Lack of Funds Prevent New Work Projects

State Board Faces Tie-up in Every Division Excepting Rural Relief

Approval of new work projects, excepting rural rehabilitation projects, was cut short today by officials of the Texas Relief Administration because of shortage of funds.

Only supplements to carry on employment classification, commodity distribution, and garden projects where seeds already have been contracted for will be approved henceforth, Adam R. Johnson, State relief director, notified county administrators.

"At this time," Johnson said, "no assurance can be given concerning allocations of funds for March. Every county administrator should give serious consideration to the proper and economical use of funds he now has to carry him through this emergency."

Effective March 4, no requisitions for materials, trucks, teams, or any non-personal service items will be approved for any project, including sewing rooms and administrative projects.

"Administrators will immediately discontinue all expenditures for owner-driven trucks and teams."

Where it is necessary to close down projects by virtue of these instructions, any non-relief personnel assigned to such projects will be immediately removed from the payroll.

The order will result in the suspension of projects over the State in which the commission is paying for materials or services other than those provided by relief labor.

Projects in which the commission is furnishing only budgetary relief may be continued so long as within the judgment of the administrator he is able to carry on under a federal ear-marked fund.

Centennial Coin Sale Renewed

The State-wide campaign for the sale of the specially designed half dollars commemorative of the Centennial of Texas Independence in 1936, to raise the fund for the construction of the Texas Memorial Museum on the campus of the University will be renewed today, A. Garland Adair, chairman of the American Legion Centennial committee sponsoring the project, said Friday.

The campaign will continue through April 21, and during the 50-day period a house to house, office to office, and person to person canvass is expected, Commander H. M. Ainsworth of the Texas American Legion, who is chairman of the distribution committee, reported.

"John McCurdy, secretary of the Ex-Students' Association of the University, has been asked to request that Texas exes include as a feature of their March 2 programs throughout the nation an explanation of the movement sponsored by the Texas Legion and prepare to take an active part in the coin distribution," Mr. Adair said.

Making 8 o'clock classes is a grave train to JULIAN KESSELL, that man from the Panhandle. Back home he used to get up early enough to catch a rabbit for breakfast, and then run some thirteen miles to school.

SUSAN SANFORD, however, finds it hard being on time for 2 o'clock labs. She couldn't eat that heartily. Perhaps it's a beauty sleep that makes labs so inconvenient.

You have all heard cracks like "Cutting someone's water off," "Scrubbing his deck," or "Running under him," but it seems that WOLF MEEKINS' sweet CACKI BRAY's yard clean over on Twelfth Street, and the latter has now kicked over the honey-bucket and the bees are buzzing.

For the good of society, will someone please introduce DOUG PERKINS to the "cute little" Dallasite ELEANOR DAVIS? 'Tis the only way their mutual friends will ever have any peace.

Benedict Decries Effigy Prank Davisson to Fight Tuition Raise

Eastland Solon Says He Favors Decrease in Fees

"I want to make it absolutely clear that there are two members of the House with similar names," Representative George A. Davisson of Eastland stated Friday, "and that it was Howard Davisson of Rotan and not myself who introduced the bill to raise University tuition fees. Many people, knowing me as a University student, have had the idea that I introduced the bill. That is not true. I am opposed to its passage and will work to defeat it."

Davisson is a student in the University School of Law and is known as the author of the unemployment insurance bill which will be heard before the labor committee of the House next week.

Means Enrollment Decrease
"I am prepared to help in the fight of friends of the University and of education in general against this proposed increase in tuition," Davisson reiterated. "The passage of this bill will mean a sudden drop of from 1,500 to 2,000 students in the University's enrollment, not to speak of the decreases which it will make at other State-supported schools."

"If this bill was passed, the playboys and playgirls could continue to go to school at the University, but our purpose in furthering higher education is to have some place in the State where the poor boy or the poor girl who is striving for an education and who has to work every step of the way can have an opportunity to put himself on equal footing with his well-to-do neighbors," Davisson declared.

Favors Lower Tuition
"Instead of favoring this bill, I personally would like to see the present tuition fees reduced from the present rate of $25 per semester to $15 or $20. This is certainly in line with our theory, expounded by our forefathers, of free public education. Not only should we make high school education available without charge to our school children, but we should also work to make the institutions of higher learning available to every person who wants to get an education," Davisson concluded.

Expert to Exhibit Television Set

A demonstration of the science of television will be given today from 3 o'clock until 10 o'clock in the Physics Building auditorium. Wendell McMahon, Hollywood, pioneer in the field of television, will offer this demonstration, sponsored by the Department of Physics of the University.

During the demonstration, the audience will be able to see the actual broadcasting and receiving of visual impressions; will be able to see as well as hear the person broadcasting.

Mr. McMahon, in his demonstration, will send and receive the images of girls. Girls wishing to help him in this work are requested to see him in the Physics Building lecture room at 10 o'clock this morning.

Mr. McMahon will explain the principles of television and will answer the questions of the audience.

He said that today television is where radio was in 1918 and 1920 and that within the next decade its advance will equal the present development of radio.

There have already been over forty television stations licensed, and in the East alone there are 35,000 sets now in use. At present, however, there are no television stations farther south than Kansas City.

The admission price to the demonstration is 25 cents.

HORNOSTLE INJURED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 1. (INS)—Charles Hornostle, former Indiana University track star, will not race Glenn Cunningham, Kansas flash, in the K.C.A.C. indoor meet here tomorrow night. Hornostle today wired that he was forced to withdraw due to an injury sustained when he fell in the national A.A.U. 600 meter race last week.

