

COUNCIL REJECTS PLAN OFFERED BY COMMITTEE

STUDENTS IN MASS-MEETING DECLARE SENTIMENT FOR POST SEASON GAME

RESOLUTION SAYS THAT CONTEST MUST BE SETTLED

By David H. E. Keller

Unanimously adopting resolutions presented to it favoring the playing of a post-season game with Baylor University in the event of a tie between the two teams for the Southwestern Conference football championship, the mass meeting of 200 students which was held at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Law Auditorium of the University of Texas, indicated the sentiment of the student body to be in favor of requesting that an exception be made to the general faculty rule against post-season games.

The meeting was presided over by Cecil R. Chamberlin, in the absence of Archie D. Gray, president of the Students Association, in football practice. Mr. Chamberlin stated that the purpose of the meeting was to determine the attitude of the student body in regard to a post-season game with Baylor.

Kelly Presents Resolution

The resolution was presented by Henry S. Kelly, chairman of the committee which had been appointed to draw up the proposals. In substance, the resolution explained that since there was a great probability of a disputed title to the championship, since such a condition was most unsatisfactory for everyone concerned, and since such a post-season game would result in a tangible benefit to the institution, it was the wish of the student body that such a game be played, on the condition that an agreement should be binding only in the event of a tie; that the game be played either in Waco or in Austin, and that the finances be handled in such a way as to eliminate any possibility of profit to either institution, suggesting that the proceeds be distributed to the bona fide student rooters accompanying the visiting team in the form of a proportional refund of expenses. It further recommended that the mass-meeting go on record as requesting the Athletic Council to act in accordance with the sentiment of the student body, and that a committee of three be appointed to wait upon the Athletic Council with a copy of the resolutions on the occasion of its regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Amendment Suggested

An amendment suggested by J. B. Patterson, called for the striking out of all the restrictions presented in the resolution. Ben Brown argued against the elimination of the first two restrictions, including the provisions that the agreement be considered binding only in case the two teams remained undefeated after Thanksgiving and that the game be played either in Austin or in Waco, stating that both of these provisions were necessary to avoid commercialism. However, he favored the erasing of the third restriction, pertaining to finances. Mr. Brown suggested that since under the first two restrictions no taint of commercialism could possibly manifest itself, that the matters of finances be

CLARK FIELD TO BE DIVIDED AMONG RIVAL ROOTERS TURKEY DAY

SIXTY-ONE MEN ENTER DEBATING TRYOUTS TUESDAY

Organized Labor and Politics Chosen as Subject Because of Material

Sixty-one men have signed up to enter the preliminary tryouts for the Intercollegiate Debating team of the University, which will be held Tuesday, November 28, in rooms 101 and 105 of the Law Building.

The subject for this year is: Resolved, That organized labor should enter politics as a separate political party. According to a member of the Department of Public Speaking, this subject has an almost unlimited wealth of material and gives opportunity for a very wide range of arguments.

A meeting of all the entries was held in the Law Building last night and was presided over by Professor Tomkies. Sixty-one slips of paper with the corresponding numbers upon them were placed in a hat from which they were drawn and assigned to entries names as they were alphabetically read. Those having odd-numbers assigned to their names will speak upon the affirmative and those receiving even numbers upon the negative. The entries were placed in two groups: one to thirty and thirty-one to sixty-one, both inclusive. Those of the first group will try out in room 101 and those of the second group in room 105, both in the Law Building. Group one: Clarence J. Garland, Traett Walton, Francis G. Wilson, T. P. McClelland, H. G. Woodruff, James Little, L. L. Gambill, A. M. Blackman, Terry Dickens, H. L. DeBusk, James Graves, C. T. Groce, Felix A. Raymer, H. P. Massey, S. A. Crowley, Archie Hunsucker, F. J. Cox, Rolland Bradley, H. H. Schuenemann, Edward A. Mather, Lesley B. Cooper, M. Robin Pate, Erle M. Racey, M. Otis Rogers, P. G. Greenwood, Marshall O. Bell, Emmette Bedford, A. D. Moore, W. T. Sledge and Mayor H. Half.

