LONGHORNS DOWN TRINITY IN RAGGED GAME BY SCORE 13-9

LOOSE PLAYING IS FEATURE OF MONDAY'S CONTEST

Score of 13 to 9 Is Final Outcome of Unusual Game

STOOKIE ALLEN STARTS

Dewey Smalley Leads Hitting With Average of 1.000 for the Day

By Victor Emanuel

Texas University won their fifth straight game yesterday defeating Trinity 13-9.

The score indicates a slugging duel; the score indicates wrongly for it was not a slugging duel in any sense of the word; it was a game in which each team seemingly vied with the other to play the raggedest, the loosest, and in doing so they furnished amusement for the less than a thousand fans who saw the game. The stands were on their feet during nearly half of the game, cheering the Longhorns to victory and laughing at the weird plays of both teams.

Allen Twirls

Coach Ditch's choice for mound duty was Senor "Stookie" Allen, skyscraper of the Longhorn nine. Yesterday was one of Stookie's bad days. He was wild, easy to hit in pinches and the wind seemed to conspire against him. The two innings he was in were too many for him, and when they had passed Coach Ditch sent in Jack King as relief.

King Goes in as Relief

To Jack King, sent in as relief hurler for Stookie, goes most of the little praise that the Longhorns deserve for winning. At the beginning of the season he was conceded only an outside chance of lettering with the Shorthorns, but yesterday he relieved Stookie and after allowing three runs due mainly to nervousness he settled down and held the slugging Tigers to one run and three hits in the last six stanzas. He collected three bingles for himself and otherwise made himself useful toward giving the Longhorns victory.

Wicked Good for Five Frames

Otis Wicker, ace of the Tiger staff and generally a dependable hurler, started for Trinity and held the Longhorns at bay during the first five innings. In the sixth he ascended to the skies and with him went the Trinity infield. Coach Robertson generously allowed him to finish the stanza and also hurl one-third of the next; when he was waved from the box, the Longhorns led 11-9 with the final two runs on second and third. The bleacherites wondered whether H. Allen, who relieved Wicker was an outfielder or a third baseman, but he managed to get by the inning and two-thirds without permitting runs except the pair left on the sacks by Wicker. The Trinity infield never came down from the clouds and it was the wonderful work of their gardeners that held the Steers to thirteen runs.

Borders Starts Hitting

Borders, leading off for Trinity in the first, bounced one of Allen's fast ones over the fence. Hits by Pettit and Price, and an error by Leissner gave the Tigers another before the fray was over. Three more came over in the second on a walk to Wicker, singles by Newton and Borders and a triple by Pettit. Another trio came over in the third stanza on three hits, a fielders choice and an error. Their last run came on a homer by Newton in the fifth.

H. M. JONES AWARDED PRIZE FOR BEST PLAY

H. M. JONES

Howard Mumford Jones, head of the Department of Comparative Literature, winner of the Green Mask Players prize, and author, in addition, of verse and short stories. Mr. Jones has recently been granted a leave of absence for a year during which he intends to work on Medieval Latin poetry, which will probably count toward his doctor's degree.

"The Case of Professor Banoring" Selected by Green Mask Players

Howard Mumford Jones, associate professor of comparative literature in the University, has been awarded the prize of $250 offered by the Green Mask Players of Houston for the best three-act play to be written by a Texan. The winning play is entitled "The Case of Professor Banoring."

Banoring is a University professor of sociology who writes a book which is a treatise on the "Unfortunate Girl." Because of the contents of his book, he gets into trouble with the board of regents. At about this same time he discovers that his own daughter is one of those "unfortunate girls." He attempts to trace his faulty logic, and only ends by coming the typical belligerent and protecting male as a conclusion.

It is a problem play with a great deal of local color and atmosphere in its setting. The play becomes the property of the Green Mask Players automatically on the awarding of the prize and will be produced by them some time in the future.

