French-Soviet Talks Under Way in USSR

MOSCOW — (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle Monday began an 11-day visit to the Soviet Union that could lead to joint French-Soviet initiatives on European security and the war in Viet Nam.

Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny sounded that note Monday night at a Kremlin banquet honoring De Gaulle.

Podgorny said he is convinced De Gaulle and the Russians could agree on the situation in Europe and other areas "especially those where the flames of war are raging today." This appeared to be a reference to Viet Nam.

In his dinner speech, De Gaulle said it is up to France and the Soviet Union to start trying to solve European problem, particularly the German problem.

"Without ignoring the essential role that the United States has to play" in the world, De Gaulle said, France thinks that the first condition for world progress "is the re-establishment in Europe of fertile unity instead of having Europe paralyzed by sterile division."

A big welcoming crowd shouted, "Friendship!" as De Gaulle arrived at the airport. Then the French and Russians in a cavalcade were met by thousands waving French and Soviet flags in the 25-mile ride into the city.

Welcome banners floated overhead, greeting De Gaulle and hailing Soviet-French friendship.

Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny said in an airport welcoming ceremony that their two countries have "an identity of interests in approaching a number of important problems of modern international affairs."

Thus the most important visit to the Soviet Union of a Western leader in many years opened with the prospect that France, the dissident member of the Western alliance, was seeking a new status in Kremlin thinking.

French officials have said the 11-day trip will not include signing any alliance or treaty, except possibly on scientific and cultural matters.

But diplomats noted that similar assurances were given when De Gaulle visited West Germany in 1962. A few months later Paris and Bonn formed a little alliance within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It has since broken down over De Gaulle's determination to pursue his own policies.

In the uniform of a French brigadier general, De Gaulle and his wife stepped from a special French jet plane into bright sunshine here to begin a tour of five Soviet cities. A sixth, so far unannounced, stop might make him the first foreign leader to see a Soviet rocket launching.

High Court Limits Civil Rights Cases

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 5 to 4 Monday that only in limited instances may prosecutions of civil rights workers in the Deep South be removed from state to federal courts.

And, in its last session of the 1965-66 term, the court barred retroactive application of its historic decision of last Monday narrowing use of confessions at trials. This was a 7-2 ruling.

THE REMOVAL decision, announced by Justice Potter Stewart, is a setback for civil rights forces. He said for the majority: "First, no federal law confers an absolute right on private citizens — on civil rights advocates, on Negroes, or on anybody else — to obstruct a public street, to contribute to the delinquency of a minor, to drive an automobile without a license, or to bite a policeman."

"Second, no federal law confers immunity from state prosecution on such charges."

However, in a companion decision, the court said unanimously that if equal access to public accommodations — a right assured by the 1964 Federal Civil Rights Law — is involved there cannot be any prosecution, either in federal or state court.

THE CONFESSION decision, written by Chief Justice Earl Warren, drew two lines.

It said the high court's landmark 1964 Escobedo ruling, which for the first time extended the right to counsel to suspects undergoing police questioning, "affects only those cases in which the trial began" after the ruling was announced.

Similarly, it said last Monday's Miranda ruling, which barred trial use of incriminating statements obtained from suspects whose constitutional rights to remain silent and to have a lawyer's assistance were not safeguarded by police, "applies only to cases in which the trial began" after the ruling was announced.

A Bundle of Bees Buzzing Around Back

Between 3,000 and 5,000 bees have swarmed to a tree behind the University Co-Op seemingly to talk things over beneath a cooling shade tree. According to a source close to the queen, they have been there for a few weeks. Can bees have that much to talk about?

Open Information Bill Passed by Congress

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House gave final congressional approval Monday to landmark freedom-of-information legislation making it easier for Americans to examine the records of the federal government.

A unanimous 307-0 vote sent to President Johnson the measures establishing a basic policy that records of federal executive agencies shall be available to the public unless specific reasons exit for maintaining secrecy.

Sponsors predicted the President will sign the measure, despite efforts of some federal agencies to block it. The law would take effect in one year, and would apply to all executive branch agencies, but not to state and local governments or to Congress which conducts much of its business in secrecy.

Among the areas in which official secrecy would be stripped away are names and salaries of federal employees, the details on millions of dollars of nonsecurity federal contracts and the details of important regulatory actions ranging from the Federal Trade Commission to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors.

Council Names New Building Committee

Silber Before Faculty Council

... a car ban for sophomores, too?

A Faculty Building Committee was created by the Faculty Council Monday from the old Buildings and Space Allocation Committee.

The new committee will represent the faculty in the planning and programming of buildings. It is to consist of five faculty members, the director of the Office of Facilities Planning and Construction, business manager of the Main University, and director of the School of Architecture.

Only the faculty members will have votes. If a building is to include library facilities the University librarian is to be added as a member of the committee without vote.

During the preparation of the preliminary plans for the erection of a particular building, the Vice-Chancellor for Academic Affairs will appoint a special committee consisting of faculty who have a direct interest in the building to serve until it is completed. One member of the temporary committee will be made a voting member of the Faculty Building Committee for the specified building.

Also presented at the meeting was a recommendation by the committee to study the desirability of continuing the freshman car ban.

The Committee, as a result of its study, recommended unanimously that the freshman car ban be discontinued.

A counter-resolution was put forth that there should be not only a freshman but a sophomore car ban. Both resolutions were sent back to the committee for further study.

House Approves Guadalupe Park

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House passed Tuesday a bill to authorize establishment of Guadalupe Mountains National Park in West Texas.

The measure would authorize an appropriation of $12.3 million to acquire land and construct roads and buildings on a 77,852 acre tract. Of this, $1.5 million would be used for land acquisition.

The bill specifies Texas shall give to the federal government the mineral rights it owns on some of the land involved. Mineral rights held by private interests, primarily Texaco, are to be purchased.

