

Daily
Perspective

By R. T. BRINSMADE
BRITAIN has proposed a new way out of the dangerous situation created by the interference of foreign countries in the Spanish civil war. The British proposal may be rightly termed a proposal to bring about a "clearing house for hate." This clearing house will be constituted by a gathering of the major European powers. At this meeting it is expected that all nations who have been involved in the present Spanish affair will be able to get together and thrash out some of the difficulties that have kept Europe in an uproar since the beginning of the year.

Thus the leadership taken by Britain, who is now more than clearly alarmed by the Leftist-Fascist crisis, shows that she is willing to assume new responsibilities and that her diplomacy is once more becoming one of aggressive peace making. Britain's move, which has been expected by the more optimistic foreign observers since the Spanish war broke out, is motivated more than anything by the fact that at last Britain feels that she is a little more prepared to fight if fight she must, and this preparedness has given her an aggressiveness that reminds us of the England of yesterday.

In the invitations sent by Britain to Italy and Germany asking them to participate in this new conference England states that she desires a reply as soon as possible.

WHILE this English plan is as yet under consideration, the German government found time to reprimand both England and France for having appealed to her to halt the flow of "volunteers" into Spain.

This note stated that this action by France and England was not at all necessary. She also stated that the whole matter should have been handled by the International Non-Intervention Committee of twenty-seven nations which has been meeting in London.

The British conservatives have once more been shocked to their inmost by the doings of another one of the members of the English ruling family. This time it was not the Duke of Windsor who has found time to shock their lordships. On the contrary the doings were of his younger brother, the Duke of Kent. It appears that the playboy inclinations of this young member of the ruling family of Great Britain have so shocked the British bigwigs that they decided to give him an immediate public spanking.

It appears that the activities of the young Duke included a visit to a phenologist in the company of Mrs. William Allen. The Duke's activities were so shocking in their character that they upset Queen Mary, the Duke's mother, to such an extent that she called the young Duke to task.

Apparently not at all bothered by what they have been saying in London about his activities abroad, the Duke of Kent arrived at the Hague to attend the wedding of Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands to Prince Bernhard of Lippe-Biesterfeld.

The wedding at the Hague is one of the most important events in the modern history of Holland. As those who have seen the picture of the young fiancée of the Crown Princess of the Netherlands well know, he is not very handsome. He is a German, and this fact has brought a great deal of worries to the Hollanders. Since the wedding was announced there has been friction between Nazi Germany and Holland over the failure of the latter to play the game of politics with the powerful German state.

Athenaeum Society Holds
Connally Dinner Tonight

Honoring Tom Connally, junior senator from Texas, and former president of the Athenaeum Literary Society, the organization will hold its annual banquet tonight at the Mona Lisa Cafe, Tenth and Colorado, at 7 o'clock, Cecil E. Burney, president, announced yesterday. Senator Connally, however, will not be present.

The entertainment will be the Tom Connally After-dinner Speech Contest, in which members will deliver 5-minute speeches on subjects of their own selection in competition for the $25 prize offered by the Senator.

"We have made arrangements for a dozen unreserved plates in order that members desiring to attend who have not made their reservations may do so," Burney said. Charge per plate will be 50 cents.

In a communication to Vincent Licata, secretary, this week, Senator Connally expressed his regrets at having to remain in Washington for the strenuous duties of the opening of the congressional session. Original plans called for the attendance of the lawmaker at the affair to judge the contest.

Honor guests for the occasion will be Tom Rouse, Dean Arno Nowotny, Dr. C. W. Ramsdell, all former presidents of the society, V. I. Moore, dean of student life, and Ellwood Griscom, chairman of the Department of Public Speaking.

Dr. Simonds
To Speak Today

"I Become a Geologist!" is the title of an autobiographical speech to be given by Dr. Fredric W. Simonds, oldest member of the faculty, when the Southwestern Geological Society meets tonight at 8 o'clock in the Geology Building auditorium.

Dr. Simonds will tell something of his forty-seven years as a teacher of geology and other subjects on the campus. Before he was made the first head of the Department of Geology soon after his arrival here in 1890, he taught biology, botany, and several other subjects related to geology.

During his course on the campus he has had in his classes at least three college presidents and a number of professors. One of them was Dr. H. Y. Benedict. Other faculty members who went to school to Dr. Simonds are Dr. James R. Bailey, professor of organic chemistry, Dr. E. P. Schoch, professor of physical chemistry, Dr. E. T. Miller, professor of economics, and Dr. D. A. Penick, professor of classical languages.

The entire issue of the March, 1915 Alcalde, the official organ of the Ex-Students' Association, was dedicated to Dr. Simonds, who had then ended his twenty-fifth year on this campus.

Express Editor
To Speak Here

"State Aid for Free Public Libraries" will be the subject discussed by M. M. Harris, editor of the San Antonio Express, before the Austin Library Club Saturday night at 8:15 o'clock at the Austin Public Library auditorium.

A bill is to be submitted to the State Legislature asking for state aid this year. Sponsors of the bill are the associations of libraries and trustees.

Mr. Harris is president of the League of Library Trustees, a member of the executive committee of the National Association of Library Trustees, and is chairman of the board of trustees of the San Antonio Public Library.

Any phase of life or policy may be treated.

Band Goes
To Taylor
For Program

Concert Section
To Play Popular,
Classical Numbers;
Soloists Featured

Approximately fifty members of the concert section of the Longhorn Band will go to Taylor tonight to play a concert there in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. The boys will leave Gregory Gymnasium this afternoon at 5 o'clock in cars furnished by the Austin Chamber of Commerce, George E. Hurt, director, said.

On arriving in Taylor, the band will parade in the business section.

The concert program will consist of popular and classical numbers. Von Suppe's overture to "Morning, Noon, and Night," will be rendered, the Longhorn Band being the only band currently to have this number in its repertoire. Randle Tankersley will be presented in a saxophone solo, "Valse Erica," by Wiedoff. The trumpet trio, Earl Truelove, John Sullivan, and Walter Watkins, will play "Triplets of the Finest" by Hennenberg.

Maurice Hoffman, clarinet soloist, will be featured in Von Weber's "Concertino." "Tiger Rag" and "Twelfth Street Rag" will furnish the popular fare on the concert.

The first formal presentation of "Skyliner," a concert march composed by Harry Alford, will be included. Mr. Alford, who lives in Chicago, dedicated this work to his son who is an instructor in blind flying in the United States Air Corps.

Specialty numbers will be given by Randolph Mitchell, who dances and plays the piano at the same time, and by Morris Weissman. Weissman's number will be a musical pantomime.

Other selections will be Gaunad's "Prelude" from "Faust"; Cunningham's "My Texas"; Lake's "Yankee Rhythm"; Lehar's "Valse Concert"; Gold and Silver; "The Eyes of Texas"; and "Taps."

