JUNIOR LAWS WILL HAVE NOVEL FEAST

WEIRD PROGRAM WILL BE CARRIED OUT, AND THE COMMITTEE MAY LEAVE SCHOOL.

WHAT IS THE STUNT?

The numerous secret meetings of the Program Committee bespeak something worth while for the Junior Law Banquet which will be given at the Driskill, Friday night. No one is advised as to the details of the banquet, further than that Judge B. D. Tarleton will preside as Toastmaster, and will conduct the ceremonies. There are no toasts, no speeches, yet all of the Faculty and quizmasters will be present. Those who have the matter in charge promise a rare treat in the way of a unique performance, in which certain members of the class will attempt to display their knowledge of the fundamentals of law. These certain members are very optimistic about the success of the program, but are extremely pessimistic about their chances to make their courses after the banquet. Indeed, it is rumored that the principals and accomplices in the fray are preparing to board an out-going train if the stunts go amiss; and it is feared that even the accessories will be suspended for the remainder of the term. Since a majority of the class will be present, and participate in the stunts, it is hoped that no drastic measures will be taken to reprimand the instigators.

The aim of the class is to set a precedent in the way of Law Banquets, and to inaugurate a custom that will be handed down to the coming Junior Law classes.

A tasty menu of nine courses has been arranged, and there will be no end of good things to eat, and, smoke. The tickets are now on sale, and those who are conducting the sales are desirous of selling at least a hundred tickets. Anyone is eligible to attend who is carrying as many as two Junior Law subjects. The tickets are going at $1.75.

BRUSH AND PENCIL CLUB IS FORMED.

Monday afternoon in the rooms of the School of Architecture a brush and pencil club was organized by a number of students interested in developing their artistic efficiency. The purpose of the club is to gather all the students in the University who are capable of working with brush and pencil as a medium into an organization where by working together and by mutual criticism their own art will be built, and in consequence, the artistic embellishments of the various University publications.

The Cactus and the Coyote will offer a fertile field for the preservation of the best efforts of the members. Such a club can not but be the greatest help to the University annual in meeting its artistic needs. It is planned to meet at least once a week when real work will be done, such as sketching from life and discussions of the technic of art.

"MODERN CITY" IS SUBJECT OF LECTURE

C. R. WOODRUFF SPEAKS ON PROGRESS IN MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

DISCUSS IMPROVEMENT

To an interested audience of about two hundred in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Saturday night, Clinton Rogers Woodruff, of Philadelphia, Secretary to the National Municipal League, delivered an able address on the "Modern City."

Mr. Woodruff began his talk by stating the size and complexity of the problems confronting the American city of today, and emphasizing the great need for action along the lines suggested by improvements recently made in the larger cities of the East. A hundred years ago, the problem did not present itself nearly so forcibly to the minds of the people because the size of the city did not demand it. As an instance of this, he cited the case of Philadelphia, in which city the expenditures for municipal works a hundred years ago were 97 cents per capita, and in which today the same expenditures amount to approximately $29.50 per annum. These expenditures give an index to the tremendousness of the problem as it exists today, and emphasize the importance of municipal affairs.

"There are various manifestations of this growing interest," said Mr. Woodruff. "For instance, look at the great change in the tone and talk and thought about municipal matters. Eighteen years ago the tone was one of almost sheer hopelessness. But a great change has come. We are at the present time well on our way to a solution of the problem. Never before in the history of the country has the subject of municipal government occupied the attention of the people as it does today." He spoke of the Commission Form of government as being a great step in advance, and especially recommended it for cities of the size of Austin and San Antonio, but said that it was far from being perfect. "However, it is a long step in advance," he said. "People are awakening. There has been a great change from a critical attitude to a constructive policy in nearly every city of importance in the country."

"Another manifestation is the great increase in the number of agencies. In 1894, when the Municipal League was founded, there were only about 50 such civic clubs in existence, and they only in the larger cities. At the present time there are more than 1,000 such clubs, scattered from Texas to Maine, and in all sizes of towns and cities. They are composed of thinking men, differing perhaps, in their ideas of the ways and means of accomplishing their end but all working together toward the same goal." As an instance of the good work that these clubs might do, he cited the Chicago Municipal Voters' League, an organization that devotes itself to seeking out and comparing the records of the candidates for the different municipal offices, and to the promotion of the candidacy of the right sort of men, regardless of political affiliations. Other organizations mentioned were the various civic associations, playgrounds, associations, etc.

"The same spirit is likewise manifest in the increased vote at municipal elections. Twenty years ago, statistics showed this to be smaller than either the state or the national vote." Mr. Woodruff pointed out that this was very wrong, because of the very direct contact that we have with the municipal governments as opposed to the national or the state government. People all over the country are thoroughly aroused. Not only in numbers, either, is this vote significant. The people are beginning to drop their "stick-to-the-party" ideas and vote for the best man.