The bill now goes to the Senate. The House passed it on a voice vote. It was introduced by Rep. Richard White, D-Tex.

Open Sesame

The Chuck Wagon in the Texas Union is a convenient place for fellowship and for refreshments. That is, when it is open. This summer, as in past summers, the Chuck Wagon closes at 7 p.m.

The reason for the early closing of the dining hall is that the management finds it uneconomical to keep the facilities open past 7 p.m. for just a few students. The Texan would agree—if that were the case on weekends.

Most students are free from their studies on Friday and Saturday nights. Summer weekends can be extremely boring without something to do. The Texas Union Program Office has planned a number of activities in which students can participate on weekends.

Friday night, the Program Office sponsored, on an experimental basis, a dance on the Union patio. Because the dance was such a success, more dances are scheduled for the summer. Movies in the Union Auditorium also draw sizable audiences as do the bowling and ping pong areas.

The Texan feels that on Friday and Saturday nights there should be a place where students can obtain refreshments in the Union other than from a punch bowl at a dance or a soft drink machine.

A more convenient time for the Chuck Wagon to close on Friday and Saturday nights would be 10 p.m., at the earliest, after the last Union movie has started.

Here We Go Again

In January, a board of 12 Texas newspaper editors submitted to the University Board of Regents eight suggestions for improving The Daily Texan. During the past four months, the Texas Student Publications Board (TSP), which is the governing body over the Texan, has studied these recommendations and just how they could best be implemented.

One of the suggestions made by the editors was that TSP should change the policy whereby stories rejected by the Texan's Editorial Supervisor could be appealed by telephone at night by the student staff to the Texan Intermediate Appeals Board. The editors recommended that the Editorial Manager, who checks all Texan stories for libel and "good" journalism, should have the power to hold the copy until the next morning before the matter could be taken up by the Intermediate Appeals Board.

Already, a note circulated to TSP Board members states, "When the revised (TSP) Handbook is completed, the TSP Board's recommendations with regard to the withholding of copy will be included for consideration by the Board of Regents."

Also, in response to this recommendation, TSP has studied the method of approving copy, especially when it pertains to editorial content. It has given serious consideration to, not a recommendation of, a system which would require editorial page copy to be submitted several hours before the present deadline of 5:30 p.m. the day before publication.

The present method of appeals should be maintained in order to insure that subscribers will not receive stale news and in order to preserve the Texan's freedom. The restraining of copy or photographs until the next day also places a severe strain on the Texan staff who must then find copy or photographs to fill the empty "news hole" on a page.

Moving up the deadline for editorial page copy from 5:30 p.m. to several hours earlier would almost automatically prevent the Texan from commenting editorially on timely events due to the limited time available between the editor's classes and the deadline for the page. This proposal has such inherent disadvantages that consideration of it should not go as far as a recommendation.

Price Increases Mark Inflation in Area

... rise of prices in some areas does not justify a raise in taxes.

A Texan Interpretive

Tax Hike Opposed

By BRUCE SCHNITZER

"If the government in this election year were fighting inflation as hard as it is promoting the Great Society, millions of Americans—especially the poor—could be spared seeing their take-home dollars shrink in buying power.

"We instead hear a growing mixture of pleas and threats from officials to 'restrain' wages, profits, farm prices, and even Mrs. America's grocery list. But the truth is that government policies (Congressional over-appropriations, Viet-Nam escalation, etc.) cause inflation, and there are other and better ways for government to fight inflation than by harangue."

THE ABOVE STATEMENT by Carl H. Madden, chief economist of the US Chamber of Commerce, recently appeared in the Washington Post. His comments express well the views of many economists, representing both governmental and private interests, who have attacked the Johnson Administration for not taking positive action, specifically increasing taxes, to curtail the present upward spiral of prices in the US economy.

The economic basis for the proposed tax hike as a curb on present inflation lies in the fact that higher taxes decrease potential spending power in the hands of consumers and businesses, causing demand to fall, with a concomitant fall in prices.

Further, it can be argued that in a "demand-pull" inflation such as we are currently experiencing, other, less-extreme, methods will not be effective. Wage-price guideposts, which have been used for several years in an effort to keep higher wages and production costs from pushing prices up, were quite successful as long as the inflationary pressure was of the "cost-push" variety.

BUT IN THE CASE of the present excess demand in the market place, these "guideposts" can do very little to keep prices in line. Only a reduction of this demand or an increase in output to satisfy the demand can successfully combat "demand-pull" inflation and restore stable prices.

It is not a point of contention that maintenance of the purchasing power of the dollar is a desirable goal. However, the desirability of stable prices cannot be viewed independently, but rather must be weighed against economic growth and maximum employment, which too often must be partially given up for this price stability.

First, it should be pointed out that, while we are continually barraged with mounds of statistics comparing the purchasing power of the dollar today with its value in some golden year of the past, the truth is that prices have not been steadily rising throughout the post-World War II period. Prices did take a rather large jump in the three or four years immediately following the war as consumer demand far outran supply. But as production facilities shifted from war to peacetime uses and the economy expanded, prices leveled off and were relatively stable until after the close of the Korean Conflict.

After Korea, prices again moved up sharply as price controls were lifted and demand again exceeded productive capacity. But prices settled again; and, for approximately eight years preceeding our present problem, prices remained quite stable. Throughout this 20-year period since World War II, income and output have continually risen much faster than prices. Therefore, real per capita income has greatly increased despite the price increases.

SOME SEE the present inflationary condition as another "periodic adjustment." Demand is again excessive with most industries operating at near capacity, and the needs in Viet Nam are demanding an ever-larger portion of our produce. If this analysis is correct, prices can be expected to move up to a new plateau and then again level off as before.

