Body of Former Coach Passes Through Austin

Texas Coaching Staff Pays Last Tribute To 'Doc' Stewart

Sent to Cleveland

Funeral Services Held At Kerrville Tuesday Morning

The body of E. J. (Doc) Stewart, one time head basketball and football coach at the University, passed through Austin Tuesday afternoon at 3:10 o'clock on the way to Cleveland, Ohio, where interment will be made Thursday. The former Longhorn mentor, who put out the famous "wonder teams" of several years ago, was instantly killed in a hunting accident near Kerrville Monday afternoon, when J. W. O'Byrne, Stewart's guest on a hunting party, mistook him for a deer, and fired from close range with a shotgun loaded with buckshot. Death was almost instantaneous.

Brewster Conducts Services

Brief services were held at Kerrville Tuesday morning, before the body was started overland to San Antonio. The Rev. C. R. Brewster of the Kerrville Methodist Church conducted the services.

W. J. "Uncle Billy" Disch, veteran baseball coach, and Bill James, Longhorn line coach, accompanied the body of their former associate to Austin, where they were joined by other members of the Texas coaching staff in a last tribute to the dead leader.

Coach James was a member of the hunting party when the accident occurred, and attended the body until its arrival in Austin. Mr. Disch had left Kerrville shortly before the party left on the fatal hunt, and was in Austin before he heard of the tragedy. He returned to San Antonio Tuesday morning and met the funeral cortege there.

Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock the Longhorn football team paid a tribute to the former Texas mentor, when they bowed their heads in silence for two minutes. Only two members of the present squad, Eddie Benlar and Mac Burnett, played under Coach Stewart.

Everett's Art Exhibited This Week at Home

An exhibit of the art work of Raymond Everett, associate professor of freehand drawing and painting, is being shown at his home at 917 West Thirty-first Street, and is open to the public during the week.

The exhibit is made up of more than two hundred pictures whose subjects range from architectural details in European and Mexican cathedrals to local pictures.

The pictures are done in oils, water color, pastels, and ink.

A large group of the works on display depict scenes in and about Austin that are familiar to University students. The pictures include views of Bull Creek, Barton Creek, and many of the beauty spots on the Colorado River.

Two unusual pictures portray the volcano Popocatepetl of Mexico with a cloud of smoke visible above it.

Students probably will be most interested in a picture painted in New Jersey on the Shark River near Belmar because of its romantic connection, Mr. Everett said.

Te-WAA-Hiss To Hold Annual Mountain Trip

Hike Will Begin at 2:30 From Woman's Gym To Rob Roy's

Te-WAA-Hiss, girls' hiking and fellowship organization, will hold its annual mountain trip Saturday afternoon beginning at 2:30 o'clock from the Woman's Gym. Cars will be on hand to take the girls to within a mile of Rob Roy's Ranch, from where they will hike to the camp site for supper and a short program, according to an announcement by Courtney Ward, leader of the outing.

Zeda LaCina, hostess of the party, gave the guest list as follows: Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson McCurdy, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Woodbury, Miss Helen Woodman, Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Penick.

Hermasella Braden, program chairman, stated that the program will be varied. Saxophone and violin solos by Dottie Watson and Margetta Mills are to be the feature numbers. Miss Thelma Dillingham, sponsor of Te-WAA-Hiss, has been asked to read poetry. The program committee also has planned a stunt, Miss Braden said.

Katherine Hill, food chairman, and Elizabeth Huffman, clean-up chairman, complete the leadership personnel of the outing.

Miss Ward has requested that all girls interested in going on the trip sign up at the Te-WAA-Hiss bulletin board as soon as possible.

Phi Delta Gamma Will Meet Tonight

Phi Delta Gamma, national forensic fraternity, will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in Law Building 3 to discuss the election of permanent officers.

R. J. Bartosh was elected temporary president and Bill Morrison was elected temporary secretary last week.

Due to the failure of the president to re-enroll in the University, Phi Delta Gamma was not active in organized on the campus last year. At the last meeting it was decided to limit the 1929-1930 membership to president and past presidents of campus literary societies and members of inter-collegiate debating teams.

William O. Moore of the department of public speaking is national grand president of Phi Delta Gamma and is also editor of "The Literary Scroll," official publication of the fraternity. The magazine is published twice yearly at the University, in February and October.

The sandwiches are to be made by the girls next Wednesday. Another meeting of the Orange Jackets will be held Tuesday afternoon to discuss the final plans for the sales on the trains.