Educator Speaks
To Women's Club

6,000 Pay Fees
To League

Dr. Annie Webb Blanton, professor of educational administration in the University, and a member of the state board of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, Thursday denounced the Texas school law "as in many respects one of the worst." Dr. Blanton's remarks were made at the federation board meeting in the mid-winter session here.

Dr. Blanton called attention to the report expected soon after the legislature convenes and of the senate investigation committee on education. "I haven't seen the new law they're working on," she said, "but I am sure anything they propose will be infinitely better than what we have."

She suggested that the club women study the new measure carefully. Dr. Blanton is a former state superintendent of public schools.

Campus Actors, Whitley's Spirit
Spur Time in Theta Sig Revue

By PERICLES ALEXANDER

"And Time Staggered On . . ." Two hours of time staggered on, slowly but surely, last night in Hogg Memorial Auditorium as the Theta Sigma Phi revue went on-stage. It was the most appropriately named two hours of entertainment ever housed in the auditorium. You might think the venerable old fellow, Time, was limp indeed when he crawled into action last night, but ere the curtain lowered on Gypsy Fantasy, the only number which might be classified as a production number, a packed audience had been pleased when it easily could have been disgusted.

With an implicit faith in the quantitative theory of entertainment and not much perturbed over quality, the Theta Sigs peopled their burlesque musical with campus dramatic and musical satellites and let themselves go. There was unvarnished quality there awaiting sufficient exploitation, but Time had to stagger on and many were left holding the bag.

"Time Staggered On," playing a one-night engagement at Hogg Memorial Auditorium, was a melange of adagio dancing, a seige of tap dancing, Apache rough-house, wrestling matches, Ethiopian art, and risque humor borrowed from George White's "Scandale."

Jimmy Valentine pleased an audience that wished more from him when he sang "Night and Day," See CAMPUS ACTORS, page 4

Oil Well Produces
But the Pay-off
Isn't Petroleum

The oil lands in West Texas are familiar, but not many students know that the University owns an oil well within one block of the campus. And a real one it is, too, differing from its West Texas brothers in just one detail.

Even though the well is piped with oil well casing, equipped with an excellent pumping unit, and topped by a derrick, it pays off only in artesian water.

The 300-foot hole was sunk last year, Dr. H. H. Power, professor of petroleum production engineering, explained, in order that students may conduct oil pumping tests under actual conditions.

Schaffer Reviews
'Victoria Regina'
For Lanier Group

Dr. Aaron Schaffer, professor of Romance languages, reviewed "Victoria Regina" by Laurence Housman at the meeting of Sidney Lanier Society Thursday afternoon in the Texas Union.

Having seen the play last summer as produced in New York, Dr. Schaffer discussed the stage version and the acting and gave an outline of the book form. The play, he said, as produced on the stage gave only ten of the scenes portrayed in the book. It is the story of Queen Victoria and her reign and romance with her husband, Prince Albert of Germany.

Dr. Schaffer explained that the popularity of the play is probably due to the excellent acting and elaborate stage setting, although the dialogue is clever. Helen Hayes plays the role of Queen Victoria, and Vincent Price, that of Prince Albert.

The play as produced has three acts with four scenes in the first, four in the second, and two in the last. Each scene, says Dr. Schaffer, is a perfect picture of Victorian wealth and life during Queen Victoria's time.

"I should hardly call it a great play, but certainly it is one of the most interesting bits of theater in New York now," was his criticism.

Social Science
Fellowships Open

Pre-doctoral fellowships for graduate study in social science are open to men and women citizens of the United States or Canada who have received a bachelor's degree or will obtain it before July 1, 1937, and are under the age of 25 on July 1.

University of Texas students are eligible for these fellowships if they have not been in residence as graduate students at any institution for more than one semester or its equivalent, provided they meet the other requirements.

These awards, offered by the Social Science Research Council, are designed to aid exceptionally promising students of the social sciences in obtaining research training beginning with the first year of graduate study. The basis of selection is on full academic and personal records of the candidate, supported by letters from University instructors qualified to write of the candidates' research promise and on written examinations.

The appointments will be for the academic year 1937-38. The closing date for the receipt of applications has been set for March 15, 1937. Candidates must send in their applications on blanks secured from the Fellowship Secretary of the Social Science Research Council, 230 Park Avenue, New York City.

Rusk Society Elects

Three students were voted into the Rusk Literary Society at the meeting Thursday night in Texas Union 311, Wroe Owens, president, announced.

Grover Keeton and Joe Tennant, Jr., both of Houston, were granted membership. Jack Hart of Carthage was elected to probationary membership.

Winston Davis was impeached from the treasurer's position in a mock trial for "malfeasance, misfeasance, mismanagement, etc.," but was reinstated on refusal to surrender the club's money.

OBSERVATORY CLOSED
The observatory at the Physics Building will remain closed until final examinations are over. Dr. E. G. Keller, professor of Applied Mathematics and Astronomy, announced Thursday.

Grant to Sing
'Song of Songs'
At Concert Jan. 13

The program for the semi-annual combined concert of the Men's and Girls' Glee Clubs, to be given in Hogg Memorial Auditorium Wednesday, includes selections by both choruses, by soloists from both clubs, by the men's quartet and the girls' trio, and by a violin soloist. Popular, semi-classical, and classical music will be presented, Gilbert E. Schramm, director of the clubs, announced.

Soloists from the girls' club will be Margaret Bone, soprano, Mary Mueller Lewis, mezzo-soprano, and Jessonda Gilbert, alto. Miss Bone will sing "Norwegian Echo Song" by Waldemar Thrane. Mrs. Lewis will sing "Flowers of Forgetfulness" by Cadman, and Miss Gilbert will sing Brahms' "Cradle Song."

Men's club soloists are Frank Gardner, president of the club, tenor, Durwood Grant, baritone, and Philip Schraub, Jr., bass. Gardner's song will be "The World Is Mine" by George Posford. Grant will sing "Song of Songs" by Moya, and Schraub will give "The Trumpeter" by Dix.

The girls' trio consists of Louise Kemp, Vivian Dahlberg, and Kathryn Spence. The men's quartet is made up of Bryan Beck, Neilson Rogers, Wesley Childs, and Schraub.

Clyde Mitchell, violin soloist, will play an instrumental interlude to the program with "Gypsy Airs" by Pablo de Sarasate.

Stuart Chase
May Talk Here

Stuart Chase, economist and author, is expected to appear on the University campus sometime during the second week of March, under the sponsorship of the Student Cultural Entertainment Committee.

Tom Law, president of the committee, has revealed that he is completing negotiations with Mr. Chase's tour manager to bring the lecturer to the campus at that time.

The lecture is planned to take the place of the program scheduled just before the holidays on which Dr. Harlan Tarbell, magician, was to have appeared. Dr. Tarbell was unable to complete his tour because of illness.