The major discussion, of course, concerns what, if anything, should be done about the rising prices. Should the price rise be stopped by governmental action such as a tax increase, or should we accept the price increases as a necessary "evil" and allow output to increase to meet the new demands?

Ultimately, it seems the alternative to creeping inflation is unemployment and a retarded rate of economic growth, since wages and prices are only flexible upward under our present institutional framework; resource allocation through the price system must occur through price increases in areas of growth in the economy, rather than through price decreases in areas of stagnation.

THUS, IN THE MODERN American economy, it seems that economic growth must be hinged to some inflation. Further, sustained economic growth and reduced unemployment in this mammoth economy are not easily attainable goals. A "rule of thumb" has been suggested that a three per cent increase in the growth rate is necessary to reduce unemployment by only one per cent, and this growth rate must be sustained each year in spite of the ever-increasing base. In this light, any proposed legislation designed to protect the integrity of the dollar by decreasing demand and thus, stifling investment, slowing growth, and increasing unemployment, loses a great deal of its glamour.

There are very few who would take issue with economic growth or full-employment (or motherhood or the flag.) but it can be argued that the tax boost is needed at this time to stabilize and moderate the boom which has carried us to the longest period of continued prosperity in our history. This contention that a little moderation is needed to keep the bubble from bursting is from some of those who need it most—the fixed-income earners, such as the retired. But the maintenance of prices at the expense of growth and employment does not seem to best promote the general welfare. And, as for the poor, about whom Mr. Madden is so concerned, they can be helped better by the availability of better jobs for more people than by stable prices with under-employment.

In the end, it is more desirable to accept a little less buying-power in a bigger pay check than it is to protect the purchasing-power of unemployment compensation.

KUT-FM Cites Humble Start; Grows From 'Ham' to Culture

By PHIL LIGON

Housed in a leaky shed attached to 'Y' Hall and broadcasting crop reports in Morse code, no sensible person would have predicted that a "ham" radio station would evolve into a complicated broadcasting system of the first class.

But, Dr. S. LeRoy Brown, the

Burial Wednesday For Mrs. Rauhut

Funeral services will be held 4 p.m. Wednesday at Weed-Corley Funeral Home for Mrs. Laverne Barge Rauhut, who died June 14 in Cairo while on a tour with the Flying Longhorns. Mrs. Rauhut, widow of John A. Rauhut, prominent Austin attorney, died in her sleep after a heart attack.

She left Austin June 8 for New York City where she joined the tour sponsored by the University Ex-Students' Association. Her trip was to include Africa and Europe.

The burial will be held at Oak Wood Cemetery, with Dr. William Logan officiating.

Mrs. Rauhut is survived by her brother, Fred Barge; a sister, Mrs. Evelyn Barge Fitzgerald; a nephew, Murray Barge, all of Austin; and a niece, Miss Catherine Nell Fitzgerald, a student at North Texas State University.

late professor emeritus of physics, had indeed chained his rig to progress, for today, University owned KUT-FM broadcasts during the summer session for the first time in its history.

LICENSED ORIGINALLY under the call letters "WMC", the dash-and-dot system has had plenty of problems since 1915, including government suspension during World War I, call-letter difficulties, and the dread of all would-be progressive enterprises — finances.

Now that the "Radio Voice of the University of Texas" is being beamed 12 months of the year, KUT-FM station manager Joe Gwathmey feels that the continuity factor alone will have invaluable results for the station.

The newly stated purpose of KUT-FM, said Gwathmey, is "to provide — for the academic community-at-large, and the larger community of metropolitan Austin — programs of social, political, cultural, and general information significance." And, this summer's programming does just that.

ON WEDNESDAYS at 8 p.m., "The Two Worlds of Jazz" features noted critic Nat Hentoff in a one-hour program dealing with the history, trends, and future of jazz. Host to other highly regarded authorities, Hentoff will illustrate the group's observations with appropriate selections.

Harvard professor John K. Galbraith follows on Thursday at 7 p.m., with "The Politics of Privation," a timely series dealing with the disadvantaged and developing nations of the world.

Sunday evening at 8 p.m., KUT-FM 90.7 mc presents the music of Arturo Toscanini, in a program titled "A Complete Discography, 1920-1954." During this one-hour program, classical music from the Toscanini family library will be played by the NBC Symphony Orchestra.

THESE SPECIFIC PROGRAMS are but a few of those comprising the 77-hour weekly broadcasts which begin at noon each day and conclude at 11 p.m.

"Hopefully," continued Gwathmey, "we will begin our fall program at 8 a.m. and continue until midnight." By lengthening the broadcast day, Gwathmey explained that the station would strengthen its position by filling the cultural gap left open to classical music.

Australian Leads In Men's Singles

WIMBLEDON, England—Roy Emerson, the tough and wiry Australian shooting for his third Wimbledon title in succession, led a procession of six other seeds into the second round of the men's tennis singles Monday.

IT WAS A DULL opening to the 80th tournament, with no upsets to raise the crowd's temperature on a chilly day.

Only one seed — fifth-ranked John Newcombe of Australia — was in trouble. Newcombe trailed one set to two against countryman Ray Ruffels, but finally won 6-11, 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

The only seed who did not play was Tony Roche, the hard-hitting Australian left-hander who came here with the Italian and French titles in his pocket and was rated the most likely man to upset Emerson.

ROCHE SPRAINED his left ankle last week, scratched from the men's and mixed doubles here, and got a dispensation from the Wimbledon committee to postpone his first-round match against an unknown Briton, Ted Beards, until Tuesday.

Both US seeds, sixth-ranked Dennis Ralston and eighth-seeded Clark Graebner — came through without difficulty.

The University ranks among the top 20 schools in the nation whose bachelor's degree recipients go on to earn Ph.D's.