Athletic Council Opposes Motion Of Dr. R. A. Law

Students Petition Group For New Longhorn Band Uniforms

Following the raffle of excitement created last week when Dr. R. A. Law, former chairman of the Athletic Council, made a motion before the general faculty relating to subsidization of athletics at the University, the Athletic Council late last night went on record as interpreting the rules relating to athletic eligibility at the University of Texas as in agreement with rules of eligibility officially adopted by the Southwest Athletic Conference. This action was destined to form the basis of the opposition offered to the motion when it comes up before the meeting of the faculty this week.

Dr. Law made the motion last Thursday, before the University faculty, and was supported in it by L. Theo Belmont, professor of physical training and former director of athletics. The motion was made on the grounds that the hiring of athletes as physical training assistants was against the catalogue rules of the University, although there was no conflict with conference rulings.

Action was deferred on the question at the last meeting of the faculty, to be taken up again Thursday.

The session of the Athletic Council last night was a lengthy one. Turn to Page 5, Col. 6

Judge Blakeslee Dies Tuesday

Judge William Blakeslee, 70, father of Rosemary Blakeslee, University student, died at his home, 610 West Eighteenth Street, at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, after a long illness.

Funeral services likely will be held Thursday morning, it was announced.

Judge Blakeslee is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rose Mary Blakeslee; six daughters, Mrs. J. C. Koriath of Sherman, Mrs. Francis P. Gerling of San Antonio, Mrs. J. W. Byrne, Mrs. George F. Zimmerman, and Misses Justine and Rosemary Blakeslee, all of Austin, and four sons, Sylvester W. Blakeslee of Fort Worth, Joseph W. Blakeslee, Alfred E. Blakeslee, and the Rev. William F. Blakeslee, C.S.P., of St. Austin's Chapel, all of Austin, and one brother, Eugene Blakeslee of Houston.

Faculty Meeting Called Thursday

Proposals that the athletes engaged in intercollegiate competition may not be employed in the capacity of assistants in physical training and that the summer session of the University be reduced from twelve to nine weeks, will be considered in a second adjourned meeting of the general faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences Thursday at 4 o'clock in Garrison Hall 1, Dr. R. M. Gutsch, secretary of the general faculty, announced Tuesday.

The faculty discussed these two problems at the regular meeting November 11 and again at an adjourned meeting November 13, but failed to arrive at any conclusion.

Vickers Elected To Attend State W.A.A. Meeting

Delegate Picked by Council As Representative To Canyon

Kirkner to Attend

New Type of Organization At University Will Be Discussed

Emma Glenn Vickers, secretary of the local W. A. A. organization, was elected delegate to the state convention which is to be held at Canyon November 21 to 23, at a called meeting of the W. A. A. council Monday afternoon.

Miss Vickers was elected to take the place of Frances Tarlton, president, who will be unable to attend. Miss Vickers served on the constitution and discussion committees of the organization last year, both committees being responsible for much of the reorganization of the association.

Miss Margaret Kirkner, director of inter-group activities and instructor in physical training, will go as advisor of the local organization.

A report of the new organization of the association at the University and a discussion of the features and advantages of this type of organization will constitute the main part of the program of the business meeting of the Friday morning session of the convention. The organization here is different from any other in the state in that there is no point system or any material awards given. The Ohio State University is the only other school in the United States that has a similar organization.

At the afternoon session, Miss Kirkner and Miss Vickers will give a demonstration of the new sport, aerial darts, during the practical discussions and demonstration of sports. Miss Kirkner also will address the convention at an assembly in the college chapel Saturday morning. The entire convention will be honored in the late afternoon with a tea given by the Canyon chapter of the American Association of University Women.

Miss Kirkner and Miss Vickers who are leaving tonight will return to Austin Sunday night.

Twelve of the most prominent colleges in Texas will be represented at the convention. The following schools have registered for the meeting, according to Miss Ruth Cross, head of the women's physical education department of the Canyon college:

Baylor College, Belton, Texas State College for Women, Denton; East Texas State Teachers' College, Commerce; John Tarlton College, Stephenville; North Texas State Teachers' College, Denton; Sam Houston State Teachers' College, Huntsville; Southern Methodist University, Dallas; Southwest State Teachers' College, Turn to Page 7, Col. 8

Dobie Gives Authentic Picture of Vaquero in New Book, Says Payne

By DR. L. W. PAYNE, JR.

It is always dangerous to make sweeping and emphatic final pronouncements. Some time ago J. Frank Dobie in writing of Andy Adams' "The Log of a Cowboy" made the sweeping statement that this was "the best book that ever has been written of cowboy life, and it is the best book that ever can be written of cowboy life."

