REGENTS APPROVE COUNCIL'S STAND TO DISMISS WALKER

Flooring Work In Waggener Hall To Start Next Week

Roof Completed And Hoist Engines to Be Removed Soon

Cornice Painted

Sidewalk Work Continued; Fixtures, Radiators Installed

Work on Waggener Hall has been progressing rapidly and is nearing completion. Mill work has been completed on the first three floors and workers will begin laying the flooring next week. C. C. Wright, construction foreman, said yesterday.

The tile roof will be completed within a few days and the elevator tower reaching to the roof will be torn away. As soon as the tower and hoist engine are removed the workers will continue the sidewalk extending across the entire front of the building, Mr. Wright said.

Painters are now putting the finishing touches on the cornice with an array of bright colors. The down pipes from the gutter around the roof have been installed the past week, also.

All the marble and tile work on the first two floors has been stalled. Mr. Wright continued, and workers will begin installing fixtures soon. As soon as a final coat of paint has been applied to the walls of the first three floors, radiators will be hung and electrical fixtures installed. Wires have already been pulled and are ready for the fixtures.

When the hoist tower and engine have been removed and debris cleared away, further grading will be continued in the landscaping program. The ground surrounding the building will be sodded as soon as possible, Mr. Wright stated.

Henry Found Shot at Home

Former Congressman Was Texas Ex

Former Congressman R. L. Henry, who has been a widely known figure in Texas politics for three decades, was found shot Thursday morning in his home in Houston with a pistol nearby.

Dr. L. L. Graves, the family physician, said he believed the shooting was accidental.

Mr. Henry was a Representative from the Seventh District for twenty years, from 1897 to 1917. He was one of the leaders of the Alfred E. Smith forces in Texas during the last presidential campaign. His political campaign against Morris Sheppard for the United States senatorial seat in 1930 was unsuccessful.

Mr. Henry was born at Linden, Texas, on May 12, 1864. He attended Texas A. & M. College, Northwestern University at Georgetown, and The University of Texas. He received a bachelor of laws degree from the University in 1887.

Czech Club Picnic Given Tomorrow at 3

All members of the Czech Club and their guests will meet in front of the Main Building tomorrow at 3 o'clock to leave for a picnic at Barton Springs. About thirty people are expected and arrangements are being made by Dr. Edward Micek. The afternoon will be devoted to games, swimming, picnics, and a picnic supper.

Extensive preparations are being made for the annual Czech night program to be held on July 18 at the Open Air Theater. The program is under the auspices of the Czech Ex-students' Association and will include motion pictures, dancing, singing, and various other attractions.

Registration for Second Term to Start Wednesday; Continues for Five Days

A new plan for registering in the second term is to be tried this summer, E. J. Mathews, registrar, has announced. On Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, July 15, 16, 17, and 18 respectively, between 11 and 1 o'clock students now in the first term may register for the second term of the summer session. Monday, July 20, will be the regular registration day for all new students and for all old students who did not register during the preceding week.

Studley Speaks Tuesday at 7 In Economics Court

Talk Given Wednesday By Nursery School Instructor

Miss Lucy Studley, assistant is the last speaker in the series of four lectures sponsored by the home economics department will speak on "Home Making and Enterprise in Management." Miss Studley will speak in the court between the two home economic buildings at 7 o'clock Tuesday, July 14, rather than on Wednesday as the previous lecturers have done. Miss Studley is a visiting professor from the University of Minnesota. She is giving a course in household management here this summer.

Case Reported

Last Wednesday Miss Dorothy Mummery, the nursery school instructor, spoke on "The Poorly Adjusted Child." Miss Mummery's talk was the report of an actual case of a little girl four years old who was the patient of one of the doctors at the Neological Institute. Through mismanagement and poor training this child had become unmanageable by her parents and had been retarded in growth and mental development. Miss Mummery's task was to retrain the child and then to instruct the mother in the proper methods of child raising and training. The rapid improvement of the child under the scientific care and methods used by Miss Mummery seemed to show that her trouble had been poor home atmosphere due to ill-mated parents, mismanagement, and lack of proper training rather than the slight inflammation of the brain that had been the doctor's diagnosis.

In her talk Miss Mummery gave in detail the methods she used with the child and told of the methods that had been used previously. Her report illustrated the far-reaching evil effects of the use of fear as a method of control and showed the value and efficiency of the basic principles of modern scientific methods of child training.

Loan Library Is Visited By Class

As part of the practical work in library science courses at the University of Texas this summer, members of the three classes in that subject, more than 80 in number, recently paid a visit to the University Package Loan Library and to the University Visual Instruction Bureau. The group studied the modern ways of cataloging material, of making cross references, of preparing library materials for mailing and other details of package library work. In the Visual Instruction Bureau they studied the manner in which visual instruction aids, such as slides, motion picture films, etc., may be tied up with library work.

PATILLO TO TEACH

Miss Mamie Patillo, former Hunt County superintendent of public instruction, is in the University of Texas this summer working on her master's degree. Miss Patillo will be an instructor in the Dallas public schools when the school term opens in the fall. She will be connected with the primary department.

