These are followed on Tuesday, September 15, by the postponed examinations, examinations for advanced standing, and examinations to remove course conditions. Petitions must be in the Registrar's office not later than September 9 for these examinations.

Freshman convocations will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening of Thursday, September 17. There will also be a faculty registration conference Thursday at 10 o'clock. Students will register on Friday and Saturday, September 18 and 19, and the first semester classes of the long session will begin Monday, September 21.

Haynes and Grasty Return From Mexico

R. A. Haynes, instructor in Romance languages, returned to Austin Thursday with G. M. Grasty of the Austin High School, from a two-weeks' trip to Monterrey and Mexico City.

Mr. Haynes has just finished his thesis for his doctor's degree at the University of Chicago on the subject of "Negation and Don Quixote."

Deceased Week To Leave Coffin And 'Raise Cain'

The spectre has risen again. Four times a year—twice officially and twice unofficially—this spectre, Dead Week, burrows its way through the tons of exam papers that the students and the years have heaped upon its coffin and stalks the campus.

Groans and howls and sound. Its ghastly and hollow eyes are reflected by the whole student body. In its official capacity it is forced to behave a little more kindly than when it is at large of its own accord, and co-eds and their counterparts see it as a force causing the consumption of limitless quantities of coffee, cokes, pages, and midnight oil—a force relieving them of written work in a period of false respite before it introduces its master spectre, Exam Week.

But boggies and their better halves—poor souls—feel all its spectral power, and to them it means that they have reached the point when they are simply dead, tired out, fagged out, fatigued, all in, exhausted, parched by the heat of summer, lulled by the voices of profs, collapsible, collapsing, collapsed when exams are over and they have to look forward to a winter of teaching followed by another summer session—if they didn't get that degree.

The library will remain open from 8 until 5 o'clock every day between the close of summer school and the opening of the long term, Mr. Winkler said.

Ruth Eldridge Back From Trip Won in Contest

Student Awarded European Tour for Essay On American Flag

Ruth Eldridge of San Antonio, University student and winner in the American Flag Association contest sponsored by the American Boy Magazine last spring, has returned from Europe from a trip which she was awarded as a winner of the contest.

Colonel James A. Mose, president general of the United States Flag Association, led the party of eleven American students and contest winners on the European trip. Before sailing from New York the group visited Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and Valley Forge.

Landing in Plymouth, England, on June 23, the group had tea in the Guild Hall with the mayor of the city. They spent ten days in England, making side trips to Stratford-on-Avon and Oxford. They met the Prince of Wales at St. James Palace, Ramsey McDonald, England's prime minister, and had tea with Lord and Lady Astor on the terrace of the House of Parliament. Miss Eldridge also attended a reception at Lady Astor's home in St. James Park.

Visits American Embassy The party had tea with Viscountess Harcourt at her home, Nuneham Park, where Pope completed his translations of the Iliad. Visiting Oxford, Miss Eldridge was appointed mayoress of the city for the day. The group visited the American embassy in London on July 4, and sailed for a ten-days' stay in France the next day.

In Paris the party had tea engagements with Ambassador Edge, President Doumer, M. Briand, and General Pershing. They swam at the Lido and attended a tea-dance given by the Marquise de Chambrun. Aside from official entertainments and activities, the members of the party found time to make other sight-seeing tours and shopping trips.

Miss Eldridge placed a wreath on the Cenotaph erected to the World War dead.

After arriving in New York July 25 Miss Eldridge spent two weeks visiting in that city, and then visited relatives in Jefferson, Texas, before returning to her home in San Antonio. Miss Eldridge graduated from The University of Texas last June and is a member of Alpha Epsilon Phi sorority.

PROFESSORS ATTEND

Two professors from the University are among the visiting educators from 31 cities who will gather in San Antonio for four days beginning September 7 for the sixteenth annual meeting of the Southwest Texas Teachers' Institute. The University's representatives are Dr. C. T. Gray, professor of educational psychology and Dr. L. W. Payne, professor of English.

Dr. E. H. Sellards, associate director of the Bureau of Economic Geology of the University, immediately upon learning that the center of the earth-slip apparently was in the territory adjacent to Fort Stockton, Valentine and other points of southwest Texas, left Austin to make a personal investigation of the results of the tremors in that region. He was accompanied by Herbert A. Hemphill, who is one of the geologists of the Board for the Lease of University Lands.

Various theories have been advanced by reputable geologists as to the cause of the phenomena. Floyd C. Dodson, a geologist of San Angelo, has expressed the belief that the earthquakes were caused by adjustments of the large synclinal basin fault, a structural feature which separates the Davis, Apache, Delaware and Guadalupe mountains on the east and the Diablo Plateau on the west.