3,700 Petition Against Fee Hike

Thirty-seven hundred signatures were placed on the petition located in convenient places on the campus Friday to oppose an increase in tuition fees. The petition, including separate lists for working and non-working students, was placed on tables in six buildings on the campus and in front of the Texas Union. The idea was sponsored by the Young Democrats, who received the aid of the Comptroller in securing locations and materials to conduct a survey of student sentiment.

The petitions will be placed on the tables again today. The Young Democrats hope to get at least six thousand names.

In an effort to present a clear case to the Legislature, two students are compiling figures from the Registrar's Office, the Comptroller's Office, and the office of the Dean of Student Life in an effort to find the average financial standing of students who come to the University.

Fine to Give Illustrated Talk On Mountains

Eben G. Fine, perhaps the discoverer of the Arapahoe Glacier that lies between the North and South Arapahoe Peaks, will speak on "Rambles Through the Rockies" Tuesday night, March 5, at 8 o'clock in the Geology Building auditorium. The talk is being sponsored by the Camera Club.

The lecture will cover virtually the entire mountain area of Colorado including the Mesa Verde National Park with its cliff dwelling ruins, the San Juan Mountains, the Rocky Mountain National Park, the Roosevelt National Forest, the country in the Eldora and Ward regions, and many other sections that are well-known to tourists.

Mr. Fine, who has been called "nature lover, traveler, photographer, and lecturer," is a business man with a hobby—photography. Using his hobby while rambling through the Rocky Mountains, he has made a series of photographs which he will show as hand-colored slides to illustrate his talk.

Since the discovery of the Arapahoe Glacier, five others have been discovered. Many tourists, scientists, and students from the University of Colorado summer school visit the region each year.

Among the stories which Mr. Fine tells is one concerning his adventure on this ice field alone on July 14, 1900. It is on this ice field that "red snow" may be found.

A. F. of L. Asks Vote On Auto Strike
DETROIT, March 1.—(INS)—The American Federation of Labor today announced it has asked its membership in the motor plants to decide whether a general automobile workers' strike shall be called.

Francis J. Dillon, chief auto plant organizer, announced at 10:30 o'clock this morning that the auto workers council of the A. F. of L. has ordered a strike vote in the Federation's 176 automobile unions.

If the workers vote to strike, the council will call the walkout, affecting approximately two thousand men, Dillon said.

King of Siam To Abdicate

LONDON, Mar. 1.—(INS)—In the seclusion of his country estate, Knowle Park Mansion, Surrey, King Prajadhipok of Siam is drafting his degree of abdication, it was learned today.

The Oriental monarch, who visited the United States some years ago, decided definitely to renounce his throne when he received word that the Siamese National Assembly had rejected his demands regarding constitutional reform.

Prince Ananda, nephew of Prajadhipok and who is now in school, is expected to succeed him.

President Blames 'Irresponsible And Foolish Boys'

President H. Y. Benedict issued the following statement yesterday regarding the hanging in effigy of Representative Harold Davisson by a group of students Thursday night:

"To hang in effigy a State official lawfully engaged in doing what he believes to be his duty, is an act wholly unworthy of anyone in The University of Texas. The act may have been, doubtless, the thoughtless or playful prank of a few irresponsible and foolish boys, yet it brings the blush of shame to all of us who love the University."

"To train boys to discuss public questions fairly and openly and reasonably on their merits, is a chief duty of the University, hence this unreasoning and secret and unfair act is as treasonable to University ideals as it is mortifying to the great majority of students and to the entire faculty. "Speaking personally, I must say that this act of vandalism hurts me much more than it can hurt Mr. Davisson."

Old $100 Bill Still Unclaimed

The $100 bill which an F. E. R. A. worker found last year in the pages of a book from the Gilmer estate is still unclaimed.

Several of the heirs of the Gilmer estate responded to communications concerning the bill, but one or two of the heirs who are in foreign countries have not yet been heard from. Until they answer, nothing will be done about the bill, E. W. Winkler, bibliographer, said.

The bill was issued in 1864 from the National Bank of Cincinnati, Ohio. Max Mehl, coin collector of Fort Worth, has

Texans Request Oil Bill Hearing

Three state officials joined yesterday in urging Texas' delegation in Congress to afford Texas a hearing on the pending bill by Senator Thomas and Congressman Disney of Oklahoma, providing for Federal control of the oil industry, International News Service reported.

Telegrams to Senators Connally and Sheppard, Vice-President Garner, and Congressmen Sam Rayburn and Marvin Jones, were sent by Governor James V. Allred, Attorney General William McCraw, and Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Railroad Commission.

All asked that a hearing for the latter part of March or early in April be arranged.

"The democracy of Texas is unalterably pledged against Federal control," said McCraw.

Allred pointed out that measures to prevent waste were now pending before the Texas Legislature, and asserted that 90 percent of the oil industry was opposed to Federal control.

Thompson asserted the Connally bill, preventing inter-state shipments of oil produced in excess of allowances, was all that was needed to supplement state enforcement.

Japan's Pact Cause Of Official Concern

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(INS)—The United States and Great Britain today took official cognizance of the reported Sino-Japanese agreement whereby Japan would extend its control over China through financial assistance.

Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, conferred with William Phillips, acting secretary of state, on the matter at the State Department.

Definite indications were forthcoming from official quarters that this government was deeply concerned over Japan's apparent attempt to utilize financial assistance as a means of achieving a form of guardianship over China.

Hitler Visions Franco-Reich Friendship

Nazi Thinks Saar's Return to Germany A Fortunate Day For All Europe

SAARBRUCKEN, March 1.—(INS)—Coupling a plea for Franco-German friendship with a renewed attack upon the Versailles Treaty, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler welcomed the people of the Saar back to the fatherland this evening.

Climaxing a day of frenzied celebrations staged to signalize the Saar's return to German soil, the Chancellor spoke between waves of thunderous cheering that echoed throughout this ancient town.