Richard Romo

Romo Runs Third In NCAA Meet

Longhorn miler Richard Romo set a personal record for himself for the second week in a row at the NCAA Track and Field Meet at Bloomington, Indiana. With a 4:02.7 clocking, Romo finished third behind Villanova's David Patrick and Oklahoma State's Tom Von Ruden.

Patrick won with a 4:02.1 time, and Von Ruden placed second with a 4:02.4 clocking.

The only other Southwest Conference entrant who placed was world champion shot-putter Randy Matson of Texas A&M, who won the discus and shot with record-breaking throws. Matson shattered the NCAA discus record with a 197 foot toss, and broke the NCAA shotput record with a 67'-1 1/2" heave.

Preston Davis of Texas placed eighth in the 880, and Longhorn pole vaulter Mark King had to withdraw with a bruised heel after clearing 14-6 on his first try at the bar. King will also be forced to miss the National AAU meet in New York next weekend.

Romo and Davis will move on to the AAU meet, where Romo will face Jim Ryun in the mile run.

At the AAU meet the first two finishers in 18 events will qualify for the US team which will meet Poland at Berkeley, Calif., July 16-17, and the Soviet Union at Los Angeles, July 23-24.

Staub Home Run Gives Astros Win Over LA

HOUSTON — Rusty Staub doubled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning as the Houston Astros defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2 Monday night and handed Don Drysdale his fifth straight defeat.

Staub's double followed a lead-off single by Jim Wynn, who raced to second when Willie Davis fumbled his hit. Staub scored on a single by Chuck Harrison.

Drysdale, who allowed seven hits, now has a 4-9 record and has not won a game since May 30.

Drysdale was touched for an unearned run in the fifth inning after he dropped the ball while trying to tag Sonny Jackson on a grounder to first. Jackson stole second and proceeded to third when catcher John Roseboro threw wild. He scored on a single by Staub.

Nobis Acquitted In Traffic Case

By The Associated Press
Linebacker Tommy Nobis, former University of Texas football All-America, was acquitted Monday of an Austin police traffic charge when a prosecution witness failed to appear for the Corporation Court hearing.

Judge Ned Granger granted a directed verdict when the state witness failed to appear.

Nobis was charged with "failure to give information to the other party" in connection with an April 3 two-car collision near the University campus.

Nobis signed with the Atlanta Falcons last December.

Casper Takes National Open

Palmer Crumbles After Early Lead

SAN FRANCISCO—Bill Casper struck back with birdie putts of 25 and 35 feet and moved coldly through the wreckage of another monstrous blowup by Arnold Palmer Monday for a four-stroke victory in the 18-hole play-off for the 66th National Open Golf Championship.

Casper fired a one-under 69 over the 6,719-yard, par 70 Olympic Lake course while Palmer, shaken and almost glassy-eyed by the collapse of his game—struggled in with a 73.

The 34-year-old Casper climaxed his dramatic comeback by lacing an approach shot to within 3½ feet and then sinking one putt for a birdie on the final hole.

It was a case of blowup striking twice for Palmer, the game's leading all-time money winner, who saw an imposing seven-stroke lead with nine holes to play go up in the smoke of bogeys in Sunday's final round.

This enabled Casper to tie for the title at 278 and force Palmer into his third playoff in five years. Arnie lost to Jack Nicklaus in 1962 and he finished third behind Julius Boros and Jacky Cupit at Brookline, Mass., in 1963.

Golf historians called Palmer's collapse Sunday the greatest in the annals of the game, and it was almost duplicated on this bright, sunny day before a gallery of 12,000.

Two-up through nine holes and playing superbly, Palmer hit a patch of bogeys, starting at the 11th and four in the space of six holes. He was a punch-drunk beaten warrior when he trudged up to the final green.

Casper, rated the sport's most dangerous putter, contributed to Palmer's slide by knocking in a 25-foot putt on the 11th hole where he leveled the match and rolling in a monster of 35 feet at the 12th where he began moving ahead. Arnie's collapse was emphasized on the 604-yard 16th hole where he took a double bogey 7 while Casper, three-potting, settled for a fat 6.

On the 17th, Palmer drove into the right rough, hit his second only 20 yards, had to play into the fairway and then threw his approach into a trap. He blasted out to within eight feet and missed his putt. Casper reached the green in three but three-putted from 25 feet, missing from 3½ feet.

Distance Runners Signed by Texas

The University track team, aiming toward continuing its current superiority in the SWC middle distance events, has added three outstanding high school half-mile specialists.

Assistant Track Coach Cleburne Price secured Class A State 880 champion Mike Mosley of Coahoma; John Robertson, state AAAA half-mile medalist from Dallas Sunset, and Neil McCabe, Arlington High 880 specialist.

Robertson set a state 880 record of 1:53.2 at the UIL State Meet held here in Austin, while McCabe, who did not qualify for the state meet, had a season best of 1:55.3. Mosley's low mark for the season was 1:55.2.

The Association of Religious Teachers, a local organization composed of instructors in the various Bible chairs on the campus, offers courses in Bible and related topics at the University.

'Horns Picked for Star Team

Three 1965 Longhorn football players, halfback Phil Harris, end Pete Lammons, and linebacker Tommy Nobis, have been chosen to play for the West in the coaches All-America All-Star game in Atlanta July 9.

Four other Southwest Conference players were also chosen for the 29-man squad, including three from the University of Arkansas. Razorbacks chosen were tackle Glenn Ray Hines, and backs Bobby Crockett and James Lindsey. Texas Tech halfback Donny Anderson was the other Southwest Conference player chosen.

The squad also includes quarterback Randy Johnson of Texas

A&I and Oklahoma linebacker Carl McAdams.

Heisman Trophy winner Mike Garrett of USC will head the offensive line-up for the West.

The three Texas players all played on the 1963 National Championship team and helped the Longhorns win 25 games in their three years on the varsity.