1. Decide definitely which courses you want to take. Advise with professors if necessary. Get your grade book.
2. Then go to Sutton Hall 103 to fill out cards and receive Admission Permit.
3. The next stop will be Sutton Hall 118, to be assigned courses and sections; Dr. Penick in charge. Exceptions: Law students will go to Law B. 106 and all August candidates for degrees to their respective deans. Exception to exception: Dean Parlin's candidates will register on Saturday morning or Monday.
4. Go to the Auditor, same floor, and pay your fees.
5. Report to classes on Tuesday morning, July 21. Don't lose your schedule in the meantime.

By registering on any of these four days, Mr. Mathews said, a student may provide himself with a little vacation between his last examination in the first term and his first class in the second term.

Governor's Home Visited by Tour Group Wednesday

Excursion Popular Among Students In Past Years

Because the tour through the Governor's Mansion has always been so popular, and due to the fact that it was impossible to make the visit to the mansion as scheduled, Miss Lillian Wester, instructor in Romance languages, will make a special tour Wednesday afternoon of the home of the Governor of Texas.

Students who wish to go will meet on the walk in front of the mansion between 4 and 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and the tour will be completed within one hour, Miss Wester said. In past years this excursion has always been very popular and Miss Wester expects a large crowd to see the mansion Wednesday.

The Governor's Mansion is one of the outstanding examples of colonial architecture in the South. There are many rooms of interest including the reception room, the library, and Sam Houston's room. The spacious rooms house many historic pieces of furniture.

Samuel E. Gideon, associate professor of architectural design and architectural history, in describing the building said, "The very nearness of the executive mansion to the city and the Capitol, the hospitality and democracy of its long line of occupants, give to the Texas public a greater sense of ownership than any governor's mansion I know."

Mrs. Sterling, in extending the invitation to come to the mansion Wednesday afternoon asked that all who wish to make the tour come before 4:30 o'clock.

MOLESWORTH TO LEAVE

Miss Hilda Molesworth, instructor in physical education at the University, will leave Austin after the first semester of summer school to visit for several weeks in Lake Charles, La. After her return to Austin Miss Molesworth and her mother will then visit in Mexico. They will be joined there by Miss Molesworth's sister, Katherine, of Havana, Cuba.

Partial Program For Second Term Listed by Moore

All-University Dances To Continue If Interest Is Shown

Lectures Planned

Stella Shurtleff to Give Illustrated Talk On 'Art'

A varied and interesting program of entertainment has been arranged for summer school students of the second semester as shown by the announcement made by Dean V. I. Moore, chairman of the committee on programs, recreation, and student activities. Regarding the all-University dances Dean Moore said, "A dance will be held July 25. If enough interest is shown that the loss is not too great at that time, the dances will continue throughout the summer."

The program has been only partially completed, but it will contain a minimum of seven public lectures, Dean Moore announced. Among the lecturers is Miss Stella Shurtleff of Houston who will give an illustrated lecture on "Art." Miss Shurtleff's lecture has been very well received in many universities and art centers, Dean Moore said.

Brown Speaks

Among the others who will give lectures are L. S. Brown, adjunct professor of geology, who will talk on the "Salt Domes of Texas"; Dr. C. E. Arrowood, professor of the history and philosophy of education, who will discuss the "Modern American University"; Dr. J. E. Pearce, professor of anthropology; and Edmund M. Morgan, visiting professor of law from Harvard.

A concert will be given by the Girls' Glee Club. The St. Johns District Jubilee Singers will give another concert. One program will be presented under the auspices of the Czech Club.

It is hoped that the University Theater will present another play during the second semester, Dean Moore said. Negotiations are being made to have one program presented by the Powers string quartet, a nationally known musical organization.

Bulletin on Heat Transfer Issued

Publication of a bulletin issued by the Bureau of Engineering Research of the University has been announced. This bulletin, prepared by B. E. Short, adjunct professor of mechanical engineering, and M. M. Heller, instructor in mechanical engineering, is entitled "Heat Transfer in a Commercial Heat Exchanger."

The purpose of the investigation the two men made was not undertaken for the purpose of establishing new theories or equations, but to determine the practicability of correlating the results of tests on a commercial multiple-tube heat exchanger with results obtained from laboratory data on single-tube experimental exchangers and, also, to establish a basis by which a rational analysis could be made of data obtained from tests on any heat exchanger. The tests were made in the laboratories of the University department of mechanical engineering.

ASSISTANTS NAMED

Student assistants in the School of Law during the summer session include Edmund Dyche of Amarillo and Leroy Jeffers of Holland, quizmasters, and Clifford Mays of Fort Worth, Gus Hodges of Greenville and James Marberry of Austin, student librarians.

BOOK PUBLISHED

"The Great Plains" is the name of a new book by Walter Prescott Webb, associate professor of history, which is being published by Ginn and Company. Professor Webb expects the book to be released about July 15.

Lack of Leaders Causes Present Slump, Ellis Says

Faulty Adult Education Blamed for Economic Depression

Hardships Seen

Speaker Observes Cities Bread Lines, Waste In Country

Dr. A. Caswell Ellis blames the present economic depression on lack of leadership which in turn is caused by the lack of the adult education necessary to fit people to cope with the rapidly changing and exceedingly complex economic conditions of the Twentieth Century.

In his lecture, "The New World Movement for Adult Education," delivered at the Open Air Theater Wednesday night he said that the bread lines he witnessed in Cleveland and other large cities he visited, and the oranges and grapefruit rotting on the ground in Florida, the apples in Pennsylvania, and the vegetables and grain in the Western states were going to waste while in other parts of the country people were starving, all for want of men with enough leadership to put these people to work in the right place and to get the food to the places where it was needed.

