Rhodes Nominees To Appear Before Committee Today

Five University Students
Compete for Honors
At Houston

Two to Be Chosen

Selection of Candidates
Made by Series Of Eliminations

Five students who were nominated as candidates for the Rhodes Scholarship have gone to Houston to appear before the Rhodes Scholarship committee there. These five students are William R. Hofan, Ben Davis, Wilson Elkins, Edmund Quereau, and Irion Worsham.

From the five University of Texas students nominated by a committee composed of Dr. D. A. Penick, E. J. Mathews, and Dr. F. B. Marsh, and from the nominees of other Texas colleges and universities two Texas entries for the Rhodes Scholarship will be chosen Saturday by the State committee.

The selection of candidates is made by a series of eliminations through the leading universities; then by elimination through districts of the Rhodes Scholarship territory. The selections are made by committees composed of members of the faculties of the leading universities.

Four States in District
The two Texas candidates will compete with candidates from other states in the district for final selection. Four Rhodes Scholars are chosen from each of eight districts. The district including Texas is composed of Oklahoma, Louisiana, Alabama, and Arkansas.

Winners of the Rhodes Scholarship spend two years at Oxford studying any subject they choose. Selection of candidates is based on scholastic attainment, literary ability, interest in outdoor sports, and such evidences of character as manhood, courage, truth, and duty.

The winners from Texas colleges and universities will appear before the district committee meeting some time after December 10 for the final selection.

Since S. R. Ashby first won the award 20 years ago numerous University of Texas students have survived the repeated cullings to receive the Rhodes Scholarships. Bob Eikel, graduate student, won the award two years ago and is now studying at Oxford.

Imposing Records
Present University of Texas applicants have imposing records. Irion Worsham received his bachelor of arts degree in 1932. He is assistant manager of the football team and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. W. R. Hogan received his master of arts degree in 1931 and is now working on his doctor of philosophy degree. He is a student assistant in the department of history. Edmund Quereau, graduate student, won the scholarship offered by the Institute of International Education, New York City, for a year's study at the University of Bordeaux. Ben Davis graduated in 1932, majoring in government. He is a tutor in the department of history and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Wilson Elkins, who was graduated in 1932, is at present assistant football coach at Cisco. He was president of the Students' Assembly and has lettered in three major sports at The University of Texas. He was captain of the basketball team in 1932.

Both KAY FINLEY and MARTIN CASEY like to take advantage of free pictures whenever the opportunity is offered.

As soon as ED BARLOW saw his picture in the TEXAN yesterday, he immediately ordered several copies to send to all of his friends.

Two of the better KAPPAS are VIRGINIA COLVIN and ELIZABETH ALEXANDER.

PAUL NEWMAN and "CAL" CALLAWAY make a pair that's hard to beat, regardless of what they try to do.

CECIL INGOLD and SPUD JOHNSON still get the award for the campus' best "perennial pair."

And WILLIE MAE TODNER and JOHN POPE look so nice together that something should really be done about it.

Report of Plan to Suspend Classes Without Foundation

Reports that The University of Texas was considering suspension of classes as a result of the influenza epidemic among the students were declared to be without foundation in a statement issued Friday from the office of President H. Y. Benedict.

"The epidemic has not reached serious enough proportions for the Health Service to call this matter officially to the attention of the Administrative Council," the President said.

Dr. H. T. Parlin, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, stated that there had been no significant increase in the number of absences from class reported to his office.

The exact number of cases of influenza among students and faculty members is not known, as some students who are not seriously ill do not report to the Health Service.

The list of hospital and home visits issued by the University Health Service Friday carried 150 names.

Contract Given New York Firm For New Boiler

Steam Device to Generate
Heat for Buildings
On Campus

Anticipating the need of a more adequate heating system with the completion of nine new buildings, the University has let a contract for the installation of an additional boiler in the Power Building. Cost of the boiler, including all the work, was placed at $114,914 by C. J. Eckhardt, superintendent of the power plant.

Modern in every respect, the new boiler will embody all the latest improvements in steam production engineering. It will be equipped with a steam superheater, an air heater, and fuel will be automatically burned on a traveling grate.

Measuring 60 feet in height when finished, the new boiler will have a capacity of 7500 pounds of steam an hour, and when in operation, will have a heat liberation of approximately 112,000,000 British thermal units an hour—each B. T. U. representing the amount of heat required to raise one pound of water one degree Fahrenheit, explained Mr. Eckhardt. Steam will be generated at 200 pounds pressure to the square inch, and will leave the boiler at a temperature of approximately 500 degrees Fahrenheit. Part of this superheated steam will be used to operate the two steam turbines, plans for which are almost completed, Mr. Eckhardt revealed.

The turbines will be used to generate electricity for the uses of the University, thus making it independent of city power. The steam not used in the turbines will be de-superheated and sent out to the main heating system.

When operated at capacity over the twenty-four hour period, which is frequently done in extremely cold weather, the new boiler will consume 180 tons of lignite a day.

Superintendent Fromke of the Combustion Engineering Corporation of New York City, contractor for the job, is in charge of the work. Excavating for the foundations and preliminary work for the supporting beams is in progress, the supporting structural steel being shipped from St. Louis, December 9. The boiler proper will be shipped December 12, and the whole job will be completed by April 1, Mr. Eckhardt said in conclusion.

Ex-student Elected To New Legislature

Jeff D. Stinson, assistant manager of The Daily Texan in 1909 and 1910, will be the new representative from Place Number 1, Dallas County, when the Forty-third Legislature meets in January.

Mr. Stinson, an attorney in Dallas, received his bachelor of arts degree from The University of Texas in 1910, and his bachelor of laws degree in 1911. Since his graduation he has been practicing law in Dallas. Mr. Stinson was a member of Company G, Fourth Infantry of Texas National Guards and served on the Mexican border.

Nowotny Compiles List of Ineligibles

Lists of ineligibles will be mailed out to the presidents of the different clubs on the campus Monday, December 12, by Assistant Dean Arno Nowotny.

Rules in the catalogue concerning eligibility state that "no student is eligible to participate in extra-curricular activities who is on probation, special observation, or final trial." Some of the number are in clubs and organizations and they will be dropped as soon as the presidents receive the lists, Mr. Nowotny said.

Students Urged To Get December Longhorn-Ranger

Copies of the December number of the Longhorn-Ranger are still available to students who have not received them, William Bergman, circulation manager, announced Thursday. The few remaining copies of back issues will be given out as long as the supply lasts. Students who have not received all three copies issued to date are urged to present publication cards at B. Hall 119 for their magazines, Bergman said.

