Bert, Mary, Catherine Chosen as Outstanding

By RUTH PROUSE

Bert Engelhardt was awarded the Interfraternity Council were named the outstanding University students at the climax of the thirty-fifth annual Swing-Out ceremonies Friday. Mary Miller received the Silver Spurs Award to the Outstanding Woman. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board, Orange Jackets, president of the University Women's Council, UTSA Council, Kappa Alpha Theta, and past Panhellenic president.

Bert Engelhardt was awarded the Inter-Fraternity Council-Mike Flynn Citizenship Award, the highest campus award for a male student. He is a member of Friars, Cowboys, Phi Alpha Theta, and Phi Gamma Delta. He has served as vice-president of Alpha Phi Omega and as 1956 Round-Up Parade co-chairman.

Catherine Rogowski received the Marjorie Darilek Award, presented by Wica to the outstanding independent woman. She is a Phi Beta Kappa, vice-president of Mortar Board, president of the Upperclass Advisors and chairman of the Sponsored Students Committee.

Two scholarship awards were presented to Edith Wilson and Ruth Prouse. Miss Wilson received the Mortar Board Scholarship cup, which goes to the sophomore woman with the greatest number of hours of "A."

Miss Prouse received the Alpha Lambda Delta award to the senior who has accumulated the highest number of hours of "A." Both are members of Mortar Board, Orange Jackets, and Alpha Gamma Delta.

Several women's scholarship awards were made. The new presidents of campus organizations were introduced.

Cap & Gown Officers

Cap and Gown officers elected for 1956-57 were announced by Florence Coffey, retiring president.

The new president of the only organization for all senior women is Susan Mowery. Vice-president is Diana Dugan; secretary, Reta Stittler; treasurer, Magdalena Benavides; and reporter, Nancy Nichol. Members-at-large are Mary Lou Coin, Cathy Campbell, Laurie Suttle, Bettie Gibson, Kay Farquhar, Nancy Michel, and Ann Abshier.

Scholarship Awards

Fifteen scholarship awards were announced. The Altrusa Memorial Scholarship was awarded to Mrs. Ann Arbuckle. The Delta Delta Delta scholarship went to Thelma Frances Clarke, Sally G. Barbay, Maria Faries, and Hilda Nancy Marien. Kathleen Silva won the Delta Phi Epsilon scholarship, and Marilyn Juanita Ferrell received the Federated Women's Clubs 1903 Endowment Scholarship.

The two winners of the Mattie Randle scholarship were Mrs. Wilma Endicott and Gracie E. Kitt. The Federated Business and Professional Women's Club's Wilke-Hannaford scholarship went to Lena Christine Brown and Jeanette M. Dobie. Kathleen Bland Memorial scholarships were awarded Betty Lou Brady and Deborah Joan Ware. Elsie Bob Fariss received the Zeta Tau Alpha scholarship and Lillie Mae Graham was awarded the Home Economics Club scholarship.

Recipients of the Panhellenic Scholarship awards included Shirley Ann Bird, Anna Belle Clements, Sylvia Maly, Marion Simon, Barbara Sutherland, Maria Tsia-tera, and Margaret Welborn.

Swing-Out, sponsored by Cap and Gown in cooperation with Silver Spurs, is a traditional ceremony honoring graduating seniors. The program was opened by the traditional procession of seniors, dressed in caps and gowns, and juniors, dressed in white.

Florence Coffey, retiring president of Cap and Gown, gave the greeting. She also introduced the old and the new Cap and Gown Councils and recognized the Silver Spur Committee that assisted with Swing-Out.

Law Students Receive Honors at annual law day presentations friday

Presentation of 20 Law School awards, addresses by three outstanding figures in the field of law, and a holiday from classes combined to entertain UT's Law School Friday, at its fourth annual Law Day.