Manifestations of the municipal spirit are found, too, in the many governmental reforms of today. Power once relegated to the state governments is becoming more and more the power of municipalities, where the best interests of the people demand it; the merit system is surely though slowly, advancing in importance, becoming ingrafted in the customs of the people, and at some places, very properly, in the laws also. "The government of cities," said Mr. Woodruff, in summing up, "is becoming more and more a purely business proposition, drawing the best men of the country to it, not as a mere avocation, but as a career."

Prof. Young Translates Goldoni's "Fan" For Members of Fortnightly Club

The Fortnightly Club was recently entertained by Stark Young's translation of Goldoni's "Fan." The first act was read in full while from the last acts only selections were given. Mr. Young read the first part with a great deal of expression, and his translation showed a finish which the later selections lacked. The members of the club were highly amused at the situations which arose and regretted that Mr. Young had not been able to finish it all at that time. However, all were convinced of the dramatic opportunities of the play and the finished translation of the first act gave assurance that the whole, when completed, would retain the full vigor of the original. The idiomatic phrases which fill the Italian version have been recast into English with remarkable fidelity. The rapid change of speakers, the various points of view held by the different persons of the play and the sparkling flow of words promise to make the presentation of this play very amusing and extremely entertaining.

LONGHORNS DEFEAT 22ND INFANTRY

SCORE IS 39 TO 33,—FIRST DEFEAT FOR SOLDIERS IN TWO YEARS.

GAME WAS HARD FOUGHT

The Longhorn goal-tossers started the season Friday evening with the championship stride, defeating, by the score of 39 to 33, the 22nd Infantry team of San Antonio, perhaps, the strongest contenders for the championship honors. This was the first defeat that the soldiers have suffered for two years, and it will be remembered that they were the undisputed champions last year.

The game was closely contested throughout, and it was only during the first half that the Longhorns had the edge on the Soldiers. The weather was extremely warm and took away much of the "pep" that is usually manifest when two evenly matched giants meet on an outdoor court. The Soldiers were working at a little disadvantage on the outdoor court, but they put up a game fight. At the end of the first half, the score stood 20 to 14 in favor of Varsity.

The Soldiers came back strong in the last half and played a hard game but they were unable to overcome the lead that had been obtained in the first half. Schramm, who had played a snappy game, was compelled to retire on account of a sprained ankle, but Vining relieved him and scored eight points. When the whistle blew, both sides were well exhausted. Captain Johnnie was in the game with his usual fighting spirit, and played an unusually strong, defensive game. Ross, at right forward, made some difficult goals, and scored twelve points. The entire Texas team showed good form and at times handled the ball in mid-season fashion.

For the Soldiers, Martin and Schwartz played fast and snappy ball and made some goals from difficult angles. Their team work was not up to last year's standard.

Quite a good crowd witnessed the game and more interest was manifested than is usual with a basketball game. The Varsity five well merits the support of the entire student body. The individual players are equal to the best in the State and they are working hard to perfect their team work. They will meet the Infantry in San Antonio within the next few days, and will have to meet them on an indoor court. This will be a decided advantage for the Soldiers, but the efficient team work of the Longhorns should easily offset this advantage.

The Lineup:
University. Infantry.
James Schwartz
Right guard.
Garrett Downey
Left guard.
McVeigh Erickson
Center.
Ross Martin
Right forward.
Schramm Buff.
Left forward.
Substitute: Vining for Schramm.

MR. RIKER'S BOOK IS WELL RECEIVED

CRITIC OF LONDON TIMES REVIEWS EXCELLENT HISTORICAL SKETCH.

"STUDY OF HENRY FOX"

In the literary supplement of the "London Times," Dec. 28, 1911, appears the following sentence: "We have left it to a learned German to make the first attempt at an exhaustive Life of Chatham; and now we have to thank an American for the first biography, in any detail, of Chatham's rival, Henry Fox, First Lord Holland." In a few words this tells the importance of a book just printed by Mr. Thad W. Riker, Instructor of History in this University. This work, which bears the title "Henry Fox," is in two volumes, and in the sub-title Mr. Riker makes clear that it is a study of the career of an eighteenth century politician.

The critic on the Times seems to value the work most highly, and in his article comments frequently on Mr. Riker's keen ability to grasp the true motives which actuated the great Fox in handling the tangled political and diplomatic threads, which weighed England in the balance during the Seven Years War. Fox, Pitt, and Hardwicke are the figures who stand out prominently in this period of English history, and Mr. Riker was fortunate and sound in choosing the first of these about whom he could clearly develop the trend of mind and methods of the Eighteenth Century politician. It was this same Fox that Frederick the Great had in mind when he said, "England has suffered much, but at last has produced a man."