"This," he said, "is a fortunate day for all Europe."

"It is fortunate because, through the return of the Saar to the Reich, the crisis from

SAARBRUCKEN, March 1.—(INS)—Germany is willing to wait 15 or 20 years for freedom and equality, Chancellor Adolf Hitler indicated in his speech to the Saarlanders this evening.

He predicted a "free and equal Germany, able to feed its people" twenty years hence, and pledged every man and woman in the Reich to achieve that aim by peaceful means.

which two great nations suffered most can be soonest relieved.

"We definitely hope that through the Saar, relations between Germany and France will be definitely improved."

The huge throngs, which on January 13 voted to place the Saar under the Nazi banner after fifteen years of League of Nations rule, cheered loudly at this unusually frank extension of the olive branch by the Reich to her traditional enemy.

"It must be possible," Hitler continued, "that two great nations can join hands in a common work to withstand the calamities that are threatening to bury Europe."

"Just as we are striving for peace, so do we hope France is striving also."

"But may all statesmen realize that there is nothing to be gained by tearing a nation to pieces. Blood is a stronger tie than all the paper documents in the world. Blood is the loudest voice of mankind. It drowns out everything else."

Saar Celebrates Return to Germany

SAARBRUCKEN, March 1.—(INS)—Twenty-five persons were carried off in stretchers and scores fainted today when the Saar's celebration over its return to Germany reached its climax with a huge parade before Chancellor Hitler.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels appealed to the crowd to proceed in orderly fashion to government house for another demonstration. It was estimated 50,000 storm troopers, police, and members of the Hitler Youth paraded.

Solons Disagree On Air Mail Rates

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(INS)—Congressional disagreement over proposals giving the Interstate Commerce Commission authority to increase contract rates of air mail operators today threatened legislation requested by President Roosevelt for financial relief of the carriers.

A special committee composed of House and Senate members and representatives of the I. C. C. and Post Office Department had been named by the President to formulate recommendations for Congress.

Members of the committee failed to agree on allowing rate increases of existing and future contracts. House sponsors of air mail legislation who sat with the group favored the increase while senator McKellar (D) of Tennessee, chairman of the Senate post office committee, signified opposition.

As a result, a sub-committee of the House post office committee approved a proposal permitting the I. C. C. to raise compensation of carriers up to 20 per cent when ever the operators can show proof that they are losing money on their contracts.

Greetings to the Swarm of Exes Living In or Outside Texas

Greetings to the swarm of Exes Living in or outside Texas; Special, warmest, friendliest greetings To those attending March 2 meetings!

Time, as has been its habit for some time, marches on and we come again to March 2, the day of days on which Texas Exes march forth. Like its predecessors, March 2, daybreak, 1934, to March 1, midnight, 1935, has been a period in which all of us have gotten one year older, experienced good and evil fortune, succumbed a little to temptation, and exhibited, I hope, some nobilities of character and greatness of soul.

In athletics we have mopped up some opponents and been mopped up by others and our super-rooters continue to sigh and even yell for a schedule that results in a series of uninterrupted victories over teams that have licked everybody in the United States but us.

In attendance the Main University went up nearly one thousand—to 7622 catalogue count. As a result, since the income is going down, the cost per student has gone down so far that the University is in the cheapest part of the cheap state university class, a condition that ought to bother you a good deal and which does bother the Regents very much. However, there is often a silver lining to the cloud and the chief glory of the University lies in the fact that in rank among the forty-two state universities, The University of Texas undoubtedly stands among the top third and in cost of running among the bottom third.

Oil continues to be the chief source of wealth of the University, and ignorance among Texas Exes of the real condition and merits of the University continues to be its chief source of poverty. The result at present, as stated above, is a decreasing income that seriously threatens efficiency. The University, however, will not quite starve to death, and there are signs, especially in the present Legislature, that there is an increasing knowledge and appreciation of the merits of the University and the need of the State for its services.

Amid the trouble and tumult of the period in which we live, a period in which it is hard for the individual to keep the wolf from the door and hard for the nation to find its way to greater happiness and justice and wealth, the University is part of the answer to the central question: Has mankind sense enough to solve the problems of modern society and unselfishness enough to adopt the best solutions when found? It takes both the Golden Rule and the Universities of the World to answer this question affirmatively and happily, and it was to help answer this question happily that state universities were founded and are maintained.

But March 2 is a day of rejoicing and local reunions among the Texas Exes. At your meetings think first a little about the welfare of the world, think second a little about the welfare of the University, but in the main have a good time among yourselves. Sorrow over the passing of the old Main Building, so dear to many of us, but remember that the new building will be in fifty years dearer still to many more exes than those now in existence. Tell the ancient yarn, renew your youth, warm your hearts, go home happier. Blessings upon each and all of you!

This Cigar Thief Is in for Trouble

DETROIT, March 1.—(INS)—The thief who took 25,000 cigars from Daniel McFarren's truck last night is dallying with sudden death.

The cigars were consigned to Oklahoma City, and, according to reports, "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, former governor of Oklahoma, was the consignee of some of them.

Those best informed know that "Alfalfa Bill's" cigars are to ordinary stogies what an earthquake is to an infant's sneeze.

So, McFarren, of the McFarren Company, promises to take the cigars back and no questions asked, providing the robber has survived.

Ex-Justice Holmes 'Holding His Own'

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(INS)—Former Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the Supreme Court was reported "holding his own" in a mid-day bulletin issued at his home today.

The renowned jurist, who will be 94 years old next week, was described as "doing very well." The bulletin said there was "no change" in his condition. He is suffering from bronchial pneumonia and has been receiving oxygen treatment for several days.