Coveted Law School awards were presented by J. Hadley Edgar, outstanding senior student; Ramon A. Von Drehle, outstanding second-year law student, and Jack R. Wahlquist, best all-around first-year student.

The "Hildy's Cutback" award went to Paul Marshall. It is described as an award made to "a law student who, by virtue of failure or success, intransigence or adaptability, personality or persistence, handicaps or ability, or perhaps simple mundane magnetism, captures the imagination, humor, and respect of the law faculty."

Law Review Recognition

Recognition for work on the Texas Law Review was given to Denny O. Ingram Jr., for contributing the best work; Jerry L. Buchmeyer, for the second-best work; Townner S. Leeper and John E. Eliason, for best papers on income, estate, and gift taxation; William E. Watson Jr., for best paper on law of real property, and Walter E. Barnett, Joseph M. Franks, Tom Moody Jr., and George Sladczyk Jr., for best overall contributions.

Barnett is the new editor-in-chief of the Law Review.

Byron F. Fullerton received the award for the student contributing most in an extracurricular sense to the Law School's welfare.

Jerry W. Kirby was presented the achievement award of Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity. Mart Lapin was given the Praetors legal fraternity achievement award.

Bar Association Award

The UT Bar Association selected John Moncre as the student who has taken an active part in all phases of Law School activity and thereby displayed his interest in the welfare of the school.

Hugh B. Dwyer and Gerry B. Rogers received second-year law scholastic achievement awards. Phi Delta Phi's outstanding graduate award was presented to Melvin W. Parse Jr.

Donald F. McNeil and Richard Tinsman, second-year law students, defeated Loren Q. Hanson and Robert Winkelman, senior law students, in the Moot Court finals Friday before a panel of members of the Texas Supreme Court.

W. L. Prosser, dean of the University of California School of Law, spoke to the assembled group of Series' Third Talk Scheduled for 3 p.m.

Dr. Philip Wheelwright, professor of philosophy at the University of California and an aesthetician will talk on "Literary Criticism and Philosophy" at 3 p.m. Monday in English Building 203.

The lecture is part of the third program in a series sponsored by the College of Arts and Sciences. "Four Quartets," by T. S. Eliot, will serve as point of departure for the talk.

Professor Wheelwright was educated at Princeton University, where he later taught. He also instructed at New York University and Dartmouth University before joining the faculty at the University of California.

Some of his writings include "The Burning Fountain: A Study in the Language of Symbolism," "The Way of Philosophy," "A Critical Introduction to Ethics," and numerous essays in the Kenyon Review, Chimera, the Philosophical Review and the Sewanee Review.

Other distinguished critics scheduled to appear during the spring program include William Arrowsmith, W. K. Wimsatt Jr., Elder Olson, and Cleath Brooks.

Arab Women's Sphere Expanded, Says Iraqi

By WILLIAM B. WALLACE JR.

Arab women are competing with men in many industries and taking an active part in politics, said Mrs. Selma Omari, Iraqi woman lawyer, in her speech on "Women in the Arab Society" at the Arab Students' Association's annual dinner Saturday night at the University Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Omari is the wife of Imad Omari, Iraq attache in Washington, D. C.

Rimon Massad, president of the Arab Students' Association, introduced guest of honor Dean W. R. Woolrich; Joe W. Neal, director of the International Advisory Office; Dr. F. W. Roberts, associate director of the International Office; and other University faculty members and guests.

After brief speeches of welcome from Dean Woolrich and Mr. Neal, Massad introduced Mrs. Omari.

Speaking of the emancipation of Arab women Mrs. Omari said, "The coming of the Islam religion recognized women as human beings. Emancipation of women started in Arab countries long before it was begun in Europe."

She said that though Arab women are thought to wear veils as a custom of Moslem religion, it is actually an ancient Babylonian

Hayes, McMeans Win In Record Runoff Vote

By CYRENA JO NORMAN

Students Friday elected Lloyd Hayes Students' Association president and Nancy McMeans Daily Texan editor in the largest runoff turnout in the University's history.