Group two: H. A. Triesch, L. Hamilton Lowe, T. D. Sansing, Hubert McWhinney, J. Marvin Crawford, Cecil R. Chamberlin, P. E. Foreman, Geo. H. Mahon, Walter Rundell, Fred T. Porter, Owen Nabors, E. C. Dodd, Roy W. McDonald, Paul D. Page, Henry S. Kelly, J. H. Schleyer, Frank E. McGehee, James Hart, Dennis Macken, James P. Gibson, Bob L. Pool, Wm. B. Carr, S. Eldon Dyer, R. J. Joplin, W. A. Hartsfield, T. O. Mitchell, R. C. Garfinkle, Major T. Bell, Ben Greenwood and Ed. L. Gossett.

KELLERSBERGER WILL ADDRESS VOLUNTEERS

Dr. E. R. Kellersberger, former student of the University, will speak Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the library of the Y. M. C. A. to the Student Volunteers on his experiences in the missionary field. Dr. Kellersberger recently returned to America by way of London from the Belgian Congo where he and his wife are Presbyterian missionaries.

Mrs. Kellersberger, who is also a former student, is now recovering from sleeping sickness in Virginia. She will be unable to visit Austin with her husband. Students desirous of learning about work in Central Africa are invited to hear Dr. Kellersberger.

Bill Turning Dance Over to Memorial Union to Be Presented

By Francis G. Wilson

A plea for the opportunity to cooperate with the A. & M. rooting section will bear fruit Wednesday at 7 p. m. when the students' assembly meets and hears Shorty Nowotny of San Antonio, University Yell leader, ask that plans be made with the Aggie yell leaders for the division of Clark Field between the halves of the Turkey Day game.

Will Divide Field

The plan to be presented to the second meeting of the assembly for better cooperation stipulates that the University yell leader go to College Station and make the plans for the game, deciding which rooting section shall take the field first between halves and other methods to prevent side-line friction in the big fight. It is thought that unless some action is taken before the game, fights or other disagreeable features might mar Thanksgiving Day.

Gray Will Present Bill

Archie D. Gray, president of the assembly, who called the meeting for tonight in the temporary headquarters of the students' association, will also present for first reading a bill by which all organizations of whatever character will be required to get permission from a student and faculty committee to conduct finance drives on the campus.

Two Faculty Members

The probable composition of this committee will be two faculty members and three students from the student body at large or from the assembly. The committee will investigate each organization wishing to put on the drive and have final decision on the matter. "This committee when established by the bill," declared Gray Tuesday afternoon,

Social and Educational Conditions in Germany and Russia Discussed

Lecturer Attends Meeting of American and English Correspondents

By Genevieve Aron

Present day social, scientific, and educational conditions in Germany and Russia were discussed in their contrasting lights in a lecture by Dr. H. J. Muller, given Tuesday November 14 in M. B. 218. Dr. Muller has recently returned from a three months trip spent in touring Germany and Russia, and in visiting the scientists of those countries. The lecture was illustrated by lantern slides prepared from pictures taken by Dr. Muller during his journey. He considers the condition of Russia and Germany especially interesting because together they comprise over half of Europe.

German Situation

Dr. Muller first visited Germany. At a first glance the impression gained from seeming conditions in Germany was that the country was reasonably prosperous. This would seem to belie the present conception of the state of German affairs, but it is only a superficial view. Today Germany is very poor. The thriving shops are, in a majority of cases, kept by foreigners, and subsist on foreign trade. The cost of living, which is very low to foreigners because of the depreciation of the mark, is very high to the Germans

The exhibit will be held between November 12 and 18, from two to five in the afternoons. Exhibits of books to buy for children, discussion of the books children really like to read, distribution of lists of books for young people, consideration of authors and illustrators who are devoting their talents to children's books—these are some of the features of the week.