In past ages that region was volcanic. There is still to be seen in one particular place a large crater, through which at one time lava and volcanic ashes poured. According to Mr. Dodson, there were three distinct periods of lava flow in the upper border region.

Some speculation is being indulged in as to the possible effect the recent subterranean disturbances may have had on the oil fields. No reports have been received of any diminution of the flow of wells in the Big Lake, Yates and other producing areas.

Dr. Sellards will gather all possible information as to any vents or fissures that the earthquakes may have caused and will also interview as many persons as possible in the affected region for the purpose of getting first hand information in regard to these phenomena of nature.

Retail Sales Go Down for July

Quotations Compiled By Research Bureau

July retail sales as reported by 88 Texas department stores were $3,255,000, or 17 per cent less this year than in 1930, according to figures compiled by the Bureau of Business Research of the University.

"In comparing sales with a year ago, allowance should be made for declines in retail prices; it is felt in the trade that prices in department stores are about 20 per cent below last year's and on this basis, the July volume of business was greater in 1931 than in July, 1930," the bureau's figures show. "Tyler was the only city in the State which showed an increase in the dollar value of sales in July as compared with last year."

"The seasonal decline from June to July was 25 per cent this year. The average decline between these two months for the three years 1927, 1928, and 1929 is only 12 per cent."

"Sales for the year to date are 12 per cent below those for the corresponding period last year. Corpus Christi is the only city showing a larger total dollar value of sales for the year to date as compared with the first seven months in 1930."

"Collections in Texas have been slowing up slightly since spring. In the United States, sales both for July and for the year to date were 8 per cent less in 1931 than in 1930, according to the Federal Reserve Board."

Plans Complete For '32 Cactus, Miller Announces

Selection of Staff Made Soon After School Opens

Art Work Begun

Report of Each Football Game Will Be Included

Pictures of individual members of the freshman and sophomore classes will be included in the thirty-ninth volume of the Cactus, according to William Kay Miller, editor.

Art work is going forward and plans are being completed for the entire make-up of the book. It is planned to have a dummy completed by September 10. The staff for the yearbook will be chosen during the first two weeks of school, Miller said.

The main point of difference over last year's book will be the emphasis placed on the literary phase of the book, and more written work will be included in the volume than formerly. The sports section will feature a report of every game during the season.

Due to the fact that spring elections have been moved forward, the "Cactus" will include pictures of the newly elected officials who will serve during the following year. Individual pictures will continue to be used in the place of group pictures wherever it is possible, Miller stated.

Final Picture Seen Last Night

'Hottentot' Shown Saturday In Open Air Theater

"The Hottentot," starring Edward Everett Horton and Patsy Ruth Miller, was shown last night as the final picture to be given at the Open Air Theater on the summer entertainment program.

Horton, as the leading man played opposite Miss Miller in a pleasing humorous presentation. Much of the interest of the picture centered around the aversion on the part of the leading man to ride the vicious horse, The Hottentot.

This item of the entertainment program has been very popular throughout the summer, not only with University students, but those who live in the University neighborhood. A series of popular pictures has been presented along with educational pictures of travel and comic features.

Lumber Mills Of South Cut Work

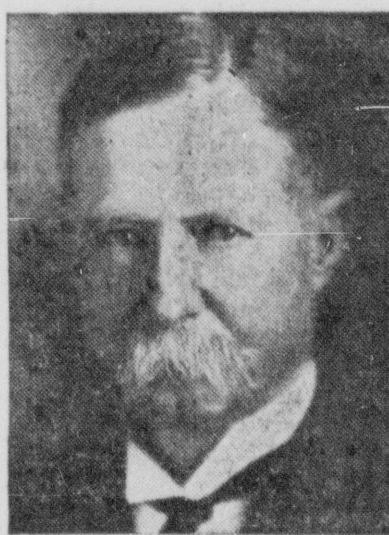

Decreased Demand Seen In Bureau Report

Decreased demand in the building industry as compared with 1930 is reflected in curtailment of activity in the lumber mills reporting to the Southern Pine Association, according to the Bureau of Business Research of the University.

"Not only was July average production per unit substantially below that for last year, but mills also entered the month of August with average unfilled orders amounting to 24 per cent less than they had on August 2, 1930," the Bureau's report said.

"As compared with the previous month, July makes a better showing. A decline of 9.9 per cent in production as compared with June was accompanied by an increase of 3.6 per cent in shipments. For the first week in July, average shipments of the 124 units reporting were 235,000 feet, and rose to an average of 313,000 feet for the 132 units reporting for the week ending August 1, the average shipments for the month exceeding average production by 25 per cent. But this increase in shipments contributed to the decrease in unfilled orders so that at the end of July, unfilled orders were 4.4 per cent behind those at the end of the previous month."