Hayes won easily over opponent Bill

Wright, 3,046 to 2,019; in the neck-and-neck editor's race Miss McMeans held a less substantial 583 vote margin over Doyle Harvill, 2,825 to 2,242.

Friday's 5,067 run-off turnout was only 483 less than the entire primary vote for 1955 and 2,332 more than last year's run-off vote.

An early trend developed for Hayes, as the Representative party candidate picked up a few votes as each box was counted. Hayes went on to win all thirteen boxes.

Leadership in the Texan race changed hands several times before a slight trend developed for Miss McMeans after eight boxes had been counted. Not until the final box had been checked was the outcome certain, however.

Miss McMeans carried eleven boxes, Harvill the remaining two. In Wednesday's primary 6,905 voters named Speed Carroll, vice-president; Nancy Haston, secretary; Shirley Rylander, Cactus associate editor; and Bill West, Ranger associate editor.

In the primary Lloyd Hayes led Bill Wright 2,339 to 1,589. Run-off results reversed the primary trend in the Editor's race, when Harvill led Miss McMeans, 2,710 to 2,465.

Students also approved a $2.25 million Union expansion program and two amendments to the Students' Association Constitution.

20 of Faculty Protest Political Actions Ban

More than 20 protests have been voiced to the amendment to the general regulations on faculty and staff participation in politics which bans faculty members from taking part in stump speaking and writing material for candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, and the legislature. The Faculty Council passed the amendment April 16.

Eugene Nelson, associate professor of business law and secretary of the Faculty Council, said Saturday that more than the necessary protests had been received, and the measure must be taken before the General Faculty. A meeting has been tentatively set for May 8, Mr. Nelson said.

The Faculty Council voted April 16 to adopt and recommend to the Board of Regents that the last seven words of the present regulation concerning faculty and staff member participation in politics be dropped and the new amendment be added.

At that time it was agreed that if as many as ten protests to the amendment were made, it would be taken before the General Faculty.

Mr. Nelson said that "at least 20 protests have been received."

The new amendment says that a staff member "should refrain from public advocacy of, or opposition to, the candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, and legislature. In all other political activities—such as participating in party conventions, contributing to campaign funds, exercising the rights of petition and association, and publicly discussing public issues—he is free to participate as a citizen, but not as an institutional spokesman."

The last seven words of the present regulation, which are to be dropped, say, in speaking of a staff member, "he should refrain from involving the University in partisan politics."

The new amendment was submitted to the Council by the Committee on Academic Freedom and Responsibility.

Council to Hold Last Coffee

Freshman Council will hold its final coffee of the semester Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the International Room of Texas Union. Council President Jim Perkins announced that a panel discussion on integration will be moderated by Rosalie Oaks, University YWCA secretary.

Rangeroos Get Keys at Banquet

With a cardboard Hairy Ranger beaming his tacit approval, the Rangeroos ate hot tamales and drank iced tea Friday night at their annual "wine cellar" award banquet in the El Toro basement.

Sedate as the after-dinner sherbet, the humor mag staffers displayed a sort of subdued merriment as they gabbled over past Ranger issues and gleefully anticipated the "Dilly Texanne," their coming parody of The Daily Texan.

The persevering Ranger censors, Dr. DeWitt Reddick and Harrell E. Lee not only sat at the same table with the staffers but freely traded talk and tortillas.

Between chit-chat and chili, the following awards were announced: Gold Medals—Ann Leslie, Jon Bracker, and Murray Patton.

Silver Medals—Bill Klapp, Bill West, and Conoly Cullum. Special Awards—Bobby Jones, Bill Malone Studios, and Mae Williams.

Bronze Medals—Bill Hoey, Rolly Wester, Helen Callicutt, Rudy Rochelle, Charles Foerster, Barbara Krick, Bob Coffey, Robbie Powell, Sissy Sanborn, Stan Ay-mong, and Ben Bob Keller.