Shortage of Collegians

"The whole world," Dr. Ellis said, "is suffering from an utterly inadequate supply of qualified leaders in government, in religion, in business, in practically everything. This tragic lack of properly qualified leaders may be at least in part explained by the recently established fact that about seven-eighths of the brightest minds in America have not yet, with all our colleges, been touched by the colleges of our country. While our colleges are making a notable contribution to civilization by the education of one-eighth of the men and women of best natural ability, still seven-eighths are forced by poverty and other causes to enter life with their minds only partly trained. One of the enormous contributions that the adult education movement will make to civilization will be to seek out and educate in their leisure hours these adults with exceptional natural capacity for leadership, and thus multiply manifold the world's present supply of trained leadership."

Wars Eminent

A second great social and economic factor which is dependent upon properly trained and qualified leaders is the avoidance of war, Dr. Ellis explained. Quoting former Secretary of War Baker, Dr. Ellis said that in the state in which matters now are we cannot possibly go any further than 1935 without another world war and that when that war came it would surpass anything the world has ever seen—whole cities would be destroyed in a second's time, areas would be made untenable for any living thing for days at a time by a single discharge of poisonous gas from a passing plane.

"There are four sensitive spots in Europe today," he said, "which might cause this war at any moment." And yet, he pointed out, scarcely anyone in any of the countries of the world wants war. He added that the trouble is that the population of the world has practically stopped its education at thirty years of age and that most of us go on living in a child's mental life using the standards, ideas, and ideals we got before we were ten years of age; whereas situations and institutions such as chain banks, vast combinations of capital, the League of Nations, and new power problems never dreamed of thirty years ago have come upon us and now we have to settle them although most of us stopped studying them at the age of 21 or 22 when we left college. Therefore, as Dr. Ellis explained, adult education is not

Board Accepts 1931-32 Budget; Requests Oil Production Curtailment

Taking final action during the last two hours of their all-day meeting Saturday, the University Board of Regents accepted the recommendation of the Athletic Council not to renew the contract of Fred M. Walker, head basketball coach for the past four years, which will expire September 1, 1931. Judge R. L. Batts, chairman of the Regents, stated that no vote was taken. The Regents' action came after the Athletic Council voted unanimously several months ago not to renew the contract.

Judge Batts stated that the Regents made out a report to the Athletic Council that a suitable coach be considered and recommended to the Regents. Judge Batts continued that it was entirely possible for the University not to appoint a new basketball coach from outside of the University, but that the position may be filled by one of the other members of the present coaching staff. No applications were presented at the Regents meeting Saturday.

Piatt Shows Way Of Philosophy In Modern Thought

Objections of Critics To Present-day Beliefs Cited

In his lecture, "Philosophy and the Modern World" given at the Open Air Theater Wednesday night, Dr. D. A. Piatt, professor of philosophy, showed that contemporary criticism has not reached the root of the problem involved in the conflict between religion and science, and has not offered any constructive solution of the problem.

"Where the middle age emphasized order, society, permanence, reason, eternal verities, immutable types," he said, "the modern age has stressed progress, the individual, change, experience or observation, relative values, evolution, invention, and technology. The spirit of the modern world is perhaps best expressed in Francis Bacon's aphorism, 'Knowledge is power.' The critics argue that there has been too much emphasis on change, that we moderns are on our way but we don't know where we are going."

Validity in Question

"To judge whether these objections are valid," he continued, "we must note how the critics define science. Science is understood as dealing with mechanism, conditions, means, and not with values, purposes, ends, or ideals. The method of science is taken to be purely descriptive and not interpretative. Eminent scientists have encouraged this notion by claiming that we must go to religion for our scale of values, that science gives us only facts and not an evaluation of them."

Dr. Piatt's question was "Where are we to turn, if not to science, for the determination of our social values, the knowledge of which is necessary to intelligent citizenship. Canvassing and criticizing in turn the various ways for social guidance that have been suggested, he said in part, "First we have witnessed the appearance of various new cults which many people are enthusiastically turning to because of lack of faith in traditional religion. Such people are weary of the pressure of modern life and are seeking escape or refuge. Other people not satisfied and traditional religion nevertheless go there for their values because of their distrust of science. The religious attitude is generally conservative, assuming that traditional values are good enough for the future. A more sophisticated movement in contemporary literature suggests Humanism as the way out of our social difficulties. They trust scientific knowledge in the material world, but resort to spiritual insight or what they call intuition for the higher values of life."

The Regents further requested that the special session of the Legislature which will open Tuesday pass necessary laws to conserve the natural resources of University lands.

Judge Batts reported that the Regents decided to build the Walker Creek Boulevard on the east side of the creek. Plans which are now being completed will be presented at the Regents' next meeting, Judge Batts announced.

Tentative plans for the construction of the Physics Building, one of the buildings planned in the University building program, were discussed but no definite considerations made. A report from the University building committee was also presented to the Regents giving information on the construction of the proposed structures.

Petitions and recommendations which were scheduled to be presented by citizens of Austin concerning the closing of Speedway did not come before the Regents.