Goes to Lubbock

T. U. Taylor, dean of the College of Engineering, will leave Austin Tuesday for Lubbock where he will deliver the commencement address of the summer graduating class of Texas Technological College on the subject of "Opportunity."

Dean Taylor will discuss opportunity as it affects the young men and women who leave college to enter the business or professional world.

Actors Please Audiences With English Comedy

'Dover Road' Staged By University Theater Two Nights

A REVIEW

"The Dover Road," presented by the University Theater at Saengergrunde Hall Wednesday and Thursday nights, proved to be a diverting piece of light dramatic fare reflecting in its adroitness and finish an appreciable amount of effort carefully expended by its cast, its director, and its production staff. Two audiences enjoyed its fun. The play more than fulfilled its billing as "an absurd comedy" by A. A. Milne, developing, for the most part, into a laugh-provoking farce in what might be called Milne's typical manner, but not without certain disturbing elements of truth. Monroe Lippman directed.

Mr. Milne's play, set in England, relates a fanciful little story in which a whimsical millionaire so arranges matters that two eloping couples are sheltered under his roof at the same time. It is his pleasure by one means or another to delay such hasty marriages until both persons are sure they want only each other. It is necessary to the plot that a husband and wife be distributed between the two eloping couples, but unnecessary to the comedy, for that continues at a steady rate throughout the play.

Perhaps the most conspicuous difficulty against which the players had to work was an exceedingly small stage. Space was crowded and action was cramped. Words and sentences of distinctly English flavor were sometimes strangely funny, spoken in the flat Texas manner. It often seemed that the players were only saying their lines at one another, as if reading them aloud instead of acting them, though they went through the drama at a pace swift enough to heighten the comedy and to keep from being dull a play almost wholly without action in the sense of expansive movement. Stage settings were unique in black and white with modernistic design.

One George Spelvin took the role of Dominic, chief of the staff in the millionaire's house, and he more than any other in the cast approached the illusion of reality in manner of speaking and in small details of business with which he occupied himself. Mona Jarrell, as Anne, one of the elopers, favored audiences with something of a glowing stage personality, partly the result of a quality of calmness which she put into her lines, contrasting with the ebullient excitement of the rest of the play. William Everett Curry, in what must have been the leading role, distinguished himself by creating and sustaining the effect of a character capacious to the extreme. He played the part of Leonard, adding much besides the character to the drama through his own forceful handling of scenes.

Vegetable Trade Less for Month

Figures Published For July By Bureau

Fruit and vegetable shipments from Texas in July dropped 7.5 per cent from those in July, 1930, mostly because of smaller loadings of watermelons, according to figures recently compiled in the Bureau of Business Research of the University.

"Although the estimate of watermelon production indicated a crop 4 per cent greater than that for last year, actual loadings for the season so far are 29 per cent under those in the corresponding period of 1930, there having been 2,950 carloads shipped in July, 1930, whereas only 2,290 have been shipped in July this year. This situation may be due to the very low demand for watermelons and the dull market tone at the leading markets," the Bureau's reports said.

"Cantaloupe shipments for July numbered 289 carloads, or 139 per cent more than were shipped in July last year, and exceeded by 21 cars the total shipments for the season in 1930."

"Loadings of peaches, though large in comparison with those for last year, are 78 per cent and 48 per cent less than those for the corresponding month in 1929 and 1928, respectively."

"The index of prices received by producers for fruits and vegetables, as calculated by the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics on the basis of 1909-1914 as equal to 100, stood at 110 in July as compared with 114 in June, and 13 in July of 1930."

Esperanto Used In Writings To Soviet Linguist

While you are struggling with a translation in French or Spanish, glance at this. Pavel Mixailovich Kirjushin of Gorki, White-Russia, speaks and writes twelve different languages which include Russian, English, German, French, Spanish, White-Russian, Czech, Ukrainian, Esperanto, Italian, and Portuguese.

Mr. Kirjushin, a member of the Communist party of Russia, is at present corresponding in Esperanto with Meredith Knox Gardner of Austin, senior student of the University. This correspondence began in March, 1930, and has resulted in the exchanging of many periodicals of various languages.

Mr. Kirjushin is chiefly interested in American books and magazines which are sent him by Gardner. He, in turn, has sent various newspapers from all over the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics to Gardner. Recently Gardner received a requested copy of Russia's national hymn from his friend. In one of his last letters Mr. Kirjushin stated that he was in Moscow attending the S. E. U., the Esperantist Union of Soviet Republics.

AN OBITUARY

By Old N. Daze

(With abject apologies to the original Woodman, who was prevailed upon to spare the tree.)

