arts and laws, serving as the first centers of European civilization in Texas. English-speaking settlers, led by Moses and Stephen Austin, did not establish themselves there until 1821. Fifteen years later, Sam Houston cut Texas loose from Mexican apron strings (which had replaced those of Spain), and helped set up the Republic of Texas which for eleven years was a member of the international family of nations. It was in the wake of Texas that the other areas of the Southwest and West that had been under Spanish influence came into the United States family circle: California, Arizona and the major part of New Mexico, as well as Nevada, Utah, and a portion of Colorado."

As Weeks Pass . . .

CERTAINLY PRESENT conditions in Europe cannot be described as tranquil. But many think that the possibility of war in the near future has materially lessened.

A report that Hitler plans to make a definite offer of peace to France, Britain, and the United States in return for sweeping colonial territorial concessions, has gained credence in high quarters here and abroad. And recent news from London indicates that the Chamberlain government may be seeking pacific ways and means of providing Hitler with the "living space" he asks for.

The enigma of Russia grows more complex. The refusal of the Soviet to join with France and England in a mutual security pact, unless the latter countries would accept Russia's stringent terms to the letter, came with a shock to the European democracies, which had looked to the early completion of an entente. But Moscow still turns a willing, if skeptical ear, to London and Paris, and the hope of alliance remains strong.

In this country, sentiment in favor of isolation seems to have grown, now that the first emotion of horror at Hitler's aggressions has abated. And there is a fair chance that Congress will eventually enact neutrality legislation with teeth in it.

In the meantime, the army rolls increase and the navy lays new keels, as we build the greatest peace-time defensive war machine in our history.

Will H. Mayes Passes

TEXAS HAS LOST a man who helped build the newspaper profession, a statesman and useful citizen, in the death of former Lieutenant-Governor Will H. Mayes.

Mr. Mayes was proof that those in responsible positions in publishing independent newspapers may also contribute valuable services to their state in public office. He was lieutenant-governor, he may also contribute valuable services to their state of journalism in The University of Texas; he was a leader in the preliminary work that culminated in the Texas Centennial.

Official Notice

FOREIGN LANGUAGE examinations will be held at 2 p.m. Monday, July 3, in Geology Building 14, for candidates for the bachelor of arts degree. This will be the only examination during the first semester, the other to be in August.

C. M. MONTGOMERY, chairman of the Foreign Language Requirements Committee

THE LIBRARY will close Tuesday, July 4. Reserved books may be checked out for home use Monday, July 3, at 9 p.m. and will be due Wednesday at 9 a.m. The regulations for checking out reserved books over the week-end are unaltered because of the approaching holiday. The Education Library will be open as usual on Sunday from 2 to 7 o'clock.

LORENA BAKER, loan librarian

ALL MEN and women interested in coaching tennis or in perfecting their game may have free instruction under Dr. D. A. Penick, University tennis coach, at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at Penick Courts in the stadium grounds.

Fundamentals of the game and solution of individual problems will be considered. Those interested may come clothed and equipped for practice.

D. K. BRACE, chairman, Department of Physical Education.

EVERY GRADUATE student registered for the thesis course, 98 or 99, who has not filed a thesis information card, signed by his present supervising professor, should either file the card immediately or report to the Graduate School office if he wishes to postpone selection of his thesis field and supervising professor. Registration for 98 is not complete unless the field of the thesis and a supervisor have been chosen and a card filed in the Graduate Dean's office.

Boy Scouts Plan To Raise $35,000

Plans for underwriting the $35,000 needed by the Capitol Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, to meet budgetary needs and to complete construction work at Camp Tom D. Wooten are going forward with renewed effort this week, says Earl E. Simms, chairman of the executive board of the council.

The campaign in Austin is being reorganized to reach a goal of $25,000, of which $15,000 is needed for a swimming pool, additional buildings, and the purchase of lands adjacent to Camp Tom D. Wooten. The rest is needed for the Council's operating budget. All the funds for the camp development are being secured in Austin.

Other districts and communities outside of Austin are pooling efforts to secure an additional $10,000 as their part of the operating budget of the council.

A short troop camping course was held June 17 and 18 on the Colorado River above La Grange with fifteen scouts present from La Grange, Flatonia, Yoakum, and Austin. Scoutmaster John A. Logan managed the camp. Executives Lloyd M. O'Neal, Noel P. Amstead, and E. C. Newman assisted.

A card filed in the Graduate Dean's office.

A. P. BROGAN, Dean of the Graduate School.

Main Building Hall Has Cross-Section Of University's Life

Like the arterial stem of the University is the ground-floor hall of the Main Building. Professors, students, visitors from all parts of the country pass through the doors and down the hallway, dropping by the Registrar's office for the latest catalogue, ducking into the Reserve Library to study or watch the door, or turning into the tower elevator to keep office hours or a conference.