Mr. Chase is the author of "Men and Machines," "The Economy of Abundance," and "Mexico." His articles on economic and social problems appear in national magazines.

He is a native of New England, and lives there now, spending most of his time in writing and research when not on lecture tours.

The subject of his lecture here will be announced when he is definitely scheduled, Law said, but it is expected that he will speak on some phase of economics or government.

Oriental Rugs and Crown Jewels
From Egypt Here for Two Days

The mecca for rug lovers and connoisseurs of fine jewels for the next two days will be the Home Economics Building where Khalil Arouani of Cairo, Egypt, is displaying his rare collection of oriental rugs and crown jewels. Mr. Arouani has assembled most of his $250,000 array in the Home Economics display room where everyone may view them free of charge.

Adorning the walls are exquisite tapestries, many woven with thread of 24 carat gold. On the floor are some rugs valued at $7,000, carpets on which only kings may tread. Draped on the chairs are other matchless fabrics which have graced the rooms of royalty in many lands.

Valuable Jewels
The jewels are almost unbelievable. The most unusual one is the revolving crown jewel formerly worn in the turban of Sultan Abdul-Hamid of Turkey. Another entrancing piece of jewelry on exhibition is a small pendant watch which has tiny jeweled dots that hide the face when closed.

Mr. Arouani is from an Egyptian line of collectors which dates back more than two hundred

To discuss the substitute plan for the present censorship of The Daily Texan, the executive committee of the Board of Regents and a special committee from the Students' Assembly will meet at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the office of President H. Y. Benedict. Should the plan meet the approval of the executive committee, only the final approval of the board proper is needed to put it into operation.

Carl Weinrich,
N. Y. Organist,
Here Sunday

Carl Weinrich, distinguished American organist, will be presented in a free public concert Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the First Methodist Church by Diapason, local organists' club.

Friends make it possible each year for the club to offer a free program by an outstanding organist.

During four seasons of touring, Weinrich has won praise in this country and in Canada. He has given recitals in leading universities, churches, and concert halls; he has played three times at the Library of Congress in Washington, and has appeared with leading orchestras.

Since 1934 he has been head of the organ department at the Westminster Choir School in Princeton, N. J.

Weinrich has studied organ since his sixth year, but finished college before he was sure that he wanted to be an organist. Three years later, when Lynnwood Farnam realized death was near, he asked that his pupil, Carl Weinrich, carry on his work as organist at the Church of the Holy Communion, New York. Here Weinrich continued the tradition of giving recitals comprising the entire range of organ music.

Ballet Russe
In San Antonio

Colonel DeBasil's "Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo" will be presented in the Municipal Auditorium in San Antonio Friday night, January 8.

The program will include "The Three-Cornered Hat," "Aurora's Wedding," and "Cimarosiana." The first of these has music written by the Spanish composer, Manuel de Falla. Ideas for the music were gathered in wanderings about Spain, visiting the small towns and villages.

"Aurora's Wedding" is based on Tchaikovsky's "The Sleeping Princess," and is a pageant depicting court life, revealing a series of dances, offered in succession, by courtiers, ladies in waiting, and followers of the court.

Following the San Antonio performance, the Ballet Russe will go to the Pacific Coast for performances in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Tickets are now on sale at the City Auditorium in San Antonio with prices ranging from $1 to $3.50. Mail orders may be sent to Friends of Music with a self-addressed stamped envelope.

The new plan calls for two amendments to the regulations of the Students' Association, and gives the Board of Student Publications power to remove editors of the newspaper for repeated violations of the policies of the Board of Publications. Another of the provisions of the plan is that more service than now needed shall be required from editorial candidates.

Assembly Approves

After modifications had been made on the original plan conceived by the journalism honorary societies, Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, the present plan was accepted by the Students' Assembly. The plan came after a request of President Benedict for a plan to solve the censorship of the campus organ, which was put into effect at the last of the 1936 summer session by order of the Regents.

Before the Assembly's acceptance, a modification was first presented by Joel Westbrook and Robert T. Brinsmade, members of the students' committee on public information. Final details for presentation to the Assembly and to the Board of Regents were worked out by a committee of interested students. Tom Law and Bill Francis, members of the Assembly; Ed Hodge, editor of The Daily Texan; Bob Eckhardt, editor of the Texas Ranger; Frankie Mae Welborn, night supervisor of The Daily Texan; Edna Merle Murray, president of Theta Sigma Phi; Fred Gipson, president of Sigma Delta Chi; and Joe Belden, sports editor of The Daily Texan, served on the committee.

Francis, Peter Wells, Richard Ballinger and Ida Mae Hall are on the committee representing the Assembly in this morning's discussion. Joe Ward is representing the Board of Publications, and Jimmie Brinkley, president of the Students' Association, is serving ex-officio. H. J. Lutchter Stark, J. R. Parten and Dr. Edward Randall compose the executive committee of the Board of Regents.

SCOTT RESIGNS; BLACKETT
TO TAKE POST AT ONCE

The new University Regent, former Senator E. J. Blackett, will take office immediately, Governor James V. Allred announced Thursday.

Although Mr. Blackett's term of office does not start until the Governor is inaugurated January 19, through the courtesy of J. T. Scott, the retiring member, Mr. Blackett will participate in the Regent's meeting here Saturday. Governor Allred yesterday made public a letter from Mr. Scott, offering his resignation.

Government Award
Deadline Jan. 10

January 10 has been set as the final date to obtain application blanks for the Pi Sigma Alpha scholarship.

The scholarship will be $50 which is to be set aside in a local bank to be used as a registration fund to be paid in two installments of $25.

Applicants must be senior or graduate government majors. The scholastic record of applicants must equal the requirements for election to Pi Sigma Alpha, at least twelve hours of credit in government with at least one A above a B average.

A committee of government professors is to be in charge of awarding the scholarship.

December's $50,000
To Be Untouched

King Midas in reverse! That is the University. Last month it made more than $50,000, and can't touch a penny of the money to raise maintenance funds which are at a low ebb.

The $57,378.60 which poured into University coffers in December for oil and gas royalties went to the permanent fund to be invested in bonds. The University will have only the interest on which to keep buildings heated and in repair, and to pay the faculty.

Longhorn Basketball Squad in Fort Worth Ready for Frog Encounter

Two Wins on Northern Trip Will Give Team Impetus Needed for Good Season

Special to The Daily Texan

FORT WORTH, Jan. 7.—The Texas Longhorns arrived here Thursday, took a workout, and retired for the night, ready to come face to face with the Texas Christian University Frogs Friday in their conference opening game.

"This northern trip is always a hard one," Gray said, "but if we can get through the game today and the one against the Mustangs tomorrow, the outlook for the Longhorns will be a fine one toward the championship."