General Revenue Warrants Called In

General revenue warrants up to and including No. 35,896 will be paid by the State Treasury Department, according to an announcement from that office Friday. This includes all warrants issued up to November 2.

The department also offered to purchase Confederate pension warrants up to and including the July, 1934, issue if they have not been discounted, and up to and including the July, 1933, issue regardless of whether or not they have been discounted.

An announcement from the Treasury Department also stated that the deficit in the general revenue fund was $7,100,000 compared with $6,750,000 on February 14. The deficit in the Confederate pension fund was estimated at $4,750,000.

Allred to Give Tax Message Monday

Governor James V. Allred's eagerly awaited message on taxation will be submitted personally at a joint session of the Legislature at 10:15 o'clock Monday morning, he said.

The Governor has been working on the message for several weeks, and on it will hinge some of the major policies of his administration.

ROYALTIES DECREASE

In February, 1934, the University received $74,346.16, while payments for last month were $68,980.21. The annual royalties from University mineral leases was $15,565, according to a report from the Texas Land Office.

Texas Exes Pay Tribute To Republic

Banquets Celebrate 'University Day'—Benedict to Speak Over Radio

Austin ex-students of the University will join with ex-students throughout the State today in paying tribute to the founders of the Republic of Texas by holding a dinner in the Texas Union at 7:15 o'clock. Ex-students will gather at about this same time in approximately one hundred cities throughout the United States to pay this same tribute in continuation of an annual custom which has made March 2 very distinctly a University of Texas day.

Benedict to Broadcast
The meetings over the State will be discussed in the address of Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University, which will be delivered at the banquet given by the Texas Exes Club of Dallas in the Adolphus Hotel. The speech and a part of the program will be broadcast over the Southwest Broadcasting System, including station KNOW of Austin, 8:30 to 8:45 o'clock.

The Rev. Lawrence Wharton will be the chief speaker at the dinner in the Texas Union. The program will begin at 8:30 o'clock with a roll call by ten-year groups, beginning with 1880 and continuing through 1930.

Program Arranged
Included on the Austin program will be an invocation by the Rev. Edmund Heinsold, a sing-song led by Dan Greider, stunts by the comic team of Jarrell and Neighbors, cowboy songs by the University Men's Glee Club, a story by J. Frank Dobie, a speech by Hubert Jones on the work of the Ex-Students' Association, a speech by Fred Adams, president of Austin ex-students, on "Dreams of an Ex for Tex," and music by a trio consisting of Miss Myra Smith, Mrs. Louis Joughin, and Mrs. M. L. Begeman.

Mr. Adams will be toastmaster, and Hiliare F. Nitschke is chairman of the committee on attendance and arrangements. Officers will be nominated by a committee headed by Judge J. W. McClelland.

Taylor, dean of the College of Engineering, at Cleburne; Ira P. Hildebrand, dean of the School of Law, at Houston; Dr. E. K. McGinnis, professor of business administration, at San Angelo; John A. McCurdy, executive secretary of the Ex-Students' Association, at Temple; Tim Moynihan, football line coach, at Fort Worth; H. J. Lutchter Stark, member of the Board of Regents, at Beaumont; E. C. H. Bantel, assistant dean of the College of Engineering, at Giddings; Dr. S. L. Joekel, instructor in Bible, at Hillsboro; E. J. Mathews, registrar, at Victoria; and W. E. Miss Polly Crawford, formerly with the Department of English, will address a meeting of Panhandle students in Amarillo.

Officers will be elected at the various meetings, and the presidents elected will be also ex-officio vice-chairmen of the Round-Up, which will be held on the campus April 5, 6, and 7. The speakers at the meetings will give the ex-students in attendance a personal invitation to take part in the Round-Up activities. The officers of the groups will be expected to head a delegation to the campus during the Round-Up.

The program in Dallas, "One Hundred Years of Song and Dance in Texas," will be given entirely by ex-students. LET'S TALK TENNIS

—GEORGE DENNIS—

BIG-TIME tennis again. Wilmer Allison, the former University star who became internationally famous in amateur ranks and who now occupies the number one position in the United States, will take part in a free exhibition next Friday night at Gregory Gym.

This should give the soft-spoken Texan ample opportunity to display the mettle of play which he will probably carry into Davis Cup competition this year. Several varsity players, as yet unannounced, will take part in the competition.

BERTRAM WELTENS, nicknamed "Applecheeks," hard-hitting Longhorn captain, will probably be the top-ranking squadman this year—is optimistic of the United States' chances of regaining the Davis Cup this year—names San Antonio as his home, and says courses in economics are his favorites—was runner-up in the conference singles last year—has won the Tennessee Valley, Agawan Hunt, and Mexican doubles championships with Martin Buxby, with whom he went to the semi-finals in the intercollegiate—he and Buxby are number 10 doubles team in the United States.

Weltens prefers grass to clay surfaces as his strokes are better adapted to the former—his hobby is bowling—biggest thrill in his life was when he bowled 300... is a two-year letterman—thinks Texas can beat any college team in the country in a ten-man match—believes that Tulane will have the hardest team to beat this year—has played for eight years—looks upon Tilden as the Old Master of all times in the net game.

Varsity Baseball Season Opens

The Varsity baseball nine will open the season this afternoon with its first scheduled game, an inter-squad contest to be held at Clark Field at 3 o'clock, Uncle Billy Disch, coach, announced yesterday. The game is open to the public.

Although it is early in the season, this year's crop of diamond stars should put on an interesting game. Norman Branch and Dick Midkiff, the two big red-headed pitchers on whom Disch will depend for most of the pitching during this season, will probably start the game on the two opposing teams. Both men have shown up well during the first month of training. Some of the other hurlers undoubtedly will also see service during the course of the game.