Workman, lay off that shack!
Touch not a single plank!
Wouldst raze this gloomy stack?
Couldst do a deed so rank?
Just who dumped them here
Is not for us to know;
But the reason was, we fear
Someone was short of dough.

Those old familiar shacks
Whose ignominious renown,
Has spread to Europe and back,
And thou wouldst smack it down?
Workman, withhold thy attack!
Smash not their ugly walls:
O, hold thy forceful whack,
List to these plaintive calls.

When but an idle froth
I had an eight o'clock,
Within its shade, by gosh!
The prof compared my head with rock.

I slept in in classes here;
Sitting on this very chair—
I found the A's so far, D's so near,
And co-eds disturbingly fair.

My memories round thee band,
Near as thy roof, old friend!
Here shall other buildings stand,
After workmen thy foundations rend.
It seems one cannot save!
These unwieldy piles of lumber;
No matter how much we may rave,
The campus they will cease to encumber.

Hereafter, cigarettes will be smoked for the support of education. Half of the tax money will be used for educational purposes. There will probably be some controversy as to whether it is the half you smoke or the half you throw away.

The federal farm board recently made an agreement with the Brazilian government by which 25,000,000 bushels of America's surplus wheat was traded for 1,050,000 bags of coffee, according to a statement issued Friday by James C. Stone, chairman of the board.

The Brazilian government will give the Bush Terminal Company of New York 225,000 bags of coffee, and the company will grade, handle, and store all coffee shipped to the farm board without any expense to the board. The board, under this arrangement, will not have to pay storage either on the vast amount of wheat they own or on the coffee. When the coffee is sold it will go through the regular channels, but, under the agreement, it cannot be put on the market until 1932.

The move will put American wheat into a country that has never used it before, and it may be the means of opening a future market for American farmers. The transaction is a gesture of friendliness between the two nations.

The Chinese government also recently put in a bid to buy a large amount of American wheat to relieve floor sufferers there. The representatives of China suggested 15,000,000 bushels, but President Hoover said Friday that there is no limit to the amount of American wheat that can be supplied for the purpose.

At least two-thirds of the federal government's expenses for law enforcement are spent on prohibition, the report states.

Potash Deposits
May Be Worked

Commercial Development Studied By Bybee

Some action may be taken in the near future toward the development of the potash resources that are known to underlie lands owned by the University. Dr. H. P. Bybee, who has charge of the geologic matters relating to these lands, is preparing to make a thorough investigation of the commercial possibilities of the potash deposits. In drilling oil wells on lands owned by the University in Ector, Upton and Crane Counties and probably in other counties of West Texas, strata of potassium sulphate were encountered at what was said to be workable depths.

While some analyses have been made of the cores from these wells, no authoritative information as to the commercial properties of the potash beds is said to be available. From time to time, however, during the last few years, highly favorable reports have been made of the vast potash wealth that the University possesses in this undeveloped mineral. At one time, negotiations were pending for the leasing of some of this land for redevelopment.

Temptation to Quit School

At the end of every school year many hundreds of college students are faced with the question, "Should I continue my education or should I quit school and go to work?" The answer, in spite of all of the current publicity concerning the "self-made" man should always be, "Keep on going to school if it is at all possible."

Of course it is true that many men have made good in the business world without any prolonged schooling, and in some cases without any education at all, but the man or woman who can boast of a college degree still commands the superior positions. There is no doubt that some students really get relatively little or nothing out of their school work and are better off seeking a job, but it is also true that many another student has been lured away from his books by economic temptations when in the long run he would have gained more by acquiring a further education.

Today is primarily a day of specialization in all fields, and the man or woman whose technical knowledge and mental training are of the best is the man or woman who forges ahead. No organization or institution is better prepared to furnish such training than the university or college of today, and every student should realize that fact and attempt to take advantage of it. Many men and women out in the business world today are now regretting the fact that they failed to stay in school for a relatively short time longer in order that they might have received their diploma. No student who is capable of benefiting by the intellectual offerings of such institutions should choose the alluring, but often misleading road to immediate financial gain.

Education begins the gentleman, but reading, good company, and reflection finish him.—Locke.

Pride, which inspires us with so much envy, serves also to moderate it.—La Rochefoucauld.

In the Shows

feet of film her endless role the white-hearted fallen girl who looks acutely ill, who is sick her soul for luxury and high living, and who finally accepts in love something of a haven after the customary sordid and stormy troubles prove conveniently temporary. One of the big kicks of the film seems to be the fact that Richard Bennett plays Miss Bennett's father. He is also her father in real life. Thanks, no pun.