While Mr. Dobie, no doubt, still thinks that statement is true, many readers of Mr. Dobie's own book, "A Vaquero of the Brush Country," will promptly conclude that a better book on the life of a cowboy has even now been written. Unquestionably this new book of Mr. Dobie's gives the most lively, the most reliable, the most entertaining account of the South Texas cowboy, or vaquero, and of the whole cow country from the Rio Grande to the Platte River that ever has been written—I dare not say "ever can be written," lest I be convicted of committing the very folly which was condemned in the opening sentence of this paragraph.

John Long, a real vaquero of the brush country, came to Mr. Dobie, Turn to Page 4, Col. 4

Two University Students Carry Mail for Faculty

The responsibility of distributing faculty mail, official and unofficial, is in the hands of Bill Watkins and Bob Eikel, University students.

The mail, when received by the faculty postmen, is first routed according to the buildings, and then according to the floors on which the faculty offices are located in each building. Usually the letters are slipped into the faculty member's box, but in some cases, the professor demands that it be put in a neat pile on his desk. There are 19 faculty mail boxes.

The faculty mail is delivered at 7 o'clock in the morning and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Rusk, Hogg Teams Debate Tonight

The debate between the Rusk affirmative team and the Hogg negative team this Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. Building will close the inter-society debates. The Rusk Literary Society, having won the first three rounds, will be awarded the silver loving cup, no matter what the outcome of tonight's debates may be.

The Athenaeum Debating Society won the trophy the past two years. When one club has kept the cup for three consecutive years, it is withdrawn from competition and presented to that club. So far no society has won the cup three years in succession.

The Carl Mayer Company presents a gold watch every year to the best speaker of the winning group. The negative and affirmative sides of the Rusk Literary Society will debate against each other, and the other members of the club will decide who will get the watch this year, August Spain, president of the club, announced.

February 20, 21, 22 Set As Rush Week Dates by Inter-Fraternity Group

The new rush week will begin officially Thursday, February 20, at 1 o'clock, and will close at 2 o'clock Saturday, February 22, it was decided at the special meeting of the Inter-Fraternity Council held at the Tau Delta Phi house recently.

"The system employed is taken from the best systems used at other large universities in rushing. Preferential bidding by the fraternities was waived in favor of the new plan," stated Ted Mayborn, secretary of the council.

A list of rules was compiled by the committee adopting a new rush week to fix on with the rules set forth by the Regents at an earlier session. The faculty advisory committee met in collaboration with the council committee and set rules before the Inter-Fraternity Council to be voted upon. The following rules were accepted as final:

1. The dean shall publish a list ten days after examinations of all eligible transfers and freshmen.

2. Fraternities shall give the dean a list of rushees two days after receiving list of eligibles. New names may be added only if presented before the dean's list is finished.

3. As soon thereafter as possible, the dean will send rushees a letter informing them of the fraternities wanting dates with them.

4. The rushees must accept dates with at least two fraternities and not more than ten, if more than one asks for dates. This shall be included in the dean's first letter to rushees. Rushees' answer must reach dean the following day after receiving the first letter.

5. An impartial committee shall be appointed by the dean, to apportion by lot the dates among the fraternities requesting and receiving dates. Each fraternity shall be given two dates with each rushee, unless he has dates with more than five fraternities, and then he shall have only one date with each.

6. The dean shall send fraternities cards showing all dates with rushee as soon as possible, also giving names of other fraternities having dates with the rushee. (So fraternity will know where to get rushee.) The fraternities and rushees will have duplicate cards.

7. Rush week shall begin Turn to Page 7, Col. 4

STEERS PRESUME WORK FOR THANKSGIVING TILT

CONFERENCE STANDING	P	W	L	T	Pct.
T. C. U.	3	3	0	0	1.000
S. M. U.	3	2	0	1	.833
TEXAS	5	2	1	2	.600
Baylor	3	1	1	1	.500
Arkansas	4	2	2	0	.500
A. & M.	4	1	3	0	.250
Rice	3	0	3	0	.000

Time for selection of all-conference teams is drawing near, and fans have begun to submit their selections to state papers. It will be impossible to do justice to all players in the conference who would have made the mythical team in a walk two or three years ago, for there are so many good men for every position that some good football players will have to be left out. There are two places, however, where there is not an abundance of material, and that is at the ends and the tackles. Rose of Texas has a cinch on one end, and Hammon of S. M. U. and Brown of Texas are leading the field in the race for the tackle. We hate to think about naming the man for the quarterback job, with Grubbs, Rees, and Wilson all trying for it, and the rest of the backfield with Shelley, Mason, Leland, Mills, and half a dozen others in the spot light.