All five of the returning lettermen from last year are rounding into good shape and are sure to start today. Bohn Hilliard, star outfielder and pitcher of last year, has been shifted to second base in order to bolster up the green infield that is to take the place of last year's veterans. He will hold the place of Clyde McDowell, last year's captain. Lloyd Rigby or Luke Winburn will try to fill the shoes of All-American Pat Ankenman, and from the way they are hustling, one of them will probably do a very good job of it. Aubrey Graham will probably be on third base. Van Viebig's position for the past three years. The outfield will be made up of three lettermen, Buster Baebel, captain, Red Preibisch, and Del January. Joe Fitzsimmons and Jimmy Phipps will take over the catchers' duties for the two teams today.

Senior Life Saving Class Begins Monday

Instructions for senior Red Cross life saving will begin Monday, March 4, C. L. Kelly, instructor, announced Friday.

The course is open to any University man student with average swimming ability. There will be two sections, one on MWF at 3 o'clock and the other one on TTS at 3 o'clock.

Certificates and badges will be given those who pass the examination following the completion of the course. There are no charges for the two-week course.

Gray Continues To Pace Circuit In Scoring Race

By WARREN COOPER
Texas Sports Editor

Rice Institute extended its winning streak to seven games Friday night in Gregory Gym by defeating the Texas Longhorns 34 to 28, thereby retaining its chance of winning the Southwest Conference title.

Snapping out of a two-game slump, the Steers made it a close fight until the final gun. Jack Gray registered a goal from close in shortly after the opening tip, and proved to be the only time during the game that the Steers were in the lead, but they never fell behind over seven points during the first period. Twice in the final frame the Owls boasted a nine-point margin.

Gray Leads Scoring

Jack Gray, Texas captain playing his last game against the Institute team, captured scoring honors for the evening with fifteen points made on six field goals and three gift shots.

Gray is still on top in the individual scoring of the conference, his total now being 130 points.

The Owls, for the fifth time during the past three years, proved to be just county cousins for the Wills Point cage artist. His total points scored against the Bayou quintet reached the century mark as he sank a foul shot near the close of the game. The Owls are willing to admit that Gray has the Indian sign on them as they put forth supreme effort to hold his goaling down Friday night, but their efforts resulted in piling up the majority of the seventeen fouls they committed.

Gray's average for the six times he has encountered the Owls is several fractions under seventeen points per game, a remarkable record considering the Houston team has been one of the best crews in the circuit the past two years.

Lots of Fouls

Journey, Kelly, and Eaton furnished the scoring punch for the visitors during the opening, scoring fourteen of the eighteen points, good for an 18-12 lead at the half. Four of the Owls' six field goals were marked up on long shots. "Treetop" Kelly, elongated center, who paced the Kitts-men in scoring with 12 points, hurt the Owls' chance in the opening period by missing four foul shots.

Running true to Southwest Conference style, the game was replete with fouls, thirty-five being called, forcing Collins and Sands of the Steers and Kelly and Journey of the Owls to the sidelines. Three other players were charged with three personals.

Rice's well rounded offensive attack put three players in scoring roles while the Steers had only Gray with a good score at the end of the game. Marshall Pennington, who sank two long shots, and Jean Francis were tied for second place in the Texas ranks with four points each. Francis had heart-breaking luck on several shots from the court.

Both teams did great jobs of ball rustling and the activity under the goals was spirited with three or four men "tugging" the ball on numerous occasions. After Collins fouled out in the opening minutes of the second half Sands shifted to center and turned in a splendid game against the towering Kelly. The floor maneuvers of Eaton of the Owls and Pennington of the Longhorns was exceptionally good.

COMMITTEE NEUTRAL

DALLAS, Mar. 1. (INS)—The county Democratic committee today had given a cold shower to suggestions that the body take a hand in the chaotic legislative race here to name a successor to Sarah Hughes, Robert S. Quillen, secretary, said the county committee would take no part in the squabble.

Frances Hall Stars to Lead Independent II to Swimming Victory

Clyde Littlefield Will Be Kansas Relays Referee

Special to The Daily Texan
LAWRENCE, Kan., March 1.—Clyde Littlefield, head track coach at The University of Texas, Austin, will be the referee for the thirteenth annual Kansas Relays at Lawrence, April 20.

Coach Littlefield's acceptance was announced by Dr. Forrest C. Allen, director of athletics at the University. Dr. Allen added that it was particularly fitting to ask Coach Littlefield to serve as referee of the Relays, as he had been bringing Longhorn relay teams to Kansas every year of the Kansas Relays.

The Texas medley team (short medley) won the event three out of five years it was run, and set the record at 7:35.6. Texas also won the mile relay in 1931.

BONUS HEARING SET

WASHINGTON, March 1. — (INS)—Open hearings on the $2,000,000,000 soldiers' bonus issue will be opened Monday. The bill may be presented to the House for action next week.

Kappa and Zeta Follow in Girl's Aquatic Finals

By CAROLYN MALINA
Texas Sports Staff

INDEPENDENT II outclassed the hard-swimming Kappas and Zetas Friday afternoon to win the women's intramural swimming championship with a score of 43. Kappa Kappa Gamma came in second with 25, Zeta Tau Alpha third with 21, and Independent I last with 11.

Frances Hall, captain of Independent II, was easily the star of the optional form diving with a perfect back jackknife from the high board. Miss Hall added to this achievement the winning of the free-style race the length of the 75-foot tank in 14.5 seconds, one-tenth of a second faster than her winning mark in 1934. Bobbie Purvis, Zeta, and Pauline Dahbs, Independent I, vied for second honors, making the free style race in 14.8 and 15.4 respectively.