Plot: Stephany Dale, an illegitimate child, has in her father, unknown to her, a friend who assists her to get a series of jobs which she uses as a stepping stone to society and an engagement with a young man of wealth. The young man is a cad. She returns to her former lover, a poor young clerk. There is additional happiness in the ending when she discovers her father's identity. Ben Lyon appears as the poor young man with good intentions.

Estimate: C.

"STOLEN HEAVEN," the Nancy Carroll picture on the Texas Theater screen today and Monday, has a few superlatives, notably some new and striking shots of its comely star and perhaps one or two unusual twists to the development of its plot. Otherwise, it runs true to movie form, is hardly done too creditably, and is easily forgotten after it is once seen. Miss Carroll enacts a nameless lady of nowhere who falls in with a young man as convinced of the hopelessness of life as she is. They go away together for a last fling on money which he has stolen. Mutual love then makes life worth living after all. The means by which this story is developed are not always plausible, but it veers on to a happy ending without becoming entirely one of those tragic, introspective things which Miss Carroll's last few pictures have been, some of them not so bad. Early in the film Miss Carroll is made up as a frowsy the-greekshad-a-word-for-it. Good stuff.

Engagement

Announcement has been received of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Shelby Zempter of Galveston, University student, and Robert Hill Eanes of Austin, graduate of the University and tutor in the University last year, with the wedding date set at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, August 29, at the Trinity Episcopal Church at Galveston.

Names of the wedding attendants have not been announced. Three bridesmaids will probably take part on this occasion, and the groom will also have three attendants.

Miss Zempter has been a student in the University the past several years and was a student here the first term of the summer session. She is a candidate for a bachelor of arts degree in August. Miss Zempter is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Mr. Eanes received his bachelor of arts degree from the University in 1930 and was a tutor in zoology the past year. He is a member of Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical fraternity. Mr. Eanes is the son of Mrs. R. H. Eanes of Austin.

Following the wedding, the couple will make their home in Galveston, where Mr. Eanes is planning to attend the Medical School this fall.

Log Cabin

Various representatives and officers of the Epworth Leagues of the Methodist Churches of Austin and the district of Austin staged a log cabin party at Oak Lodge last evening, with a swimming party and watermelon feast at Barton Springs preceding this entertainment.

All persons who attended the social function met at the First Methodist Church at 7:30 o'clock last evening and motored to Barton's. After the swim and the eats, the group went to Oak Lodge.

This morning at the lodge sunrise services will take place, after which the party will motor to town for Sunday School services and church proceedings. Following the church ceremonies, a dinner will be held at the Methodist Church, and afterwards a business meeting of the group will take place.

Bowers-Branom

Announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss

Marjorie Branom, daughter of Mrs. Della Branom of Dallas, to Charles Gordon Bowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowers of Greenville, Miss. R. W. Currin, agent of the bride-elect, entertained August 15 with a luncheon at Peacock Terrace in Dallas.

The couple will be married August 27 at the home of Mrs. B. C. Currin in Greenville. After a wedding trip to New Orleans they will live in Shreveport until after November 1, and will then be at home in Dallas.

Miss Branom attended the University last year, where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority. She edited the Scottish Rite Dormitory annual in 1930. Mr. Bowers attended Texas Military College for two years, after which he attended Baylor University and Centenary College at Shreveport. At Centenary Mr. Bowers became a member of Tau Kappa Nu fraternity.

Miss Madge Maier of Greenville entertained the bride-to-be with a bridge luncheon August 18 in Greenville. Miss Christine Denney entertained with a tea Friday afternoon at the Washington Hotel in Greenville honoring Miss Branom. Miss Blanche Brown, of Dallas, gave a shower for the bride-elect Saturday afternoon, August 22.

Miss Branom's wedding will be informal. Relatives and a few friends will be present. Attendants to the bride and groom will be Murphy Long and Miss Christine Denney, both of Greenville. A reception will be held following the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McCants of Houston are spending the weekend in Austin as the guests of Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Arrowood. Mr. McCants is bursar of Rice Institute.

Reviewed Today

"GUILTY HANDS," current at the Paramount, is a good murder picture. It is melodrama, minus synthetic chills and thrills so-called, plus an intelligent and an ingenious plot. It proves, if the fact has not been proven before, that a murder picture can be more than just another movie. Above all, it is blessed with excellent acting by a superb cast, such as might grace numberless dramas of more voluminous proportions. Fine and careful attention is given to character: each of the persons in the play is an individual, living, kinetic, authentic. Technical details of staging, photography, and the like are good to the point of unobtrusiveness, and so all the more effective. There is ample humor, frolic, and a lot of human character, human psychology, a human emotion. Apparently only weakened by the too utterly ingenious of the denouement.