Lawyers Refuse Substitute For Regular Banquet

Resolution Passed During Convocation Held
Friday

A resolution to the effect that students of the School of Law would not hold any sort of entertainment as a substitute for their regular banquet was adopted at a convocation held in the Law Building auditorium Friday morning. Ben Connally, president, announced.

Motions were made during the meeting to hold some sort of an entertainment since the banquet had been refused. The president stated that several students made speeches, but each ballot which was taken showed disfavor towards other kinds of entertainment.

The convocation was called as a result of members of the law faculty refusing to grant permission to hold the annual banquet. The affair was abolished as a traditional custom shortly after it had been held last year. For a period of more than twenty-five years the banquet has been held annually in the School of Law, Connally said.

"The general opinion of the law student body seemed to be that they wanted no substitute for the banquet," Connally explained. "Although some discussion was held as to another sort of entertainment, voting revealed that it was not wanted by the majority of students. It was decided that no substitute should be made in hopes that permission would be granted to hold the banquet next year. The affair had become a regular part of the School of Law social activity, and it is hoped on the part of every student that the banquet will be permitted next year."

Hogg Debate Team Defeats Athenaeums

The Hogg Debating Club affirmative team composed of Leroy Mumme and G. C. Garcia defeated the Athenaeum Literary Society negative team of James Edwards and Leonard Frank by a score 2 to 1 Thursday night on the question, "Resolved: That War Debts Should Be Cancelled."

Judges were H. M. Pevehouse, instructor in economics; Arno Nowotny, assistant dean of men; and Dr. C. E. Castaneda, Latin-American librarian.

Monday night the Hogg negative team and the Athenaeum affirmative team will debate the same question, Emmitt Matthews, reporter for the Hogg Debating Club, said Friday.

Weather Ends Plans For Annual Party

Because of bad weather the annual Christmas party at Lockhart has been postponed, according to information received by Burnett Pharr, director of the Longhorn Band, shortly after noon Friday. The Santa Claus parade, which was to have been headed by the University Band, has been postponed indefinitely, Mr. Pharr said.

The Industrial Planning Committee is composed of W. L. Clayton, cotton merchant, Houston; E. L. Kurth, Angelina Lumber Co., Lufkin; J. M. Radford, wholesale grocer, Abilene; Frank Holland, manager of Holland's Magazine, Dallas; E. L. Bewley, vice president of Fort Worth National Bank, Fort Worth; E. B. Neiwanger, president of Central Power and Light Co., San Antonio; W. S. Farish, president of Humble Oil Co., Houston; and Tom Cranfill, president of Mustang Oil Co., Dallas.

The eleven men composing the executive committee are: J. A. Fitzgerald, dean of the School of Business Administration; E. K. McGinnis, professor of business administration; G. H. Johnson, industrial geographer in the Bureau of Business Research, Rudolph Grossman, industrial engineer in the Bureau of Business Research, Herchel Walling, instructor in Business Administration, Mrs. Martha Ann Zivley, secretary in the Bureau of Business Research, and Mildred Disch, assistant secretary in the bureau will also attend the luncheon.

Second Freshman Hike Set for Today

Between 30 and 40 freshmen will attend the second hike being sponsored by the Freshman Clubs of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon, Bob Nichols, chairman of the recreation committee, said Friday. The group will leave from Gregory Gym at 2:30 o'clock.

After riding to the foot of Mount Bonnell in cars, the freshmen will hike to the top where a picnic supper will be served followed by a campfire program. They will return to Austin by 7:30 o'clock.

Music for the campfire program will be furnished by three of the Longhorn quartet: Don McCall with his accordion, Emory Powers with his guitar, and Conrad Fath with his ukelele. Betty Pugh will give a monologue, and Janet Hale will tell about Mexico City.

Chaperons for the hike are Miss Margaret Peck, student life secretary for women, and Miss Dorothy Gebauer, assistant dean of women.

GOLDSMITH SPEAKS

"Fine Arts in Everyday Life" was the topic on which Dr. Goldsmith, professor of architecture, spoke Friday at Saint Mary's University in San Antonio.

Calls Meeting

Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the Bureau of Business Research, who last spring appointed members of the Industrial Planning Committee, which meets today in B. Hall to discuss utilization of Texas resources.

Cavanaugh Tract Being Considered For Sports Field

Faculty Committee Lays
Plans for Winter
Playground

Suggestions that a portion of the Cavanaugh tract lying between Nineteenth and Twenty-first streets be utilized as play fields for men was contained in a letter received by Comptroller J. W. Calhoun from the faculty committee on intramural athletics for men. The matter will be laid before the Board of Regents at its next meeting, Comptroller Calhoun said.

A copy of the letter follows: "The faculty committee on intramural athletics for men asks that you present to the Board of Regents through the proper channels the following request:

"In order that necessary outdoor facilities be made available for this spring's activities, some action should be taken on this matter at the next meeting of the Board of Regents. Our former request, revised and more in detail, follows:

"1. That portion of the Cavanaugh property lying between Nineteenth and Twenty-first streets on the north and south, and the proposed line of men's dormitories and Speedway on the east and west, be designated as playfields for the men. Use of the tract for this purpose should in no way detract from the appearance of the grounds around the men's dormitories.

Ask Levelling
"2. That this tract be levelled."

Penick Presides Over Conference

Metzenthin, Littlefield,
And Oile to Attend

Dr. Daniel A. Penick, president of the Southwest Conference, left yesterday afternoon to preside over the second semi-annual meeting of the Southwest Conference. The meeting will be held at the Dallas Athletic Club and will begin at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Dr. W. E. Metzenthin, chairman of the athletic committee of The University of Texas, Coach Clyde Littlefield, and Ed Oile, business manager of intercollegiate athletics, will also attend the meeting.

Two meetings of the Southwest Conference are held each year, one in the spring on the same day as the Southwest Conference track meet, and the other on the second Saturday in December. Questions and regulations concerning the affairs of the conference members are discussed in two conferences which go on at the same time, the business meeting and the faculty committee refers to the business committee questions having to do with the business side of the conference affairs and takes its advice on such questions; but the vote of the faculty committee constitutes the vote of the Southwest Conference.

Questions which are expected to come up in this meeting of the conference are the plans for the baseball season, officials for baseball and basketball, admission of Centenary and Tech to the conference, and a change in the eligibility rules concerning junior college students.