The squad, which included ten men, the manager, trainer, and the coach, will spend the night in Fort Worth and take a bus for Dallas and the Southern Methodist game Saturday morning.

To date the Longhorn cagers have won six games, dropping three. In several of their games the Texas team has flashed mid-season form, despite the fact that they were off to a late start and were interrupted by the Christmas holidays.

The team is rapidly developing a smooth passing attack and its floor work is generally good. However, the men have yet to display a consistent brand of ball, and in most of their games have been either pretty good or mighty ragged.

Following is the Longhorn record for this season:

December 12 — Texas 20, S.W.T.C. 24, at San Marcos.
December 16 — Texas 30, S.W.T.C. 12, at Austin.
December 19 — Texas 20, Southern California 28, at Austin.

December 21 — Texas 59, A. & I. 36, Beeville.
December 22 — Texas 37, A. & I. 29, at Kingsville.
December 25 — Texas 36, Sabinas Brewers 26, at San Antonio.

December 30 — Texas 35, Southwestern Teachers (Ok.) 30, at Austin.
December 31 — Texas 35, Southwestern Teachers (Ok.) 29, at Austin.

January 1—Texas 22, Southwestern Teachers (Ok.) 34, at Austin.

Arkansas Meets Baylor Cagers In Opening Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 7. (INS)—Opening their conference schedule tomorrow night against the Baylor Bears, the Arkansas Razorbacks, victorious in four of five starts this winter, today looked forward to the defense of their conference cage crown with sports scribes forecasting success in their endeavors.

With seven lettermen back from last year's championship squad, the Razorbacks are optimistic, although it is conceded that they will sorely miss Ike Poole and Jim Lee Howell, their All-Conference stars of last year who got them as far as the Olympic final elimination rounds.

Their most notable victory this year is over the Southeastern Conference champions, the University of Tennessee, in a Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans on December 30.

Local Ranking Touch Football Teams to Clash

The undefeated Schoonerville touch football team, which meets both Sigma Phi Epsilon and the Urban Sturbans tonight at House Park, is expected to encounter considerable difficulty in maintaining its unscored-on record when it clashes with these two teams, both of which boast strong offensive attacks. The first game will begin at 7:30 o'clock and the second encounter will take place an hour later. Admission will be 15 cents for all.

The S.P.E. aggregation, intramural champions this fall, will present such stars as Robert and Arthur Moers, backs, and Bill Hodges, end. Arthur Moers is an especially fine passer and runner, while his brother Robert was the most elusive safety man on any intramural team this past season. Hodges is a great pass receiver.

On the Sturbans team are such stellar men as Roy Webb, Norman Townsen, and Glen Parmley. The Sturbans were winners in the Club division of the intramural race, losing to Sigma Phi Epsilon on an extra series of downs after trying them 6-6 in the final game. Both teams are composed of players with high school experience, and many of them have served on the varsity squad of the University. Webb, for instance, was an all-district back on a Dallas high school team some years ago, and there are several others who have won equal laurels.

The proceeds of the games will go to Leon Moffatt, Schoonerville player, who broke a leg in one of the Schoonerville games.

TENNIS FINAL TODAY

The final in deck tennis singles will be played Friday at 3 o'clock between Pauline Thomas and Shudde Bess Bryson.

Clipped Comment

"If things were not as they are around this town, I would forecast the approaching conference race as follows: 1. Arkansas; 2. Rice; 3. Texas; 4. Southern Methodist; 5. Texas A. & M.; 6. Baylor; 7. Texas Christian."—WELDON HART in The Austin Statesman.

"Experts generally agree that Arkansas is odds-on favorite to repeat; that Texas should hold its runner-up position of last year, and that the rest of the field will fight for what's left."—POP BOONE in The Fort Worth Press.

"Ranked second to Arkansas is the Owl quintet—a team that has looked good in some pre-season games and not so good in others. Third place choice goes to Texas University with Jack Gray's team a likely dark horse for conference honors. Southern Methodist University comes next with a wild scramble between Texas Christian, Texas A. & M., and Baylor for remaining places." — BRUCE LAYER in The Houston Post.

Sports Notice

ALL TENNIS men are to meet in Gregory Gym this afternoon at 5:00 o'clock.

Uncle Billy Disch Frowns Over '37 Diamond Outlook

AT FIRST SIGNS of spring weather, baseball-minded students in the University begin to wonder just what Uncle Billy Disch, dean of Southwest Conference baseball coaches, will have to offer followers of the game and conference opponents this year. Uncle Billy gloomily bemoans the loss of six lettermen, the return of only six, and a weak freshman team coming up from the yearling squad.

All in all, according to Mr. Disch, the outlook isn't any too bright, but, of course, you can't tell for sure just what the opening of regular practice March 1 will bring forth. Having won eighteen championships during the twenty-one years that the conference has been organized, the coach doesn't like the thought of dropping the title this time.

PROFESSIONAL baseball has claimed four men who played out their eligibility last year: Norman Branch, New York Yankees; Dick Midkiff, Boston Red Sox; Aubrey Graham, Little Rock Travelers; and Melvin Preibisch, Pittsburgh. Luke Winborn is playing with the Gulf Production team at Thompson, and Don Thomas is on a plantation.

When Branch and Midkiff departed Uncle Billy was left without an ace pitcher, and he lacks any outstanding prospects among the reserves or sophomores. Only one veteran hurler will return to the mound.

Returning to the squad, however, are Joe Fitzsimmons, catcher; Henry Ramsay, pitcher; J. C. Monro, first base; Lloyd Rigby, third base; Morris Sands, outfielder; and Leroy Westerman, outfielder.

Thornton Hardy of El Paso and been appointed manager for the 1937 season. Uncle Billy recently remarked that Hardy's father was manager back in 1908.

ALTHOUGH the conference schedule has not yet been issued, Mr. Disch has scheduled several non-conference games. On April 7 the Philadelphia Athletics, led by Connie Mack, will meet the Longhorns at Austin. The team will also play Houston and San Antonio two games each, but no date has been set yet. Minneapolis of the American Association asked for two games, for which the Athletic Council submitted the dates March 17 and 20, but no answer has been received. To the St. Louis Browns, managed by Rogers Hornsby, an old Austinian, March 24 has been offered.

Four games for the Longhorns' southern tour have been definitely dickered with Oglethorpe, but no two with Alabama. The coach is dickered with Oglethorpe, but no agreement has been reached as yet.

OPPOSING the University in the conference this season will be a number of greatly improved teams. The Aggies lost two lettermen, while Baylor lost only

Practices

Every day, up and down the lanes of Gregory Gymnasium pool ROLLIN BAKER, above, swims the breast stroke that won him a Southwest Conference championship. Baker, last year's varsity captain, has been practicing steadily for the annual Swimming Carnival at the pool January 15, in which he will be one of the star performers.

one, T.C.U. is returning practically the same team; S.M.U. has a veteran outfit with some improved pitchers. Rice is an unknown quantity.