For months articles have appeared in such magazines as the Atlantic Monthly, Bookman, Dial, Outlook, Good Housekeeping, Ladies Home

UNIVERSITY ATHLETIC COUNCIL HOLDS TO FACULTY RULING AGAINST CONTEST

MANY TEXAS PLAYERS OUT OF GAME AGAINST OKLAHOMA THIS WEEK

Ineligibility and Illness Thin Ranks of First String Men

By Lean Radoff

While the majority of the student body goes gleefully on planning for post-season games and comparing scores to show the kind of a walkway Varsity will have when Thanksgiving comes around, Coach Berry Whitaker is looking over his shattered squad and wondering if he has a full football team at all.

The game with Southwestern added to the already large hospital list and with mid-term reports now in there is also a pretentious list of men who are ineligible to play football. The hospital list includes the following men: Stacy who is out with a bad leg, Tynes who has just recovered from an illness and also is ineligible, Gardere whose jaw was broken in the Southwestern game, Patton who has contracted dengue fever since the last game, Robertson who is very weak after a severe attack of dengue, Culp who has an injured leg, and Marley who has a painfully bruised leg. Hemsell is ineligible.

Line and Backfield Hurt

These men are all backfield men but the line has suffered almost as severely. Joe Ward is out of the game with an injured leg and Jones and Moore are ineligible for the remainder of the season. Culp and Bralley are also ineligible for the Oklahoma University game as the contest is to be staged under Missouri Valley Conference rules that do not permit a player to take part in more than three years of football.

With the team in its present shape and the practical certainty of more injuries in the doubtful Oklahoma game it is hard to find anything to which to attribute the rapid overconfidence of the student body. Coach Whitaker will have to send against the strong Oklahoma team that is fresh from their victory over Missouri an eleven that will be as

FROSH MEET SHORTHORNS

Expected to Put up Strong Fight in Game on Saturday

Safely home after the slapstick affair at Port Arthur last week the freshmen eleven has settled down to their final training for the year. Every day this week and until the Aggie game on Thanksgiving Day the Frosh gridders will oppose the Varsity eleven in offensive and defensive scrimmage.

Although Coach Clyde Littlefield's men are in a badly battered condition after the slugging and mud slinging they were forced to undergo at Port Arthur, they expect to put up a strong fight against the Shorthorns when they meet on Clark Field next Saturday.

There is also a tentative game with St. Edwards planned for the week after Thanksgiving. If this game materializes it will show a brand of football that should be a big drawing card.

The injured men on the Frosh squad are: Young who has a ruptured shoulder, Bethea who was severely slugged in the face, Ramsay who has a wrenched knee and Burnett who has a twisted ankle. The remainder of the squad are in fairly good shape after the gruelling they went through Saturday.

BAYLOR AND TEXAS CLASH WOULD INTERFERE WITH SCHOLARSHIP

By Nowlin Randolph

No post-season game will be played by the Texas Longhorns with the Baylor Bears this year.

Overruling the recommendation made by the convocation of students in the Law Building auditorium Tuesday afternoon and condemning the practice of playing post-season games, the University Athletic Council, after prolonged debate, last night killed the project of meeting Baylor on December 9 and nailed the last nail in the coffin of the proposed plan.

Wm. L. McGill, student representative on the council, after putting up a strenuous fight for four hours to have the council recommend the proposed game to the faculty, entered a minority report.

University Maintains Policy

Because of the fact that the University has always been opposed to post-season games, because such a game this year would come during mid-term week in the School of Law and a week before finals in the rest of the school, and because it did not consider that the faculty would act favorably on a recommendation that the game be played, the Athletic Council refused to follow the request of the student convocation.

Every faculty representative on the council, the two alumni representatives, and one student voted for the resolution printed below. Dr. D. A. Penick, Dr. A. C. Ellis, J. W. Calhoun, and Ellwood Griscom are the faculty representatives. Dr. S. N. Key and James Hart, both of Austin, are from the alumni.