Several Colleges Oppose Reported Set-Up Changes

Quick Release of Complete
Recommendations Of Committee Assured

Presidents Meet

Additional Duties May Be
Levied on University
Levied on University

Open hostility has been manifested in several parts of the State to the reported recommendations of the joint legislative committee on efficiency and reorganization with reference to the educational system.

From officials of Texas Technological College at Lubbock, the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, and the several State teachers' colleges, especially the Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos, have come statements of strong opposition to the proposed proposal of the efficiency committee to reduce all State teachers' colleges to the rank of junior colleges, to reduce the scope of the College of Industrial Arts and merge the North Texas State Teachers' College with it, and to eliminate from the technological institution of West Texas all technological courses.

In the meantime, statements that the news story on the recommendations was inaccurate, in part, have come from one member of the committee. A speedy release of the complete and official recommendations of the committee with reference to the educational system has been promised.

Presidents to Meet

Presidents of the seven State teachers' colleges have scheduled a meeting December 12 at Fort Worth to organize and outline their opposition to the purported proposal.

The recommendations will be submitted to the Legislature, which will have more or less unlimited power to initiate the changes that are to be recommended by the committee. Should the Legislature effect the changes proposed by the committee by re-

Plummer to Lecture On Geological Ages

Frederick B. Plummer, professor of petroleum production engineering and geologist in the bureau of economic geology, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of Sigma Xi, graduate honorific scientific fraternity, Tuesday, December 13 at 8 o'clock at the Faculty Men's Club.

Mr. Plummer's address will be on the "Development of Life During Certain Geological Ages in Texas."

Location of McDonald Observatory Suggested By Yerkes' Director

Tentative location of the W. J. McDonald Astronomical Observatory on an unnamed mountain on the "U up and down" Ranch in the Davis Mountains has been suggested by Dr. Otto Struve, director of the Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago, who will also be the director of the McDonald Observatory. The point suggested for the new observatory is only one mile from the scenic drive built by the State through the Davis Mountains. It is approximately fifteen miles from Fort Davis and 40 miles from Alpine. It has an elevation of 6,800 feet.

For "seeing" and accessibility it is probably the most desirable point in Texas for the observatory, Dr. Struve said. His recommendation has been referred to the land committee of the Board of Regents for consideration. Definite determination of this point for the location of the observatory depends upon the availability of the land, the possibility of a road being built to the mountain, the possibilities of providing electricity and water, and upon further tests to be made by Dr. Struve and his associates.

Struve Returns
Dr. Struve has now returned to Williams Bay, Wis., where the Yerkes Observatory is located. He appeared before the Board of Regents of the University at their session in Austin on November 23 and later went to the Davis Mountains to make observations. He stayed in the vicinity for a period of six days, and was able to make satisfactory tests of the available locations there.

Dr. Struve's observations supplement those of Dr. C. T. Elvey and T. G. Mehlin of the Yerkes staff, who spent the past summer in Texas making tests at key points which had been suggested as possible locations for the observatory. Other tests will be made next year.

To the Pi Beta Phi group goes the honor of wringing the bird's neck in the most convincing manner. Their vote was eighteen to do away with the "silly" column, as they termed it, and only one member stood up for it. "We don't like the dirty cracks that the writer of the Buzzard hands out and we don't believe enough students are represented."

The Kappa Kappa Gamma girls held another entirely different consensus of opinion by loudly acclaiming it with, "We want a bigger and better Buzzard," and with a unanimous vote of 61.

A group of Zetas were caught at the dinner table and performed a tug-of-war ending in a six-six deadlock.

Six groups gave the bird their unanimous approval and hope for its continuance; these were the A. T. O.'s with 23 votes, Tri Deltis with 16 votes, Delta Chi contributed 25 to the Buzzard's cause, and the Thetas, Kappas and Dekes polled 26, 61, and 23 respectively.

Other groups who gave their consent to the fowl were the Phi Delta Thetas casting 20 for and eight against, the Kappa Sigis contributed a 14-14 tie, while the Delta Tau Deltas voted 12 for and four against, and the Chi Omega girls gave seven for it and a dissenting vote of three.

Parlin Releases Grade Reports

244 on Special Observation,
53 on Final Trial

Statistics on the intra-semester reports released Friday by Dr. H. T. Parlin, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, show that 244 students have been placed on special observation, 53 on final trial, and 21 have been dropped from the rolls of the University because of failure to pass the required amount of work. Six hundred and twenty-hour students have been called to the office for two or more reports.

To avoid being placed on special observation, the student must make a certain number of grade points based on the total number of hours of work the student is taking. First year students must score 108 points out of a minimum twelve hours of work, second year students must score 120 points, and all others must score a total of 144 points out of a minimum of twelve hours work.

A student failing to pass the required amount of work will be placed on special observation. A second failure by a student within one semester after being placed on special observation will place him on final trial. A student on final trial who fails at any time within two consecutive semesters will be dropped from the rolls of the University for a certain period of time.

No Band Appropriation

Whether the band was in need of an appropriation was the most difficult question to face the Students' Assembly Thursday night. The report of the finance committee, as understood by the majority of the members present, showed that the band had very nearly enough to operate on for the entire year, and to pay the director approximately the same salary that he has been paid for the past several years.

Despite the majority report of the finance committee which favored the appropriation of $250 to the band, the minority report was adopted. This appears to be a wise move on the part of the assembly. As long as the band has sufficient funds to operate on, it would be foolish to place more cash to their credit. Organizations, as human beings, are strongly tempted to spend all their available cash. If one is paid a small salary, then someone adds to this amount, they are certain to spend the entire sum.

The assembly acted wisely in withholding their donation. It was made clear to the band by the assembly that at a later date should the band need financial aid, they might again bring their request before the assembly. At such a time, with the statement of the band showing how their money from the blanket tax had been spent, it is almost a certainty that the assembly would gladly donate sufficient funds to tide them over. The members of the band should not feel that they have been discriminated against, for they have not. It is the only business way to handle the proposition. Should the band be able to go through the year without an appropriation from the assembly, that act would be a mark to their credit. If not, the feeling of the students and the student assembly is that of helpfulness toward the band.