Coach Walker has been a member of the University coaching staff for the past four years. He came to the University in 1927 and served his first year as basketball coach in 1928. Although he has never won a Southwest Conference championship, his teams were always in the running, with the exception of this past season.

Walker has been in the midst of trouble since his first year as made the trip.

LITTLE JOE

By JOE HORNADAY
Texan Sports Editor

Two gentlemen entered the coffee shop. One, a middle-aged man with the stub of a cigar stuck between his teeth, walked slowly to a vacant seat and relaxed. The other, a dapper, some ten years younger than the first, threw himself in the seat opposite and began the conversation. His talk was fast and without interruption.

"But I tell you the Longhorns have too hard a schedule this fall to do anything in the Southwest Conference, S. M. U. couldn't do it last year because of their inter-sectional games. They had a great team, too, and might have won the title if they had not played the Navy and Notre Dame."

"Who do you think will beat Texas?" the middle-aged man inquired.

"I haven't thought much about it, but I believe that the Longhorns will give Harvard a good licking—like they did S. M. U. last fall. Then, they will take Oklahoma and Missouri."

The waiter came up and both ordered pie and coffee.

"The Longhorns will have an undefeated season," the middle-aged man said shortly.

"They can't do it, man. It just isn't done. They almost went through undefeated last fall. They had a great team and didn't need much to win the flag, but this year—No."

"Then you think the Steers could have won the championship without a coach?"

"Positively, no. Littlefield won the championship for State. Do you think he was downhearted after the Rice game? No. He kept them confident. After the Mustang game he kept his boys' heads level. It was his coaching."

"What do you think of the Harvard game?"

"I have been lucky enough to see a number of Eastern teams in action and I believe that Texas will take Harvard with ease. They play an entirely different brand of football there. Straight stuff. No trick plays or passes. That's what is going to beat them."

"Rice is going to have an excellent team this fall. Do you think Texas will whip them?"

"You saw what Texas did to S. M. U. last year. The Rice game will end just like that. Littlefield's boys haven't forgotten last year's defeat."

"What about Baylor A. & M., T. C. U., and Arkansas? Are they going to have anything?"

"Baylor, A. & M. and T. C. U. always give a good fight. They won't have much material this fall. About Arkansas, I don't know."

They finished eating and each ordered another cup of coffee.

"Who will win the championship then?" the middle-aged man asked.

"I wouldn't say. State is the favorite, but has the favorite ever come out on top? My pick is the Mustangs."

"But you forget that the Longhorns will have everything this fall," the middle-aged gentleman argued. "Why not just throw away the tradition about the favorite never winning, and concede the Longhorns a chance."

"That's just what everyone else is doing," the dapper replied. "It's true that the Longhorns will have everything, but I am a believer in traditions. Do you know, Littlefield was telling me the other day that he would have from three to five good men for almost every position, but that does not change my opinion."

"Well, I'm still for State," the middle-aged gentleman stated, throwing his cigar to the floor.

"But—"

"No use to argue. Texas will have the best team and they will come out on top."

Both men paid their checks, went down the street in opposite directions—never to speak again.

Eckhardt Tenth In Coast Hitting Tabs

Last week's baseball averages showed Oscar Eckhardt, former Longhorn baseball and football star, tenth among the Pacific Coast hitters. Eckhardt is playing outfield with Mission, a second division club. He is batting .352, having been at bat 370 times, made 131 hits. He has two home runs to his credit.

Johany Railton, 1930 Longhorn pitching star, chalked up his tenth victory of the season last week for the Albany team in the Eastern League.

Fox-Curry

In front of an altar banked with smilax, shasta daisies, fern, and palms and with an inset of tall white tapers, Miss Hilda Pauline Curry, former student of the University, was married to Wilson Fox, also a University student, at the First Methodist Church of Franklin at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening, July 3.

Ceremonial rites were presided over by Elder Hyde, pastor of the First Christian Church of Bryan, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Fox, sister of the bridegroom, played the music for the occasion.

The bride, who wore a pink chiffon gown and carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds, was given in marriage by her father, Dr. Thomas G. Curry of Franklin. Mrs. Lemmie L. Armour of Sweetwater, the bride's sister, was the only attendant to the bride. Mrs. Armour was dressed in a beige chiffon gown and carried a bouquet of daisies and fern. Walter Fox was best man in the wedding with Joe Curry, brother of the bride, as groomsman. Robert Lloyd Jackson and June C. Mitchell concluded the wedding procession as ushers.

Mrs. Fox, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Curry of Franklin, is a former student of the University. She has been teaching for the past several years in Granger Grammar School. Mr. Fox is a graduate of Southwestern University and is at the present time a candidate for a law degree in August from the University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Fox of Granger.

Following the wedding reception held at the home of the bride immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Fox left for a brief wedding tour. Upon their return the couple will live in Austin.

Davis-Dunn

Twilight wedding of Tom Martin Davis, University graduate of Austin and Houston, and Miss Dorothy Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt C. Dunn of Houston, took place last week at the residence of the bride's parents in Houston.

Mr. Davis has a degree from the School of Law of the University and is also a graduate of V. M. I. At present he is a member of the firm of Baker, Botts, Andrews, and Wharton, one of Houston's outstanding law firms. Mrs. Dunn, granddaughter of the late Judge John W. Parker of Williamson County and Houston and Mrs. Parker, is a graduate of Rice Institute.