Naturally, two months ahead of time, Uncle Billy doesn't like to build his hopes too high, but fans who have watched him whip the teams of the past into shape have hopes for this season despite his pessimism.

Baseball Outlook In Tulsa Good

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 7. (INS)—Officials of the Tulsa Oilers, while not predicting a second Texas League pennant, today expressed their confidence that "we will have a club that will win its share of games."

Pointing to the 20 per cent increase in attendance last year, when the Gushers came through to a title in spite of a well-balanced league race which ended its regular season with Dallas far ahead, the officials decidedly ahead, the officials were decidedly optimistic in their outlook for this year.

Intramural Cage Season Opens With Thrills

An early forecast of what to expect in the fraternity division of intramural basketball was given last night when Pi Kappa Alpha, Tau Delta Phi, and Sigma Phi Epsilon emerged victorious in their opening games, the first two by overwhelming scores. However, for thrills, the accolade must go to the Newman-Hillel game, which Newman finally won 20-19.

Two of the best teams met in the S.P.E.-Deke affray, with the S.P.E.'s coming out on top of a 14-10 score. Tau Delta Phi drubbed Kappa Alpha 38-1, while Pi K. A. won a 15-5 victory. Sigma Chi defeated Delta Theta Phi 11-9 in a fast game.

In the Newman-Hillel game the lead changed hands four times in the last 35 seconds. Billy Goldberg, of Hillel, was high scorer with 9 points.

The Councillors flashed warning that they were going to be hard to beat when they shut out the House of A 35-0 Wednesday night.

U. T. Boxers Meet San Antonio 'Y' Here Jan. 20

The San Antonio Y.M.C.A. boxing team will meet the University Golden Glovers in Gregory Gymnasium the night of January 20, Thomas Glenn, secretary of the campus organization, announced Tuesday.

He received a telegram Monday night from San Antonio, he said, setting the date just before examinations begin. Golden Glove boxers have begun training already, yesterday all having been called together to begin a period of activity until the date of the tourney. There will be eight matches, although not all the weights will be represented.

The Coaching Situation Today

Wire services say that the Athletic Council will be ready to recommend three men to the Board of Regents Saturday, in three different salary levels. But from the mouth of Dr. J. C. Dolley, chairman of the council, comes word that it will be January 15 before this can happen.

"Authoritative sources would name Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt as a coach who would come to Texas for $8,000."

65,404 Packages Mailed by Library In Last Two Years

"Only three of the 254 counties in Texas failed to receive aid from the Package Loan Library Bureau of the University during the biennium ending August 31, 1936," Miss LeNeir Dimmitt, chief of the bureau, said. Material from the bureau reached 1,351 Texas towns and rural communities.

"The biennium showed a steady increase in the use of the bureau's services by people scattered throughout the state, particularly those who do not have access to libraries in their own communities," Miss Dimmitt explained.

A total of 65,404 packages of library materials was distributed by the University bureau during the two-year period, a gain of more than five thousand packages over the preceding biennium. These packages included 4,640 books, 37,890 plays, 8,400 club outlines, and 589,689 pamphlets and articles from periodicals.

Study clubs ranked first in numbers among the users of materials from the Package Loan Library. They totaled 29,225. Schools placed second, with 28,568 users, libraries accounted for 4,982 packages, individuals 1,731, parent-teacher associations 454, and civic organizations 444.

It was pointed out that a large proportion of the subjects sought by users of the Package Loan Library service were related to Texas. The keenest interest was in Texas history and description of the State, there being 2,344 packages distributed on various phases of this subject. The next highest ranking topic was Texas literature, with 1,449 packages being circulated.

Resources of the Package Loan Library include the following items: 4,378 permanent package libraries; 620,370 classified pamphlets and articles clipped from periodicals; 106 files of periodicals; 8,180 plays, 4,171 study outlines, and 2,873 books.

Stock Assessment Holders Liable

Liability of stockholders for assessment on bank stock extends for as long as the stock is registered in their names on the bank's books, the Supreme Court held in effect, International News Service reported yesterday.

Opinion was in an appeal by William Green and Philip Welhausen assessing them for stock in the First State Bank of Westhoff, which became insolvent.

The evidence showed they had owned the stock in partnership. The stock had been sold, and the partnership dissolved, three years prior to the bank's failure; but they had neglected to notify the bank until nine months prior to the failure.

The bank's books must have reflected the change in ownership at least a year prior to the failure before the two could have been relieved of their liability, the court said.

The editor-in-chief of The Daily Texan is elected under the rules of the Students' Association to assume responsibility for all editorial opinions expressed in the paper, and is subject to the rules and regulations of the Handbook of Texas Student Publications, Inc., a private corporation chartered under the laws of the State of Texas and controlled jointly by the faculty and the student body of The University of Texas.

On July 27, 1936, a censor was placed on the Texan to examine prior to publication "all proposed non-advertising contents of each issue," and the censor's powers are set out in Section 38 of the Sixth Edition of the Rules and Regulations of the Board of Regents. Since that action, the opinions expressed in the editorial columns of the Texan are not necessarily the unmodified opinions of the students nor of the editor-in-chief.

Any reader disagreeing with the Texan's policies, as censored, is invited to submit articles to the open forum columns.

A Lesson Taught by Death

If you drive too fast, carelessly, or while intoxicated, sooner or later you will get killed or you will kill someone.

The only Americans who fully learned this lesson in 1936 are the more than thirty-seven thousand who were killed in traffic accidents. Those who were only injured may have discerned an inkling of the truth. The rest of the citizenry speeds blissfully along, ignoring a death toll comparable with that of the Spanish revolution.

What can be done about this situation? Not much. Texas now has a driver's license of a sort. Its beneficial results are not apparent. Newspapers and other wielders of public opinion are trying to educate the people in safer driving. Automobiles are being built always stronger, safer, as well as faster. But, so far, results are negative.

Last year, nearly complete reports of the National Safety Council show, the number of deaths was slightly above that of 1935, when 37,000 died. Injuries in 1935 were 1,285,000.

As the Council goes into the second year of its Five-Year Campaign to reduce traffic deaths 35 per cent, it places increased stress on the human element in the accident problem. Blame is placed on "reckless speed, carelessness, and intoxication."

These are factors purely personal and mostly subject to control only by the individual. Much fast driving is neither necessary nor profitable, being indulged in primarily as any other sport for the thrill it brings. The law can fix the rules and act as referee; it might even put governors on every car to prevent excessively fast driving.

But no one can put a governor on a man's head. And the only way to realize the danger of driving is to be killed.