Judging Pre-Meds

Aptitude tests for prospective medical students were held Friday afternoon. This practice in the present medical education system is a valuable one, and is in line with all progressive changes being made in education. It is being recognized that natural tendencies and abilities should be taken into account in the choice of vocations, and tests such as these are but a practical application of that educational doctrine. Premedical students in the University took an examination Friday which determines, with a more than reasonable degree of certainty, just how well fitted they were to pursue a medical course. Let it be emphasized that this test did not ascertain their medical knowledge, but, what is more important, their ability to understand and organize the same kind of material which they will have to study when they enter a more specialized school. The benefits to be derived from such examination can easily be seen. A more accurate check on the efficiency of broader training in high schools and colleges will be possible, and indicated changes may be put in effect. The more vital results, however, more directly concern the individual student. His own aptitude for work in his chosen profession will be rated, and he will be able to decide on the basis of scientific results whether he should devote his time, energy, and money to a medical education, or whether he should not seek some other line of effort. Students who are unlikely to succeed will be weeded out before their own and the State's money has been wasted.

Christmas Shopping

Christmas buying may be less than usual this year, but the decrease at the University will be much less than the slump over the entire State. There are not many students that can stand the idea of knowing that their mother and dad will not be remembered on Christmas day. Then, a great boost for the merchants of Austin is the fact that the majority of students in the University feel that they have either a boy or girl friend that must be remembered, and, much to the depletion of the bank account, a number of students feel that they must give more than one gift to their University friends.

And, for the students, they find Austin a rather enjoyable place to do their Christmas shopping. The appeal that the stores along the drag and down town stores make to the students is much greater than the majority find in their home towns. For that reason the remaining days will find the stores of Austin crowded with University students.

The greatest aid that the Austin stores can do to the students is the suggesting of practical presents for the majority, and the placing of something individual before the remaining students. The question before the student is not, shall I buy Christmas presents, but what shall I buy? Students will be wandering through the stores in an undecided manner for the next two weeks. The store that is able to make the best suggestions and get these suggestions before the students is the store that will see the students enter and, then leave with his Christmas shopping completed.

Student Forum

The Daily Texan invites the writing of free-lance editorials or "forum" articles to be published in the Student Forum column.

Such editorials must be written by students of the University and must pertain directly to some phase of student life.

All contributions must be signed, but the contributor's name will not be printed if he so requests. Unsigned articles will not be printed.

Those of 200 words or less will receive preference.

TO COLUMNIST B. L. DOZIER

It took quite a while before we became convinced that your remarks regarding the recent prohibition poll and more recent Buzzard poll were in any way offensive. We agree that nothing is really important enough to get upset about, and if you'd like to hear our entire philosophy, we might as well settle it right here and now.

When it became evident that many students on the campus were against the publication of the Buzzard in The Daily Texan, we decided that a poll of students would not be amiss. If the consensus of opinion indicates that the students do not want the column run in THEIR newspaper, something should be done.

On the other hand, if the majority want to see the Buzzard kept up, so much the better. Another benefit of the poll is the fact that a great number of constructive criticisms are heard concerning its writing. The Daily Texan is the students' newspaper, Mr. Dozier, and as such, should be run according to the wishes of the students. For that reason the poll is being taken, and an attempt will be made to personally interview every one of our 6,000 students if at all possible. The poll will probably not be complete before the next two weeks, but when complete it will be highly significant.

What was especially offensive in your remarks, Critic Dozier, was the following sentence: "However, since the two instigators of the idea succeed in getting nice bylines on the front page each and every time they take a new poll, the thing will probably go on for days and days!" We resent that, Mr. Dozier, because every reporter knows that he seldom gets credit for anything he writes, nor does he expect credit for his journalistic efforts, futile as they may be. It is the duty of the reporter to record news happenings without injecting his personal feelings. And that, Mr. Dozier, is precisely what we are doing when we attempt these polls.

You need have no fear about the thing going on for days and days. The only other poll we would like to take is whether the students like your column. No bribes will be accepted, Columnist Dozier. You started this mess and will have to take the consequences.

We believe that such comments from students are highly appreciated by the student body because it represents the entire University and not a selected group.

JAMES GLASSCOCK and MARJORIE WILLIAMS.

STANDARDS OF COLLEGE EDUCATION

A university is defined in Webster's Dictionary as "A place where the higher branches of knowledge are taught." Unfortunately many present day educationalists have completely lost sight of this ideal. Their minds have become impregnated with the principles of mass production, and they have laid stress rather upon the quantity of college students turned out instead of their quality.

Year after year the number of colleges and universities has steadily increased; they have grown at the rate of an arithmetical progression, while their graduates have increased in the ratio of a geometrical progression. What Malthus feared would occur as population increased, has come about in another sphere. Today there are more university graduates than demand requires. Twenty years ago, a college degree was out of the ordinary, nowadays it is the customary thing.

We would urge therefore that the standard of learning in universities be raised; that a college degree be made more difficult to get, that by artificial restriction, its value be raised. In England and the majority of European universities this is already the case. In day of strenuous competition, unemployment, and hard conditions, quality is needed as never before. People are apt to be easy going, perhaps even careless in times of prosperity and easy money. In times of adversity they become more critical and careful. They are no longer content with medium quality; they demand the best. Speaking therefore from a material viewpoint, it is for the student's own interest that a high standard of learning should prevail, and that a degree should be indicative of something more than the possession of mere parchment.

It should be the duty of a university to aspire to something higher than a mere smattering of knowledge. They should endeavor to wean students from that vicious public school attitude of doing merely enough work to get by their exams, and no more. They should encourage them to work for the pleasure of learning—something previously unknown to them.

A man's life is often builded on a proverb.

Without a purpose what were life? Eating, sleeping, toil, and strife.

The liar has difficulty believing anything anybody else says.

HAROLD TEEN—BIG HEARTED FELLOW, THE BOSS

IN THE 2 DAYS' NEWS

By JACK HUDSPETH, JR.

(Tomorrow this column will present a summary of the address on war debts which is to be given tonight in Garrison Hall 1 by W. L. Clayton of Houston.)

Last night at 8 o'clock the Texas Highway Commission awarded the construction contracts which had been held up by J. E. Ferguson's injunction.

The Mid-West is in the grip of winter. Snow covers the Texas Panhandle. Dallas and Fort Worth are having freezing weather. The State's lowest temperature was registered at Amarillo: 8 above zero.

The House ways and means committee is still conducting its hearing on the Collier bill to legalize 2.75 per cent beer and wine. The Japanese war office has announced that the Chinese Jehol Province (bordering Manchuria) may be entered soon by the Japanese army. The Soviets have given General Su (Chinese) permission to cross Siberia and place his case concerning Jap activities in Northern Manchuria in the hands of the League.