Zetas led in the comic relay, Eleanor Trimble, Shudde Bess Bryson, Miss Purvis, and Dorothy Leedom making the four lengths of the pool dressed in shirts and bloomers in 3 minutes, 7.9 seconds. Independents II were second in 3 minutes 20 seconds.

Kappa and Independent II tied in the free style relay in a time of 1 minute 5 seconds for the four competitors over 100 yards. Lineups were: Kappas, Jane Connor, Dorothy Runge, Lois Houston, and Floy Robinson; Independents II, Mary Lois Dunlap, Wenda Davis, Miriam Mollberg, and Frances Hall.

Miss Mollberg won form swimming with 7, 7, and 8 points in the three swims to total 22 points. Miss Robinson coming second with 6, 7, 7, total 20.

First in form diving was Miss Hall, with a score of 15, Wenda Davis, Independent II, taking second with a total of 13 points. Third was Sadie Meadows, Kappa with 12 points.

Motor Case Appeal Questions N.I.R.A.

WASHINGTON, March 1. — (INS)—A bitter attack on constitutionality of the N.I.R.A. was submitted to the Supreme Court today in a brief filed in the appeal of the Spielman Motor Sales Company of New York.

The case, which involves the most sweeping test of the recovery act yet presented to the Court, is slated for early argument.

Six Men Chosen For University Golf Team

Six men were chosen to make up the University golf team Friday, after one of the lowest scoring qualifying rounds during the coaching experience of Harvey Penick, coach of the team. The six, who turned in the lowest scores over the thirty-six holes and who will represent the University are Ed White, Nelson Munger, Jimmie Smith, Raymond Ramsey, Bill Welch, and Robert Battle.

Ed White led the parade to the thirty-sixth green with a sparkling round of 148. White experienced a bit of trouble on the initial eighteen, coming in with a 77, but regained his usual form on the final round to score a sub-par 71. Nelson Munger and Jimmie Smith tied for second place with a pair of 149's. Munger shot 76 on the first eighteen and 73 on the final round. Smith came through with a consistent 75-74. The other places in descending order were Ray Ramsey, 75-76—151, Bill Welch, 79-75—154, and Robert Battle, 80-75—155.

Freshmen Face Dentists Today

C. J. "Shorty" Alderson, freshman basketball coach, will send the undefeated Yearling cagers out on one of their toughest assignments this season when they engage the Houston Dental College five in a single encounter on the main floor of the Gregory Gymnasium at 3:30 o'clock today.

Starring on the Dental aggregation is Hall Ringer, a former student at the University, and captain of the formidable Houston tribe. In the recent Houston city league race, this team emerged with runner-up honors.

The freshman basketweavers will miss Jimmy Voss, guard, who was called Friday to his home in San Antonio because of his father's illness. Whether Warren Osborne, shifty forward who has been showing up surprisingly well at a guarding berth lately, will start in today's game, is a matter of guesswork. The probable starting lineup will include Bill Baxter and Jerry Sparkman at forward berths, Joe Roach at pivot position, Don White and Warren Osborne receiving the guard assignments.

Mary Frances Steck left Friday for New Orleans to attend Mardi Gras festivities. En route Miss Steck will visit in Beaumont.

The sponsors of the Let's Dance program, the weekly three-hour dance show, are considering seriously the use of guest stars on their show. this column is an outlet for those things, good and censorial, which could just as well go unsaid about campus life . . . just those juicy bits of nothing, yum, yum! it is written after the modernistic style because—well, because it ain't so darned easy to read! if you have anything good to say about it, you're welcome . . . but remember, no bricks.

and, my nomination for b.m.o.c. (big man on the campus) for this week is John Jr. Bell, president of the students association, because he is p.s.a. and because of the stand he took on the state-owned bookstore question. his close runner-up might have been Jack Gray, the varsity basketballer, because of his excellence at pig-sticking . . . but since then the frogs have done a little croaking.

and, ed barlow, swimming instructor, athlete, etc., dubs those sluggish fellows in his swimming classes who can't or don't want to take it, "daffodils," quite original but not so breath-taking and awe-inspiring as the authentic spring-dance he does in his wrath for the "daffodils," his interpretation would make the best of nature dancers feel unpracticed in their art.

and, is "the eyes of texas" your favorite song? yes? then sign the petition now being circulated which will be sent to guy lombardo who plays the nation's five favorite melodies each wednesday evening at nine o'clock. you and you and you will have to vote to put over our song, so let's go!

and, a distinguished gentleman in the lobby of the texas theater snatching tickets . . . looked like a real somebody . . . turned out to be morris glass . . . good fellow.

and, one of the most amazing personalities on the campus: dr. randolph arnold haynes, the totally blind professor of romance languages.

and, bits of chit-chat about nothing: why doesn't it turn cold again? anne williams has red hair. and is still allowed to stay at his frat house. it's a wonder old b. hall doesn't tumble in some of these fine mornings. spats cause most men to look "effie," joe murray, the ace bridge player, sometimes refuses to be the fourth always in demand by other union loafers. what becomes of the football heroes—like hiliard, coates, sanger, gray, etc.—after the season is over? those pomegranates growing around the several campus buildings and little field dorm. were very good while they lasted! we once had a dust storm in austin.

guess who the campus big-shot really is . . . clark field. clark field has been elected prexy of many a good frosh class. is clark field president of this year's freshmen? hell week is the right name for it. how funny those visiting delegates look roaming around the forty acres! if you like an intellectual haircut, try the barber chair of jack buchanan, the texas ranger cartoonist who insists dr. j. b. wharey looks like a walrus. it will probably rain during the spring holidays.

and, end up with the wish that hope quilter and frances m'clain may both live to be octogenarians because they recovered from appendicitis operations recently, and similar good fortune to marshall pennington because he is good-looking and can play basketball at the same time.