Texas has another candidate for all-conference honors that was little heard of before the beginning of the current season. In the last three games, Curtis Beatty has played the kind of ball against the best competition that the conference has to offer that stamps him as one of the best linemen in the conference. His work on the offense, where he is at his best, is little noticed.

A Fort Worth writer, referring to Shelley's run for a touchdown Saturday, said that the Texas halfback took a bad pass from center, fumbled it, and then said that the field was clear, and started to trot down the field, instead of punting as originally signaled. For the first ten or fifteen yards, the scribe said, Shelley was confused, and gradually awoke to the situation and ran for the touchdown. However, the writer of this column is inclined to think that on the other hand, Shelley was very much alive to the circumstances, and offers as proof the fact that the same thing occurred against Baylor's Bears and the Mustangs of S. M. U. While neither of the other two runs resulted in touchdowns, they gained the much needed yardage for a first down.

Coach Walker is growing optimistic over his sophomore cagers, and is pleased with the way the new men have his system of play down. The men from last year's freshman squad, who started their college basketball training under Walker's system, look like more finished players than the men who were on the Varsity squad last year, as they go through their scrimmage work in the Silents' Gymnasium. By the way, the new Gymnasium is beginning to look like a building now.

The Brownsville Eagles, competing for the first time in the state high school grid title race, will be in Austin for a game with the Austin High Maroons over the week-end. The Brownsville aggregation has had a strong team for the last two years, and last year challenged the Abilene High team to a post season game for the state championship, but were refused. They should beat the Maroons, but will find a fighting bunch in the proteges of Bennie Strickland and Dusty Rhoads. Last week the Eagles and Main Avenue of San Antonio tangled, with the San Antonio school coming out on the small end of a 24-0 score.

Football Team Pays Tribute To Dead Coach

With the last game on the schedule drawing near, the Longhorns came back to work Tuesday afternoon, and began the nine-day grind that will precede the annual Turkey Day classic between the Aggies of College Station and the Texas Steers of Austin. With the morale of the squad apparently unhurt by the loss to the T. C. U. Horned Frogs last Saturday, the men were back at work like a group of champions.

Coach Littlefield and the men paused in their work for a silent tribute to the former Longhorn coach, E. J. "Doleful Doc" Stewart, yesterday, and stood with bowed heads for two minutes, approximately 24 hours after the hunting accident that took the life of the former leader. Coach Littlefield and his assistants were at the train as the body passed through Austin, and spent a few minutes with Mrs. Stewart.

The hard game with the Frogs left the squad free from injuries, with the exception of Claude Meadows and Baumgarten, who were hurt in previous games. Ox Emerson, who shifted over from tackle to take Baumgarten's place Saturday, was suffering from a slight cold, but a few hours in Trainer Kelley's sweat box will soon cure this malady. Baumgarten will be ready to go against the Aggies.

The program for the rest of this week will include work on new plays and attempts to improve blocking and tackling before the trip to College Station. Thursday and Friday have been set aside for scrimmage, with the rest of the time being used to "taper off" for the most important game of the season.

The game between the two schools this year will be one of the best of the current season, despite the fact that both teams are no longer in the conference running.

The Steers would be slight favorites on a neutral field, but on Kyle Field, and on the A. & M. homecoming day, combined with the day designated to dedicate the new Aggie stadium, this margin dwindles to nothing, and the game will be a toss-up in the eyes of critics.

Matty Bell of the Aggies has been the chief "hard luck" coach of the conference this year, and has lost four big games by narrow margins, losing to T. C. U. 13-7, Tulane 13-10, Arkansas 14-13, and S. M. U. 12-7.

Racquet Club Has Final Tournament

Racquet Club will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock on the Twenty-fourth Street courts. This is to be the last meeting before the ladder tournament closes and everyone has been asked to attend in order to complete the ladder tournament matches. The meeting will be held in the lecture room of the Woman's Gymnasium in case of rain. A special program has been arranged in case the club members will be unable to play on the courts.

Four Students In Hospitals Tuesday

Names of four students were on the hospital list Tuesday. Margaret Bracher and Catherine Neal were in St. David's Hospital, and those at Seton Infirmary were Evan Mathis and J. C. Holman.

BROWNSVILLE EAGLES PLAY MAROONS HERE THIS WEEK

Apparently "long gone" to the district title, the Brownsville High Eagles invade Austin this week-end to do battle with Bennie Strickland's Austin High Maroons in what promises to be the hardest game of the season for the local high school lads. The Maroons have been an in-and-out club this season, playing unbeatable ball one week-end, and then miserable ball the next. The Brackenridge High eleven from San Antonio caught the Maroons in a slump, and promptly kicked them out of the district race. Last week, the Maroons had a reversal of form and ran all over Corpus Christi.

