

Coming April 2: LLILAS Presents an Evening of Latin@ Poetry and Spoken Word

Posted on March 25, 2015 by Jessica Sinn

Stop by the Benson Latin American Collection for an evening of poetry readings and spoken-word performances on Thursday, April 2, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The 13th annual ¡A Viva Voz! Migraciones event, hosted by LLILAS Benson Latin American Studies and Collections, will feature live readings and performances of original work by Central Texas–based poets and spoken word artists.

The following artists will share diverse perspectives around themes of migration and identity:

- Ariana Brown, Afro-Mexicana poet, performer, and author
- Marcos Cervantes (aka Mex Step of Third Root hip hop collective), educator and scholar
- Las Krudas, Cuban hip hop artists
- Teresa Palomo Acosta, poet, educator and historian
- Moderator: Celeste Guzmán Mendoza, poet

This event is free and open to the public. Light refreshments provided. RSVP and find updates on Facebook at <http://bit.ly/avv2015>.

This entry was posted in Literary Events and tagged Benson Latin American Collection, LLILAS Benson Latin American Studies and Collections, poetry, poetry reading, spoken word by Jessica Sinn. Bookmark the permalink

[\[https://sites.utexas.edu/shelflife/2015/03/25/coming-april-2-llilas-presents-an-evening-of-latin-poetry-and-spoken-word/\]](https://sites.utexas.edu/shelflife/2015/03/25/coming-april-2-llilas-presents-an-evening-of-latin-poetry-and-spoken-word/) .