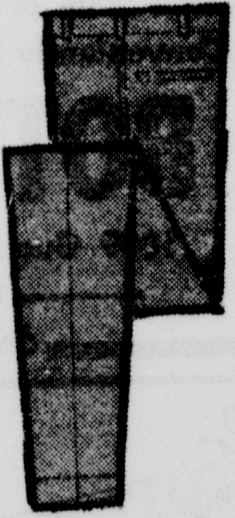

Bryant Collapses While Giving Talk

LOS ANGELES — Football Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama collapsed today just as he began a speech at the annual Pepperdine College coaching clinic.

Bryant was taken to the college infirmary, then to View Park Community Hospital.

UT Poverty Corps Volunteers Needed

Volunteers may join the University Poverty Corps until June 24.

Programs for this summer include arts and crafts activities, supervision, and instruction, tutoring, clothing collection, and related activities.

Work will be arranged at a volunteer's convenience and transportation will be furnished by the corps members.

Applications are available at the Students' Association Office, Union Building 323.

Pharmacists Honored

Six students received awards recently at the College of Pharmacy commencement convocation.

Winners are Mrs. Celene Latham Allen, Johnson and Johnson Mortar and Pestle Award in Pharmacy Administration; Kathryn Lynn Culbertson, Rexall Drug Company Award and Kappa Epsilon Award; and Timothy Don Von Dohlen, the Bristol Laboratories Award.

Anthony Charles Jung, Loyd D. Rowe Jr., and Robert John Samuelson received Merck Awards. Samuelson also received the Lilly Achievement Award.

Teacher Interviews Set

A representative from the Brazosport Independent School District, Freeport, Texas, will be interviewing prospective teachers for the coming school year Friday. Those interested should contact A. C. Murphy, director of Teacher Placement Service, Sutton Hall 209, to make appointments.

Knippa Wins $100 Prize

Larry Don Knippa, who graduated with honors in June from the law school, is the recipient of the $100 David Harris Memorial Prize.

Law School Dean W. Page Keeton said the award is given annually to the graduating law student who had the highest scholastic average among those who had earlier obtained bachelor's degrees from the University and who had earned at least one-half of their expenses while attending Law School.

Knippa will join the antitrust division of the US Department of Justice in Washington, D.C., after taking the State Bar of Texas examination.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa and the Order of the Coif, Knippa received a bachelor's degree with a major in mathematics from the University.

'Y' Contributions Sought

The University "Y" is still accepting donations for its financial campaign. Faculty members are urged to contribute. The faculty campaign is still about $100 short of completion.

The Austin Citizens' Effort is also behind. This campaign is lacking almost $700.

Persons wishing to make a contribution can make the check payable to The University YMCA-YWCA and mail it to Miss Anne Appenzeller, 2200 Guadalupe.

UT to Get NASA Grant

The University has been awarded a research grant of $150,000 from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Other recipients of the supplementary grants, totaling approximately $3.1 million, include 21 universities, colleges, and research institutions.

Evans Heads Meeting

Dr. David Evans, University visiting professor of astronomy, is presiding at a symposium of International Astronomical Union in Toronto. The meeting will close Friday.

Dr. Evans, who is from the Royal Cape Observatory in South Africa, is scheduled to present a paper concerning his revision of the General Catalog of Radial Velocities. During the past two years Dr. Evans has been gathering data from astronomers and observatories all over the world in order to revise the catalog.

Chase Gets Fall Leave

Dr. James S. Chase, assistant professor of political history, will be on leave during the fall semester to prepare a manuscript on American presidential nominating conventions before 1865.

Political history in the Nineteenth and Twentieth Century is Dr. Chase's specialty.

Reception to Be Held

The University Law Wives Club will hold a summer bridge reception Thursday at 7:15 p.m. in the Crystal Ballroom of the Driskill Hotel.

This is a get-acquainted bridge party and the wives of new law students will be guests of honor.

A discussion of the committee activities by the respective chairmen will be held preceding the bridge games.

'River Kwai' to Show

"The Bridge on the River Kwai" will be presented by the Open-Air Theater at 8 p.m. Tuesday. The Academy Award winning movie stars Alec Guinness, William Holden, Jack Hawkins, and Sessue Hayakawa.

Admission is free to season ticket holders, 25 cents for adults, and 10 cents for children.

Nursing Award Given

Andrea Lee Gray, sophomore nursing student at the University, was awarded the Rosa M. Pietsch Scholarship June 15. This award is presented to a sophomore or junior with the most outstanding performance in nursing courses.

The award, given by the University Medical Branch Hospital Auxiliary, was awarded at the School of Nursing's annual Honors and Awards Convocation in Galveston.

Grievance Committee

Interviews for the summer Grievance Committee will be held from 11:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in Union Building 321.

Positions as subcommittee chairmen and committee members are open.

Summer Jobs Available

The Austin Parks and Recreation Department, its summer program in full swing, needs applications from lifeguards for summer employment.

Although no vacancies exist now, the turn-over is very high, and new positions should open in the near future. Jobs will be available on a full-time and a part-time basis.

Applicants must hold the Senior Lifesaving Certificate. The Water Safety Instructor certificate is preferred.

Additional information may be obtained by calling GR 7-6511.

European Tour Delayed

About 50 University students set sail from Montreal Saturday for Europe, leaving behind one of their chaperons, Dr. Henry Bowman, professor of sociology.

Bowman had to delay his departure to recover from a recent operation. He plans to fly to London June 24 to meet the group.

The seven-week trip will include stops in Paris, Rome, Madrid, Berlin, and Copenhagen. Three of the students plan to continue their travels to Russia, Poland, and Czechoslovakia.

The tour, planned by Bohn's Traveler House and sponsored by the Texas Union, was delayed a day because of a dock strike in England.