Hoover has extended the life of the R. F. C. another year, until January, 1934.

WAR DEBT REDUCTION

Stimson (Secy. of State) has replied to the second British war debt note. He says that we are ready to survey the debt situation with them to see what can be done to revive world conditions. We will not cancel the debts. We might consider forms of payment other than gold or silver. (Opening their tariff gates to our goods?) We feel that there is a connection between Europe's inability to pay and her recent armament expenditures. We realize that due to the low value of silver, the debtors are going to have to pay us more than they owe, figured in their own money. But if England will suggest a plan of payment that will avoid this difficulty, our Congress will probably be glad to approve it. (Some congressmen have immediately shouted "No we won't!") Others have reserved comment until such a plan is suggested.)

In spite of the difficulties, next Thursday England will probably pay us in gold or silver, and France may do so, also. I am sure that most of our congressmen and political leaders really believe that payments should be delayed until a scaling down of the debts can be accomplished. But they are afraid to admit it; they are afraid of the voters. They have been bragging to the people for a long time that they are going to make Europe pay for her war. Now it is apparent that such a policy will do us more harm than the good we could derive from the use of the repaid money. But what would the voters think of such a change in attitude? The voters will have to be re-educated. The scaling-down will have to be done in a veiled manner. Some excuse must be found. And some scheme will be found before next July when the next payments are due. The scheme will make the reduction appear very obviously to be a benefit to the American people. Then Congress can reduce the debts without reducing its prestige.

NEW NAMES FOR OLD

The National Geographic Society has just published a new map of the world. In these days of economical thinking, many people may say, "The world changes slowly; the last map is still good enough for me." It is true that coastlines and mountains and rivers are still as they were, but the names that man has given to them have changed in chameleon fashion since the last map was published in 1922. Over one-fourth of the names appearing on the old map have been changed, and 500 new ones have been added.

The map of Russia is entirely new, in fact, it is not even called "Russia" any more; it is now the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. Name-changing has also been very popular in the Balkans where many new countries have been created since the war. Most of the names in Persia, Syria, Turkey, and Arabia are not what they were "in the good old days." Man is improving his geographical terminology so constantly that while the new map was being printed, the presses had to be stopped three times so that some new change could be recorded.

Now who will say that we are not living in an age of rapid change? And from the looks of some of the new names that have been given to Russian cities (such as Dnepropetrovsk), one might think that the change is for the worse.

HOUSEMOTHERS TO MEET

Housemothers for women will meet Wednesday, December 14, at 3 o'clock in the girls' study hall, according to Miss Ruby Terrill, dean of women. Arno Nowotny will be the main speaker of the afternoon.

Plan for Season Pageant Finished

Local Church Choirs Sing Christmas Songs

The community carol singing and Christmas pageant, under the direction of members of the Austin recreation department and the Austin Chamber of Commerce, will be held in Gregory Gymnasium Tuesday night, December 20, at 7:30 P. M. Gullette, member of the recreation department and student of the University, said Friday.

Gullette said that this would be the sixth annual Christmas pageant given in Austin. Campbell Wray and Mrs. Laverne Nowotny are assisting in directing the program. Combined choirs from all the Austin churches will assist in the program. The Civic Orchestra, containing 35 members and composed of Austin people and University students, will play several selections.

Masterson to Assist

The Civic Orchestra will play "Christmas Fantasy" and "Agnus Dei" as the first selections. The Rev. Harris Masterson, pastor of All Saint's Episcopal Church, will give the scripture reading. Mr. Wray will then direct the carol singing. Mr. Carl Edward Bock, ex-student, will throw the words of the carols on the screen, by means of a projection machine.

Miss Hilda Molesworth, instructor in physical education, will be the madonna in the pageant. John

FUNERAL HOME
AMBULANCE

A. McCurdy, executive secretary of the Ex-Students' Association, and Mr. Harfield Weedon will be the shepherds. Mrs. F. A. Ursua, ex-student, and June Allen will be the two angels, Miss Ura Swann and Miss Norine Franklin will be the moderns.

The pageant is in the nature of a large picture, gradually enlarged by the addition of more figures. During the interludes, the choir will sing. After the entire group of characters have assembled, the choir will sing Hallelujah Chorus, after which the lights will be dimmed to a pale blue and "Silent Night, Holy Night" will be sung by the choir as the curtain is lowered.

Gullette said that all members of the two University Glee Clubs and students desiring to sing in the chorus are invited to attend the rehearsal at 7:30 o'clock Monday night, December 12, in the crystal ballroom of the Driskill Hotel. Mr. Bock extends an invitation to all students who would care to play in the Civic Orchestra and asks them to be at Saengerhunde Hall at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, December 11. A thirty-minute rehearsal of the program will take place Monday night, December 19, at Gregory Gym.

WEATHER CONTINUES COLD
The weather will continue cloudy and cold with a light mist falling. A. R. Stoessens, local weather man, reported Friday.

Beryl Lowe and Elisabeth Forsyth will spend the week-end in San Antonio.

Official Notice

THERE will be a meeting of Sigma Xi Tuesday, December 13 at 8 o'clock at the Faculty Men's Club. Dr. F. B. Plummer, professor of petroleum production engineering and geologist in the Bureau of Economic Geology, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Development of Life During Certain Geological Ages in Texas."

plays the part of the son of the "fence," and Nancy Carroll is the sister of the murdered messenger. When the police are unable to track down the killer, these two decide to do something about it. The remainder of the film concerns itself with what they do about it. To tell the ending would spoil the show, and it is worth while to go and find out.

An organologue, comedy, news reel, and cartoon complete the program. This cartoon is worthy of comment, being one of the cleverest of the season. Its musical score is nicely done, and the idea of the cartoon, while not entirely original, is very well carried out.

Estimate: C.

Opening Today

"RED DUST," with Jean Harlow, Clark Gable, Gene Raymond, and Mary Astor, opens today to continue through Tuesday, at the Paramount. The story is that of a hard-boiled plantation overseer who has designs on the wife of a young engineer. The engineer has come to work on the plantation. The picture tells what happens when a woman who makes her living by traveling up and down on the river boats, falls in love with the overseer, and attempts to break up the affair.