McGill waged a losing battle against the proposal, and, after the defeat of his substitute amendment that the council ask the general faculty for a decision of the matter, submitted his amendment as a minority report.

At the beginning of the meeting a motion was made to have the meeting open to the public or at least to the members of the press, but it was lost by a large majority.

Henry S. Kelly, Joe Harris, and H. G. Woodruff, the committee appointed at the afternoon convocation by Cecil R. Chamberlin were to give the recommendation of the convocation at the first of the meeting. Kelly, acting for the committee, gave the report and immediately withdrew.

Report of Council

The report of the Athletic Council is as follows:

"The Athletic Council has received and duly considered the petition of the students and various requests from ex-students that a post-season game of football be arranged with Baylor University in the event that both teams are undefeated after Thanksgiving Day and the championship of the Southwestern Conference undecided at that time.

Consider Scholastic Work

"The Athletic Council appreciates the interest of the students and ex-students and welcomes at all times their co-operation and suggestions. In regard to this matter, the Council would call attention to the fact that for many years the rule of the University faculty has forbidden all post-season games. Experience has shown post-season games coming so close to the end of the term and on the heels of a full athletic season inevitably interfere unduly with the scholastic work of the University. The present occasion would present no exception. A game played on December 9 would fall within the week of the mid-term examinations of the Law School and within a week of the final examinations of all the

WHAT'S WRONG WITH INSTRUCTORS?

"Is this the sort of University I want? Shall I, while I am a student here, be instructed by a body of men and women whom fear of state, church, or trustees has tied into knots? Shall I be taught by men who have no time for contemplation, no contact with what other men have thought and are thinking, no zest for truth regardless of what the textbooks may say, and, above all, no love for teaching me and my fellow-students?"

These are questions which should be asked by every college and university student, according to "The Drifter," in The Nation for November 8.

The Texan does not believe that the questions, on the whole, would produce unfavorable results, as regards the majority of instructors in colleges and universities. As in other pursuits of life, it is true that there are teachers who are unsuited to their professions; especially, may this situation be found in the ranks of teachers in elementary schools, which are often used as means of temporary or permanent support by those who cannot find suitable positions in other fields. But The Texan believes that the great majority of instructors and professors in the higher institutions have selected teaching as their life's work because of the great opportunities of real service which this field affords. Those who settle into the easy-going ruts and forget their early ideals in teaching are few, compared to the many who are continually engaged in study and research in order to improve themselves in their chosen work.

There is considerable basis for the statement that instructors and professors permit the fear of various authorities to circumscribe and limit their teaching. In censoring their own utterances, however, the professors are merely following the principles of expediency and policy, which are adopted by men everywhere. Unfortunately the poor professor or instructor has to pay his bills and support his family like other people; and, consequently, it behooves him to respect the opinions, prejudices and bias of his employers, whoever they be. In order to retain his position, the professor with no income other than his meagre salary too often has to keep his own honest thoughts, opinions and discoveries to himself. The law of self-preservation takes precedence over principles.

The prospect for more liberal education and freedom of academic study is growing brighter every year. People gradually are becoming eager and ready to receive and appreciate the truth about things. The need, to be sure, is not for instructors who will use their position to teach creeds, or dogmas, or isms, or doctrines; but for those who will lead in an honest search for fundamental facts. Fortunately, ly, more and more instructors are raising themselves above the limited horizon of the textbook and bravely following this quest for truth.

KRAZY KAT

Striking,

THE ONE GOAL OF THE SEASON

Discussion of a possible post-season game should not be allowed to divert the attention of the Longhorns and Texas students from the most important game of the season, that with A. & M. on Thanksgiving Day. Although the Aggies have lost all their conference games this year, they have gone down to defeat fighting—and they are still inspired by a determination that may give them added strength on Turkey Day. The fact that Coach Bible refused to blame the defeat by S. M. U. on the effect of injuries on his team, although eight Aggies were out of the game, is indicative of the spirit behind the Farmers. Regardless of what the rest of the season has been, past years have shown that when Texas and A. & M. meet for the annual classic, previous games and scores matter little; that it takes a hard fight for either team to win.