As for detail and treatment the book is especially worthy for its account of the political changes, intrigues, and negotiations between the death of Pelham, March 6, 1754, and the formation of Pitt's second ministry in June, 1757. For this space of years Mr. Riker has exhausted the documents in the British Museum, and through his deftness and adaptability in interpreting them correctly, he has hit upon an account, which, according to the Times, will prove to be an invaluable aid to the scholar who is studying that period.

The work covers some seven hundred and fifty pages, and is considered by the critic of the Times to be an admirable evidence of "fine scholarship and originality of research into a very difficult period of political history." Mr. Riker has been at work several years in handling this topic. Of course, his research work was done while he was abroad. The book was just recently completed, and the University of Texas can feel duly proud that the goodly portion of this study was done while Mr. Riker was teaching within these walls. This is only Mr. Riker's second year here, but his scholarship has won him vast prestige, and his new volumes and the favorable comment thereupon come as a fitting tribute to his ability as a student of history.

ON WITH THE DANCE!

February is the month for social action in vogue here. One can hardly turn without seeing notice of a department dance, a class reception, a class banquet or the like. These forms of entertainment are of no real value in themselves. They detract from the student's study hours, and in some few cases make a difference in the final grade. Their advantages, however, are important, and in the case of most of these functions clearly outweigh the negative and desultory phases. If a class dance, or a department banquet furthers the ideal of class and department spirit, if it causes the students to feel a keener relation to one another based on their class affiliation, the affair should be tolerated and encouraged. Willingly or unwilling, we must admit that no agents are as successful and satisfactory in bringing students together as entertainments, and receptions. If in this casual way the class groups can come to learn each other as individuals belonging to that class, as parties to a common class cause, enterprise or tradition, a better spirit is bound to be engendered. This, then, is a sufficient apology for the calling into being of these class functions. Its a hard matter to meet and understand your fellow-student in the class-rooms. The social function brings them together, and class spirit is thereby transmitted. On with the dance!

The Lariat, Baylor's weekly publication, is advocating the adoption of the Honor System in that University. Information about this system has been sought from all possible sources, and the president of our Students' Association has written the Lariat about the Honor System as it is manipulated here. It is pleasing to notice that other universities are looking with favor on this plan of student honesty, and we hope that Baylor will adopt the system, and uphold its practices thoroughly in every instance.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Baseball practice is moving along nicely. The old men reported Monday, and despite the cool weather were put through a little preliminary work-out. By the latter part of this week regular practice games will be played every afternoon.

Plans are being perfected for the sale of season tickets, and the sale will probably commence next Monday. There will be two kinds of tickets sold. The general admission ticket will cost $2.00 and admit to all games, but will not entitle the holder to a seat in the grandstand. The grandstand ticket will cost $2.50, and in addition to admitting the holder to all games will give him the privileges of a grandstand seat.

Watch out for announcements of the sale, and look out for the members of the committee who have the sale in charge.

BEHOLD—THE PUSH BALL!

The push ball ordered by the Students' Council through the agency of the Co-op, has been received, and will be placed on exhibition, uninflated in the Co-op show case.

The ball will be put in play on March the 2nd, when the Freshmen and Sophomores will start the first annual push ball contest.

Inflated the ball measures six feet in diameter, and is so constructed that there is practically no danger of its being punctured. The cover is of a heavy cow-hide, sewed in a serviceable way. The bladder is of pure Para rubber.

The only problem that now remains is to get it pumped up. We would suggest, from the amount of hot-air the Freshmen seem to possess, that they be given the honor.

The purchase of this ball is the outcome of last March 2nd's bloody rush between the Freshmen and the Sophomores. It is recognized and has been felt very keenly in the University this year that the Sophs and Freshies must work out on one another. The push ball contest seems to be about the most civilized form of aggression known to modern college warfare. It marks another step in the stirring up of college activities, a good omen of the spirit of development here at Texas.

LAW ORGANIZE SENIOR SOCIETY—THE CHANCELLORS.

A few of the progressive students of the Senior Law Class, realizing the need, and appreciating the advantages of a Senior Law society have succeeded in organizing a new club which will be henceforth known as "The Chancellors." To this organization only Senior Laws who are candidates for a degree are eligible, and as is customary with all Senior societies, the ranks will be filled by election from the Middle class in the spring term of that year. It is the idea of the members of the Chancellors to make the club a select one,—a law club which recognizes merit of the individual members of the class, and at the same time endeavors to reward the individuals purely on the basis of his worth as a representative student. Further than this it is the idea of the club to foster all of the cherished traditions of the Law Department and to be wide awake for all new advantages and prestige to which the Department is entitled.