Oriental Rugs --

ble-faced rug woven so that it is gold and silk on one side and gold and wool on the other, but not two rugs sewed together. He knows of only one family in Egypt that understands the secret of how they are made. This family has kept the secret for many generations.

Another rug of good size Mr. Atouani picked up and wadded into a veritable handful. This rug, he explained, is made 1,000 stitches to the square inch.

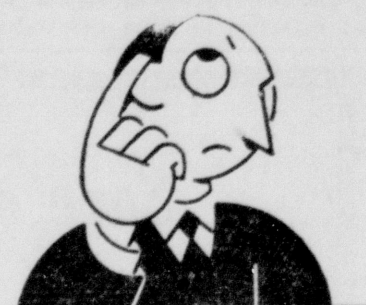

Oriental rug makers spend years weaving a rug. It depends on the size and the reputation of the family as to just how long it will take, Mr. Arouani said. The better the reputation of his family, the longer it takes a weaver to finish one. Some work as long as ten years on a single rug.

PERIPATUS

HAPPY New Year: Shakespeare's winter of discontent has nothing on the local situation. Now, apparently come one of that winter's best personal appearances when a booming wind, low-scudding clouds thrust the promise of summer month picnics and sun baths at Barton's off the horizon. Add to that the presence of patrolling City of Austin dump trucks engaged in digging denuded Christmas trees out of garbage heaps, Austin papers coaxing freezing weather out of the north for two days and the shades of a nine-day siege of finals only two weeks hence—and the holiday hangover is more or less complete.

New on the campus this year but bowling along nicely is Brownsville's Mickey West. Transfer from George Washington University in Washington, D. C., and son of U. S. Congressman Milton H. West, the six-foot-several J. A. lawyer confounds his proffs with impeccable dress, wears an inch-thick top-coat on warm days and guides the destinies of the University's Valley Club. . . . Home for the holidays with memories of only the scantest number of dates allowed him in the strain of law school, high point of West's year came when he was trapped literally across the river by friends Mary Helen George, Mari-zell Taylor, and Honkey Tellep-sen. Calling on all his legal oratory, West spent the next several days explaining to all concerned that his date, who had bounced from the ceiling of the Mexican night spot to beneath most of its tables, was in every sense a visitor; he, a victim of circumstance.

As accurate an indicator of the season as the barometer, silver tinsel and egg nog, is the presence of the Christmas tie. Even the most conservative go livid around the throat after New Year's comes and there's nothing left to do but wear it. . . . Rest cure from overwork has been prescribed for columnist Fred Gips-on and Pat Daniels.

HOUSE on Bellevue: In Austin within the last few days and over tall glasses Wednesday night were one time Texan Editors D. B. Hardeman, Joe Storm, and Joe Hornaday, one-time student prexy John Junior Bell. Across the hall rooms present editor Ed Hodge. Hornaday, '33-'34, recently with a Longview paper, is contemplating joining the staff of the San Antonio Express, while Bell, who steered the local ship of state before the time of Jenkins Garrett, waits for the opening of the Legislature to take up his duties as fledgling congressman. Hardeman, recently concerned with Texas trucking problems, now fires well-masked publicity at unsuspecting state newspapers from the office of the Texas Unemployment Insurance Commission, his task that of educating the people to the benefits and actual machination of this state's adjunct to the Federal scheme for dispelling the out-of-work bogey.

First harsh word: Some measure of compensation, if the very slightest, lay in Tasca Blount's observation that Peripatus is neither so hot nor its author too unlike the gentleman in the standing head upstairs. The slim brunette from Nacogdoches comforts at least by joining with the author and Texan censor Granville Price the ranks of those who have read it. . . . Tri Delt's petite Pete Tipps swears long and earnestly that the handle—Pete—was given her by a fond grandpapa for his favorite mule.

NEBRASKAN EDITOR SAYS SUBSIDIZATION WILL NEVER BE RECOGNIZED AS OVERT POLICY

It is regrettable that so much time of the recent athletic coaches' meeting in New York was taken up with a discussion of the pros and cons of subsidized athletics, and that serious charges were hurled which reverberated through the press of the land.

The athletic situation, according to some of the collegiate big-wigs attending, is deplorable, corrupted, and antithetical to all the ideals of amateur sportsdom. Some of the more satisfied professed to see no harm in present tendencies, attempted to smooth oil on the troubled waters, and compared the situation favorably to the past.

Some of the more drastic proposed outlaws from athletic circles of any school which stoops to proselytizing athletes; the realists proposed recognition of subsidization for what it is and make no bones about it.

Far reaching charges were thrown back and forth across the council tables, a few of the coaches present foreseeing grave consequences if subsidization is not checked, and declaring that it is the bane of universities today.

If subsidization of athletics ever becomes legal policy in intercollegiate circles, the professional leagues might lend a hand by proposing to establish "farms," or training grounds on college camp. We might have a system of "major" and "minor" leagues, comparing to the majors and minors of baseball.

The Daily Nebraskan is positive that subsidization never will be recognized as an overt policy. Else we would not have drawn the bizarre illusions referred to in the preceding paragraph.

We do bemoan, however, the fact that so much wet linen was aired on the sports pages of every newspaper in the nation. The fan, who on Saturday afternoons screams and prances about for his real or adopted alma mater, is bound to be adversely affected. Intercollegiate football will fail to hold its thrill, its glamor, if identified with men playing on a strictly cash basis. The financial ruin of collegiate football will be in sight.

The battle now seems to be drawn along another line. A few weeks ago college presidents appealed, through the Carnegie Foundation committee on athletics, for outside aid in helping stem the unfavorable influence of football. The line of demarcation is clear. It is a question of football vs. the rest of the university in many institutions.

Football has become a business within the university, and a big business at that. Its annual income exceeds a billion dollars a year, and it is played during but a few fall months. The victory of football over the idealistic purposes for which universities in this land were founded is illustrated by the hundreds of thousands of dollars invested in stadia and field houses on the camp of the nation, while oftentimes the university itself lags behind in educational facilities, buildings, and salaries to instructors.

This condition is due partly to the influx of subsidization in athletics, but more so to the demand on the part of interested alumni for a winner. Their alma mater, according to their line of reasoning, must have a championship football team no matter the cost. Good teams lead to huge crowds, and huge crowds necessitate huge arenas.

It is a condition which will be solved only when universities put athletics into their proper position, that of departments of the university in reality and not merely in name.

One bit of optimism for Nebraska came out of the New York conference. Dana X. Bible, Nebraska coach, after being offered a reputed $25,000 by a Texas institution, chose to remain in Lincoln. Coach Bible's loss would have been irreparable to the Cornhuskers. We commend

THERE WILL be a meeting of the Light Opera Company tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the studio on the fourth floor of B. Hall. First rehearsal for "Robin Hood" as well as tryouts for principal parts will make it important that every member be present. Students who wish to try out for membership in the company may do so tonight in order that they may be cast in this production.