Sunday Club Adopts Resolution Against Publication of Buss

At a regular meeting of the Students' Sunday Club, held at 6 o'clock, March 30, the members unanimously adopted a resolution offered by Merne Sharpley, condemning the publication of a Blunderbuss, and calling on all campus religious organizations to unite in condemning and opposing it.

It will be recalled that last year when the question of teaching evolution in the University was being discussed before the Legislature, the Sunday Club took the lead on the campus by drawing up a resolution affirming its faith in both God and evolution.

Freshman Meeting to Be Held on April 7

A call meeting of the freshman class was issued Monday night by the president, Larry Craddock, for April at the YMCA at 7 o'clock. The meeting called for last night was postponed on account of the band concert at the Junior High School. The election of spring term officers will take place at this meeting. Plans for a spring term dance will be discussed.

DEBATING TEAMS WILL BEGIN WORK FRIDAY, APRIL 4

Three Debates Will Be Held in Austin During Meets

TO MEET SIX TEAMS

"League of Nations" and "Judicial Review" Are Subjects of Debates

University debates will open Friday, April 4, when Arkansas, taking the negative, will meet Texas at Austin, and when Texas, taking the negative, will meet Oklahoma in Norman, Okla. The subject of the first two debates is the "League of Nations." The Texas team speaking in Austin is composed of Edward Mather and Lawton Gambill; the one in Norman, of Ed Gossett and Joyce Cox.

On April 11, Texas and Mississippi will debate on "Judicial Review" at Austin. James Hart and James Hamilton are on the Texas team, and will take the affirmative side of the question.

Texas will meet Tulane at New Orleans on April 21 when Campbell Beard and Otis Rogers will take the negative on "Judicial Review."

James Hart and James Hamilton will take the affirmative of "Judicial Review" for the second time when they meet the Vanderbilt team at Austin on April 22.

California and Texas will meet on April 26 in Los Angeles. James Hart and James Hamilton will take the negative side of "Judicial Review."

MUMPS REPORT EXAGGERATED GODDARD SAYS

Contrary to the report circulated a few days ago that numerous eds and co-eds were suffering from the mumps, cases are few and far between, Dr. C. W. Goddard of the health department said Monday. At no time has there been more than six ill at the same time. During the past two months the total number of students having the mumps has amounted to about twenty. Cases have not been serious and seem now to be decreasing rather than increasing.

If you are not eager to feel the pain of a mumpy jaw, keep away from those who are so afflicted. That is the safest way, according to Dr. Goddard. No one who has experienced the disease is likely to have it again, no matter how much he wishes an excuse for a week's absence from classes.

No Libel in Blunderbuss

Texan Literary Critic Gives Sheet the Razz

"Tame, but Money-Maker"

BY MERNE L. SHARPLEY

The Blunderbuss will be out this morning unless Austin peace officers stop the sale. About 10:30 a voice over the phone informed the staff at The Texan shack that five dollars placed under a certain brick near the back door of the Education Building would turn into ten copies of the Blunderbuss before midnight. For the good of the University, the five spot was dug out; the advance copy fell into our hands.

Printed on yellow paper in the proverbial size, the sheet is headed with the caption, "Our Policy May Be—Gets Barked. More Bricks, Adolphus." All in all, the paper is likely to prove a disappointment to those who read placards declaring that it was going to be "Hot as the Hinges of Hell." The issue is decidedly tame. Rumors that the editors consulted with a lawyer and effected the removal of all libelous material before going to press are almost confirmed by the mild character of the Bustle.

Rather Tame!

The warning of the editors, stuck in a box to the right of page one is certainly applicable to the paper. It reads: "Oon't get' sore if we beaned you, but hand over your dinero like a sport." Well, we did get beaned on the sale, weadmit.

The 1924 Blunderbuss is distinctly not libelous. It is humorous and a trifle spirited in spots—occasionally one finds bits of wit—but the number of hits at prominent University students is slight. The Bustle is fully sixty per cent advertisements. At this rate, the publishers of the saffron sheet ought to have made much profit.