Much of credit for this piece will go to the green off it, remains as a father who commits murder. Do they catch him? Or see. More nearly approach the drama than any other actor in the play, Kay Francis, who plays the murdered woman. Allan Mowbray, Madge Evans, William Bakewell, C. Aubrey Smith, and Polly Moran provide support.

Estimate: C.

"BOUGHT," now at the Hancock, is a Constance Bennett opus. Bennett's pictures, even if consistently ancient in plot, are full of pretty fair vehicles, no matter which of several film comedies produces them. This one, photographed and directed by Warner Brothers, is excellent in its execution, and so all the more effective. There is ample humor, frolic, and a lot of human character, human psychology, a human emotion. Apparently

Announcement

At a delightful and attractive morning party given at the Wofford residence at Athens last week, the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Hilda Wofford of Athens, former University student, to Morton Bigger of Dallas was announced.

Pink and white were the color scheme for the occasion at which nine tables were placed for bridge. Tallies for the affair were cupid and darts which revealed the secret which was a surprise to the many close friends assembled there. High scores for the morning went to Miss Florence Robinson, and a clever make-up case was presented to the honoree and bride-to-be.

With rosebuds as the principal decoration of the dining room, a setting further carrying out the pink and white motif greeted the guests at the luncheon hour. Mrs. C. H. Coleman assisted the hostess in serving the two-course menu to approximately fifty luncheon and bridge guests.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom B. Wofford of Athens and a popular member of the younger set there. She formerly attended the University.

Lindgren-Smith

Before an altar adorned with white gladioli with a background of tall palms, Miss Allie Mary Smith of Fort Worth, graduate of the University, became the bride of the Rev. Edward Moore Lindgren, also University graduate, at an impressive ceremony last Wednesday morning at the St. Andrew's Episcopal Church with the Rev. Bertram L. Smith, officiating.

The bride, wearing a dark blue satin dress with eggshell and dark blue accessories, entered with her father. She carried an arm bouquet filled with lilies of the valley and cream roses. Miss Frances Bruce, cousin of the bride, dressed in a light yellow chiffon with a lace jacket, was bride attendant at the wedding.

Lester Hoblett of Dallas was best man for the occasion. Music for the procession was played by Dr. H. D. Guelick.

Both the Rev. and Mrs. Lindgren are honor graduate from the University. After receiving his bachelor of arts degree from the University, the Rev. Lindgren attended the General Theological Seminary in New York.

The Rev. and Mrs. Lindgren will live in Raton, N. M., where he is rector of the Episcopal Church.

AGGIE GRIDSTERS FACING TOUGHEST SCHEDULE IN YEARS

LITTLE JOE

By JOE HORNADAY
Texas Sports Editor

Coaches Return

Coach Clyde Littlefield and Ed Olle returned from Lubbock last week where they have been attending the Wade-Phelan coaching school. Littlefield is all pepped up about the two swell touchdown plays he picked up while there. He says he is going to use one against Harvard. The other he expects to use against S. M. U. to show them that the Longhorns really meant business last year.

Olle reports he had a great time with the basketball coaches. He announces that Littlefield is not the only one to find a few trick plays. He reports that the Longhorn basketball team will learn a few tricks to pull on T. C. U. and stop Ad Dietzel this winter.

Olle Busy

You have to hand it to Ed Olle for the way he is preparing for the football season. While everyone was scratching their heads wondering how the Longhorn football season could be advertised, Olle got busy and formulated a plan which would make these Hollywood publicity directors take ether in jealousy.

Several weeks ago the athletic department ordered several thousand tire covers, having painted on them a big Longhorn with the football team's playing schedule below. The athletic department distributed them free, so they didn't last more than half a day.

Olle figures that by giving the tire covers to summer school students, who will be leaving for home in several more days, the Longhorn home schedule will be advertised all over the State.

About Hilliard

A. & M. students and graduates are all steamed up over the reports that Bond Hilliard will enter their college this fall. They THINK that Hilliard will be eligible for the 1932 Aggie football team.

Hilliard last fall was a member of the freshman eleven. He was easily the best prospect among the frosh, and it was believed that he would fill the position left vacant by Captain Dexter Shelley, but just before exams he dropped out of school.

Records show that Hilliard played in several of the scheduled freshmen games. The conference rules state that if a man enters one Southwest Conference school and takes part in a scheduled athletic contest, either freshman or varsity, he is ineligible to play with another Southwest Conference team. That does not mean he cannot play with a team outside of the Southwest Conference.

Warning!

Warning to Conference football elevens: Watch out for T. C. U. The Fort Worth boys are keeping quiet about their football prospects. Although the Frogs are going to lose a couple of good men in Cy Leland and Atkins, they are going to have plenty of material.