Architect to Lecture

The summer program at the University YMCA, now in its second week, will present Prof. Hugo Leipziger-Pearce, professor of architecture and planning, who will approach "Man and the Modern City" from an architect's viewpoint, Wednesday at noon.

Buffet luncheon will be offered at a nominal cost at 12:30 p.m. The program will begin at 1 p.m.

TV Institute Under Way

Thirty school supervisors are attending a nine-week television institute at the University. The institute, which began June 13, features seminars on various television activities from production to photography and computer technology.

Craft Workshop Open

Facilities for ceramics, woodworking, painting, sculpturing, photography, and related crafts are available to students, faculty, and staff in the Union Arts and Crafts Center in Union Building 333. The center is open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday thru Friday, and Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

During the summer no formal classes will be conducted but informal concentrated work sessions will be offered as follows: woodworking at 3 p.m. Monday; ceramics at 3 p.m. Tuesday; mosaics at 3 p.m. Wednesday; picture framing at 3 p.m. Thursday; and copper or silver smithing and enameling at 3 p.m. Friday.

AC Hours Rescheduled

The undergraduate library is operating under a new schedule for the summer. The first floor opens at 7 a.m. with all floors open at 8 a.m., closing at 11 p.m. Monday - Friday. Saturday all floors open at 8 a.m. and close at 5 p.m. All floors of the library open at 2 p.m. and close at 11 p.m. on Sunday.

AFB Undergoes Switch

The transfer of Bergstrom Air Force Base from the Strategic Air Command to the Tactical Air Command is scheduled for July 1. The move originally was planned for Jan. 1, 1967.

The two major Air Force commands agreed on the earlier date in order to ease the phase in of TAC's seventy-fifth Tactical Reconnaissance Wing.

Fifty-four RF-4C "Phantom II" jet reconnaissance aircraft will replace older B-52 bombers now stationed at Bergstrom.

With the July transfer, TAC will acquire six SAC support units at the base. They are the 340th Combat Support Group, 859th Medical Group, and 340th Civil Engineering Services, Transportation, and Supply Squadrons.

Alumni Project Aids Libraries

More than 1,500 books published by the University of Texas Press have become the property in recent months of about 25 school and public libraries, thanks to a project of the Ex-Students' Association.

Through its "Books for Texas Libraries" program, the alumni organization has encouraged ex-students and other public-spirited citizens to purchase, at reduced rates, sets of University Press books for presentation to libraries.

Sets of at least 50 books each have gone to places as widely separated as a high school at Maryneal, a public library in Palacios, the New Mexico Boys Ranch, and the National University of Mexico.

Each book in a set carries an appropriately designed book plate, inscribed in accordance with the donor's wishes. Books may be purchased as a memorial tribute or to give recognition to persons who have rendered outstanding business, civic, or public service.

A booklet describing "Books for Texas Libraries" may be obtained from the Ex-Students' Association.

Forms Available For Scholarships

Applications for Marshall Scholarships for 1967-69, which provide for graduate study in Great Britain will be accepted until Oct. 22. The British government has established 24 Marshall Scholarships, offered annually to American scholars.

Candidates are asked to indicate their choices of places of study on the application form, and when possible these will be considered. The British government is looking for students of high intellect and character shown by both their scholastic attainments and their activities and achievements.

Students may contact Dr. James R. Roach, director of special programs for the College of Arts and Sciences, West Mall Office Building 101A.

Students Attend Language Program

A group of 21 award-winning students, from both in and out-of-state, are studying Portuguese this summer and having their bills paid for by the government.

Dr. Fred P. Ellison, director of the program, said that Portuguese is one of the "so-called critical languages." It is one of the 10-most widely spoken languages in the world and not many Americans are fluent in it, he said. The government is taking an interest because of the proximity of Brazil, whose native language is Portuguese, to the United States.

The nine-week program "is designed to take advantage of summer free time for intensive language learning, stated Dr. Ellison. The students attend classes six hours a day.

Instructor Frederick Hensey is in charge of the four-hour morning session which consists of conversation, analysis of Portuguese, reading, and writing. Working with him are other teaching assistants, some of whom are from Brazil.

Brazilian culture is taught in the two-hour afternoon session by Joel Pontes, visiting Professor of Romance Languages. Associate Professor Brian Head will return from Portugal about July 6 to teach practical phonetics.

Students have access to the State Library, which contains some 275,000 books and pamphlets, more than 3,500,000 manuscripts, transcripts, and files of early Texas newspapers; and to the Supreme Court Library, 50,000 volumes.

All cases of scholastic dishonesty must be reported to the Student Life Office by the instructor in whose class the breach of ethics occurs and all cases reported must be brought before the Faculty Committee on Discipline.

A student who gives the University a bad check, the fault not being that of the bank, and who does not make it good within five days after official notification by the Auditor's office will be dropped from the University.

According to the 1964-65 General Information catalogue, the Mirabeau B. Lamar Library contains in all 1,578,490 books, bound periodicals, newspapers, and pamphlets; 5,527,676 original documents, 56,377 photo-printed documents, and 1,378,590 pages of transcribed documents.

Computer Chairman Named

Dr. Robert T. Gregory, professor of mathematics and senior research mathematician in the Computation Center, has been named acting chairman of the University's new Department of Computational Sciences.

Authorized a year ago, the department will offer courses leading to a master's degree. An application for work through the doctorate level is pending before the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System.

Dr. Gregory said no program leading to the bachelor's degree is planned, but that seven undergraduate courses will be offered this fall to "back up" the seventeen courses offered to the graduate students. Several courses in computer programming and numerical analysis will be listed jointly in the Mathematics and Computer Sciences Departments.

Graduate students in computer sciences, Dr. Gregory explained, "would normally be expected to have a bachelor's degree in a related discipline such as mathematics, physics, linguistics, psychology, or electrical engineering."