Certificates—Trish Miller, Claude Hall, Phyllis Kuperman, Hans Beacham, Jo Ellen Gell, Roger Rowland, Henry Welch, Leonard Gieseche, Harry Holland, Sissie Moore, John Sobiesko, Glenn Liston, Scott Dine, Jerry Hall, and Dan Rogers.

Special magazines were given to Editor James Hall and Associate Editor Bob Knight by the staff.

'Y' Tickets on Sale

The banquet will be held Wednesday night, and installation of officers will precede the meal. Tickets are 85 cents.

ROTC Car Lot Shuts Monday

The southern half of the ROTC parking lot, adjacent to Twenty-second Street and across from the rear of Gregory Gymnasium, will be closed to cars starting Monday. Robert C. Gullion, assistant superintendent of buildings and grounds announced. The reason for the block-off will be the start of construction on the new ROTC Building.

The block-off will run from the east end of the Waller Creek bridge on East Twenty-second Street west to the service drive of Gregory Gymnasium. Twenty-second Street will not be passable. The north end of the 212 car-parking lot may be used from time to time, depending on construction progress.

Reed Wins Again

Yearlings Shutout Rice Owlets, 7-0

By BILL SHARP
Texan Sports Staff

The Texas Shorthorns took advantage of sunny weather and a bright four hit pitching stint by Howard Reed to rout the Rice Owlets by a 7-0 score Saturday at Clark Field.

The victory marked Reed's fourth victory without a loss. Reed has hurled three shutouts this year and two of them have been against the Owlets. Reed also ran his strikeout total to 55 for the season when he whiffed five Rice batters.

Shorthorn batters collected seven hits off Rice starter, Louis Von Wogtom, who went all the way for the Owlets. Although two of the Texas runs were the result of Owlet errors, it is doubtful that the Shorthorns would have needed more than one score to add the pinpoint hurling of Reed.

The Yearlings jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a walk to Ronnie Wingard, a single by Ted Ferguson, a double steal by Wingard and Ferguson, a grounder by Pete Embury, and a sacrifice fly by Kermit Uecker.

The Shorthorns picked up a single run in the fourth when, with one out, third baseman Joe Barker walked, moved to second when Wingard walked, advanced to third and scored on two passed balls by Owlet catcher, Biff Purdie.

In the fifth, the Shorthorns

HOUSTON, April 28 (Spl.) — Husky first sacker Carl Reynolds of Rice belted a three-run homer in the bottom of the seventh Saturday to break up a tight ball game and hand Texas its eighth SWC defeat, 7-3.

The soaring drive over the right field fence came off right hander Wayne Graham as the Steers plummeted further into the conference cellar.

The victory gave Coach Del Morgan's Owls a sweep of the two-game series as they used the Longhorns as a stepping stone out of last place. Rice routed Harry Taylor with a four-run eighth inning Friday to win 4-2 behind John Wolda.

Emil Tejml of the Owls, who has struck out 33 in his last 26 innings, picked up the win although he needed help from James Briggs in the seventh.

Reynolds' blast broke a 3-3 deadlock and moved the Owls out front to stay. They added their final tally in the eighth off Oren Bucklew, who replaced Graham.

Rice moved to a run in the first inning. Reynolds, who went two for three at the plate during the afternoon, singled in center-fielder John Ludwig with two away. Ludwig had led off with a sinking liner to center that fell in to score both runners.

The Owls tied it up without the aid of a hit in their half of the sixth frame on sloppy play by the Steers. In the fatal seventh, Graham gave up a single to the leadoff man, Ludwig. With one away, third baseman Jim Foerster slapped a ground-away. Ludwig had led off with a sinking liner to center that fell in to score both runners.

'Serenade' Proves Disturbing With Stale Corn off the Cob

By CARL BURGEN
A cliché-ridden plot and over-acting ruin a movie that had the makings of a good musical, the picture now showing at the State, "Serenade."