The finest characteristic of the Longhorn team this year has been the spirit of teamwork which has animated every man on the squad. If Texas is to defeat A. & M. on Clark Field, it will be this teamwork that will do the winning. The students and ex-students of the University have demonstrated a wonderful spirit of loyalty in their support of the Longhorns this season; and, if Texas is to win from the Aggies, this loyal support must be maintained.

It behooves every player, student and alumnus to keep before him the task of gaining the one great goal of the season—victory over our ancient rivals, A. & M. And the victors in the annual classic will not be determined until after four hard and strenuous quarters of desperate and determined playing on Thanksgiving Day.

Opinions of Others

PREACHING PROFESSORS

(Wisconsin Cardinal)

The Rev. Father Hengell, of the St. Paul's university chapel, last Sunday laid down the emphatic edict that all professors preaching atheism should be driven from the universities.

He is right. All professors who preach any dogmatic assumptions of philosophy or theology should be ejected from the universities.

The professor's place is to teach, not preach. It is for him to present fact, not dogma. It is for him to give evidence, draw conclusions, and invite challenge to his conclusions.

The teaching of theistic dogma has happily been divorced from public schools and colleges, as Church has been divorced from State. The professor who preaches theistic doctrine is just as culpable as he who preaches atheistic doctrine.

We have come in contact with a fair number of faculty scientists and philosophers, but we have yet to find one who preaches atheism. Instruction at Wisconsin, we have found, is singularly objective, calculated to cultivate the thinking processes of students.

That is the Wisconsin idea of education. It produces free thinkers, men of the type who founded the Republic.

If there be dogma dispensers in the faculty, out upon them! Let them be pointed out and driven to the refuge of less liberal institutions.

But if theism or atheism is held merely as a matter of personal belief, what true American would hint at abridging the right of freedom to believe in it?

THE CAMPUS SLACKER

(McGill Daily)

Prominent among the well-known figures on every campus is the man who is only too glad to accept an office or place on a committee to get his name in the paper, but who will not live up to the responsibility of his position by leaving the necessary work for someone else to do. Such a man is a campus slacker.

This class of man likes to feel the importance of serving on some committee but he does not like to do the work. He not only prevents results being obtained as they should be, but prevents someone else from taking the job and doing the work as it should be done.

But it does not take very long to recognize the species, and when once recognized he finds his honors dwindling rapidly. Don't be a campus slacker.

Book Reviews

Christmas in Many Lands, a collection of Christmas Stories, The Page Company, Boston.

So that the children, and the grown-ups as well, may know that America has no monopoly on the merry customs of the Happy Yuletide, this collection of stories about the observation of Christmas in many lands has been published. The book includes stories about Christmas in America, Canada, Denmark, Japan, Norway, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland, which have been written by various writers. The book is written in simple, yet rather pleasing style. The stories are significant in that they indicate that Jamie in the United States, Harry in Canada, Saburo in Japan and Mariquita in Spain are all worshippers at the Shrine of Santa Claus.

Love Me, Love My Dog—By Carolyn Vergeoff, Boston, The Page Co.

This is the old, old story of the poor orphan girl who came to live with the selfish, rich young lady, and the troubles that followed from such association. Although the book tells a familiar story in a very simple style, it will be found rather interesting, especially by the younger reader. Of special interest is the part that the little orphan's dog plays in the story. At first, the folks do not like the poor, little lady's poor, big dog, but they are finally won over; wherefore, the title, "Love Me, Love My Dog."