The Brownsville High club has played five conference games, scoring within the neighborhood of 200 points, while their opponents have failed to dent their goal line. Main Avenue of San Antonio held them to a 24-0 score, the lowest of the season. All the dope favors the Brownsville eleven, but the change of climate, however slight and the fact that they are playing on their home field, may give the Austin lads a fighting heart and allow them to upset the dope with a win over the Eagles.

Buster Nelson, big bruising halfback, will return to the game this week and will add strength to the Maroon attack. Wit Nelson, James, Hodges, and Beard in shape, the Maroons will be able to offer a dangerous offense. The Maroons have appeared weak on tackling all season, and if the Brownsville eleven has the interference against the Maroons that

Silents Compared With Mustangs In Scoring Jamboree

Shades of S.M.U.!!!

Speaking of passing and scoring machines, Coach Royal's Silent Eleven is one more machine. Yesterday afternoon on Silent Field, the Silents tackled the strong San Marcos Prep eleven, and swamped the visitors under a 78-0 score, and it would have been larger had not a hard-hearted official tacked a 15-yard penalty on the Silents in the last minutes of play.

The Silents uncorked a great passing attack, and when the ends got tired of catching passes, Silent backs would go around end—and they usually just kept going until they crossed the last white line. The San Marcos boys tried a passing attack, but it just helped the Silents pile up their score. Six times, the Silents intercepted passes and went for touchdowns. A triple pass on the kick-off netted the Silents 85 yards and a touchdown.

The Texas Silents will play the Oklahoma School for the Deaf on the Memorial Stadium grid Thanksgiving Day.

Max Pickard of Weatherford was a visitor in Austin Saturday.

Odell Winters of Hillsboro attended the game Saturday.

OUTSTANDING MAGAZINE ARTICLES ANNOUNCED

The ten outstanding magazine articles selected by a council of librarians for the month of November have been posted on the bulletin board in the reading room of the Library.

The list contains "Mussolini's American Empire" by Marcus Duffield in the Harper's Magazine which is a full disclosure of the hold which the Fascist organization has on innumerable Italian-born Americans, showing how Mussolini and his men make light of their rights of citizenship and thus invade the sovereignty of the United States.

A. Edward Newton went to Egypt to write and comment upon the country—and he does, in "A Tourist in the Spite of Himself: Egypt" in the Atlantic Monthly.

"The Arab-Jewish Conflict in Palestine" by Ameen Rihani and Meyer W. Weisgal in Current History presents both the Arab's claim, that they are fighting for national existence and independence; and the Jews' contention that Zionism is justified historically and legally and does not jeopardize Arab rights.

The president of the New York Edison Company tells how the consumer is benefited by such mergers as those made by electric utilities and states that they should not agitate the public.

How men measure now according to the standard advocated half a century ago by Matthew Arnold when he published his description of Hebraism and Hellenism as rival moral disciplines of mankind, and predicted the direction which American development would take is told in "Sweetness and Light—Sixty Years After" by James Truslow Adams in The Atlantic Monthly.

"Immigrants Under the Quota" by Jane Adams in Survey Graphic discusses the quota as it affects the lives of the neighbors of the head of Hull-House in a district of Chicago where immigrants from every land are thrown together in the process of Americanization.

The hope that America may one day be civilized because of the influence of the South is "The South—America's Hope," by Count Hermann Keyserling in The Atlantic Monthly.

Even admitting the evils of drunkenness, the chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform argues that facts prove the Eighteenth Amendment was a mistake and it should be repealed in "Woman's Revolt Against Prohibition" by Pauline Morton Sabin in Review of Reviews.

Based on a study of the seven leading Eastern colleges, Barnard, Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, Vassar and Wellesley a survey of the aims, problems, and accomplishments of American colleges for women is given in "A Rehearsal for Life" by Ida Tarbell in Good Housekeeping.

"Challenges to Democracy" by Jerome Davis in the Century points out that to keep up in political and economic affairs Americans should know and understand what the latest innovations in the fields and he tells of two—the British Labor Movement and the Consumers Cooperatives.

one, beginning at 7:30 o'clock and continuing until well past midnight.

Bob Payne, president of the student body, and Bob Eikel, former president, appeared before the council and asked that money be appropriated for the purchase of new uniforms for the Longhorn Band. Action was deferred on this question until a later date. The petition for band uniforms came as a culmination of agitation by friends of the band who are trying to arrange for the purchase of new uniforms before the Texas-Texas A. & M. game at College Station on Thanksgiving Day.