Mario Lanza's pleasing voice in a well-balanced selection of arias and popular songs could not save the melodramatic offering marred with the hammiest acting we have seen in some time.

The picture begins with Lanza driving a tractor, takes him unconvincingly through the web of a sophisticated heart-breaker, sends him to Mexico, where he comes down with the fever and meets the girl he really loves, takes him back into the hands of his first love, and finally gets him straightened out in the musical finale.

Such interesting incidents as his Mexican wife's attempt to stab his first girlfriend, and her subsequent dash in front of a bus exhaust the viewer's patience.

One almost saving factor is Vincent Price, whose acid comments lend some rather obvious humor to the picture. It is particularly refreshing in a movie in which all the other characters, male and female alike, moon in an endless number of close-ups at Lanza every time he opens his mouth.

Lanza himself has evidently never learned to act and his leading lady Joan Fontaine is no better in this picture. It is hard to understand how he could ever have been in love with her.

Sarita Montiel as the Latin girl he eventually marries beams at Lanza with slightly more theatrical finesse, but she can do little with a part that calls for the sweet, understanding character she plays to attempt murder twice in moments of anger.

For those who like Mario Lanza, this is a picture to see, liberally filled as it is with musical numbers. But it will probably prove to be all too much inanity for anybody else.

UT's Radio House Begins New Series

University Radio-TV has announced a new series to be presented five nights weekly on KVET, "Behind the Scenes," the national first place award-winning series in which personalities from the arts and entertainment fields are interviewed, will be broadcast Monday through Friday from 6:45 p.m. to 6:55 p.m.

Prepared by students of Radio-TV at the University, these broadcasts were directed by Bill Oxley, from scripts by Preshia Chauncey, Suzie Tapp, and Kay Martin.

"Behind the Scenes" was cited by the Twentieth American Exhibition of Educational Radio-Television Programs as "a noteworthy series which personalizes members of the entertainment world through interviews which give insight into the background, skill, work, and planning necessary to the preparation of entertainment of various types and in various media."

THE ALARD QUARTET
... to enter national spotlight soon

Alard String Quartet To Leave UT in June

The Alard String Quartet will wind up a two-year stay at the University this June and head for a national career next year.

Next year they will be with the National Concert Artists, a booking agency. The quartet is being booked for a transcontinental tour of the country, which will include a sponsored appearance in Town Hall in New York.

The final concert of the Alard String Quartet at the University will be May 6.

Members of the quartet are Seymour Wakschal of Long Island, N. Y., violin; George Siere, Havana, Cuba, cello; Donald Hopkins, Schenectady, N. Y., second violin; and Arnold Magnes, Passaic, N. J., viola.

Dr. E. W. Doty, dean of the College of Fine Arts, first heard them on a tour of the east coast and invited them to enroll in the University to work on their academic degrees. Each holds an artist certificate from the Juilliard School of Music in New York.

Since the beginning of the 1955-56 school year the quartet has played in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana. The four are students of Horace Britt, professor of music. Mr. Britt also founded The University of Texas String Quartet.

The quartet recently appeared with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

In May, 1955, the Alards won the $1,000 Young Artist Chamber Music Award in the National Federation of Music Clubs contest. They informed Dean Doty of the victory in a two-word telegram, "Orange tower."

Siere received a bachelor of music degree in January and is now working on his master's. He spent a year in France studying chamber music. Magnes will receive a bachelor of music degree in June, and Hopkins will be awarded his master's degree. Wakschal is working toward his bachelor's degree.

'O'Keefe' at Union Monday

Burt Lancaster will star in "His Majesty O'Keefe" Monday at the Texas Union's weekly free movie.

UT Symphony, Chorus To Play Today at 4

The University Symphony and Chorus will play their annual spring concert Sunday afternoon at 4 in air-conditioned Hogb Auditorium. Admission is free.