On any average afternoon you might find:

An ex-Aggie, still in uniform minus insignia, conferring with some of the registration staff about transferred credits.

A puppy trotting briskly through the entrance, nipping playfully at the ankles of his master, and wandering, as far as his leash will allow, to try greener pastures—or greener socks.

A harried student creeping in for his grades. And stepping smartly out a minute later, with a big smile, and a passing mark in that "rough" course.

The scene changes constantly. It is a cross section of University life.

FIREWORKS

The speed and precision required by the designers of the nightly pyrotechnic displays at the New York World's Fair make it necessary that the fireworks be discharged electrically. A total of 3,500 pieces are fired from six barges in Fountain Lake during the 20-minute show, and they are so arranged as to form a definite pattern harmonizing with the fountain beneath.

Greeks-to-Be Rush On Despite Summer Heat

Not even summer heat can stop Austin rushees. They awoke early Monday morning to rush to the Zeta Tau Alpha plantation breakfast at the home of Mrs. R. Niles Graham, dashed home, and were gone again Monday afternoon for the Alpha Xi Delta garden party at the Woman's Club. Tuesday they went again to the Woman's Club, where they were guests of Delta Gamma sorority at a garden party.

Rushees present at the Zeta Tau Alpha party were Mary Margaret Blair, Mary Ann Click, Marjorie Nell Douglas, Mary Finch, Mary Alice Fletcher, Jacqueline Gardner, Dorothy Gresham, Clara Harris, Ann Shirley Hart, Catherine Houston, Frances Gale Jones, Betty Hill, Faye Hoefen, Luella Kenley, Yvonne Lewis, Margaret Mayer, Dorothy Mathews, Harriet Ransom, Kathryn Nelle Rather, Patricia Roberdeau, Betty Statton, Anne Sutton, Ella Townsend, Mary Lucille Wicker, Carolyn Yett, Evelyn Adams, Becky Dougherty, Barbara Forwood, Mary Ireland Graves, Tommie Nell Jackson, Mary Pauline Waltman, and Mary Helen Hughes.

Active members who attended the party were Stella Prude, Rose Poole, La Verne Bryson of Bastrop, Carolyn Hutchins, Dorothy Perkins of Bastrop, Minnie Katherine Holmes, Glenn Apppling of Luling, Polly Robinson, Phoebe Smith of Winchester, Katherine Schaffli, Jane Blumberg, Joyce Zapp, Virginia Kerr, Rosemary Noble of Dallas, and Ann Harlan.

Alumnae present were Mesdames Herman Jones, Wallace Tobin, Eldridge Moore, Harve Windrum, Fred Upchurch, Guy Tarleton, Paul Wittman of Galveston, Dick Rubottom, Emory Thompson, Jamie Frazier, O. D. Weeks, C. A. Swanson, J. T. Bowman, E. Heilenga, and Hitchcock of Baldwin, Kan., and Misses Mary Jo McAngus, Louise Lewis, Elizabeth Baugh, Dorothy House, Marian Reed, and Nancy Woodward.

At Convention

Louise Johnson, president of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, and Miss Maxine Fincher, ex-student of the University, left Wednesday for Asheville, N. C., to attend the national convention of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. The convention will start July 3 and will last until July 7.

Sisters Marry In Double Rites At Lometa

Miss Beth Buttrill and Miss De Rose Buttrill, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Buttrill of Lometa, were married Wednesday in a double ceremony. Miss De Rose Buttrill married Victor Schoenewolf, son of Mrs. Max Schoenewolf of Fredericksburg, and Miss Beth Buttrill was married to J. T. King of Houston, son of Joe King of Wilmot, Ark.

The two sisters were married on the thirty-first wedding anniversary of their parents.

The brides were given in marriage by their father and their cousin, James Wittenburg of Rocksprings. Bridesmaids were Miss Geraldine Schoenewolf of Fredericksburg and Miss Josephine Nevins of Abilene.

Miss Beth Buttrill was graduated from the University, where she was a pledge of Alpha Delta Pi sorority and a Bluebonnet Belle nominee. Mr. King is also a University graduate.

Miss De Rose Buttrill attended Our Lady of the Lake College in San Antonio, and later graduated from the University. Mr. Schoenewolf went to school in Washington, D. C., and is now associated with the firm of Juenke and Schoenewolf in Fredericksburg.