A Lamentable Incident

Friday the campus was given one of the most distasteful exhibitions of student enthusiasm in history. The hanging in effigy of Representative Howard Davison of Rotan by a small group of students was an action that not only reflected discredit on the student body but also on the University itself. It showed an appalling lack of good taste and was a rank exhibition of mob psychology.

It is to be expected that the student body would unanimously oppose passage of the Davison bill to raise fees. The bill strikes at the welfare of the student body, particularly at the poor students of the University. There can be no disputing the fact that the bill will be a detriment to our continuous effort to make a college education available to every person in the State. The Daily Texan joins with the student body in bitterly opposing the measure.

But, be that as it may, there is no excuse for hanging Representative Davison in effigy. Those who know Davison realize that he is a progressive, honest, and popular young legislator, and that while we may differ radically with him on this measure, he is still entitled to the full expression of his views without having any one make such a contemptuous gesture towards him. Mr. Davison has been accused of being narrow in his point of view because he introduced this bill, but the students who hanged him in effigy were still more narrow-minded because not only do they have their own very definite opinion but they also wish to deny him the right to express his. Their action would seem to indicate that they want to deny the workings of democracy—the very system that makes it possible for them to have a State University at all.

It has been a century and a half since that torchbearer of the Eighteenth Century, Voltaire, said to one of his bitterest opponents—"I abhor every word that you say, but I will defend, even to the cost of my life, your right to say it." That ideal of freedom of thought and freedom of speech must prevail if our democracy is to continue to exist. Let a man speak his piece, and then, if you can do so, prove to the world that he is wrong and that his ideas are not the best ones. But above all, grant to your opponent his right to a freedom of expression.

Of course, the students are very anxious to see this measure defeated. It will be a serious blow to thousands if it is passed. The enthusiasm for its defeat is mounting daily on the University campus. The students all want to lend their help in defeating the measure, and it is possible that in this incident a group of students, carried away by their enthusiasm, resorted to an attack on Davison rather than on his bill.

It is well that students try to show the Legislature their wishes and their desires in regard to legislation which affects them, but those who resort to violent and contemptuous gestures such as the Thursday night incident only hurt their case. Such an action turns the stomach of any true democrat. It shows intolerance and bias in its worst form. It is to be hoped that no recurrence of the incident will take place.

And to the Legislature, on behalf of the student body, we wish to say that this action does not represent the desires or the wishes of the 7,000 students on this campus. We do want to see the Davison bill killed. We feel that it strikes at the very heart of our educational system. We feel that it will do irreparable damage to our school. But we do not endorse, we do not subscribe to, the action of the students who hanged Representative Davison in effigy Thursday night.

The thinking student body unanimously decries such an exhibition of poor taste and intolerance.

From Our Readers

ANONYMOUS

Since coming to The University of Texas from the University of Florida where I had been in attendance, I have been much interested in your paper. Among other things that have caught my eye are the daily quotations in the box type at the top of the first page.

In most instances these quotations are very good and provide much "meat" for thought. However, in the last ten days The Daily Texan has carried three rather famous and credited quotations that have been labeled "Anonymous." My dear Mr. Editor, is it laziness or negligence or ignorance that is the cause of this? Your paper no doubt has a number of exchanges and is sent to many other schools. I can imagine the amusement that students of other institutions must feel when they find the estimable Mr. Pope labeled "Anonymous." It is quite conceivable that a few editors of other college papers have heard of Mr. Pope, and perhaps have even read that little contribution of his called "Essay on Criticism."

Specifically, the quotations I have in mind are the following: "Pools rush in where angels fear to tread" (labeled Anonymous by the Texan) is found in line 66 of the "Essay on Criticism" by Alexander Pope, a rather well known writer of the Eighteenth Century. "Be not the first by whom the new is tried, nor yet the last to lay the old aside" is also from the same work, the same author, line 333. (It, too, has been labeled Anonymous by the Texan). However, the greatest insult of all is the third, "Life's a jest, and all things show it; I thought so once, and now I know it." Poor old Nobby Goldsmith, who knew so many trials and tribulations, certainly should fare better at the hands of the "Press," especially when the "Press" is quoting his most famous line. But no, he, too, along with the pompous Alexander, was doomed Anonymous.

I might suggest (or will such suggestions fall on the desert air?) that the editor of our esteemed daily acquaint himself with a little volume called Bartlett's Quotations.

A CAPITAL IDEA

I am of the great school of deep thinkers. Yet I cannot think of any newer form of publicity for our wonderful school than having "The Eyes of Texas" played by that great master of orchestration, Guy Lombardo. And to think of such excellent publicity being free for the asking! (Stupendous, I should say!) I think it a capital idea and I'm all for it.

ISOSCELES, the thinker.

A GOOD IDEA

I read in this column yesterday, a letter by a Mr. Robertson who proposed to make "The Eyes of Texas" one of the favorite songs Guy Lombardo plays on his Wednesday evening programs at 9 o'clock. I think it a grand idea. To have Lombardo play "The Eyes of Texas" would give me a thrill that comes only once in a lifetime.

I noticed that the petitions he suggested have been placed about over the campus and are waiting for every loyal student to sign. Let's all help to put it over.

WOODFORD DINING.

NO TIME TO STOP

Thus far we have witnessed the circulation of a petition in protest against the proposed tuition increase, and the hanging in effigy of Mr. Davison. I strongly suspect that our legislators will interpret the latter event as nothing more than boyish horseplay on the part of a few University students and give it no more attention than it deserves. At least that is my guess. But the petition will unquestionably carry some weight with the legislators—how much I am sure few of us know.

Doesn't a question remain, however, as to whether we should stop at the petition, or should undertake a further and decisive move in seeing that this bill is defeated?