Crescent

A story of intrigue, romance and heart interest, "Fifty Candles" an Irvin V. Willat production, that is to be shown at the Crescent Theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, contains situations and developments that will keep your interest until the final foot of film. It is a mystery story of the highest order. Scenes of the Orient with the sinister hand of intrigue reaching out from the night. Adapted from Earl Derr Biggers Saturday Evening Post Mystery story, featuring Marjorie Daw, Dorothy Sibley and Bertram Grassby, with a dandy cast.

Screen Snapshots No. 11 shows many interesting scenes with famous stars at work, at home and at play.

Texas

Ethel Clayton surpasses all her previous achievements as a Paramount star in her latest picture, "Beyond," which was shown at the Texas Theatre with gratifying success last night.

Primarily, the story is one with a highly attractive theme, dealing as it does with the problem of communication between the spirits of the departed and the living. The theme differs from the purely spiritualistic, however, in that the spirit of the mother in the story comes to her daughter in visions and in dreams. From this situation a fascinating plot develops and one which is filled with romance, suspense and adventure.

The picture is a William D. Taylor production, adapted by Julia Crawford Ivers from the original story by Henry Arthur Jones. Charles Meredith plays the leading male role opposite the star and others in the cast who aid materially in making the picture a success are Earl Schenck, Fontaine La Rue, Winifred Kingston, Lillian Rich, Charles French, Spottiswoode Aitken and Herbert Fortier.

Queen

Present day problems of domestic life are made the subject of many pictures but that treated in "Rich Men's Wives," has never been exploited before.

Rosemary Theby plays the part of the girl in a complicated marital problem, with House Peters playing opposite her. Herself without any sort of attention from her parents, nightmare is a thing of the past.

NO STUDENTS IN B.A. SCHOOL BUSTED OUT

Of the numerous reports which students in the School of Business Administration received at midterm, none were serious enough to require withdrawal from the University, and only nine students were placed upon the probation list. According to Miss Copeland, secretary, the School of Business Administration is not inclined to have its students report to the Dean at midterm, since they have been duly notified by letter that their work is not above the passing grade and it is then squarely up to them to either get to work or drop the course. Miss Copeland further stated that there seemed to be a general air of settling down since the mid-season nightmare is a thing of the past.

STUDENTS FAVOR

left to the Athletic Council. The amendment striking out the third restriction but allowing the first two to remain was adopted.

Brady Cole declared himself heartily in favor of the game, and Frank McGehee expressed the belief that the sentiment of the alumni was wholly favorable to the playing of such a post-season game, and that the matter having been acted upon by the student body should be left to the faculty where the responsibility belongs.

Bellmont Sees Obstacles

L. Theo Belmont, director of athletics at the University, declared that if some of the difficulties were removed he would be one of the strongest advocates of the move, but that speaking frankly he did see some obstacles in the way. He pointed out four reasons why he expected the faculty to oppose making an exception to its general rule; namely, that the faculty ruling was traditionally opposed to post-season games, that there is widespread opposition over the entire country to the playing of games after the close of the season, that there was danger of commercialism, and that the scholarship of the men on the team would be greatly interfered with. Mr. Belmont predicted almost unanimous opposition in the faculty, stating that it should be the duty of the student body to support the University against A. & M. without placing too much emphasis on future developments.

The text of the resolutions follows:

"WHEREAS, a strong probability exists that two football teams in the Southwestern Conference, namely, the University of Texas Longhorns and the Baylor University Bears will remain undefeated by any Conference team after Thanksgiving, 1922, thus leaving the championship in doubt, and

"WHEREAS, an unsettled championship is unsatisfactory in every respect from the point of view of the students, the alumni, and the general public, giving rise to a multitude of fictitious claims and fostering enmity and bad feeling between the institutions involved, especially when said championship remains undecided for two consecutive years, and

"WHEREAS, a post-season game is the only method of determining the championship in the event that the teams remain undefeated, and

"WHEREAS, a post-season game, under this exceptional circumstance, and conducted in accordance with the conditions set forth below, would result in a tangible benefit without any of the evils usually attendant upon such contests, therefore,

"BE IT RESOLVED that this mass-meeting of the students of the University of Texas go on record as favoring a post-season game between the University of Texas and Baylor University, under the following conditions:

"First—that any agreement entered into now shall be binding, only in the event that both teams remain undefeated after Thanksgiving.