A report has been going round that the paper has been edited and published by an ex-student of the University. Evidently, whoever is responsible knows little or nothing about a newspaper. The typography is poor, the make-up worse, and the scandals tintured. If an ex-student, the editor must have been an extremely old timer, as the reference to Miss Aden in connection with the Woman's Gymnasium is somewhat archaic.

Not Dangerous!

Facing the law of the Students Assembly and the edict of the Board of Regents as well as the libel laws of the state of Texas, circulators and editors did not need much nerve to publish the Bustle, since it is utterly harmless. Its teeth were evidently carefully extracted before printing—that is, if it ever had any.

Old-timers on the campus insisted last night that the paper was a rewrite of the Bustle of three years ago, with the new names and places inserted. Choose for yourself.

GIRLS IN DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL TRAINING WILL GIVE EXHIBITION

Formation of T by Eight Hundred Girls Will Open Performance

Eight hundred co-eds will open the exhibition given by the Women's Physical Training Department on April 3, when, singing "The Eyes of Texas," and waving orange handkerchiefs, they will march onto Clark Field and form a large T. Twelve hundred girls will participate in the exhibition which gives a review of the work done by that department.

To Give Dumbbell Drill

Following the grand march and the formation of the T, a dumbbell drill will be performed by 150 girls, dressed in dark bloomers and white middies. These girls are members of the advanced physical education classes.

Sport Classes to Participate

The sport classes will show the on-lookers how to play, when they come on the field, in playing both the highly and the lowly organized games. Twelve picked players, with six to a team, will have a game of volley ball. Then circle relay, jump rope, candle relay, close relay, kick-over-ball and dodge ball will be played.

Archery and Rifle demonstration in which bow and arrows and rifles and blank cartridges will be used is also scheduled on the program.

Gym Team to Perform

The gymnasium team will start with special marching and tactics and front line formation. The wand drill, the wands being covered with orange ribbons, will be given; the Sailors' Hornpipe, with the girls wearing sailor hats, will follow. This section of the program will be performed by Education 99, the normal class in physical education.

To Build Pyramids

Probably one of the most beautiful features will be the building of the pyramid by two teams. First, two pyramids will be formed with Katie Rae Hall and Evelyn Abshear leading. Then four will be formed. The last will be built by both teams into one large pyramid.

Fish Are Active

The freshman classes will give a mimetic drill in which twelve parts will be acted: advancing forward and clapping, archery, swimming, diving, bowling, baseball, lunging and side bending, shot put, seesaw, prone falling, and breathing.

Dutch Dance Climax

The last number will be given by the dancing class. From a windmill in the background will emerge Dutch boys and Dutch girls who will give a Dutch Dance. The boys will wear yellow bloomers, white waists, and black coats; the girls, blue skirts and white waists.

Following the exhibition work, regular spring term work will begin. The girls will report during the latter part of the week and sign up for their courses.

HORNSBY DECLARES SUPPRESSION MAY NOT BE NECESSARY

Action in Regard to Yellow Sheet Will Depend on Contents

ROGERS ENTIRELY READY

Chief of Police Will Act on Advice From University Officials

"I've got a pretty good idea who edited the 1924 Blunderbuss," stated Judge John W. Hornsby, county attorney, last night. "I'd be glad to read a decent, humorous Bustle; but they can't get away with anything like they tried last year."

"If the editors stay within the law, I won't touch them. But they can surely count on being prosecuted if they pull any stuff like that in the 1923 Bustle, or like the one four years ago—when the editors pleaded guilty to criminal libel," Hornsby said before the appearance of the Bustle.

Bustle to Appear

The Blunderbuss will be on the streets early this morning, according to the promise of large red-inked placards, couched in glaring language, which were posted in prominent places around the campus Sunday morning. Eleven by fourteen in size, these posters made reference to the portals of Inferno and indulges in alluring talk of all the scandal which has thrown so much glamour around Busses and Bustles of the past.