Nine university faculty members have been assigned to the department. They are Dr. Gregory, Dr. W. W. Bledsoe, Dr. David M. Young, Dr. Robert E. Lynch, Dr. C. L. Coates, Dr. A. G. Dale, Dr. John C. Loehlin, Dr. Norman Martin, and Dr. Lawrence L. Schkade. Dr. T. W.

Pratt of Michigan State University also will join the faculty.

Before joining the University faculty in 1959, Dr. Gregory taught at Florida State University and the University of California. A specialist in numerical analysis, Dr. Gregory has conducted extensive research on interplanetary flight trajectories.

The University has the biggest center of computational linguistics in the country. Word scientists are trying to refine the process of computer translation of foreign languages.

Sen. Yarborough Senator Speaks To US Veterans

Senator Ralph Yarborough told the state convention of Disabled American Veterans here Saturday that they have made more than their share "of sacrifices necessary to the preservation of our free society."

"You deserve the respect, the love, and esteem of a greatful nation," he said.

The senator also assured the group that he would continue to work on their behalf even though he is giving up the chairmanship of the veterans subcommittee, a post he has held for seven years.

Yarborough, who will remain ranking majority member, said that he would serve as the new chairman's "strong right arm for veteran's legislation."

His new assignment is with the Senate Labor Subcommittee, which he will head.

In summing up the work of the veteran's subcommittee, Yarborough picked the newly passed Cold War GI Bill as one of its major accomplishments. He called it "the single most important piece of veteran's legislation in the last 20 years."

Quoting the late John F. Kennedy, Yarborough said, "In the long history of the world, only a few generations have been granted the role of defending freedom in the hour of maximum danger. I do not believe that any of us would exchange places with any other people or any other generation."

The veterans group ended its three day convention Sunday.

UT, A&M Sponsor Special Program

More than 225 high school technical and trade teachers are enrolled in a six-week session of courses in industrial education at the University.

The program is sponsored jointly by the University's Industrial and Business Training Bureau and Texas A&M University.

Those attending are fulfilling requirements for industrial training teacher certificates. Among certification requirements are extensive experience in the trade a person wishes to teach and attendance at two summer sessions within three years.

Arthur J. Edwards, assistant director of the University's IBTB Industrial Education Department, is in charge of the summer program. He partially attributes recent increase in interest to the Vocational Act of 1963. This act allows greater federal assistance to high school industrial training programs. The act also has enabled the Texas Education Agency to allocate funds to public schools for new and better equipment.

ACT Shows Australian Conflict

By JULIA HOWELL
Texan Amusements Editor

Confined for three acts to a small, drab room, costumed in the lengthy, oldish fashion of the thirties, and speaking in off-again, on-again Australian accents, the cast of the Austin Civic Theatre opened "The Summer of the 17th Doll" Friday night.

Written by relatively unknown Ray Lawler, the play is set in Australia. It tells of two cancutters, Barney and Roo, who for the past 16 years have been spending their summer layoffs with two barmaids in a small city. Each time Roo brings Olive, his girlfriend, a cupie doll to symbolize their relationship.

This 17th summer, however, attempts to be different by bringing to a climax all the facets of the rather unrealistic relationships of the people involved.

The first act, from the script alone, would be enough to hamper any production group. It moves slowly and is somewhat repetitious in word and action.

Director Ken Johnson apparently tried to solve this problem by fast pacing which resulted in a lack of convincingness in portraying the various roles. The actors seemed, at first, only to run through their lines while becoming ing accustomed to their Australian accents. At the same time, they caused the audience a great deal of difficulty in understanding the play's exposition.

Relaxation came, however, in the last two acts where the acting began to show depth of characterization and good timing. Erin Coffey, as Olive, adapted herself quite well to an Australian nationality and a barmaid's shrill gaiety. She also showed herself capable of deep emotion at the proper moments.

Male leads Jerry Barber and Randall Garrett were perfectly cast, in appearance, for their parts as a tough laborer, Roo, and Barney, the jovial Cassanova. Action, not acting, seemed to be their speciality as they proved in their one fight scene where they successfully wrecked each other and most of the set.

Sande Miller, University radio-TV and drama major, provided a needed touch of pretty sweetness-and-light in her part as an 18-year-old neighbor who becomes involved in the situation. Although having trouble with her accent, she played the meeting of two strangers who are about to fall in love with just the right degree of flirtiness and shyness.

Such performances give every reason to assume that the play will improve as the run continues—that the accents will become clearer and the first scene more audible.

The show will run weekends through July at the Austin Civic Theatre Playhouse, 204 East Fifth St. Reservations may be made through the Playhouse box office, GR 6-0541.

Ed Wynn Dies Sunday at 79

Ed Wynn, the "perfect fool" of show business, died Sunday, ending a 64-year career that earned him high success in vaudeville, on the stage, and in movies, radio, and television. He was 79.

The comedian had been in poor health since he underwent surgery six months ago for removal of a tumor from his neck. The tumor was found to be malignant, but it was not determined immediately if it caused his death.

Wynn's giggly high-pitched voice, mad costumes and nonsensical manner brought him fame as a vaudevillian and later as a star on Broadway.

He performed in silent movies and was one of the first great stars of radio as "The Fire Chief." He also starred in the early days of television.

As a dramatic actor in more recent films, he was nominated for an Academy Award for his performance as the dentist in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

Among his other films were "Mary Poppins," "The Shaggy Dog," "Dear Brigitte," "Those Crazy Callaways," and "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

Radio-TV Highlights

KUT-FM radio highlights for Tuesday include the presentation of "Matinees Musicales," at 2 p.m. and "Profile: Italy," at 4:45 p.m. A 10-minute program, "Dimension '66," will be heard at 10:20 p.m.

