National Honorary Group
To Replace Delta
Society

Smith Presides

Thirty-one University Men
Qualify for Grade
Requirements

Installation of the Phi Eta Sigma, replacing the local Delta Society, scholarship organization for freshmen, will be conducted in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday, February 17, at 4 o'clock. This announcement was made Wednesday by V. I. Moore, dean of men.

G. Herbert Smith, grand secretary of Phi Eta Sigma and assistant dean of men at the University of Illinois, will conduct the installation program. Thirty-one members of the Delta Society will be initiated into Phi Eta Sigma.

Qualifications of the society are not so stringent as were required in the Delta organization. Three A's and two B's were the minimum requirements for eligibility to pledge the Delta Society. An equal number of A's and B's will qualify a student to pledge Phi Eta Sigma.

Installation services and initiation will begin at 4 o'clock. Individuals who are unable to meet at that hour will be initiated when they arrive.

"The reason for conducting the initiation in the afternoon instead of at night, it due to interference with the T. C. U. basketball game and the time cannot be set later, for Mr. Smith will have to leave on the 11 o'clock train," Dean Moore said.

Sellards Sees Need of Cores

Material for Study Of Formations Pressing

Need for cores of geologic formations in order that these formations may be adequately studied is becoming more and more apparent, according to Dr. E. H. Sellards, associate director of the Bureau of Economic Geology at the University.

"At the present time, Texas geologists have before them the very difficult problem of determining what formations are present in North Central Texas between the Barnett shale, which is Carboniferous, and the Ellenburger, which is Lower Ordovician," Dr. Sellards pointed out. "In Reagan County it has been determined from the cores obtained from the deep wells of the Big Lake oil field that the Middle Ordovician comes into the section at that place. However, throughout the great areas of North Central Texas this problem is unsettled. That a Mississippian formation, older than the Barnett, occurs within this region is shown by the surface exposures in the vicinity of San Saba in the Central Mineral region, but to what extent the Mississippian is developed throughout the region as a whole is a problem on which additional information is greatly to be desired and which can be determined satisfactorily only by coring. We hope that geologists directing developments in this region will recommend coring with in this area until these problems can be determined.

"Southern Val Verde County is another region where coring is very much needed, since we are in doubt as to the age of the formations under the Cretaceous."

Daniels' proposal calls for the use of all revenues from the University lands, after the permanent fund becomes $18,000,000, for buildings, salaries, equipment, and other expense items of the University. The resolution calls for an election on the amendment at the next general election in the State. The University now receives the interest off the permanent fund for buildings, but under the proposed amendment, both the interest on the permanent fund and all revenues in excess of $18,000,000 would make up the available and maintenance fund.

A bill calling for the authorization of the Board of Regents of the University to invest the University permanent fund in bonds other than United States bonds and in pledges and obligations of the University to the extent of $4,000,000 was introduced Wednesday by Representative Graves, Holder, Stevenson, and Long.

Under the bill the permanent fund could be invested in (1.) State bonds, (2.) United States bonds, (3.) county, school district, or city bonds, (4.) Federal Farm Loan Act bonds of 1916, and (5.) in obligations and pledges of the Board of Regents or loans secured by the Board's pledges for the construction of dormitories and other buildings.

The loans from the permanent fund not to exceed $4,000,000 in all, are to be made in loans of $250,000 each with 4 per cent interest per annum and are to mature from December 31, 1937, to December 31, 1944. The loans would be used for the construction of dormitories and buildings for the period between the passage of the bill and December 31, 1933.

A bill providing for an investment agent to be hired by the Board of Regents to advise investments of the University permanent fund and the payment of his salary from the available fund was introduced by Representative Graves.

PERSONNEL INCREASE

For the first time in its history, The University of Texas is about to furnish ample facilities for those who are interested in sharing in the benefits that intramural participation affords. The new Gregory Gymnasium, increased outdoor space and a number of additions in equipment have placed intramural athletics on a scale hitherto impossible. Yet the increase in mechanical facilities necessitates an increase in personnel.

Though a great number of individuals have shown up at the intramural offices to offer their services to the intramural officials in an effort to keep the athletic contests between campus groups running smoothly and efficiently, there still exists an ever increasing need for capable and interested individuals who can be of great service to the intramural managers and officials.

According to a plan recently innovated, assistants to intramural managers may be gaining necessary experience and acquainting themselves with the intricacies of competition management by ready the following year to step into positions of responsibility and gain not only the reward offered by the intramural department in the way of awards but valuable experience in the handling of athletes and incalculable experience in helping any project to run smoothly and efficiently.