In honor of Mozart's bicentennial, the orchestra and chorus will present the composer's great work, "Requiem," with Alexander von Kreisler, conductor, and Lee W. Fiser, associate choral director. Artists featured will be faculty soloists Josephine Antoine, soprano; Mary Mattfeld, guest contralto; Floyd Townsley, tenor; and Douglas Stott, bass-baritone.

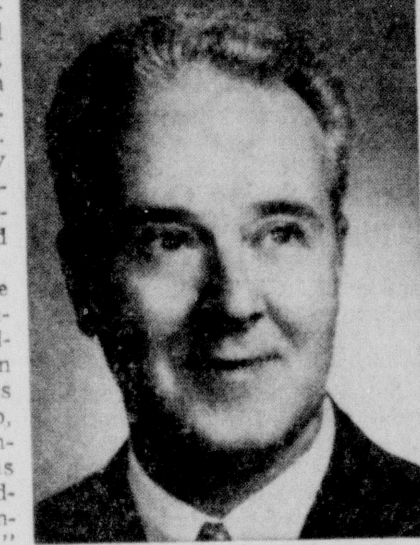

Josephine Antoine a favorite pupil of Madame Marcella Sembrich, was for twelve years a leading soprano with the Metropolitan Opera. She also sang leading roles with the Philadelphia, Chicago, and San Francisco opera companies. For many years she was featured artist on such outstanding radio programs as "The Contented Hour," "The Ford Hour," and "The Packard Hour."

Mary Mattfeld, formerly with the University of Michigan, will be guest contralto. She has sung leading roles in such operas as "Falstaff," "The Magic Flute," "La Traviata," and "Aida," and in such oratorio works as "The Messiah" and Bach's "St. John's Passion."

Floyd Townsley, a former member of the famed de Reszke Quartet, sang in opera both in Europe and this country. He is a well known concert artist and has become known as an outstanding interpreter of German lieder.

Douglas Stott, the bass-baritone, received his education at Brigham Young University and the University of Michigan. He has concentrated widely in the mid-West, and although he came to the University only last September and is a newcomer to Austin, he is rapidly making a place for himself in the cultural life of the community.

Election's All Over

Texas Gets Spanked, Seniors Swing Out, "Love's Labour's Lost" Plays at Hogg

Campus politicians gave a sigh of relief as 3 p.m. Friday rolled around to close a frantic election week.

With one of the largest slates in recent years in the presidential and Daily Texan editor races, these polls were still hanging in the balance—until the Friday run-off. LLOYD HAYES and BILL WRIGHT battled for the presidential laurels, while DOYLE HARVILL and NANCY McMEANS were in the heated run-off for Texan editor.

Campus Cavalcade

Elected earlier in the Wednesday vote were SPEED CARROLL, vice-president; NANCY HASTON, secretary; SHIRLEY RYLANDER, Cactus associate editor; and BILL WEST, Ranger associate editor. Winners in unopposed races were NEIL CALDWELL, chief justice; JERRY NATHAN, head cheerleader; and JOHNNY STUART, Cactus editor.

Jitter's Dream Come True

At last Union Director JITTER NOLEN's perennial dream of a new Union has a leg to stand on. The Board of Regents gave their stamp of approval to the proposed bigger and better Union Thursday. Students had shown their approval in the Wednesday vote, but the total was so close that interpretation of the results was sought from the Regents (who had required a two-thirds majority vote by at least 30 per cent of the student body before okaying the plans).

Rioting, Fires, Massacres Hit Mediterranean

That corps of violence which has been making its presence felt in the Mid-East is reportedly moving out of that area and there have been signs of its making its next assault over Algeria way.

While reinforcements for the weakening detachment in Cyprus have been brought in for a spring offensive.