WALTER KERR, president.

SUGGESTIONS TO STUDENTS: 1. If you don't remember all of your second semester courses come NOW to the Registrar's Office and inquire: don't wait until semester are actually here.

2. Part-time students who are expecting to take fewer hours in the second semester than they are now scheduled to take in the second semester, or full-time students planning to take fewer than twelve hours, must drop these hours BEFORE February 1 if they expect to receive a corresponding refund of their registration fee at the end of the semester.

3. All first-semester students will be due to pay the second half of their registration fee on February 1. It may be paid at any time between now and Monday, February 8, without penalty. If paid on February 9 or 10 the penalty will be two semester hours of credit, if paid on February 11 or 12 the penalty will be three semester hours, and if paid thereafter it will be four semester hours.

Prior to February 1 students will call the Auditor's Office, fill out a card, and present the card, their receipt for first semester fees and the fee for the second semester. For Texas residents the amount will be $25. Come early and avoid waiting later in a necessarily long line. Students who pay the fee in advance and withdraw before February 1 will have the fee refunded.

4. Students exempted from the registration fee, e.g., holders of high school scholarships, certain ex-service men, etc., are not subject to this penalty, but they must fill out a new address card and receive a new number from the Auditor.

E. J. MATHEWS, registrar.

ENGINEERING students wishing to re-arrange their schedules for the second semester may do so now at the Dean's Office, 167 Engineering Building.

W. R. WOOLRICH, dean of engineering.

"LET'S MAKE A MILLION."—At the Queen. Produced by Harold Hurley. Directed by Ray McCarey. Screen play by Robert Yost and Manuel Seff. Based on a story by Lawrence Pohl and Thomas Ahearn. Released by Paramount.

THE CAST
Harrison Gentry—Edward Everett Horton
Caroline—Charlotte Wynters
Spencer—Porter Hall
Sam Smith—J. M. Kerrigan
Aunt Martha—Margaret Sedden
Aunt Luey—Margaret McWade
Gilbert—Furnell Pratt

E. E. Horton, looking more like a stripped eagle than ever—plus waistline—turns lover and hero. He explains how to make a million—after they're already there.

He runs a hardware store in a small town in Oklahoma, but his two maidenly aunts run his life. These aunts are the Pixilated Sisters of Mr. Deed's fame. Two elderly ladies in search of Capra. They fall rather flat without him. But they convincingly want the somewhat stupid Horton to spend his $1,100 bonus money on a monument for his grandfather—his father. Instead, he takes the tip of his tipsy sales manager and purchases shares in a mythical oil company. All the trusting citizens of the town follow his example. When they find out what he has bought—

And Niagara Falls looks farther away than ever.

"We'll go there some day," the loving secretary coos.

"Yes, if they're still there," broods Mr. Horton darkly.

It is assumed that "Let's Make a Million" was intended to draw a million laughs. But Mr. Horton is hardly half so funny as leading man as supporting background.

Charlotte Wynters, who makes her debut as leading lady here, is not given a chance to do anything remarkable. She could have been left out of the film entirely if Mr. Horton hadn't needed someone to go Niagara Falling with.

A good example of how movies can fool audiences: the closing episode of the nightmare, in which the hero sees what is about to

14 Million State Debt Is Slight Decrease

State general revenue warrants up to and including serial number 158,748 and Confederate pensions of the November and December issue of 1935, provided they have not been discounted, will now be paid, Charley Lockhart, State treasurer, has announced. Confederate pensions of the November and December issue of 1934 will be paid regardless of whether they have been discounted. The call just issued amounts to $2,063,163.

Mr. Lockhart stated that the state treasury deficit is $14,143,257, a slight decrease from the deficit in the statement of December 21.

Jan. 15 Deadline For High School Press Entries

Letters were sent Wednesday and Thursday to the forty-five Texas high schools that have not yet enrolled their school papers with the Interscholastic League Press Conference. The closing day for enrollment has been set for January 15.

Although the enrollment to date is only 69, more than one hundred papers are expected to be entered before the deadline is reached. The total last year was 104.

The annual Press Conference is sponsored jointly by the Department of Journalism; Sigma Delta Chi, Journalism fraternity; and the Interscholastic League.

As one of its activities the conference offers criticism for high school papers. So far this year, thirty papers have been criticized. It also published pamphlets dealing with different phases of high school journalism. The next one, entitled "Literary Features in the High School Paper," will appear next week.

A large amount of general information is sent out by the conference through personal correspondence. Already during this academic year, about one hundred letters have been written.

The contest held in Austin each spring, in which high school papers all over the state compete, is another activity sponsored by the conference.

Classical Works, Chairs Crowd Dr. Battle from Library Office

THE oddest office on the campus is probably the one in the New Library Building occupied by Dr. W. J. Battle, professor of classical languages, and former president of the University.

Though it is not a classroom, it has thirty-seven chairs. Though it is not a shoe store, it has a ladder on runners that slides around the room.

And though it has two doors, the only entrance is through a classroom.

The chairs are unexplained. Perhaps Dr. Battle entertains thirty-seven visitors. The ladder reaches to the top-most book-shelf, the twelfth, that is crammed against the ceiling. The place is walled with books, even over the doors, and still they spill over and line two adjoining rooms. That is what comes of being a classicist. Ethiopian Paintings Portray Native Life, Religious Conception

Native life and the Ethiopian conception of religion are the themes of most of the Ethiopian paintings that were exhibited Thursday night in the Hogg Memorial Auditorium during the performance of "Time Staggered On," Theta Sigma Phi musical show. The paintings were collected by J. C. Arnold when he was serving as war correspondent during the Italo-Ethiopian war for the News of the World of London and the Times of India at Bombay. Arnold said that he bought the pictures at Addis Ababa and Dessal. The pictures are done in Windsor Newton oils, which are sent to Ethiopia from England.

'Twilight Saint' In Blank Verse

Stark Young in "The Twilight Saint," one of the trio of his plays which also includes "Madretta" and "At the Shrine" to be presented by the Gregg Players January 14 and 15, employs blank verse to intensify the dramatic highlights in contrast to the usual realistic drama of today.

As a critic, Mr. Young condoned the monosyllabic ends to which all dramatic characters seemed doomed. A gasp, a word or two, a glance, and the art of suggestion entered in to do the rest.

While Mr. Young granted that this procedure expressed many deaths with perfect truth, he believed that in some details it was but partially true. The inner tumult, that supreme significance that arose at the moment, he maintained, must sometimes be of such a nature as to need a poetic heightening to make it wholly the audience's.

Since the English poetic form seemed to him more lyrical than dramatic, he employed the language medium which to him seemed the most intimately true and flexible, that of blank verse.