Almost all of the men who will play with the Frogs this fall are juniors. The line will be exceedingly strong. Then, the Toads will have plenty of good material coming from the freshmen ranks.

On top of that the T. C. U. eleven will have the easiest schedule in the loop. They have only seven games booked, six with conference schools. The other game is with Louisiana State. Three of the Frogs conference games are to be played in Fort Worth.

Mineral Rights Taken Off Sale

Action Pending Law To Protect Holdings

All mineral rights except oil and gas on lands owned by the University have been withdrawn from sale pending the enactment of a law that will more adequately govern and protect these valuable holdings. This action has been taken by the Board of Lease of University Lands, of which Dr. H. P. Bybee of San Angelo is the geologist and mineralogist. It was authorized by a resolution adopted by the Legislature at its recent special session.

Games with Iowa And Tulane On Schedule

Special to The Summer Texan
COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 22.

There will be no rest periods for Texas gridsters, facing one of their toughest schedules in years, after they one their season with Southwestern University on September 26 at College Station until after the grand finale of the conference schedule with the Texas Longhorns, and it is possible then uniforms will not be laid away for the winter until sometime around December 5 as negotiations are under way for a post season game at Dallas. The Aggies will be on the road for three straight Saturdays after the opener with Southwestern, meeting strong elevens from three separate sections of the country.

October 3 will find the Cadets in action in New Orleans against Tulane's famous Green Wave. The Greenies have been a thorn in the Aggies' side for the past two years, Tulane having squeezed out a 13 to 10 decision over the Cadets at New Orleans in 1929 and a 19 to 9 victory in 1930 at Dallas.

Dallas will see the Maroon and White warriors on October 10 at the Fair Park stadium attempt to repel the Southern invasion of the University of Iowa team. Although defeated by Centenary in 1930, Iowa beat the Nebraska team that won over the Aggies 13 to 0 the past season.

Texas Christian University's team will rear its bulk against the Cadets October 17 at Fort Worth. The Horned Frog "jinx" still seems to be dogging the Aggies' footsteps, for not since 1924 have the Cadets won from the Christians. The best the Aggies have been able to do in six years is to tie the Frogs twice, once in 1926 when Joel Hunt dropped kicked two field goals to kno tthe count at 13 all, and once in 1927 when "Rags" Matthews, T. C. U. end, virtually alone checked a desperate Aggie assault on his goal from the two yard line and threw the contest into a scoreless tie.

And no soft snap awaits the Aggies when they returned from their three games abroad, for on October 24 the Baylor University Bears will invade College Station for the first Aggie-Baylor game since 1926 when athletic relations between the schools were severed.

Following the Baylor scrap the Cadets will journey to Shreveport for a game with the Centenary University team. The Louisiana gridsters are said to be determined to avenge the 7 to 6 defeat handed them by the Cadets on Kyle Field in 1930. The Aggies, for their part, probably will be remembering what Centenary did to the cherished tradition of Aggie invincibility when playing on Kyle Field. In 1928 Centenary defeated the Aggies 6 to 0 on that field early in the season then A. & M. teams apparently have been no more invincible on their home field than on foreign soil.

The Aggies will meet the Mustangs from Southern Methodist University on November 7 at College Station, following this contest they will travel to Houston November 14 for a game with Rice Institute. The conference season will end on Thanksgiving Day when the Texas University Longhorns will invade College Station. But Aggie athletic officials are dicker for an inter-sectional game December 5 at Dallas.

D. W. Carlton, business manager of athletics, has announced there will be no game between the Aggies and the University of Hawaii this Christmas but that there is a possibility of the school teams playing in Honolulu during the Christmas holidays of 1932.

to minerals on University lands by filing on any tract of 20 acres or less and by paying a small fee to the State and a royalty of 2 per cent on any minerals that may be produced. It has been estimated that 15 per cent of the 2,000,000 acres of land owned by the University is underlaid with potash.

Under an amendment to the public lands act, the legislature has fixed the minimum royalty on any minerals mined on public school lands at 6 1-4 per cent. It is probable that at the next session of the legislature, the royalty from minerals from University lands will be increased to at least that which is obtained from public school lands.

Three Former Steer Tennis Men Seeded In National Doubles Title

Seeding for the national doubles championship to be held next week at the Longwood Cricket Club was announced Friday by the tournament committee.

The top position was given to George Lott and Johnny Doeg, last year champions. Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill, sensational California netters, were seeded second.

Wilmer Allison, former Longhorn ace, and John Van Ryn, were placed third. Berkely Bell, former Longhorn captain, and George Mangin were seeded fourth. Bruce Barnes and Cliff Sutter were placed eighth.

Although Vines and Gledhill were ranked sixth in last year's tournament, their playing has been so brilliant this summer they are expected to "take" the first seeded pair, Doeg and Lott.