We might be letting ourselves off too easy if we wind up our lobbying with the presentation of a petition. Our opponents might be stronger than we think. On the other hand, University students could assure a decisive defeat of the bill if they would insist that their parents write their legislators and express their attitude on the matter in no uncertain terms.

Legislators keep both ears to the ground and they know what public opinion means in terms of their own political careers. And here is where The Daily Texan could be of tremendous help to all students in this move: it could publish the names of all legislators and the districts from which they come, so students could send all the necessary information home to the folks.

Someone may object that this is unnecessary, that students and parents already know who their representatives and senators are. I am not so sure of that. I dare say there are lots of students, as well as parents, who couldn't give you the name of their representative.

Campus Alligator Mystery Solved

The mystery of the alligator which has taken up bed and board in the lily ponds on the campus has been solved.

Dr. G. W. Goldsmith, professor of botany, reported that the reptile is believed to be the one which formerly belonged to Walter Wukach, Austin tradesman, and which escaped from the merchant about a year ago. It was only about two feet long at the time, and therein lies the only catch in the explanation of the mystery; for the alligator is now nearly three and one-half feet long, and alligators seldom grow that rapidly, Dr. Goldsmith said. Mr. Wukach has identified it, but has renounced all claims to it.

Due to the cold weather the alligator was placed in a pool in the greenhouse back of the Biological Laboratory.

sentative. We might as well be honest with ourselves on this question and admit that the happenings in the State legislature seldom command the interest they did in the Nineteenth Century. With the incoming of the radio, the movie, and cheap motor transportation, politics has largely lost its capacity to entertain and amuse.

But the student body is justly alarmed over the present situation, all of us want to do something about it, and doubtless we can do something about it with the right sort of cooperation between the Texan, the students, and the parents.

U. S. Tariff Policy Criticized

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(INS)—The reciprocal tariff treaty just signed with Belgium aroused congressional Republicans into a new assault upon the administration's tariff policy today.

Their leaders not only seized upon the treaty as a campaign issue but they planned an effort to create such widespread protests that further treaties may be halted. The Belgian treaty, first to be negotiated with a European nation, is expected to be followed by others in which mutual tariff concessions are made.

The Republicans charged that industries in the Far East are being sacrificed by the administration's tariff policy. But administration leaders declared agriculture and many industries would gain by the increased international trade fostered by the trade agreements.

House Republican Leader Snell, of New York, assigned members to investigate the Belgian treaty and its effect on American industry.

New England Republicans are investigating the effect of proposed cordage tariff reduction. Other tariff cuts under the treaty included steel items, glass, sand, linen fabrics, some woven fabrics, lace, photographic film and hatter's fur.

Information was received that the proposed reciprocal tariff treaty with Spain is advancing rapidly.

Northwestern members of Congress are protesting against a reported plan to cut the tariff on flax in a treaty with the Argentine, while another plan to cut the tariff on matches is being fought.

INSURANCE PROPOSED

NEW YORK, March 1.—(INS)—If stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation approve, 200,000 employees of the company may participate in a group insurance plan, it was revealed here today. Directors of the company announced the proposition in a letter sent to stockholders. It is suggested the insurance plan supplant two existing arrangements, the profit-sharing plan and the employees stock subscription plan.

Federal Relief Bill Compromise Fails

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(INS)—A finish fight between President Roosevelt and the Senate on the issue of paying prevailing wage rates on his $4,880,000 work relief program loomed today after both sides rejected a proposed compromise.

The impasse strengthened the position of Senate conservatives, who demanded the whole work relief program be scrapped as extravagantly wasteful and direct relief continued another year. This would call for a $1,880,000,000 appropriation for direct relief, but it could be used for so-called "made work" as is now being done.

The compromise would have given the President permissive authority to pay prevailing wage scales in localities where he deemed such rates necessary to protect existing wage levels and pay his subsistence wage of $50 monthly in other localities. It differed but little from the Russell plan, which was beaten by the Senate.

The President notified Senate leaders he opposed any provision which might restrict his use of the huge relief fund. He intimated he felt his personal honor had become involved in the Senate controversy and indicated he believed the issue to be whether he could be trusted to spend the relief fund in a proper manner.

The compromise also was turned down by Senator McCarran (D) of Nevada, author of the prevailing wage amendment, and by other progressive leaders and by fifty native leaders of the A. F. of L.

Two other efforts to compromise also failed. One, proposed to call for payment of wages in accordance with the Davis-Bacon Act. Such wages would be paid only on public buildings erected by contractors under contracts. It would apply to no other construction work and not even to public buildings, if constructed by the government itself, or by a state, county or municipality.

The other compromise effort proposed to retain the McCarran amendment but include another provision giving the President power to set aside the prevailing wage rule in any community where its payment embarrassed industry or lured men to the relief rolls from private jobs.

Take Profit Out Of Liquor—Allred

Although Governor James V. Allred will stand by his campaign pledge and vote against prohibition repeal in any form, he believes that if liquor does come back to Texas it should be under the State monopoly plan.

This plan has been advanced in the House and Senate and is favored by the less radical of both wets and dries.

"I want the profit motive taken out of the liquor business," the governor said Friday, "and I suggested in my first message to the Legislature that a careful study be made of the State monopoly plan. Evidently some members of the Legislature have done that."

Governor Allred held that State-controlled liquor sales would do away with the evils of the pre-prohibition days—open saloons and liquor interests in politics.

"I am glad of this controversy that has come up on the floor of the Senate," Allred said, "because I believe that it will lead to the drafting of a repeal measure that will emphasize the integrity of dry territory. This was not done under the beer bill."

The governor declared that he thought the dries were perfectly sincere in advocating the State Monopoly plan and did not later intend to make a campaign issue of the State going into the liquor business.