Opening Today

"CALL HER SAVAGE," Fox film in which Clara Bow makes her return to the screen, will be at the Hancock Theater today through Tuesday. Miss Bow takes the leading role in a Tiffany Thayer story about a young woman whose methods of social intercourse are unconventional but effective, particularly as regards her various lovers and her rivals. Rapid action plus a new finish of histrionics is said to characterize the picture. Monroe Owsley, Gilbert Roland, Thelma Todd, and Estelle Taylor are others seen.

"THE PAINTED WOMAN," stars that dry humorist, Spencer Tracy, so much enjoyed in "Me and My Gal," and Peggy Shannon, the Irish beauty. The title of the picture intimates that the woman is not a lady, but the story reveals the truth. No picture that stars Spencer Tracy can lack action and wit, and this one is no exception. The story is convincing and Shannon and Tracy should make a good pair.

By WILBUR EVANS
Texan Sports Editor

CONGRATULATIONS to Bill Smith. We also congratulate the Longhorn football team for electing such a capable leader. This was Smith's junior year, and he divided time at the center position with Charlie Coates, a sophomore. Bill has all the qualities of a good leader and will make the Longhorns a splendid captain. He was the lightest center in the circuit, but he knew enough about football and had a fighting heart that kept him from being run over by any of his opponents. He will be in the running next year for all-Conference recognition. He is the best diagnoser of plays of any center in the conference.

Smith hails from Cisco where he starred in high school football, being chosen the best center in the Oil Belt his senior year. He attended Randolph College of Cisco before entering the University. He is the second product of Cisco to captain a Longhorn team in recent years. The other was Wilbur Westerfeldt, captain of the 1931 track team, who is now coaching at Fredericksburg.

The following lettermen will be back next year to help Smith try to bring the championship back to Texas: Arthur Niebuhr, Raymond Seals, Bennie Rundell, Ronald Fagan, Buck Prejan, Roy Cooleedge, Bohn Hilliard, Osborn Hodges, Sears "Ochoy" Earle, Charlie Coates, Ralph Greear, and Fred Beasley. Returning reserve lettermen are Dan Delaney, J. D. Voyles, Logan Oakes, Buster Babel, and several others who will make valuable men next year.

Three other conference grid teams have chosen their captains for 1933 and all of them picked a lineman for their leaders. Fred Lauterback, tackle, was chosen captain of the Rice team at their banquet last week.

Charlie Cummings, star end and tackle for the Aggies this year, was elected to lead the 1933 Aggies. He was also chosen the most valuable man for this year.

WE—
THE STEER cagers got off to a good start Thursday night at San Marcos, when they downed the Bobcats 42-12. It didn't take the regulars very long to pile up a big score, once they entered the fray.

The Bobcats will play a return game in Gregory Gymnasium Tuesday night.

WE—
The influenza epidemic has slowed up practice in all of the basketball camps in the conference. The Rice Owls have cancelled their game with the A. & I. Javelinas. Practice at A. & M. has slowed up, and the Razorbacks have been forced to transfer their games for this week. The Toads are not getting along so fast as they are practicing both football and basketball. The Bears have scheduled some games in Louisiana during the Christmas holidays.

WE—
ANOTHER TEXAN will play for the West in the East-West game, January 2, other than Harrison Stafford and Ernie Koy. He is Howard Hogges of Marlin, who played for the Olympic Club this year. He is a brother of Mrs. Marty Karow.

We are picking Stafford as the star of the game long before it is played, and we are betting that Koy will show up equally as well as Angel Brovelli of St. Mary's who made the All-Coast team, and Frank Christensen, All-Rocky Mountain, and All-American.

WE—
Amarillo and Sweetwater meet today in Amarillo in the feature classic of the high school quarter-final games. The game is a toss-up, but we are sticking by the Sweetwater Mustangs. They are undefeated for the season, and they made a better showing against Lubbock than the Sandies did. The Mustangs defeated Lubbock 24-6, and Amarillo defeated the same team 14-0. Sweetwater has two crack backs in Sheridan and Baugh.

Masonic Home of Fort Worth will meet the Sherman Bears at Fort Worth, and it looks like another big day for the Masons.

Baptist Students Plan Camp Retreat

The Baptist student union councils of the University Baptist Church and the First Baptist Church of San Marcos will hold a student retreat at Camp Rio Vista in San Marcos December 10 and 11. The retreat will be held in conjunction with the students of the Southwest Texas State Teachers' College.

Members of the council who will attend the retreat are J. W. McDaniel, Allan Walker, Royal Neuman, May Elizabeth Garrett, Christine Goolsby, Ruby Stevenson, Rosalind Rollins, Ruby Hulett, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mason.

Mona Hornberger of Littlefield Dormitory will spend the week-end at her home in San Antonio.

Corsicana, John Reagan Advance to Semi-Finals

Special to The Daily Texan
CORPUS CHRISTI, Dec. 9.—John Reagan of Houston trounced Corpus Christi here this afternoon 39-7, to enter the semi-finals of the high school football race. The Houston team was favored to win the game, but the local boys were expected to give them much more competition than they did.

The Bulldogs scored early with Captain Asbell making most of the gains. John Reagan will meet Corsicana in Houston next week in a semi-final contest. The two teams have already met once this year, the Tigers winning by a 39-13 count, but an evenly-fought game is expected here next Saturday.

Special to The Daily Texan

CORSICANA, Dec. 9.—The Corsicana Tigers and the Greenville Lions fought to a scoreless tie here today in the rain, but Coach Pierce's Tigers were awarded the game on the 20-yard penetration rule.

The light Corsicana team of 1931 lost their semi-final game to Beaumont in the mud and rain, and the Greenville team held Abilene to a scoreless draw and lost the game on the penetration rule.

Longhorn Stars Hailed Out West

The University of Texas football team is known in the far West for its ability. Tom L. Greer, ex-student living in Sandpoint, Idaho, sent The Daily Texan a copy of the Spokesman-Review of Spokane, Wash., with an article about some of the Texas crack players: Koy, Cook Hilliard, and Blanton. The article predicted that Texas was on its way to another Southwest Conference championship in football.

Mr. Greer was in the University from 1890 to 1893.

BIG TEN OPPONENTS
MORGANTOWN, Va., Dec. 9. (INS)—For the first time in ten years the West Virginia Mountaineers will meet a Big Ten opponent on the gridiron next season. It was announced Thursday that an Armistice Day game has been scheduled with the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

Cavanaugh Tract—

led, leaving sufficient grade for proper drainage.

"3. That such trees in the tract as will interfere with this use for playfields be removed, leaving those now along Speedway, Nineteenth and Twenty-first streets.