Shower Given

Miss Minna Mae Maerki, a former student of the University and a bride-to-be whose marriage to Carl Sterzing will take place Wednesday, July 22, was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Alvah Otting last Wednesday afternoon at her residence, 4200 Duval Street.

Gifts to the future bride were distributed in the novel fashion of allowing her to shop abroad for her trousseau. Each shopping point contained a different present for the bride.

Decorations of the home were in orange and white carrying out The University of Texas motif, and brick ice cream and cakes in the selected colors were served.

Slay-Crofoot

Marriage of Miss Marian Elizabeth Crofoot, University graduate, to Glyn Slay of Nacogdoches took place yesterday morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Crofoot, 703 Guadalupe Street.

Mrs. Slay received a bachelor of arts degree from the University in 1927, and has been teaching in Lufkin for the past four years. After a honeymoon tour, the couple will reside in Lufkin.

Dorothy Nell Wisian of Lockhart and Mary Kennedy of Kingsville have been recent guests of Louise Weddington.

Vivian Walker, Pi Beta Phi of Corsicana, is visiting on the campus as the guest of Charlotte Strong and Louise Weddington.

Wiegel-Duncan

Announcement has been made of the recent marriage of Miss Marietta Duncan, University graduate, of Paris, and Thomas Weigel, also former student of the University, of Austin, which took place at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, July 4, at the Methodist Church at Hugo, Okla.

Kathryn Duncan, sister of the bride, of Paris, was the only attendant at this quiet wedding of the couple.

Mrs. Weigel, daughter of the late B. C. Duncan of Paris, formerly attended Ward Belmont at Nashville, Tenn., and received her bachelor of arts degree from the University in 1930. She was one of the most popular and attractive co-eds of the University. She is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, and for the past year she has been a member of the library staff of the Main University Library.

The groom is also a former student of the University and a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. He has also attended Stanton Military Academy and is at present connected with the firm of Emory, Peck, and Rockwood. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weigel of Austin.

After a brief wedding trip the couple returned to Austin and are at home at 2711 1-2 Guadalupe Street.

Charlotte Strong has returned to her home in Beaumont for the summer.

Grace Hill has returned to her home in Cripple Creek, Colo.

Fred H. Grau, senior engineering student from Taylor, is at the national guard encampment at Mineral Wells this summer.

Mildred Kidd of Brownwood is a guest at the Pi Beta Phi house this week-end.

Roles of Honor Taken by Gunn, Ramsey in Play

By IKE MOORE

To win the girl of your heart, first have her father kick you out of the house, we were told in "Tommy," a sparkling modern comedy of Middletown manners, which closed a two-nights' run Thursday at the Austin High School auditorium.

The play was presented by the University Theater, our summer interlude for the Curtain Club, under the direction of Monroe C. Lippman, who is substituting in the summer school for Elwood Grisco, associate professor of public speaking.

The cast was recruited for the most part from players already well-known to Austin audiences. Jessie Mary Ramsey and Joel Gunn in the title roles gave an excellent interpretation of modern small-town youth and contemporary middle-class ideas of marriage.

Tommy, who is merely Booth Tarkington's Willie Baxter with a sport roadster, gave Gunn a suitable part, although he was only cast for the role a few days before when the original actor was forced to withdraw.

Miss Ramsey, a former Austin High School player, should be a valuable addition to the Curtain Club.

The best performance of the night probably fell to Mona Jarrell, who was cast as Marie's pudding-headed mother. Miss Jarrell at most times was strictly out of the amateur class, and she gave evidence of having had wider experience than some of the other players.

Joe Munster was an amusing Mr. Thurber, but he failed to give the illusion of middle-aged provincialism that his part demanded.

The most satisfactory male lead was perhaps that of Joe Kelly Butler as Marie Thurber's genial uncle, but Butler also failed to carry conviction as to the number of summers that had passed over his head.

Minor parts in the cast were filled by James Burton, Mable Claire Hancock, and Louis Polichino. Off-stage neighborhood small-talk was extremely good.

The University Theater plans to present another play during the second term of summer school. It should be worth anyone's four-bits.

Marriage Woes Heard by Public

Hiney and Katrina were married under the light of the moon night before last on the campus. Only neither Hiney or Katrina were present. People were there; the music was furnished.

In the distance was heard the cranking of an old model T; after an elapse of time, an organ softly played a wedding march. Far-off whistling of birds and noises of animals in a park comes to one's ears; 'twas the honeymoon tour. Then thunder and rain was heard falling upon the lovers.

Repeated cranking of the old Ford and the lovers went home while the tune, "Home Sweet Home," floated through the air. Noises of a party at the new home were heard, and the familiar cries told the true story of a home.

'Twas all portrayed so vividly by the Longhorn Band in one of its interpretative selections at the concert at the Open Air Theater Friday night.

Elizabeth Autrey will spend the week-end in Eagle Lake.

Lack of Leaders-

merely for the unfortunates who were not able to go to college or could not finish college but is almost a necessity for everyone who is to have a part in the affairs of the nation or even the community for, "With the rapidly increasing complexity of the civic, social, and industrial problems, and with the changes in these problems from year to year made by the addition and dissemination of so much new knowledge, it is impossible to keep educated without life-long systematic study; mere hit or-miss private reading is wasteful and usually hopelessly ineffective.