IN A BENNINGTON BARN

Columns rose like white fingers from the porch upon which Plato sat, his pupils about him. His school of philosophy was thus called Stoic.

In a remodeled barn in Bennington, Vt., will a new women's college be founded that will embody principles strikingly original in the field of higher education. Its name will be Bennington College.

Admission will be based not on the quality of papa's money, not on any entrance examinations, but on the quality of the student as manifested in her grades, through the reports of her teachers, and by any special talent that she may have. If a girl is very poor in physics and worldly goods, but shows exceeding promise as an artist, she is likely to be admitted to Bennington on a scholarship. She may have never gone to any school of any sort. Provided she is very intelligent and talented she is admitted at Bennington. If plans work out, fully one half the student body will be on scholarships of various kinds.

The school is divided into four major fields: science, literature, social study, and fine arts. Each student will be allowed to test herself in all fields. Mathematics are required only if needed in the major field. During the first two years a young woman may dip into all the various departments to decide in what direction her talent lies. During the last two years of her career she may, if adjudged to have particular talent, specialize, going for that purpose to any university in the world. To give the student to warm her hands at all the flames of knowledge, and finally, if she has the courage and the capacity, to allow her to thrust herself into one of the purifying fire, is Bennington designed. May Bennington happen upon the treasure trove of some generous rich man.

In women intelligence, unlike beauty, grows steadily better with age.—William Lyon Phelps.

Legislative Beginnings

Fifty Years Ago Today

FEBRUARY 12, 1881

(Senate Journal, 17th Legislature)

On motion of Senator Buchanan of Wood, special order was further postponed, and Senate bill No. 98, entitled "An act to establish The University of Texas," taken up and read third time.

Senator Stubbs offered the following amendment: Amend section 8 by adding the following: "The Board of Regents, in providing for the efficient organization of the medical department, may establish and open such department at a place the most available in the judgment of the regents for the purpose of practical instruction." Withdrawn.

Senator Stubbs also offered the following amendment:

"The medical department of the university shall be located, if so determined by a vote of the people, at a different point from the university proper, and as a branch thereof; and the question of the location of said department shall be submitted to the people and voted on separately from the proposition for the location of the main university."

"The nominations and election for the location of the medical department, shall be subject to the other provisions of this act, with respect to the time and manner of determining the location of the university."

Adopted by the following vote: Yeas, Buchanan of Grimes, Burges, Harris, Henderson, Hightower, Homan, Lair, Lane, Lightfoot, Martin of Navarro, Moore, Powers, Rainey, Stewart, Swain, Weatherred; Nays, Buchanan of Wood, Cooper, Gooch, Ross, Terrell, Wynne; Not voting, Burton, Martin of Cooke, Shannon.

Senator Gooch offered the following amendment: Amend, by striking out the amendment last adopted, and insert:

"The Board of Regents may make suitable provision for practical instruction in the medical department, by opening at suitable times, a branch for that purpose, at any convenient place within the State."

Lost by the following vote: Yeas, Buchanan of Wood, Gooch, Henderson, Wynne; Nays, Buchanan of Grimes, Burges, Burton, Cooper, Harris, Hightower, Homan, Lair, Lane, Martin of Cooke, Martin of Navarro, Moore, Powers, Rainey, Ross, Stewart, Stubbs, Swain, Terrell, Weatherred; Not voting, Lightfoot, Shannon.

(Senator Lightfoot in the chair.)

Bill was then passed.

Senators Wynne and Cooper presented the following reasons for their votes on the amendment of Senator Stubbs:

We assign as our reasons for voting against the amendment offered by the Senator from Galveston, to Senate bill No. 98, providing that the medical department of the university shall be located, if so determined by a vote of the people, at a different point from the university proper, and as a branch thereof, as follows:

1. We believe that said amendment contravenes the spirit, if not the letter of the Constitution. Evidently but one university was contemplated, and designating this as a branch does not relieve it from being an independent institution.

2. The available fund for erecting the building is scarcely sufficient to complete and furnish one university for general purposes, and to segregate this university is believed to be tantamount to destroying what is expected to be the pride of Texas and the peer of the world.

3. Submitting the question of the location of two departments of the university which may be at different places, we believe will encourage a combination between sections of the State whereby each may secure the location of one branch of the university, that will thwart the will of the people and operate against the public interest.

"THE KING OF JAZZ"—with Paul Whiteman and his band, last times today. "The Sea Wolf," with Milton Sills, Friday and Saturday. At the Texas.