Foster Appointed Assistant Grid Coach For Frosh

J. D. Foster, former Southwestern University star, has been selected assistant freshman football coach to take the place of Joe Ward, former Longhorn tackle, who has accepted the position as coach at Los Angeles High School in San Antonio. Several weeks ago Ward and Mac Burnett, former Steer football center, were appointed the posts.

Foster has some seven years coaching experience. He is at the present time attending summer school. The head freshman football coach is Shorty Alderson.

Steer Baseball Stars to Play Title Tilt Today

The Texas Sand and Gravel company baseball team will battle the Austin Gas company today at the Barton Springs field for the championship of the second half in the city baseball league. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock. The Gravel team is made up largely of Longhorn ball players.

The Gassers are leading the league with one defeat against them, while the Gravelmen are in second place with two defeats. Earlier in the season the two teams played seven innings to a 5-5 draw.

The Gravelmen's probable lineup will include Douglas Bloebaum behind the bat, either Howard Tyson or Charlie Winton on the mound, Allen Bloebaum in the field, and other Longhorn stars.

If the Gassers win today's contest they will be crowned city league champions, while if the Gravelmen win they will be in a tie with the Gassers for second half honors.

AGGIE SPORT BRIEFS

By CURTIS VINSON

Special to The Summer Texan.
COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 22.

Prospects for another good Texas Aggie cross country team are fairly bright in the opinion of Coach Frank G. Anderson. Although the Cadet thinly clad will have only two lettermen returning, several squadmen and members of the 1930 freshman team will be available to Coach Anderson. The lettermen returning are Melton Smith, captain, of Sulphur Springs, and Salvador Marquez, Yorktown. Coach Anderson has arranged his fall schedule so he can give more time to the harriers and to fall track work than formerly.

Texas Aggie freshmen will play Brownsville Junior College for the third time this football season. In the two previous encounters the honors were even, the Aggie freshmen winning 6 to 0 in 1929 and the Brownsville team winning 19 to 0 in 1930.

Texas Aggie coaches serving as instructors at the second annual Texas Aggie coaching school are working on the theory that it is better to be able to show students how to do something than merely to tell them how to do it. All points brought out in lectures later are illustrated in the practice sessions. In the basketball class

Coach John Reid, Aggie basketball mentor, tells the attending coaches what he is going to do and then does it himself. At an early meeting of the class Reid clinched his points on how to shoot foul shots by looping several straight baskets.

Roswell (Little Hig) Higginbotham, Aggie baseball coach, has a much lower opinion of umpires than formerly. Recently he played a game of golf for a side bet of a golf ball with "Zebby" Howell, former Trinity University backfield star, who occasionally umpires college baseball games. Higginbotham won and Howell paid the bet with a battered second-hand ball.

The register of coaches attending the second annual Texas Aggie coaching school which will be in session until August 29, somewhat resembles a roster of former Southwest Conference star athletes. Among those attending the school are "Puny" Wilson, Texas Aggies, now Allen Academy (Bryan) coach; Ralph Wolf, Baylor, now Baylor University basketball and track mentor; Mack Clark and "Bear" Wolf, T. C. U., now track coach; football line coach, respectively that institution; Mule Frazier, Baylor, now sporting goods man; "Heinie" Weir, Texas A. M., Vernon high school coach. Other former conference coaches besides Frazier who are now engaged in sports work are Tommy Miller, Texas A. M.; "Bill" Skeet, Texas University; "Ox" Higgins,

E. E. McQuay, A. & M. Former Students' Association secretary, claims to be one of the outstanding sideline coaches in the Southwest. He claims to have developed plays enabling a center to carry the ball or to catch a forward pass. He claims, is one of the use of triplets, and in any coach having a set of triplets to write for the play. "The regular coaches," Quillen says, "is that they ask the side line coaches for a and if we want to see our team prosper we have to suggest our own selves!"

Walter Howle spent few hours on the campus Saturday.

purposes to a private enterprise, but no final action was taken. In Midland County, steps toward developing a large potash deposit on privately owned lands are reported to be under way.

Interest Stimulated

Interest in this undeveloped resource of West Texas has been recently stimulated by the opening of what is said to be a vast potash deposit near Loving, N. M., by the United States Potash Corporation. This company has expended up to this time nearly $400,000 in sinking a two-compartment shaft into the stratum of potash to a depth of approximately 1,000 feet and in other work. From this shaft, tunnels or drifts have been run into the potash bed for distances of several miles, and the mineral is now being mined at the rate of 200 tons a day. As soon as the work of installing machinery and equipment is completed at the mine, and the large refinery which the company is building at Loving is finished, the production of potash will be greatly increased.