"Second—that such post-season games shall be played either in Waco or in Austin, the location being determined by the flip of a coin.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this mass-meeting go on record as earnestly requesting the Athletic Council of the University of Texas to act in accordance with the sentiment of the student body herein expressed, and

"BE IT RESOLVED, LASTLY, that a committee of three be appointed by the chairman of this assembly to wait upon the Athletic Council with a copy of these resolutions of the occasion of its regular meeting this evening. (Signed) Henry S. Kelly, W. H. Bainbridge, A. W. Walker."

Mr. Chamberlin appointed as the last mentioned committee, Henry S. Kelly, Joe Harris and H. G. Woodruff.

FIELD DIVIDED

"will cut down the number of drives on the campus which are not supported by the student body and only take in a few of the freshmen."

Union Bill up Tonight

Following the drafting by Ira J. Allen, vice president of the students' association, the bill by which the Memorial Union will be given the management of the all-University dance and the Thanksgiving reception will be presented for first reading at the meeting tonight. Provisions of the bill will give the assembly veto power over the conduct of the dance and retain policy formation in its hands while the Memorial Union will conduct it and be responsible for loss, and profits by any gain.

Unfinished business from the last meeting of the assembly will include the appointment of committeemen to the executive committee of the Memorial Union and to the oratorical association, such committeemen being left unappointed last time.

All business will be rushed through the meeting of the assembly tonight, according to Gray. Since there is a heavy amount to be gone over the meeting may last late unless the members of the assembly work fast and with easy decision. Little argument over the measure is anticipated by the president.

FACULTY RULE HELD

others schools and colleges of the University. Your Council, therefore, does not feel that it would be justified in recommending to the faculty that it set aside its rule; nor does it have any reason for thinking that the faculty would do so if such request were made."

McGill Opposes Move

Opposed to this in spirit was the minority report of McGill, the student member who voted against the majority report.

"The Athletic Council," McGill declared in this report, "recalling that one of the primary considerations in the matter of the proposed post-season game with Baylor University to determine the 1922 Southwestern Conference championship, has to do with a faculty regulation prohibiting post-season games, does hereby request the general faculty of the University of Texas for a decision as to whether or not the rule referred to shall be set aside to permit the playing of this game; it being understood that if the decision of the faculty is in favor of permitting this game, the Council will proceed to make tentative plans and arrangements for the playing of said game, provided the deadlock between the University of Texas and the Baylor University teams continues after Thanksgiving, 1922."

No expression of opinion could be obtained from the council members after the meeting adjourned. "Our report is contained in the statement given to the press. We have nothing else to say," seemed to be the consensus of opinion.

"I said what I had to say at the convocation this afternoon," was all that L. Theo Belmont, director of athletics, would say.

BOOK WEEK

Journal and Woman's Home Companion, on this national movement for a Children's Book Week. The purpose of this week is to give an opportunity to bring together the various organizations working for boys and girls for the purpose of encouraging a love of books among children and the discussion of boys' and girls' reading. Public libraries, bookstores, mothers' clubs, parent-teachers' associations, the schools, churches, scout organizations and other organizations concerned with children, each year take advantage of this week to emphasize the importance of books for boys and girls.

As an actual assignment, the students in the bibliography course have helped to prepare the catalogs, grade and price lists which will be available at the exhibit. The lists are particularly good for fitting the books to the child. The lists have arranged the books by subject, grade, age, price and publishers. Books of every type that a child could desire have been listed. The lists include fairy tales, picture books, Mother Goose stories, myths, legends, history, description and travels, adventure stories, Indian tales, great classics, biblical stories, poetry and books on amusements and games, art music, nature, science and animals.