"Coming out at great expense," was one striking phrase. It is rumored that the price of this sheet will run as high as 25 cents.

Defies Authority

Flying in the face of all authority, the editors of the Blunderbuss are evidently prepared to brave all dangers to get the sheet out. Edicts of the Board of Regents, orders of the acting president of the University, laws of the Students' Assembly, wishes of the faculty, condemnation of the dean of students, and resolutions by the Publications' Board and by the Students' Sunday Club—all are being flouted.

The Travis County grand jury, recently adjourned, examined three witnesses regarding the publication of a 1924 Blunderbuss of a libelous character, and cautioned the individuals questioned to keep clear of the enterprise.

"As usual," stated John H. Rogers, chief of the Austin police, "the police department will do everything within its power to detect any parties guilty of circulating a Blunderbuss of an illegal character."

"In my opinion, the chief difficulty lies with the University students themselves. It is plain enough that, as long as they expect Blunderbusses on April 1, pray for them to come, buy them when they come, enjoy reading them, and then look for another the following year—under these conditions it is certain that Austin will always be annoyed by its annual publication."

Psychology Classes Visit Insane Asylum

Members of the classes in abnormal psychology paid their annual visit to the Texas State Insane Asylum, for the purpose of studying the various types of mental affliction represented there. The patients were brought in before the class and permitted to talk for a few minutes, which most of them did willingly, and their audience learned more about their peculiarities through this method of investigation than they could through any other possible method.

BIBLE THOUGHT —FOR TODAY—

Bible Thoughts memorized, will prove a priceless heritage.

Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty; for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all.—1 Chronicles 29:11.

ELECTION TANGLES

While there have been no announcements of candidates to date, and although it is still a little early for the annual opening of the spring political tournament, candidates for several student offices are already warming up, and from all indications the annual deluge of politics and politicians is soon to arrive. Under such conditions it is time to consider some of the little unpleasanties of previous campaigns.

Two of the most unsatisfactory things of past student campaigns have been protests, early and eleventh-hour, of the eligibility of candidates, and suspicion and confusion in the recount of votes. Such eligibility rules as we have, and in some cases they are many and diverse, should be strictly enforced by student officials. It is unfair and unjust that a candidate seeking office should be compelled to protest some point in an opponent's eligibility.
More than often it reacts against the person making the protest, regardless of the fact that the protest may be perfectly justified. This in the past has even led to the so-called "waiving" of eligibility by candidates, which course was preferred to the filing of a protest.

That recounts in the past have been carried on in confusion is perhaps more the fault of the parties interested than of the student officials. This confusion, however, and often promiscuous handling of ballots has resulted in no little dissatisfaction and unpleasantness. Candidates interested in recounts usually request, and are entitled to a representative at the checking of the ballots.
These representatives, however, should be officially named and instructed, and the hundreds of by-standers who usually flock to the counting rooms should be kept back at least far enough to give the counters a little fresh air.

Without hoping that its advice will be considered little more than presumptuous, The Texan, in view of past campaigns, suggests the following:
That candidates file their petitions as early as possible, and make themselves thoroughly familiar with the rules which govern the elections.

That candidates study carefully the general rules of eligibility, and the specific rules which apply to the particular office which they seek.
That student officials act as promptly as possible in passing upon eligibility, and that they eliminate as far as possible the necessity of a candidate protesting the eligibility of an opponent.

Student election officials this year, as in the past, will doubtless do everything possible to see that student offices are filled in a legal manner, and that rules are enforced, regardless of prejudice or personal preference. But their tasks is a thankless one, and quite an unpleasant one. They deserve, and should receive, the hearty co-operation of every candidate, every active campaigner for a candidate, and every student.