Following the call for plans on the new Stadium locker rooms issued at the last meeting of the council, R. L. White, resident University Architect, appeared at the meeting and present the plans that had been prepared. These were approved by the council, and the architect was instructed to work them out so that they might be presented to the regents and bids issued at the next meeting of the Board of Regents, December 14.

The single action pertaining to coaches came when the council adopted the recommendation of Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, director of athletics, that Marty Karow, assistant football coach and freshman baseball coach, be made freshman basketball coach for the month of December.

A tribute was paid to E. J. (Doc) Stewart, former head football and basketball coach who was accidentally killed while hunting deer Monday, and the following resolutions were adopted: "Whereas God in His infinite mercy has seen fit to remove from our midst E. J. Stewart, who served as basketball and football coach at the University of Texas

HANCOCK—"Rio Rita"—Bebe Daniels, John Boles. Thursday: Vaudeville—Marion Wilkins, headliner; picture: "The River Gambler"—Joseph Schildkraut, Joan Bennett.

MAJESTIC—"In the Headlines"—Grant Withers, Marian Nixon, Pauline Garon.

QUEEN—"The Return of Sherlock Holmes"—Clive Brook, Betty Lawford. Thursday: "Footlights and Fools"—Colleen Moore, Raymond Hackett, Fred March.

TEXAS—"The Last of Mrs. Cheyney"—Norma Shearer, Basil Rathbone, Hedda Hopper.

Opening Today

"In the Headlines"—A double murder and a mysterious blonde figure in "In the Headlines," a neat little program picture starting its three-day run on the Majestic Theater screen today. It is a newspaper story—a fact related with thumbs crossed, for everyone by now is familiar with what the movies call a newspaper story—and it features Grant Withers, Marian Nixon, Clyde Cook, Edmund Breese, Pauline Garon, Frank Campeau, Vivian Oakland, Hallam Cooley, Robert Ober, Ben Hall, Spec O'Donnell, and Jack Wise. This picture is all-talking. There is no doubt about it. —c.b.

"The Last of Mrs. Cheyney"—This was an exceptionally clever talking motion picture. It should be interesting to see how much of its smartness remains in the silent version.

Norma Shearer, Basil Rathbone, and Hedda Hopper manage three rather complex roles in the calmest of manners. Norma Shearer, as the ladylike crook, reaps personal laurels for herself all over the place. It's really a shame that her voice will not be heard—after all, it's as nice as her personal appearance. At the Texas. —bill.

Still Here

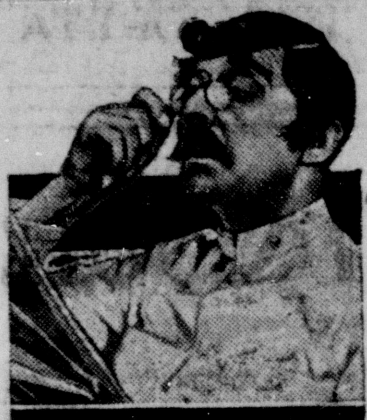

"Rio Rita"—So far in my reviews on this superlative picture I have completely cheated John Boles of his due praises. This was not exactly fair. He is as good in his own way as Bebe Daniels. The only difference in the two pieces of work is that hers was more unexpected. John Boles showed clearly in "The Desert Song" that his lyric singing voice and vital personality would carry him far in motion picture musical-comedies. His work in this production merely bolsters up the faith of the general public in his ability.

His singing rises twice above its usual excellence—once, in the "Rio Rita" duet and the other in the impassioned solo at the end of the second act. John Boles, with his voice and acting ability, is one of the big shots of talking movies.

"Rio Rita" ranks among the greatest of singing movies. It is the unalloyed product of the musical comedy idea with unlimited financial resources to back it up. At the Hancock for the last times today. —bill.

"The Return of Sherlock Holmes"—Closing a popular run at the Queen Theater today is one of the better examples of Hollywood's mystery murder films, "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," in which Clive Brook sticks a huge pipe in his mouth, rams a similarly huge pistol in his pocket, speaks the King's English as distinguished from nobody's American, and performs the greatest detective of all time, Sherlock Holmes—and even more than that, young in extreme though Mr. Brook is as the famous Holmes, he succeeds with greatest ease in thwarting the well laid and intricate plots of Professor Moriarty. Not the least of the many points of interest in the picture are the several disguises affected by Clive Brook at various times in this particular adventure, which is described in no uncertain terms as his last. But if a succeeding series of Sherlock Holmes pictures could in any wise measure up to this one, Paramount, the producers, need entertain no worries concerning its popularity and financial success. —c.b.