Reviewed Today

"SWING HIGH," current at the amount, is a show to go to to a show, not because it is an outdiggly good picture, which it is. Life in a circus as it is shown in "Swing High" is pure with few troubles, but, according to the best circus traditions, in trouble does come, it doesn't but it pours. Helen Twelvétrees portrays the role of the owner's daughter who falls in love with the hero, who sings his way throughout the picture. Except for an overworked theme song a story poor because of its inequity, the picture is thrilling at the same time entertaining. The Verna Woods dance revue, featuring 60 of Austin's talented youngsters in fourteen numbers, can be seen on the Paramount stage at 9:15 o'clock tonight and day night.

"PART-TIME WIFE," now at the Hancock, is a fair show. Edmund Lowe, playing the role of a man who takes his pretty wife for granted until she seeks what she wants elsewhere, is excellent, as always is. Opposite him he has Leila Hyams, a capital leading lady who more than makes up for the fact that the story calls for the man and his wife to become reconciled through the efforts of a little chin and his dog. There is one message in particular which is worth the whole show. It concerns the tussle between Mr. Lowe and Miss Hyams. They tear up the floor and wallow on the floor, but it is all right because they're married, husband and wife, and besides, it's all in fun. And it's fun any audience that sees it. A more such human, livable situations in movies, and a few less scenes of exaggerated dramatics.

Opening Today

"NIGHT WORK," featuring that frisky young comedian, Eddie Quillan, will open a three-day engagement on the screen at the Queen Theater today. It is farce, built around the situation of an apprentice window dresser who discovers himself with a baby from the orphanage on his hands to support, willy-nilly. He proceeds to find himself a girl, and in the closing chapter of the movie, she consents to help him rear the brat. Not that the story matters; it's the fun that counts. The picture has a large cast, but it might be well to notice that Sally Starr plays the part of the girl, while a young lady by the name of Frances Upton takes another role not quite so romantic.

Creek-up on the box score of the Pony game shows that the Dopehead erred in stating that Elkins, Price, and Fomby tied for Texas high point with nine each. In reality the honor belongs to Captain James alone, who tossed in eleven points. One field goal was credited to Price instead of Fomby. The scoring ran like this: Fomby, 11, Elkins 9, Price 7. Our deepest bow to Brother Fomby and our second best to Brother Price, who must be relegated to third position.

Practically everyone who saw the game Tuesday night came away with one all-conference selection firmly in mind. Few can contest Bill Skeeter's right to a guard post, after seeing him play against the Steers. It was the best guarding exhibition the Dopehead has seen lately. And Skeeters has been playing that same game all year. It was he who stopped Adolph Dietzel for the first time. He also stopped the flashy Rice forwards, Hart and Dixon, and everybody else who has come his way. McLaughlin helps his chief in extremely efficient manner. They form the best pair of guards in the conference.

Such ball games as have been played at Gregory Gym this year! The Steers are a losing ball club, but they never fail to give spectators a run for their money. The Mustang game was probably the best of the season, but right behind come the Baylor game, the two Arkansas games, and any number of early tilts, most of which were won or lost by one or two points.

In general, given a losing team, gates receipts fall off as the season progresses and the home boys sink further into the cellar. But the games played here have been such interesting and thrilling spectacles from the crowd's viewpoint, regardless of who won or lost, that each successive contest draws better than the last one. Unusual, but easily accounted for: When you see the Longhorns play on

Five More Conference Games on Texas Card

Taking heart from their improved showing against the conference-leading Mustangs Tuesday night, the Steers were in a confident mood as they worked out Wednesday. Five games remain on the Texas schedule and the boys are out after those five and a .500 average for the season. The task at hand is the game Saturday night in Houston with the Rice Owls, who rank just above the Longhorns in the percentage column. The clubs have not met this season. Rice holds wins over A. & M. and Baylor, teams which have defeated Texas, while the Steers managed a split with the Razorbacks, who in turn swept a two-games series with Rice.

Coach Fred Walker praised the work of his team in the S. M. U. game and again commented on the excellent spirit being shown by the Steers in the midst of a disastrous season. Their attitude compares favorably with that of a club in the thick of the championship fight, the Longhorn mentor said.

their home court, you see a dandy basketball game.

Joe Lea, Steer baseball manager, is all up in the air. Joe and the Dopehead have cooperated earnestly in effort to entice well-meaning, hard-working young men out to Clark Field each afternoon, there to chase foul balls and otherwise help around the place. Diligent performance of these duties throughout the season earns the chaser a reserve sweater and makes him eligible for varsity manager next year, the position which Mr. Lea now occupies.

But despite appeals through these columns and otherwise, would-be managers have remained away from Clark Field in large numbers. Joe has roped in about six, he informs the Dopehead, but he is in desperate need of about