"4. That the ground receive a six-inch top soil and proper sodding.

"5. That the tract be piped for running water.

"6. That three substantial but removable batting cages for baseball be provided to prevent injury by fly balls to persons or property.

"7. That a serviceable wire fence approximate 8-10 feet high be constructed to bound the field along Speedway, Nineteenth, and Twenty-first streets.

"The proper location in construction of the proposed tennis courts is under consideration and will be recommended at a later date.

"Yours very truly, Faculty Committee on Intramural Athletics for Men. Signed: A. E. Cooper, J. C. Dolley, W. E. Metzenthin, C. M. Montgomery, and B. M. Whitaker."

Survey Made
In connection with the proposal, a questionnaire was sent to other universities throughout the country inquiring as to how much acreage was available for fields.

Southern California, with an enrollment of 15,000 students, has 8 acres; Illinois, 12,779 students, has 115 acres; Minnesota, 12,474, has 25 acres; Ohio State, 11,000 students, has 550 acres; Michigan, 9,500 students, has 50 acres; Wisconsin, 9,415 students, has 16 acres; Missouri, 7,500 students, has 100 acres; Nebraska, 6,000 students, has 20 acres; Texas, 6,000 students, has one and one-quarter acres; Iowa, 5,600 students, has 200 acres; Stanford, 3,600 students, has 376 acres; Michigan State, 3,226 students, has no available acres; Washington University, 3,114 students, has four and one-half acres; Colorado, 3,100 students, has 18 acres; West Virginia, 2,525 students, has 3 acres; Texas A. & M., 2,424 students, has 20 acres; and Western Reserve, 2,027 students, has 4 acres.

The chart reveals that The University of Texas is low in playing field facilities for the proportion of students.

Few Outside Games
"During the fall, we have had hardly any outside athletic activities," Berry Whitaker, director of intramural athletics for men, said. "The establishment of playing fields on the Cavanaugh tract will fill a great need for fall sports. Indoor baseball, the major fall sport, is not as advantageous as an outdoor sport."

Mr. Whitaker pointed out that spring begins early here and that baseball is the big activity. Having no fields, the various teams have been forced to play on the diamond near the Austin Dam, the field on East First Street, the diamond near the Country Club, and other places not easy of access.

"Unless the fields are completed by the middle of February," Whitaker said, "only one field will be available, meaning that there will be little hard ball this spring."

Centenary Back Leads Southerners

BALTIMORE, Dec. 9.—(INS)—It will be north against south tomorrow at Baltimore's municipal stadium with some of the best football players of the season performing for the benefit of a crowd expected to reach 60,000. The heavier southern eleven, coached by Dick Harlow, has been installed as a slight favorite but supporters of Jock Sutherland's northern team are sure Bob Chase and Bill Gilbane, the two Brown stars, will show the southern defense some tricks.

In addition to Chase and Gilbane the northern backfield will include Jack James, the Princeton battering ram, and Joe Crowley of Yale, one of the best defensive backs in the country.

The southern attack will be led by Murf of Centenary who will call the signals to send Whelan of Catholic University and Conzine of Davis and Elkins into action. Le Croix of William and Mary will be at fullback.

War Debts Subject Of Lecture Tonight

"The Relationship of International War Debts to the Recovery of American Business" will be the subject of a lecture to be given by W. L. Clayton, House cotton merchant, tonight at 7:45 o'clock in Garrison Hall auditorium, Dr. O. D. Weeks, chairman of the University public lectures committee, said Friday. The talk will be under the auspices of the committee, Dr. Weeks said.

"Mr. Clayton is coming to the University to attend a meeting of the Texas Industrial Planning Committee. He is a man of wide business experience and is well qualified to speak on the subject that he has chosen," Dr. Weeks said.

SPHINX PLANS INITIATION
Initiation for the Sphinx club, men's architectural society, will be held at 8:30 Monday night, in the senior room in B. Hall, Chris Matwald, president, announced Friday.

The pledges who will be initiated are Wallace Ewell, Lee Kiewne, Philip Barnard, Charles Dawson, Delmar Groos, Walter Moore, Chester Nagel, John Wiltshire, and Charles Granger.

Helen Townes of Littlefield Dormitory will spend the week-end in San Antonio with her sister, Mrs. N. N. Codes.

Several Colleges—

ducing appropriations and omitting the funds for the activities in question, there would be little or no recourse to the colleges. On the other hand, should the Legislature not choose to abide by the committee's forthcoming recommendations and proceed to grant the educational institutions appropriations for all work now being done, thus sustaining their activities, the Governor would have authority, under his veto power, to partially put into effect the reduction by eliminating appropriations for the work. The Governor has the power to veto complete items or sections of an appropriation bill, as well as veto the entire measure, even though the chief executive does not have power to reduce the amount of items.

Additional Work Likely

If the recommendations are as reported, the University and the Agricultural and Mechanical College in all probability will not suffer a reduction in the scope of work offered, although additional duties may be levied upon them without the aid of additional appropriations. Graduate work would be centralized in the University and A. & M., according to the reported recommendations of the committee.

In addition to the recommendations of the legislative committee, there will be before the Legislature recommendations of the State Board of Education for reorganization of and changes in the educational system designed to effect both economy and greater efficiency. In the matter of putting the Board of Education's forthcoming recommendations into effect, the Legislature and the Governor, likewise, have the final say.

Anderson Gloomy On Eve of Battle

TUSCON, Ariz., Dec. 9.—(INS)—Notre Dame's gridiron warriors, braced by two days' hard workouts under the Arizona sun, entrained today to take up the siege of Troy in Los Angeles.

The players were in high spirits as a colorful crowd, including cowboys and Arizona co-eds, gathered at the station to wish them good luck in Saturday's battle with the University of Southern California.

"Yes," he admitted, "the boys are all in good health, but their spirit has been crushed by the influenza which has left them weak. They know they're going to Waterloo, and somehow the bunch doesn't click. It's too bad."

The Irish, however, presented anything but "crushed spirits" in their secret practice yesterday during which continued stress was placed on offensive plays.

Martin Reviews Mussolini, Italy

Speaker Makes Attacks On Fascist Rule

"Mussolini is the prime factor of Fascism, and in studying Fascism one must study the originator," Dr. R. C. Martin, adjunct professor of government, told members of the International Relations Club Thursday.