From 1 o'clock to 3 o'clock, 3 o'clock to 5 o'clock, 6 o'clock to 8 o'clock, and from 8 o'clock to 11 o'clock on Friday. From 8 o'clock to 10 o'clock, 10 o'clock to 12 o'clock, and from 12 o'clock to 2 o'clock on Saturday.

8. All rush rules, set out by the Regents in effect the first semester, shall extend through pledge hour—excepting the regular scheduled dates.

9. After the dates are made through the dean's office they must be kept by both the rushees and the fraternities.

10. Rushing shall be confined to the chapter houses, automobiles, or to any public entertainment, not sponsored by the fraternity. This includes friends, alumni, and girls.

11. At the end of rush week the fraternities shall turn in a list of the rushees that they desire to pledge. The dean shall send to each rushee a list of fraternities wishing to bid him. The rushee goes to the selected fraternity house at 7 o'clock.

"This rush week is the most efficient one possible for the present situation, being taken from many other systems that are being worked successfully on this basis," Mayborn stated.

The rules require that a freshman pass each course with over a D average. Failure in one subject may not be averaged above a D by four other grades.

Shelby to Speak To Parent-Teachers

T. H. Shelby, dean of the Division of Extension of the University, is scheduled to speak on the subject "Character Influences of Motion Pictures" at the annual meeting of the State Parent-Teachers Association, which began in Waco Monday, November 18, and will continue through Thursday.

Library Receives New Book by Rojas

"The Guilt of Henry Lane Wilson in the Great Disaster of Mexico" by Luis Manuel Rojas in Spanish has just been received by the Garcia Library, Carlos E. Castaneda said Tuesday.

Mr. Wilson was American Ambassador to Mexico and was in Mexico during the tragic ten days in 1914 when Francisco I. Madero was captured and put to death by Huerta.

"The American Ambassador seems to have been on good terms with Huerta and his participation in the affair was ill timed and ill chosen, giving rise to many conflicting opinions as to his influence in the great tragedy," Mr. Castaneda stated.

First Hillel Scribe To Appear Friday

The initial edition of the Hillel Scribe will be issued Friday, November 22, according to an announcement by Fred Y. Becker, managing editor of the paper. The first edition, which will be double in size to the later editions, will be distributed to all Jewish students at their place of residence.

Dr. Eby Speaks At Altrusa Luncheon

Dr. Frederick Eby, professor of education, spoke at the meeting of the Altrusa Club at luncheon Tuesday at the Driskill Hotel. "Thanksgiving" was his subject for the occasion, and he contrasted the old-fashioned observance of Thanksgiving with the present method.

Dr. Eby gave an illustrative example to show that people who have allowed their lives to become embittered do not appreciate Thanksgiving.

Miss Lucy Moore, vice president of the organization, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Bess Ledbetter.

J. M. Marshall, former University student who is now in the law firm of Marshall and Stewart of Lubbock, was in Austin last week to confer with Dean I. P. Hildebrand, of the School of Law.

Littlefield Archway Site Remains Unchosen As Regents, Trustee Differ

By GLENN BURGESS

Where will the Littlefield Memorial be located, or will it be located at all? The dying wish of the late George W. Littlefield, former Regent of the University and donor of the gift, was that the memorial be placed at the south entrance of the University campus. The Board of Regents officially voted to change the location to the east side of the "Greater Campus" at Twenty-third and Red River Streets at their meeting Friday, November 8. H. A. Wroe, president of the American National Bank, Austin, and trustee of the Littlefield Fund, stated recently that the memorial should go at the south entrance of the University campus, "or not at all."

Like Derelict Plane

"It is like a derelict plane hovering around, no one knows where it is going to land," was the way H. Y. Benedict, president of the University and also one of the trustees of the Littlefield Memorial fund, summarized the situation.

"The action of the Board of Regents was official and as far as I know, there has been no discussion to change the decision," Judge R. L. Batts, regent of the University, said in discussing the controversy.

"I think the memorial will be located on the south side of the campus or not at all. It was the dying wish of Mr. Littlefield that this memorial be constructed at the south entrance of the old 'Forty Acres.' Furthermore, Mrs. Littlefield, wife of George W. Littlefield, is opposed to locating the memorial at the new site selected by the regents," Mr. Wroe declared.

Roberts Recalls Wish

"It looks like the University of Texas could do one thing that Major Littlefield wanted them to do. He never would consent to the change if he were living." Thus O. M. Roberts, son of Governor Roberts of Texas and personal friend of Mr. Littlefield, expressed his view of the changed plans.