THE TEXAN'S RULES

Following out is own advice on eliminating election difficulties. The Texan gives below the rules which it shall follow in the handling of student announcements. These rules are no different from those which The Texan has followed in the past. They are reprinted at this time, several weeks before election day, in order that all may be duly, lawfully, specifically warned of what to expect.
The regulations follow:

1. Announcements shall be printed in the order of their receipt by the editor of The Texan.

2. The Texan reserves the right to print an announcement at such a time as best suits the mechanical and editorial convenience of the paper, but it shall follow the wishes of the candidate so far as possible.
(In other words, if more announcements are turned in one day than can be printed the following day, The Texan shall print those announcements for which it has space, and hold the remainder for subsequent publication. Priority shall govern the announcements held.)

3. All announcements must be approved by the editor of The Texan, but will be printed as written in so far as they conform to The Texan's rules of style.

4. The many announcements which it is necessary to print makes it impossible for The Texan to carry articles of more than 250 words in length.

5. Any candidate may have his or her picture printed with the announcement, provided a proper cut is provided by the candidate. All cuts become the property of The Texan after appearing with an announcement.

6. All announcements must be turned in by midnight on the day following the last day for filing petitions. (That is, must be received by The Texan nine days before election day.)

Opinions of Others

THE STUDENT VIEWPOINT.

The undue amount of criticism that has been heaped upon the present generation of college undergraduates by alumni and non-college men must necessarily produce resentment among the undergraduates themselves. Especially does this resentment become noticeable when the faculty of an institution seem to lose contact when the trend of student thought and line up with the criticisms of the modern age. The criticism is prolific but the actual help in bettering conditions is not forthcoming. It is encouraging then to have a widely known man, a graduate of several years ago, set forth the student viewpoint in a sympathetic way.

BILLY STIFF

The following is quoted from an article by Prof. Harry K. Wellman in the Dartmouth Alumni magazine. In discussing student problems and thought, Professor Wellman has this to say on the influence of the faculty at Dartmouth.

"Finally, the greatest impetus to all undergraduate thinking has come from men. Outstanding men in the faculty who make the interests of the men their interests. Men who 'have time' to talk to undergraduates outside of the class room. Men who mean something on the campus and in the world at large. These men have developed and are daily developing undergraduate thinking.

"These men are not 'gods' to the undergraduate. They are human, understandable friends. In fact, some of the leaders become in effect, 'The College' as far as the particular student is concerned. This is as it should be. As an alumnus, I am proud of our present undergraduates.
They have passed through a very trying period of our national development. They are normal, sane, and inquisitive. Their accomplishments will be greater than our accomplishments because their opportunities are greater. Again as an alumnus, it is gratifying indeed to watch the development of real leadership in faculty and administration and to find the undergraduates worthy of this effort."

The remainder of Professor Wellman's article gives some interesting light on student thought and action and the solution of student difficulties at Dartmouth by an appeal to students themselves, all of which would make good reading for both the undergraduates and the faculty of Michigan. According to the author, however, most of the good results achieved in building up the right attitude on moral questions at Dartmouth were brought about by the sympathetic and friendly attitude of the faculty, which he praises in the portion of the article quoted above.

Ideals Stressed by Buehrer at Vesper Service

"Never tear away from ideals first set up," said Rev. E. T. Buehrer, student pastor at the University Methodist church, at YWCA vespers held Monday afternoon in the Girls' Study Hall in the Main Building. Using the story of Solomon as an illustration of his point, the speaker continued by saying that Solomon lost his idealism through vanity and success. Rev. Buehrer concluded with a request for the students to raise and hold high the morals of the University life.

Devotionals were led by Elizabeth Tucker, newly elected president of the YWCA, who was installed at the Vespers last Monday. The special music for the Vespers was a piano solo by Ruth Penick.

THEATER ROW

BY E. LEE WYSONG

Majestic: Rex Ingram's "Scaramouche."

Queen: Colleen Moore in "Painted People."

Hancock: J. Warren Kerrigan in "The Man From Brodney's."

Crescent: Anna Q. Nilsson in "Innocence."

Texas: "Captain Fly by Night."