Programming on the University station Wednesday, June 22, will feature "BBC Science Magazine," at 1 p.m.; "Belgian Press Review," at 4 p.m.; and "Profile: Australia," at 4:45 p.m.

The Thursday, June 23, schedule will include Walter James Miller and "Jules Verne in a New Translation," on the program, "The Readers' Almanac," at 1 p.m. "Reading Aloud with Bill Cavness," will be broadcast at 1:30 p.m. The 6 p.m. feature will be "Student Cavalcade."

Programs on "American Civilization," the "Great Plains," and "Frontiers of Science," are afternoon features Tuesday on KRLN-TV.

The series on "American Civilization" is at 2 p.m., followed by the "Great Plains" at 2:30 p.m., and "Frontiers of Science" at 3:30 p.m.

"Science Reporter" will feature a "Landing on the Moon" and what work will make it a reality on Tuesday at 7 p.m. A full-sized mockup of the Lunar Excursion Module and its navigation will be featured.

"Men and Ideas" will present Sir Hugh Casson, British architect on Wednesday at 7 p.m. Sir Hugh will talk about the many facets of his work, which include designing everything from palaces to stage sets for plays.

On Thursday at 9:30 p.m. "USA: The Opposition Theatre" will present two film clips of the most successful plays given by The Living Theatre in New York—"The Brig," and "The Connection."

Japanese Movie To Show at Union

"Fires on the Plain," a Japanese film denouncing the horrors of war, will be shown Wednesday at the Union.

Following the last showing at 8:30 p.m., Dr. Joseph Slate, associate professor of English, will lead an informal discussion on the movie in the Star Room.

Directed by Kon Ichikawa, "Fires" will show at 3, 4:50, 6:40, and 8:30 p.m. Admission is 35 cents for students and 50 cents for non-students.

Julliard Offers New Scholarship

A five state regional piano audition will be held in Dallas on September 8 and 9 for a scholarship at Julliard School of Music for the coming year.

Application blanks listing requirements for the Southwest audition may be obtained by writing to Mrs. Betty Lief Sims, 6430 Prestonshire Lane, Dallas, Texas 75225.

Plans Readied for New Conference Center
... completion of $1-million center hoped for by 1968.

Plans Received For New Center

The final architectural plans for the $1 million Joe C. Thompson Conference Center at the University have been received by the University.

Chairman W. W. Heath of the University Board of Regents announced that the plans for the new structure were received from Associate Architects J. Herschel Fisher and Pat Y. Spillman of Dallas.

The Conference Center will be named in honor of Joe C. Thompson, late board chairman of the Southland Corporation and former member of the University's Board of Regents and Development Board. He died in 1961.

The three-level, brick, stone, and glass structure, covering an estimated 50,000 square feet of floor space, will be located between the Law School and the Texas Memorial Museum on a site overlooking the east side of the main campus.

Union Plans 'Melon Feast'

Everything from a watermelon feast to a discussion on Viet Nam is in store for University students this week in the Union Building.

A watermelon feast and summer follies will be presented on the patio between the Union and Academic Center Tuesday. The summer follies is a revue of outstanding talent among University students. Watermelon will be served at 7 p.m., and the show will start at 7:30 p.m.

Student-faculty receptions are planned for the School of Communication and College of Education on Wednesday and Thursday respectively. Both receptions will be from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. in the Star Room.

Dr. Frances Fuller, associate professor of educational psychology, will review "Games People Play," by Dr. Eric Berne, at 4 p.m., Room 202.

This week's sandwich seminar will be conducted by Dr. James Roach, professor of government, who will discuss "Viet Nam This Week." The seminar will be held at noon Thursday in the Junior Ballroom.

Teachers Open 6-Week Institute

The Institute for Advanced Study in Arts and Humanities opened Monday at the University, and will continue through July 29.

Thirty teachers and supervisors of music programs in secondary schools are participating in the institute, which is emphasizing improvement of music teaching through the development of a "humanistic approach." The program will include a study of the literary and artistic conditions of certain periods of history. Political, sociological, and philosophical effects on the development of music are also being discussed.

Mrs. Barbara Rogers, assistant professor of music education, is the institute's director, assisted by Charles Brookhart, associate professor of music.

This event, sponsored by the Department of Music, has a faculty composed of Donald Carne-Ross, professor of comparative literature; George Everett, assistant professor of art; Dr. John Satterfield, Florida Presbyterian musicologist; and Dr. Gordon Epperson, Ohio State University music professor, philosopher, and historian.

Science Professor Challenges Supervisors to Distribute Time

A University science professor, charging that "we are more and more becoming a nation of spies on each other," challenged a national "conference of state science supervisors Tuesday to "spend most of your time in a different role" in order to exert more leadership.

Dr. Addison E. Lee, professor of science education and biology, and director of UT's Science Education Center, discussed state leadership in science at the conference attended by science supervisors from throughout the United States and its territories.

Dr. Lee issued seven challenges to the state supervisors which he considers important if they are to exert leadership in science education:

He challenged the supervisors to:

- "Continue the administration of programs provided for under the various federal and state agencies.

- "Identify problems and services where you can offer the greatest contribution in your state . . .

- "Continue or develop counseling and administrative services for in-service training programs at the local and state level.

- "Re-examine the role in educational research at the state level.

- "Continue cooperation with colleges, universities, and other institutions in your state in the development of in-service training programs and others, including the possibility of joint research programs.

- "Continue cooperation with various state and national professional organizations such as the National Science Teachers Association, the National Association of Biology Teachers, the various state science teachers' organizations, and the various state academies of science.

- "Try to keep as up to date as possible in areas of legislation, educational research, changes in the society in which we live, and in science itself."

Orientation Aides Asked

The members of the International Club are presently accepting applications for the 1966-67 Buddy Program, a project in which American students attempt to orient international students to the University. Several social activities are planned for the buddies in the coming year.