Co-Ed Fancy Snared By Fish-Net Fashions

By MARTHA WORD

An enterprising young woman up New England way decided, a few years back, that the native coarse mesh, woven by men and women in coastal fishing villages, was ideal for sportswear such as scarfs, belts, and turbans. Accordingly, she dyed a few yards of it in rich, glowing colors, and peddled it with such success in New York that today she owns a highly lucrative business—and the world is draped in fish-net.

In town, at beach and summer resorts, and right here on the campus, fish-net is IN. You see it binding the shapely waist of sharkskin shirt-and-skirt outfits, tucked into the neckline of a tailored sports dress, or binding stray curls against the devastating effect of sudden breezes.

A few yards of fish-net will do wonders for simple summer frocks that somehow, these last days of June, seem to lack the allure they possessed in the shop windows in March. But that versatile material is just the beginning of what you can do for your July wardrobe if you put your mind—and a minimum of expense—to the task.

All you need is a simple, tailored dress, preferably with a plain background, and an absence of distracting detail, for fussiness in summer weather just manages to make you look hot. A cool version of the shirtwaist is ideal, and immensely adaptable.

Belts are fun. From a band to mark your waistline they have evolved into clever additions to brighten any dress.

If you have a phobia about handbags, try one of the gay little felt belts sprinkled with bright applique blossoms, and an old-fashioned reticule to hold your hanky and lipstick. Or the Roman-stripped buckle girdle with an enormous tuck of polished wood which turns out, surprisingly, to be a cigarette case. Very nautical are the woven hemp waist-markers. Delightful colors and lacy weaves, but refreshing as a breath of sea breeze.

Of course, we all know about scarfs. For everything from a hobo beachbag to a peasant shawl, they are indispensable. Tuck a jade green one, or a flame-colored one, or a baby blue one, into the pocket of your white dress, and see what happens. Tie it around the waist, or twist it into a perky turban, and sit back happily to hear your friends ask where you got it.

Add variety's spice to a luncheon date with a pair of crisp little gingham gloves, or snowy white pique shorties, which cut down cleaning bills enormously by being perfectly tubbable. Accent the neckline of a dark sheer with a tiny white pique peter pan collar, or a frosty cluster of white flowers on a necklace. But don't, please, overdo it. A touch of white on black is smart, cool, and charming. White gloves, hat, collar, bracelet, shoes and bag are monotonous-making.

You see how simple it is to brighten the summer clothes situation, and life in general, in three

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Steed, who have been taking special courses in the Department of Education this summer, visited his parents in Canton last week-end.

Miss Cooper, Ex-Marries in Ralls

Miss Frances Marie Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holbert Cooper of Ralls and June graduate of the University, became the bride of Preston Lacy Cochran, son of Mrs. Ruby Cochran of Dallas, Monday night in a candlelight ceremony at the First Methodist Church in Ralls.

The altar was a background of palms and ferns and large floor stands of baskets of gladioli.

The bride wore a gown of white marquisette and carried an arm bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses. Her only attendant, Miss Helen Cox, graduate of the University, wore orchid marquisette and carried salmon gladioli. Best man was Ray Cooper, brother of the bride.

After a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., the couple will live in Austin, where Mr. Cochran is employed in the State Comptroller's office.

Mrs. Cochran was vice-president of Chi Omega sorority last year and was president of Cap and Gown. She was a member of the Co-Ed Assembly, Glee Club, Home Economics Club, and the Texas Tech Club. Mr. Cochran, also a University graduate, is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Alumnae present were Misses Dorothy Raby, Leah Gregg, Cora Martin, Elloie Barkley, and Anita Ake, and Mesdames Ben Barker, Noyes D. Smith, and Alta Guinn Saunders.

Miss Mildred Basford, office manager for Texas Student Publications, is spending her vacation in Miami, Fla., with her sister, Mrs. Agnes Blount.

Mary Notley of Teague visited Pattie May Dodson at the Phi Mu house last week. Miss Notley, a junior, attended the University last long term.

'Christ and Human Conduct' To Be Discussed by Dr. Hulst

Dr. Chester L. Hulst, pastor of All Saints' Chapel, will deliver the sermon at the union open-air church service at 8 o'clock Sunday night on the campus. His subject will be "Christ and Human Conduct."

In the event of rain, the services will be held in the University Methodist Church.

The Rev. S. Marcus Houge, pastor of the University Community Church, will introduce Dr. Hulst. The scripture reading will be by the Rev. Conway T. Wharton, pastor of the University Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Edmund Heinsohn, pastor of the University Methodist Church, will lead the prayer and benediction, and "The Lord Is My Shepherd," will be sung by George T. Platte of All Saints' Chapel.

An offering will be collected for the A.A.U.W. milk clinic.