Majestic Features Rex Ingram Picture

A boon for the movies is "Scaramouche," the big Rex Ingram production for Metro, which opened last night at the Majestic Theater.

This film, which is a screen version of Rafael Sabatini's popular novel of the French Revolution, is in our opinion, the greatest photograph yet made in the motion picture industry. Romance, adventure, thrills, beauty, every desirable feature in a picture, are here done in superb fashion.

The cast of 10,000 is headed by Alice Terry, Lewis Stone and Ramon Novarro, the triumvirate of Ingram's earlier film, "The Prisoner of Zenda," and they score an ever greater success.

Oriental Romance at Hancock

All the glitter of the Orient is brought to the screen in a remarkable story of romance, "The Man From Brodney's," which is being shown at the Hancock. Several hundred Mohammedans in native costume play an important part in the sequence of the film, which is an adventure story set on the Island of Japut, in the South Seas.

J. Warren Kerrigan plays the leading role.

Crescent Shows Anna Q. Nilsson

Anna Q. Nilsson is the featured player in "Innocence," one of the most gripping motion picture offerings ever seen here, which is now on view at the Crescent Theater.

Miss Nilsson plays the exacting role of a young wife who is convicted by circumstantial evidence, of being untrue to her husband.

She establishes her innocence by a clever ruse in which she involves the man who has tried to turn her husband against her.

Unusual Cast in "Painted People"

Ten "big names" in support of a star are offered at the Queen Theater, where Colleen Moore is appearing in "Painted People," and such favorites as Ben Lyon, Mary Alden, Mary Carr, Russell Simpson, Charlie Murray, Anna Q. Nilsson, June Elvidge, Sam De Grasse, "Bull" Montana, and Charlotte Merriam appear in the cast.

The First National production is from Richard Connell's magazine serial, and is regarded as the comedy-dramatic sensation of the season.

One of the most successful tours in the history of the University Glee Club has just been completed by that organization, according to officials of the club. The tour lasted nine days.

Both Manager Louie Dunbar and Director William Camp expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the reception accorded the club. John A. Lomax, secretary of the Ex-Students' Association, made the trip with the club and expressed himself as being elated with the success that greeted his efforts in organizing the ex-students in the cities visited.

The program rendered on this tour was the most elaborate ever attempted by the club, being composed largely of classic music, and was greeted by appreciative audiences throughout the tour, according to Director Camp.

The same program will be rendered at Junior High April 8, in the final appearance of the club this season.

INTRAMURAL COUNCIL MAY DROP BASEBALL FROM SPRING SPORTS

Lack of Playing Grounds May Eliminate De- partmental Contests

Baseball may be dropped from the spring calendar of intramural sports due to a lack of playing grounds, according to Harry E. Moore, student director of intramurals. A meeting of the intramural council has been called for this afternoon at which the question of abandoning the sport will be taken up, it was announced.

Though baseball is one of the most popular sports in the calendar and would probably bring out more students than any other, Moore said, it is probable that no leagues will be organized this spring, since no fields can be secured on which to play the games.

Heretofore most of the intramural games have been played on Breckenridge Field, but this ground is unavailable as it is torn up for the erection of Texas Memorial Stadium. Clark Field is being used daily by the Varsity squad and by the freshmen and shorthorn squads when the varsity team is out of town. The freshmen and shorthorns have been using Breckenridge Field, but have to depend on Clark Field for their practice now that the former field is unavailable. With three teams already forced to use one field here is little probability of still others getting to play on it, it was pointed out.

"We had hoped that the land acquisition board would have bought suitable grounds for us before the season got under way or that some arrangement could be made by which we would get the use of grounds, but there seems to be little hope of relief from this direction now," said Moore. "It is a shame to have to drop the national pastime from the sports calendar, but it seems that that is what we will have to do."

LAW COURSES ARE ANNOUNCED FOR SUMMER SESSION

Courses in the School of Law which will be offered for the summer sessions have been announced, according to Ira P. Hildebrand, professor of law.