Adult Study Needed

"This continuous adult study," Dr. Ellis went on, "is further demanded by the fact that only about half of man's interests, talents, and aptitudes are present in childhood and youth, but come to the maturity which makes the educating of them profitable only during adult life. The survey made by the Carnegie Corporation six years ago showed that there were in the United States even then in the night public schools, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. schools, business colleges, and correspondence schools five times as many adults studying as there were boys and girls in all the colleges and universities of America combined, and the number of the adults studying is increasing by leaps and bounds each year."

Turning to Cleveland College, the adult branch of Western Reserve University, Dr. Ellis gave a brief sketch of its history from its establishment in a loft over a garage with only one full-time paid professor and with a first year's enrollment of 1,490, through its rapid growth to an institution with an enrollment five years later of 7,182 students between the ages of sixteen and seventy-six, and six hundred different courses ranging from the regular college courses in arts and sciences to courses in civic duties and parenthood. And in this college for adults, Dr. Ellis pointed out, there are two and one-half times as many adults as boys and girls in the four day colleges of Cleveland College, and two-thirds of the courses taken by these adults have nothing to do with making a living but are simply cultural courses which make for the enrichment of life.

Adult Education

In a recent lecture on the campus Dr. A. C. Ellis of Western Reserve University brought out proofs of his theory that it is not possible to educate anyone entirely during childhood and youth because a person is not mentally all there to be educated. Stressing assimilation and understanding in learning Dr. Ellis said, "The ability to understand, to criticize, to evaluate, to apply new knowledge is most important of all, and in this regard the adult is vastly superior to the child because of his wider background of experience of life and his more mature mental powers. This is shown in the way in which adult illiterates can be put through and learn the equivalent of the first three grades of the public schools in one hundred hours of study, whereas the usual 6- or 7-year old child requires more than two thousand hours covering practically the same ground."

Dr. Nichols Murray Butler complains somewhat gloomily that "there is a very small minority of human beings who continue to grow intellectually after 23 or 24 years of age. Many after that age settle down to likes and dislikes, habits of living, and close their minds." Dr. Butler cites this inclination of the great majority as arguing very forcibly for facilities for adult education, in which his own university, Columbia, holds a position of recognized leadership. In the face of the work being done at Columbia and in the facts and proofs given by Dr. Ellis, it seems rather evident that illiteracy in the United States may soon become a thing of the past.

There is certainly no doubt but that adult education has developed enormously in recent years. Its popularity is rapidly increasing, and the enthusiasm of adult students is contagious. If it can but be extended to take in the entire adult population, a near-miracle will have been accomplished. We consider our generation as one of great achievement, and there is no doubt but that such is the case, but as Dr. Butler infers, this achievement has been due to the small minority of our men and women who have gone on learning after they became men and women. It is indeed a matter for conjecture to consider what might have been done if all of our men and women had continued to be mentally active and alert after they had gotten out of the "school age."

This Machine Age

News items from all over the world are constantly bringing out forcibly the fact that machines are everywhere taking the place of men. The Daily Mail of London recently reported that the substitution of a radio loud speaker for the minister in some churches is being seriously considered by the Church of England. There is said to be a somewhat pronounced shortage, and it has been suggested that services in certain churches could be broadcast, with the hope that other congregations would join in the prayers and responses as though they were led by a clergyman.

Here in the United States the condition of the musicians is almost hopeless due to the widespread use of "talkie" music in all the theaters, together with a growing use of radios and phonographs. Radio-driven planes, boats, and automobiles are being experimented with everywhere, and in many cases being used successfully. Everywhere new inventions are being brought forth that have but one thing in mind—the abolition of man power in industry and the substitution of machines.

Even colleges and universities have not escaped the influence of this trend, and it has been suggested that in the future our institutions of learning may be nothing more than highly mechanized organizations. At the University of Iowa all of the courses ordinarily offered by the Department of Extension are now being broadcast over their own radio station, and many hundreds of students are being reached in this way who heretofore have been unable to take the regular correspondence courses.

This fall the use of electrically transcribed lectures to be used in place of lectures given by faculty members is to be given a trial. While it is generally considered that the personal contact between a professor

ONE REAL POME
By Cel Lew Lloyd

All women are easy to look at,
Beautiful to say the least,
None of them ever grow fat,
No matter how much they feast.
So say the movies.

The end of a romance is happy,
Forgotten the wild oats once sowed,
Fadeouts are blissfully sappy,
Consciences cast off their heavy load.
Take it from the movies.

Just before shooting a crook,
The cop pauses to sing a song,
While the crook considerably
reads a book,
Hoping the cop won't take too long.
You've seen it in the movies.

Cowboys all play banjos,
Own trick horses as well,
Races are won by a Roman nose,
Stock brokers know just when to sell.
It's that way in the movies.

Oh, when I leave this sad old earth,
And they ring my farewell knell,
I want to go to the movie heaven,
And laugh at the villains in hell.

A BULLETERIAL
By the Milk Man

Now that the Toreador is running for president, the Milk Man has been appointed to write this column.

No politics will be allowed in this section no matter how many foolish attacks Herb Hoover makes on the grain speculators. However, if we had been selling grain short, we would have taken offense at his remarks. And you can try that on your pet corn.

The remarks made in this editorial are purely personal and have nothing to do with the editorial policy of the paper, if any.