The Rev. F. G. Roesener, pastor of St. Martin's Lutheran Church, will deliver the morning sermon at 8 o'clock Sunday. Sunday school will begin at 9:15 o'clock, and Mr. Roesener's Bible class at 10 o'clock. The pastor will speak again at the night lawn services at 8 o'clock.

In the absence of the Rev. W. H. McKenzie, Dr. J. A. Fitzgerald, chairman of the Board of Deacons, Dr. L. W. Payne Jr., and Sam Bills, also members of the board, will discuss the past, present and future of the University Baptist Church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The Rev. Felix Gresham will deliver the night sermon at 8 o'clock on "The Knowledge That Excels."

The Rev. Basil D. Shilling, pastor of the University Church of Christ, will speak at 8 o'clock Sunday morning and again at 10:50 o'clock will give his third sermon on "Behavior Forbidden in the House of God." Bible school will be at 9:45 o'clock. Mr. Shilling's subject at 8 o'clock Sunday night will be "Why the Churches of Christ Do Not Use

Mechanical Instruments of Music in Worship."

At St. Paul's Lutheran Church the first service will be conducted in German by the Rev. K. G. Manz, pastor, with Holy Communion at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. Manz will preach in English at 11 o'clock on "Fourfold Code of Citizenship for Citizens of the Kingdom of Heaven."

The Junior Walther League of the church will meet at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and at 8 o'clock at night a service will be held in English, with Mr. Manz preaching on "Why Do I Believe that Baptism Works Forgiveness of Sins?" This will be his ninth sermon on the general subject, "Why Do I Believe?"

The Rev. M. E. Sadler will preach on "Visions and Realities" at the Central Christian Church at 10:50 o'clock Sunday morning, the service marking his fourth year as minister of the church. Miss Bonnie Ruth Taylor, member of the University Light Opera during the long session, will sing a solo. At night the church will join the union campus services.

Dr. Conway T. Wharton will deliver a sermon at the University Presbyterian Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. At 6:45 o'clock Sunday night the Presbyterian Student League will meet.

Latin-Americans—

encourage an exchange of students with those countries, he said, and the students from each nation can learn from the others.

"We have much to learn from the Latin-Americans," he said, "especially in the way of enjoyment. We might learn how to take things easy and enjoy life instead of living under such strain and killing ourselves long before we should die."

Dr. Hammond was professor of history at the University of Southern California before going to the University of New Mexico four years ago. He is author of several books on Southwestern and Latin-American history, and is editor of the Quivira Society and the "Historian," official publication of Phi Alpha Theta, national historical fraternity.

As an example of the policy of his own university, Dr. Hammond told how it was striving to develop regional interest, especially in history, anthropology, and related subjects.

will cramp her foot into a toeless shoe to make her foot look smaller. If she will wear her correct size, the toeless shoe will not mar her foot."

"The co-ed who wears the flat saddle oxford or the moccasin type of sandal should be sure that she has strong arches."

Dr. Lee is a well-known figure in the field of physical education. She is acting-president of the American Academy of Physical Education and a member of the Board of the Directors of the Women's Division of the National Athletic Federation. She is the former president of the American Physical Education Association and of the Society of Directors of Physical Education for College Women. She received her bachelor of science degree from Coe College and her certificate of physical education from Wellesley College. In June, 1939, Coe College bestowed the honorary doctor of laws degree upon her. She is listed in Who's Who of North American Authors, Who's Who in Leaders of Education, and in American Women.

wood Bulletin. Thereafter he became lieutenant governor and professor of journalism.

He was a member of the National Editorial Association and served as its president in 1908-9. He was president of the Texas Press Association in 1900-1901. He belonged to Phi Delta Theta fraternity, to the Masons, and to the Rotary Club. He was a Democrat and a member of the Methodist Church.

A figure of importance in the Texas newspaper field, Mr. Mayes bought the Brownwood Bulletin in 1890. Other papers were added until at one time he and his brother, H. F. Mayes, owned papers at Brownwood, Brady, Stephenville, Santa Anna, May, Ballinger, and Dalhart. Later they disposed of these properties to concentrate on the Brownwood field.

Mr. Mayes was active in the movement for a Texas centennial celebration, and was executive vice-president of the Texas Centennial Committee.

In 1914 the Department of Journalism under Mr. Mayes had approximately 35 students. In a frame building on the southwest corner of the campus, four professors taught the twelve or fifteen courses offered.

One of the students taught by Mr. Mayes who has attained national prominence is Stanley Walker, now managing editor of the Philadelphia Evening Ledger and formerly city editor of the New York Herald-Tribune. He is also author of the book, "City Editor."