During the first term, Professor Hallen will offer Labor law, a seven hour a week course. The text to be used is Sayres' "Cases on Labor Law." Professor Breckenridge will give a seven hour a week course in Trade Regulations. The text to be used is Oliphant's "Cases on Trade Regulations." Common Law Actions, in which Cook and Hinton's text book on "Cases on Actions at Common Law" will be used, will be offered by Professor McCormick. This course will be seven hours a week. Partnership, a seven hour a week course, will also be offered. The text to be used is Crane and McGruder's "Cases on Partnership."

Four law courses will be given during the second term of summer school. Insurance, seven hours a week, will be given by Professor Hallen. Vance's text on "Cases on Insurance" will be used. Professor McCormick will give Damages, seven hours a week. He will use Beale's "Cases on Damages." Oil and gas, seven hours a week, is to be offered. Green's text, "Cases on Oil and Gas" will be used. Professor Rhea will give Suretyship, seven hours a week. Students will use Ames' "Cases on Suretyship."

TEXAS WINS OVER TIGERS

the Longhorns in the first, when he was hit by pitcher, took second on Pratt's infield out, third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly. He scored again in the fourth, doubling, taking third on Pratt's out and scoring on a sacrifice. Pitcher King scored in the fifth. He got to second when Littlejohn dropped his fly and came around on a hit by Kibbie and an error by Manning.

Smalley singled to start the sixth round when eight runs were tallied. Passes to Pratt and Smith filled the bags. Leissner's Texas Leaguer scored Smalley and King's single counted Pratt. Wicker then passed Kibbie, forcing in Smith. Sperr's error, Carson's single, Smalley's sacrifice, a walk to Pratt, his second of the inning, and a timely bingle to left by Smith shoved over five more runs. In the seventh the Steers scored two more on hits by Kibbie, Odom, and Smalley, coupled with two passes. Pratt and Smith went out, ending the slaughter.

LONGHORN BAND RE-APPEARS TONIGHT

The Longhorn Band appeared last night at Junior High School in its first concert given this year for University students and Austin citizens. It provided the audience with a splendid program, which will be repeated tonight. The organization has just recently returned from an expensive tour through East Texas, where they furnished the larger towns with excellent entertainment.

BAND PLAYS PROGRAM

ceedingly well brought out. It was heartily received by the audience.

After the overture the concert proper began. The lights went out, and the curtain rose showing the band on the stage. Thoughts of the Sousa band were brought to the mind by the sure, swift playing of "The Conqueror March." Hurrying on, the band next took up the overture "1812," a selection full of varied musical movements. Though running from the stately ponderous to the light and delicate, the musical notation was never broken. It was well worth the long applause it received.

"A Song of India" from the legend of "Sadko" with its slow dreamy motion contrasted well with the sharp tone effect in the two previous pieces. It proved to be one of the most pleasing selections of the program. The soft, sweet tones upon which its beauty depends would at first glance seem beyond the ability of the band to render successfully, but even any orchestra playing the anything about her acting in "My Cross-eyed Daddy," and "Cave Man Kid," one has to dig up the old words "good" and "splendid," and use them over once more.

Jimmie's Joys came across with their usual "Hot Stuff," and the audience refused to let them go. The applause was long and loud. Their antics were really funny, and their music the very best. "The Eyes of Texas" closed the program.

Overture "Balle Egyptian" opened part two. It was followed quickly by the Varsity Premier Entertainers. The singing of "That Old Gang of Mine," by Dick Hittson in a clear, well-moderated voice, caught the fancy of the audience. The Varsity quartette, Silvey, Fulcher, Hittson, and Lee, was good. College Cuts-ups was a bit of clever acting, and the freshman, "Joe Ward," brought out a good laugh. The serenaders were forced to answer curtain calls.

Miss Dorothy DuMars in a piano solo left nothing to be desired. Her rendition was a combination of the virtues: Harmony, lightness, and control. As for attempting to say