The story dates back to the dream of Mr. Littlefield that part of his wealth should be used by the University to perpetuate the heroes of the South.

Before his death, Mr. Littlefield drew up preliminary plans and suggestions, and went so far as to approve a contract awarded to Pompeo Coppini, Chicago sculptor, to design and execute a "massive bronze arch."

Will Designate Location

On page 64, paragraph 6, of Mr. Littlefield's will, entitled "The Littlefield Entrance Gate to the University of Texas Campus," is found this statement:

"I give and direct my executors hereinafter named to pay to Will C. Hogg of Houston, Texas, H. A. Wroe of Austin, Texas, and the person who occupies the position of President of the University of Texas as trustees the sum of two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000), said committee to use said sum or so much thereof as may be necessary to erect a massive bronze arch over the south entrance of the University of Texas in Austin, Texas."

Mr. Littlefield was not exactly sure of the details of the plan, but he requested in the will that the statues of Davis, Lee, Johnston, Reagan, and Hogg be placed in the memorial.

Later, Mr. Littlefield added $50,000 to the original sum on account of the increase in the price of material that the late World War caused.

After the instructions for the erection of the monument, the will continues, "... and at some prominent location place the following: 'This Arch Built and Donated to the University of Texas by George W. Littlefield.' The arrangement given here is suggested to the committee as being the best, however, they are authorized to change it or the design suggested if they wish, giving prominence, however, to the statues named above."

Before the death of Mr. Littlefield, the idea of an arch was supplemented with the conception of a gateway. Mr. Coppini went to work on the statuary after preliminary plans had been drawn up by the firm of Morrison and Walker, Chicago architects. The figures desired by Mr. Littlefield were executed and the late World War was represented by Woodrow Wilson and some figures of marines and soldiers. This was to represent the fusion of the South and the North. The final plans call for the figures to be group around an emblematic figure of the Goddess America whose throne is upon the ship Columbia.

Recently the plans were approved by the regents and a contract was awarded to J. F. Johnson, Austin contractor, to begin construction November 1. However, as some of the appointments of the regents to the board have expired

C. I. A. Girls Pay Fines for Eating Too Many Meals

Special to The Daily Texan

DENTON, Nov. 20.—Slim figures are still desired at C.I.A. even though fashion magazines may decree that curves are stylish. Evening gowns which were a trim fit in September are now inches too tight to be worn for the Thanksgiving dance and sport suits have been outgrown by stylishly-stouts.

Reducing clubs, with rules prohibiting more than one meal a day are still being formed by would-be featherweights. One club places a fine of a $3 pair of chiffon hose for each member on any girl whose appetite leads her astray. The Hollywood eighteen-day diet, although tabooed by the college dining halls and cafeteria, has faithful devotees.

Dr. Battle Enjoys Trip to Sul Ross

"It's a beautiful place; it's a good college, and I had a delightful time," said Dr. W. J. Battle, professor of Classical languages, in reference to his recent trip to Sul Ross Teachers' College at Alpine. He was honor guest at a picnic given by the Texas exes during his visit there.

The following alumni of the University are on the Sul Ross faculty: Anne Aynesworth, Lottie Britt, Alice Elizabeth Cowan, Mary Stather Elliot, C. A. Gilley, Ida Fay Hamilton, R. J. Ratliff, F. G. Walker, Charles La Motte, Clifford B. Casey, and Alton P. Thomason.

FROSH HOLD PICNIC

Members of the freshman commission attended a picnic Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Breakfast Ledge. Linda Allison had charge of the program. Three members of the senior cabinet accompanied the freshman girls, and the outing was chaperoned by Miss Dorothy Gebauer, Miss Ione Spears, and Miss Florence Spenser.

University Avenue; and even if it could not be placed there, some location could be found better than at the eastern part of the campus.

"The eastern part of Austin is under the shadow of the Memorial Stadium. There the Memorial Arch will also be under its shadow, and will fail to convey its true meaning."

"The arch will be the outstanding memorial on the campus within the next century, and should be placed where it will lend its message to the greatest number of people, especially the students; and who, of the citizens of Texas, who visit the University, will be impressed by its profound message when they cannot come in contact with it? I feel strongly that it is being placed in an unworthy location if placed on the east side of the 'Greater Campus.'"

Shall the wish of a benefactor of the University who has donated so much to the institution be disregarded, even though this benefactor had not taken into consideration a greater campus, larger than the "Forty Acres"; even though this gift may not fit in with the present plans for the future development of the University? That question may be settled by the Board of Regents at their meeting this week.