We understand that there is a city ordinance against serenading the dormitories. This is strictly unconstitutional as it takes away the right of assembly, and to petition for a redress of grievances. A school boy's skeleton was found in the airshaft of an Indiana school the other day. When questioned, police admitted that they hadn't even known a school boy was missing. Oswald, page the truant officer!

Albert B. Fall, federal Tea Pot Dome specialist, claims he is too sick to go to jail. Well, having to go to jail would make anybody feel bad.

A negro was saved from a Dallas mob day before yesterday. Officials are keeping his whereabouts a dark secret.

Money won't buy everything, but a lot of us are not satisfied with the things we get free.

"The pen is mightier than the sword" only so long as you don't irritate the man with the sword. Life is what you make it. Be sure and put in enough dough.

To a mosquito, people are merely so many filling stations.

Have you ever thought as you looked at a beautiful sunset that it looked as if somebody had spilled all the colors on earth and then set them afire?

The Toreador is working up his campaign thunder and will soon be ready to take to the stump. He has conferred upon Senator Augustus B. Splotz the honor of being his campaign manager. Splotz's task will not be a light one for he will have to furnish the money, the stumps, and to do the ordinary dirty work that is connected with a political campaign.

The Toreador will not reveal his identity until elected, thus offering curious voters another incentive for voting for him. Suffice to say that he is the only American bull fighter who has never been hooked in the arena or out of it.

The old matador is more inclined toward accepting the Democratic nomination for president since Herb Hoover announced his moratorium. He is convinced that none of the common people can understand the proposition and therefore will vote against it.

The Toreador will begin his campaign actively late in September or early in October.

At that time he will be ready to kiss all babies that are brought to hear him speak. Herb Hoover has a slight edge on our cause in this particular instance because he can delegate this work to his wife, Mrs. Splotz may assist the Toreador in his arduous duties.

The opening will be held in some Texas town or city depending on which one invites the Toreador to speak. In case of no invitations the campaign opening will be held in the woods where stumps are more plentiful anyhow.

Vote for the Toreador in 1932. The only available candidate who can fool most of the people all of the time!

Morona says this talk about Scotchmen being tight is the bunk. She once knew one who was a very CLOSE friend of hers.

Be that as it may, when Post and Gatty, round the world fliers, were invited to come to Austin they asked "How much is it?" But some of us have to pay to stay here.

and his class is greatly to be desired, the fact remains that in large groups this element is practically nil. Therefore the delivery of a lecture by means of a phonograph record, while it is certainly revolutionary and unusual, may be for the best after all, since it would leave the professors free to do research work, and not take up their time in the giving of routine material. Of course the professor or his assistant would have to dictate the lecture to begin with, but numerous copies could be made, and the same subject discussed in several classes at the same time with the effort formerly required to present the lecture to a single class.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., starring in "The Forward Pass" will be shown next Saturday night, a Fairbanks is the hero who rates as the ace of the college football team. Loretta Young plays the part of the college vamp. The picture has the rather well-known plot of the best player on the team refusing to play on the team. The regular schedule of bookings follows:
July 25: "The Great Divide,"

Romera-Navarro, visiting professor of Romance languages from the University of Pennsylvania, spoke on "Contemporary Political Spain" at the meeting of Newman Club at 7:30 o'clock last night at Newman Hall. Regents-- a coach. In an effort to clear up the athletic controversy last year, a recommendation was placed before the Athletic Council asking that Walker's contract for the year not be renewed. The first vote of the Athletic Council on this matter ended in a 5-5 tie count. It was necessary for the Board of Regents last year to appoint a committee and make an investigation and order another vote on the matter. In the second vote, Walker's contract was approved 8-3.

Petitions Circulated
The athletic trouble started this year early in the spring when a group of the Longhorn freshmen basketball teams drew up a petition asking that Walker be fired. The petition read that if he were retained none would play under him the following year. This petition was presented to the Athletic Council.

Several weeks later the Athletic Council voted unanimously not to renew the contract of Walker. Friends of Walker since that time have asked the various members of the Regents for a thorough investigation of the athletic matter.

Walker's record showed two second places, one third, and one last place in conference basketball.

The following is a report of the Regents concerning the apportionment of the new budget:

"Faced with the same problem as that confronting all State educational institutions, due to the financial condition of the State, the Regents and President were forced to make substantial reductions in the budget for the coming year. For Main University residence instruction, the budget is reduced in the amount of $133,000 from the current budget. The expenditures for the Medical Branch of the University will be decreased during the next year by $6,895. Various adjustments are made in the budgets for the extramural divisions.

"The total Main University budget as adopted by the Regents, representing all of the resources available for 1931-32, was $1,614,875. (The budget for the current year was $1,747,886.) The 1931-32 income budget is based upon legislative appropriations of $1,350,875, to which was added an estimated income from student fees, deposits, U. S. government, etc., of $211,000 to obtain an estimated income of $1,561,865. Adding to this income the estimated September 1, 1931, balance of $53,000 (exclusive of the unexpended balances in the various subdivisions which are ordinarily reapportioned to them), the total resources for 1931-32 are seen to be $1,614,875.

The heaviest reductions in the budget for the Main University were made in items for tutors and assistants, maintenance and equipment, summer school, publications, fellowships, scholarships, zoological research, botanic garden, public lectures, etc.