TEXAS PLAYERS

makeshift an affair as Varsity has ever used. The line will be minus the services of all the ineligible men and Joe Ward, who has been a wall of defense at tackle, will probably not be able to play on account of his leg.

Only Two Regular Backs

The backfield will contain probably one and not more than two regular players. Eckhardt will hold down his regular place at half but there is not another man able to play except possibly Robertson who is convalescing from an injury. All four quarterbacks are out and the field general's place is not easily filled by a substitute. The one bright spot in the whole dismal outlook is the good showing of Murphree and Schuhardt in the Southwestern game, but these men got into the game after the spirit of the opposing players was partially broken and it is hard to tell how they would have shown up against a strong team.

The fighting spirit that the Longhorns have shown in every game this season is still shown in the practice scrimmages with the Frosh squad but it will certainly be remarkable if the players do not take in some of the foolish poppycock that has swamped the campus for the last two weeks.

Checked With A. & M.

Once more Aggie shortcoming are flaunted around without considering the weaknesses of the Varsity squad. Texas had one of the best teams in its history last year. This team beat the Rice Owls 56 to 0. The Owls tied A. & M. and played rings around them. Then Varsity played the Aggies and the fighting Farmers held us to a 6 to 0 score. This year the Aggies have met with several reverses but the team is steadily improving and not a man has been injured. This will mean a veteran squad of fighting gridders pitted against a newly reorganized team that will contain several entirely new players.

Because of the financial disintegration all German capital is going into production instead of upkeep. Thus the Germans are now living on the resources of the past. Under present conditions the mark is constantly depreciating in value, a fact that foreigners are taking advantage of, to the further ruin of Germany.

Science in Germany is trying to keep up and is doing remarkably well in the face of the obstacles which present themselves, but their funds permit of little work, and it is to America that they look for the advancement of modern science today. German scientists are turning to practical work, in order to eke out a living. Like the industries, science is living on the past and has had no new equipment or material since the war.

The outcome of the German problem is doubtful. The people say that conditions cannot go on as they are at present, and contemplate the possibility of a change in their position through wars between other countries or a revolution at home. Dr. Muller, however, sees the possibility of Germany's conditions becoming much worse, even to the point where the upper class will be composed of foreigners and the German people no better than slaves.

Russian Conditions

Dr. Muller found in his visit, that Russia presented very much of a contrast to Germany. There was no outward evidence of prosperity. The streets were full of beggars and food was very hard to obtain. This, like a first view of Germany, is a superficial impression. The people, unlike the German people, are optimistic. Living conditions in Russia are much better than they were two years ago.

The Russian situation has improved because of the new economic policy adopted by the soviet government. The peasants have been granted a greater economic freedom than they have ever known, and as a result conditions have grown better naturally. The ruble has been stabilized and there is a financial boom in Russia now. Living expenses are as high for outside as for Russians which is a distinct advantage, as it prevents foreigners from getting an edge on the market.

Dr. Muller was present at a meeting of the American and English correspondents with Trotsky and was greatly impressed with his ability. "He has a forceful personality and seems to be very keen. The American and English correspondents tried often to catch him up on some question, and in every case the ally was turned back to the disadvantage of the person who made it."

IT'S A GOOD IDEA TO "BE SURE YOU'RE RIGHT"

When you buy a watch you want more than a shiny case. You want to know the "insides" are right. You select the timepiece with a national reputation for quality. You invest your money because of your confidence in the name.

It's a good idea to buy your clothes that way. You can get attractive colors and patterns at any price. But, it's the "insides" of your suit or coat—the way they're tailored that really counts.

You can be sure you're right when you get the label in your coat that says—

E. J. Friedl

It guarantees everything that good clothes ought to have—perfect fit—correct style—long wear—moderate price. You don't have to be an expert to see it's economy to buy fine quality like ours.