It is commonly understood that the society was formed for the social benefit which its members might derive. Class spirit and legal friendship between those who have fought it out for three years is another ideal aimed at.

Tonight the Chancellors will hold their first court of equity at Martin's Cafe. After preliminary examination on Constitutional Law and Federal Practice, the members hope to enjoy a great feed. At this meeting final organization will be perfected.

The following are the charter members of this new organization: A. T. McKean, M. McGee, G. B. Cunningham, R. W. Stoddard, J. M. Harris, G. W. Polk, G. W. Cole, E. Harold, J. A. James, Gus Kowalski, M. Faust, D. C. Bland, B. M. Tirey, S. L. Kelley, R. Rugely, K. W. Denman, K. K. Bettis.

ATHENAEUM ELECTS OFFICERS.

Last Saturday night the Athenaeum elected the following officers for the two terms:

Winter Term.

Jake Tirey, President.
F. L. Vaughan, Vice-President.
Chas. I. Francis, Secretary.
Tom Ramey, Critic.
W. W. Meachum, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Spring Term.

George Wythe, President.
W. O. Murray, Vice-President.
Paul Brown, Secretary.
Walter G. Miller, Critic.
Jake Tirey, Sergeant-at-Arms.

SOPHOMORE RECEPTION.

The first of the class entertainments comes tomorrow night, Feb. 1. On that date the first Sophomore Reception will be given. It is the purpose of the Sophs to give not only, the first, but also the best of the class receptions. No expense will be spared to carry out that end, and the best of everything will be had for the occasion.

The class of 1914 saw no reason why the Sophomore Class should be the only one without some social function. It deserves to be an annual affair, and will no doubt be such hereafter.

If you have not bought your ticket, you should do so at once. They may be secured from any of the committeemen.

PRESS CLUB DISCUSSES UNIVER- SITY PUBLICATIONS.

The Press Club met in regular session Monday night. President Fleming and the program committee paved the way for a small cyclone of words by calling for reports on the status of all the University publications. The Coyote, The Texan, Magazine, Cactus, were taken up, each in its turn, and thoroughly discussed.
Many of the members are practical journalists, and their advice and admonitions were extremely helpful.
The vices and virtues of all of these publications were pointed out, and a committee has been appointed to draw up practical resolutions showing wherein and how each of these papers could be improved. It was the consensus of opinion that the competitive system of choosing editors and boards was the best remedy for many of the existing evils.
Fleming, Morgan, and Wythe led the discussion in regard to the Cactus; Felts and Jamison handled the Magazine; Henderson, Bettis, and Burdick spoke on the Coyote; Pearson and Levy for the Texan. In the near future the club hopes to hear talks on Journalism by Dr. Griffith of the English Faculty, Chester Crowell, Editor of the Statesman, Clarence Ousley of the Board of Regents, and other prominent newspaper men, whose names will be announced later.

cord as favoring the Graduate System of football coaching in preference to the Professional.

At a meeting of the Harvard foot-don Wendell '13, of Jamaica Plain, was unanimously elected captain of the football team for 1912. Wendell played right halfback on the Freshman team, and the last two seasons on the Varsity. He has been generally recognized as the best line-plunging back in the country. He has been twice chosen by Walter Camp for halfback on the All-American team.

TO THE STUDENTS

The superior knowledge in Examining and Testing Eyes, for all kinds of Eyestrain, should be of the greatest importance to you.

We Examine the most complicated eyes, without the use of "Poisonous Eyedrops" of any kind, and can save you unnecessary expense and delay. All our work is guaranteed.

It doesn't matter so much whether X equals 10 or 100, or whether after all, the Chinese may not have discovered America—The most important question with all college men of today is:

Whose new Tailor?

If you have us make your clothes to order once, you'll never hesitate before answering the question—so thorough will be your satisfaction with the style, fit, workmanship and price.

Make your requirements known to

Moore & Morrison

who will show you our beautiful Spring Woolens and take your measure.

iastic over its possibilities.

Miss Stella Shurtleff was present at the meeting as a representative of the University Art Club. An effort will be made to co-ordinate the work of the two organizations.

The next meeting will be held Friday afternoon, at five o'clock, in the rooms of the Architectural School, in the power house. A committee will report on the constitution.

Those present at the first meeting were: Margaret Burroughs, Ethel Barron, Libbie Breuer, Annette Hardwicke, Stella Shurtleff, Prof. Hugo Kuehne, Jack Dailey, W. H. Lightfoot
R. Q. Small, Ralph Goeth, A. D.
Halpurn, Dave Hardy, P. A. Langford
Laurence Eastland, and Thornton
Read.

Membership in the club will be based on merit, and it is also proposed to establish a system of awards for excellence.