"Fascism is based on three principles, all of which are the idea of Il Duce. Fascism is, first, a nationalistic doctrine; second, it is collectivistic; and third, it is anti-democratic," Dr. Martin explained.

Since Fascism has been introduced in Italy, conditions have improved materially, but it has meant the lowering of the people democratically. Some of the changes brought about in government by Fascism are: first, the premier has become dictator; second, laws may be issued by decrees taking away the law-making power of the people. Parliament has become an appointee of Il Duce with representation by syndication or by occupation rather than by population. Local government has lost its initiative with the mayor an appointee of Mussolini. Civil rights and personal liberties are limited and newspapers are censored. An annual declaration of support to the Fascist party must be made by all Italians.

Nationalist Doctrine
Mussolini's chief purpose is to make an Italy for Italians with Italians for Italy. Il Duce does not encourage immigration as he wishes to create colonies for the excess Italian population which now totals 42,000,000 people. Birth control is unheard of and inducements are offered to the people for the raising of large families, Dr. Martin stated.

Libya, in Africa, is the only colony of Italy but it is so unfavorable to habitation that only 30,000 Italians have settled there. It is through this lack of space for the excess population that foreign countries might become involved with Italy. Practically all other countries have closed their doors to Italians and due to industrial strife in South America, it is no longer open to Italian immigration and in this search for colonies, foreign implications might arise, Dr. Martin said.

Christmas Sales Cheer Retailers

Do University students buy Christmas gifts before the holidays or during them?

Austin shopkeepers report a definite upturn in sales, but reply when questioned, that not all Christmas gifts are purchased in Austin. Though the student is worried by examinations and empty pockets, he still finds time to purchase clothes, jewelry, and other gifts before he leaves for the holidays. His thoughts seem to turn to gifts which will have a University background such as fraternity jewelry, Texas belt buckles, and sweaters, and other gifts of this nature.

"It is a natural thing for business to increase before the holidays," replied one shopowner. "But whether this increase is a result of student purchases or simply a natural business reaction, I do not know."

THE CACTUS

The Only Permanent Record of the University Year.

Intramurals

By LESTER SPRINGER

The fall sports on the intramural calendar are rapidly drawing to a close. Tennis singles ended over a week ago when Howard Smith (ASME) defeated George Juneman (Beta) for the championship. The golf singles tournament has reached the finals with White playing Kinser for the title which Kinser won last year.

Indoor baseball was won by the Athletics Wednesday night when they defeated the A. C. E. Club 16-8. As is the fad among all sports writers and in all columns pertaining to sports there was picked an All-University indoor team and one for each of the four divisions. These teams were picked by Mac Burnett, Nick Gatoura, and James Fomby, who umpired the games all during the season and were more capable than anyone else to make these selections. The team has two of the fastest and trickiest pitchers in the tournament. The catcher, Friedlander, had little competition for his position as he possessed all the qualities of a first class catcher. Bigley and Simpson, both of whom are good pitchers, were outstanding both offensively and defensively and could not be left off the team. Gaines was the hardest hitter to perform in the tournament so he could not be left off the first team. All other members were selected on the mythical team were stars on their respective teams.

Handball at Finals
Handball singles also has reached the finals. Drew Nichols (All Stars) defeated Turner (Education) 21-7, 21-11, in a slow match to gain the final bracket. Albert Sheppard (ACE's) defeated Maynard Buck (Delta Theta Phi) 21-11, 21-7, to enter the finals against Nichols. The match was fought hard especially in the last game when Buck made a gallant rally only to go down 21-17.

In two semi-final horseshoes singles matches in the Fraternity division, Paul Mattison (Deke) defeated Morris Lipshitz (Tau Delta) and Simpson (SPE) defeated Vernon Black (Kappa Sig) in a close match. Mattison Simpson will play this afternoon for the fraternity championship.

The following is the umpire's selection for the mythical indoor baseball teams:

SUTHERLAND BIBLES LOANED FOR DISPLAY AT LIBRARY

The family Bibles of Major George Sutherland and his son, Thomas S. Sutherland, Texas pioneers, have been loaned for display purposes to The University of Texas Library. Major Sutherland's Bible has been given to the University by Mrs. Bell Sutherland Faires of Edna, while the other book was loaned by the owner's son, Thomas S. Sutherland, Jr.

First Christmas Packages Arrive

Santa Claus has already come to town and has started his work. Several Christmas packages were received Thursday at the University station, the first for this year, John S. Gresham, superintendent, revealed Thursday afternoon. Christmas mailing instructions issued by Walter F. Brown, postmaster-general, have already been posted outside the station window to aid those who mail gifts early. An extra clerk will be added to the force of the University station about December 17.

Mr. Gresham, however, is used to playing Santa Claus in a sense. Many students receive money from home by means of money orders which they cash at the local station every month. The number of students getting their money by this means has become very large since the closing of the University Bank last year, Mr. Gresham said.

Lashing of Reporter Being Investigated

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 9.—(INS)—An immediate investigation was planned Friday into the purported abduction and lashing of Bill Stephens, 18, University of Oklahoma freshman.

Stephens, a student correspondent for Oklahoma City newspaper, to the Austin collection of papers in the University Library.

Major Sutherland came to Texas in 1830 at the head of a colony of a dozen families. The Major was in Company D, First Regiment, of the Texas Volunteers, and fought in the Battle of San Jacinto.

One of his sons, W. D. Sutherland, was killed in the Battle of the Alamo. Young Sutherland had been in Mexico with his father, and the two were returning to their home in Navidad by way of San Antonio. Major Sutherland went on ahead to care for his family, while his son remained in San Antonio. He was there when the Mexican army attacked the town and was killed in the affray.

ers, reported that he was dragged from his room by a gang of about fifteen men and given ten lashes with a rope.

The men, Stephens said, were garbed in the robes of the D. D. M. C., a student organization banned by officials a few years ago.

The lashing was the result of a story in an Oklahoma City newspaper telling of demands of fraternity freshmen for relief from "mop-handle bondage," the leader of the gang told Stephens.

The investigation was ordered by Dr. W. B. Bizzell, university president, and the county prosecutor's office.

ENGINEERS TO INITIATE

Pi Tau Sigma, honorary engineering fraternity, will hold its formal initiation tonight at 7:15 o'clock at the Austin Club, after which a banquet will be given for the following pledges: J. W. Roach, J. M. Lloyd, Louis Davis, J. S. Shaw, and Raymond Hurst, Louis Sewald, treasurer, said Friday.