The picture, "Blessed Conception," gives the Ethiopian native's idea of the Virgin. The Virgin is surrounded by seven angels, thought to represent the seven cardinal virtues. "Holy Sacrament" shows the lion, the national beast, giving the sacrament to Moses. The lion is depicted in many of the paintings of the country.

Biblical Scenes
The Old Testament bit of philosophy of an eye for an eye is shown in "A Life for a Life." The picture is one of a leopard charging a man who has just slain another.

All these pictures are typical of the art of Ethiopia, which shows that it has not gone through the steps that the art of the western world has. It is still somewhat crude and lacks the polish of the art of Europe or America. Natives are painted in high-brown instead of the color of the negro, and the artists use color to depict the moods and the character of the persons painted.

Yet contrary to all this is the excellent portrait of Haile Selassie. The artist was one who had been very much influenced by European art. The work, Arnold said, has lost its native touch.

The paintings have just arrived from London where they have been on exhibit at the Wertheim Galleries for eight months. They were scheduled to be shown at New York, and at Dallas during the Centennial, but they were so popular in London that they could not be returned. While in London, Arnold sold thirty-five of the pictures. These eight pictures and four more will also be on sale, Arnold said.

Allred Contested In Appointment

An attack upon Governor James V. Allred's appointment of Howard Martin as district attorney for Wichita, Archer and Young Counties was made in the Texas Supreme Court Wednesday by Ned McDaniels, county attorney and relative by marriage to the Governor, International News Service reported.

McDaniels, in the name of Millard L. Threest as a citizen of Archer County, filed in the Supreme Court a motion for leave to petition for quo warranto to put Martin out of the office to which he was appointed last week.

Under the legislative act abolishing the district attorney's office, county attorneys of the three respective counties in the district had taken over his duties. The petition charges that Martin is attempting to "usurp the duties" of the office.

Congress Invites Landon to Inaugural

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (INS) —Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, defeated Republican candidate in the November presidential election, and Mrs. Landon, Wednesday were invited to be "guests of Congress" at the inaugural ceremonies for President Roosevelt at the capitol.

The invitation was extended by Senator Neely (d) of West Virginia, chairman of the inaugural arrangement committee.

The expression "guests of Congress" was believed to be unprecedented.

Olde England Reigns Again In 'Y' Revel

The spirit of "ye merrie olde England" reigned at the Sophomore Club's modernization of a "Twelfth Night Revel" Thursday night at the Y.M.C.A.

Miss Augusta Roberts, secretary of the Y.W.C.A. and sponsor of the group, was responsible for the revival of this traditional English folk festival.

Refreshments were gingerbread and "wassail," a drink which is a cross between hot lemonade and spiced punch. A king, queen, and retinue were chosen by the "heads and tails" method.

Another feature was the yule log. English custom dictates that this log must be left on the fire only a short time for twelve successive nights beginning with Christmas Eve. On Twelfth Night the thoroughly charred log was pulverized and sprinkled on the fields to make them yield good crops the coming season.

Always there was a "twelfth cake." One variety was a sort of glorified giant doughnut. The man who succeeded in roping the horns of the "twelfth night ox" was awarded the cake. In Elizabethan England Twelfth Night was often celebrated with the performance of a play. Shakespeare's play of that name is supposed to have been written for such a celebration.

By EVERETT SHIRLEY

An Eddie Cantor protege, Deanna Durbin, will be the high spot of the Hollywood Hotel broadcast tonight at 8 over KTSA. Miss Durbin, a tyro in the movies, will on the hour present some versions of her new motion picture, "Three Smart Girls." Assisting in the movie as well as on the air will be Alice Brady, Charles Winninger, and Binnie Barnes. And as usual, musical portions of the program will be introduced and conducted by Dick Powell, master of ceremonies. And the singing of Frances Langford, rapidly gaining fame of being the best blues singer, will be heard also.

Hal Kemp's orchestra, one of the premier dance bands of the country, has inaugurated a new series of Chesterfield programs (KTSA at 7:30). Kay Thompson, on the old series with Andre Kostelanetz, stays with Kemp to contribute her singing. Both Kemp and Miss Thompson have long specialized in novel syncopations and it is hoped—hoped and probably fulfilled—that a gay and smart dance program will result.

And Oscar Bradley, internationally famous musical comedy conductor, has been signed to lead the band on Phil Baker's 1937 broadcast (KTSA at 6:30). He has replaced Hal Kemp who on his Chesterfield program has gone on to better things.

On NBC a new program of dance music is being offered tonight. In the old spot occupied by Fred Waring (WOAI at 8), it is entitled, "Universal Rhythm." The forty-piece orchestra on the show is under the direction of Rex Chandler with Frank Baker being starred as tenor soloist.

Just a U. T. Mystery--Who Planted Grass on Main Building Roof?

If you are a patron of seances, perhaps you can discover the single ghost or the conclave of spirits who make the University campus a moonlight stage for the workings of pixies, elves, and mischievous fairies. The ghost in question apparently is a revived horticulturist. Mystery number one deals with a figure made of grass-shoots about an inch or two high on the roof garden of the New Main Building. Forming the letters, "A.M.P.," the figure is too firmly imbedded to be the work of anyone but a real ghost with a live imagination.

Another One

Who tied twine strings around the trunks of campus trees? Is mystery number two. A strand of twine with no message and no hint as to the meaning, although some think it was the doings of a ghost fraternity initiating pledges who are usually found cavorting and gamboling in the moonlight on the Forty Acres, has been found on nearly every tree on the campus.

And . . . a missing papaya fruit proved to be the third mystery. Who purloined it? Rip Van Winkle and the little men who drink flagons of wine and play tenpins to make thunder? The Gold Bug? One of Edgar Wallace's inhuman characters? No one knows. It, therefore and consequently, is a mystery.

Daily Faculty Mail Nearly 3,000 Pieces

University of Texas faculty members keep in close touch with each other by correspondence, Bernard Giles of San Antonio and T. A. Stevenson, Jr., of Eagle Pass, student mail carriers, can testify. These two pick up and deliver daily between two and three thousand pieces of faculty mail.

Two collections and deliveries of mail are made daily. It is collected from the "Faculty Mail" boxes in each building, taken to the Stenographic Bureau for sorting, and then delivered to the door of each office. The student mail carriers walk five or six miles on each morning and afternoon route.

Off on a new cruise

Carrying more pleasure to more people . . . giving smokers what they want . . . Chesterfields are off on a new cruise.

From Wake Island 5000 miles out in the Pacific Ocean, Pan American Airways flashed this radio:

"RUSH TEN THOUSAND CHESTERFIELDS TODAY'S CHINA CLIPPER."

At three o'clock that afternoon the Chesterfields were on their way. Four days later back came the message:

"CHESTERFIELDS JUST ARRIVED.

PANAIR WAKE."

When smokers find out the good things Chesterfields give them . . .

nothing else will do