"The budget for the summer session of 1932 is fixed at $110,000. The current budget for the summer session is $120,642. "Administrative authorities have pointed out that the decreased funds available for the upkeep of the physical plant will make very difficult the effective operation of the institution since the plant is rapidly expanding and the requirements for maintenance are steadily increasing.

"Various adjustments were made in the budgets for the extramural divisions. The budget for the Bureau of Business Research is decreased from $40,000 at present to $30,000. The budget for research in the social sciences will remain at $40,000. The Division of the Conservation and Development of the Natural Resources of Texas will receive $25,150, compared to $26,350 in 1930-31. The Bureau of Engineering Research is reduced from $8,600 this year to $7,600 for next year. The Bureau of Industrial Chemistry receives the same budget. The budget of the Division of Extension is reduced in a nominal amount.

"Officials of the institution, after working for some weeks to prepare the best possible budget under the circumstances, have pointed out that each subdivision of the school is faced with the duty of somehow carrying an increasing load with the money in sight, and that the budget cannot be revised upwards nor the load downwards in the present crisis. It is stated that 'hope of easier conditions during the coming biennium must be based upon increasing prosperity and consequent actions of the Forty-second Legislature in possible special sessions.'

"The Regents took no action on the budget for 1932-33, the second year of the biennium. The resources at present in sight for 1932-33 are substantially equal to those for 1931-32 minus the entire legislative appropriation for the 1933 summer session ($80,000) and minus the $53,000 estimated balance above mentioned.

"Notices of the 1931-32 budgets of the various departments and subdivisions will be sent immediately to the staff members affected. Saturday.

Lightsey's Transportation Fleet

Lightsey's Driverless Cars Popular on 'Drag'

Stationed convenient to the University and its students, 2402 San Antonio Street, Lightsey's Drive-It-Yourself System keeps the largest fleet of driverless cars in Austin, and many among them are the Ford roadsters so popular with students. There is also an establishment at 112 East Seventh Street where persons beginning at the other end can hire cars to come University-ward.

Give Taxi Service
In addition Lightsey's system has black and white taxi cabs which are always ready for call at the rate of 25c for the first mile and 10c for each additional two-fifths mile with no charge for extra passengers.

Then, for those times in the year when the population of the University shifts and changes or returns to scattered homes, there are Lightsey's trucks ready to haul or move anything anywhere. The trucks are of all sizes with experienced men to handle them and to do the moving.

A new thirty-passenger bus has recently been added to Lightsey's service equipment. This is available and suitable for trips where large crowds are involved. It is just the thing for the tours of a band or the travels of a football team.

Jewell J. Mathis of Graford spent several days last week on the campus.

Texas Collegians Lose First Two Tilts in Mexico

Word has been received here that the Texas Collegians, an independent baseball team with whom Ed Olle, business manager of the athletic office, is playing, lost the first two games to the Fabriles nine in Mexico City last week. Scores were not given.

A letter has been received by the athletic office from the team which defeated the Collegians asking for a series of games with the Longhorns, but since the University team does not play in the summer no arrangements can be made. It is expected that Ditch's nine will book a series of games with the Mexican nine after school is out next spring as the offer made by the club is very generous.

Olle is expected to return to the campus to resume his duties Tuesday.

Sterling Calls Special Session Of Legislature

Conservation of Natural Resources Is Topic Proposed

Texas lawmaking bodies will assemble Tuesday in response to the call sent out by Governor Ross S. Sterling late Wednesday afternoon for a special session to consider the conservation of natural resources of the State. With the failure of three plans attempted by operators in the new East Texas field to curb oil production waste and with the prices of oil dropping to new low levels, the need for legislative measures to limit production have become pressing.

Contract prices for oil have fallen as low as 8 1-2 cents a barrel and developments are necessitated by the fact that new wells must be opened to prevent drainage from the holdings of operators. Governor Sterling has asked for the passage of a proration law with enough votes to put it into effect as soon as he signs it. A bill that would prorate the East Texas field would indirectly effect University oil lands in West Texas, which have been prorated. Incomes from the University land have fallen to one-third of their former size due to the unregulated marketing of oil in the East Texas fields.

Railroad Commissioner Pat M. Neff has suggested that a law governing waste of gas from the oil wells will control oil production waste as well. He has also supported the proposal for the creation of a new board to take the oil and gas administration out of the hands of the railroad commission.

Charles S. Wilson of Giddings has returned to Austin after an extended visit with friends in Louisiana.

How Many Students, That Will Be Wanting Rooms Soon, Know That YOU HAVE ROOMS?

There is one way and ONLY one way to let them know that you have desirable rooms to let. That way IS TO CONSISTENTLY ADVERTISE the fact to the students, both those who are now attending school and those who are prospective students.

The second summer term begins soon. Already prospective students are scanning the CLASSIFIED AD COLUMNS, in search for that most cool and desirable room. They must have some place to stay—why shouldn't it be in your room? Other students will want to change to new quarters. They inquire about—and select—in (a majority of cases) those rooms which they have seen advertised in the CLASSIFIED AD COLUMNS.

Insert your advertisement in the DAILY TEXAN CLASSIFIED AD COLUMNS NOW! Get the jump by a consistent use of this medium and have your rooms ALWAYS RENTED—bringing you the most returns all the time!

Spend a few cents and have your rooms rented, rather than save a few cents and have your rooms vacant.