DAG HAMMARSKJOLD, secretary-general of UN, said that he had received cease-fire agreement from Jordan and barring last minute complications, it appears that success is just over the horizon in obtaining a general armistice observation between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Hammaraskjold's plan includes a troop withdrawal from the troubled border line, but the distance has not been specified. A roving patrol system along the demarcation lines, observation posts, and more UN observers has been provided for in the proposed general armistice.

French on Attack

The French have launched one of the most extensive offensives in Algeria since the nationalist uprising started in North Africa. Savage rebel attacks on many of the West-Algerian villages have been reported, with one village reported to have had its entire population massacred in a single stroke.

The French authorities claim that over 300,000 Moslems in the district have joined the French forces to stop the violent massacres.

Cyprus Tension Worst

Meanwhile, Cyprus has been the scene of the worst outbreak of violence since the beginning of the campaign for Greek-Cypriote union. When the curfew was lifted from the Turkish quarter, the mobs went wild, smashing and burning Greek-owned stores. The mobs were seeking revenge for the killing of two Turks the preceding day in the Greek quarter.

Russo-England Talks Over

NIKOLAI BULGANIN declared that the talks that he and Party Chief NIKITA KRUSHCHEV had with Prime Minister ANTHONY EDEN would lead to a lessening of tension in the world. However, when a communique which he and Eden had signed was released, it revealed a disappointing lack of concrete progress on any of the major issues which are confronting the international scene. Bulganin did say that he would "welcome" any feasible solution to the cessation of shipping arms to the Mid-East. A constructive plan was not forthcoming.

Otherwise

Russian Ambassador to US GEORGI ZARUBIN tried to badger five Russian seamen who had taken political asylum in the US to going back to their homeland. Their answer: "No never."

News You Don't Need

Residents of the District of Columbia will get a chance to vote officially next Tuesday for the first time in 82 years. They elect delegates to the two national conventions. The last time Washingtonians voted in local elections was in 1870.

General DOUGLAS MacARTHUR's 18-year-old son, ARTHUR, has been accepted for admission to Columbia University this fall.

In New York City, indignant mothers are waging a verbal battle with the city fathers over the proposal to change a portion of the playground area in Central Park into a parking lot.

Proud PAPA LEO DORSSERS, of Blenheim, Canada, Saturday overseeded the wedding of six of his children at the same time. The six-at-a-time hitching was the result of an edict by Papa Dorssers who said that he had too many chores to do and didn't have time to "run from one wedding to another all spring long."

THEY MET ON THE MALL and before they left the most invigorating student argument of the year had topped temperatures around the Union. Don Warren (center) faced Marrell Frazer on his endorsement of Lloyd Hayes for student president. While the crowd clustered, student politics and student personalities went through the wash of irate wrath and some sparring statements. In perspective, proof that the right to assemble and speak still exists.

Bush Beating Elsewhere

Leadership at Stake

Governor ALLAN SHIVERS' forces were hard at work this week against a silent opponent. The Shivers supporters were asking precinct workers for their support in the precinct conventions Saturday, May 5. The leadership of Texas' delegation to the National Democratic Convention is at Lone Star Orbit.

On the other side of the fence Senator LYNDON JOHNSON-for-President (and leader-of-the-delegation) Committee-men were comparatively quiet. They seemed to be standing on the theory that the chance LJ might be a favorite-son nominee would be enough to get support for him. Meanwhile, everybody from the Governor down was making speeches for his getting control of the delegation.

Governor Shivers told a rally of his supporters in Dallas that he favored return to the two-thirds rule in the National Convention. He told the 500 people there that the return of such a rule would "help the South and Texas more than anything else."

The rule would be for nominating president and vice-president in the Convention. It replaced the majority rule in 1932, but was revoked in 1936. RUBEN SENTERFITT, candidate for governor and Governor Shivers' backer, nipped at Senator Johnson's heels with charges that he was linked with Democratic left-wingers, South Texas political boss GEORGE PARR, and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Associated Press reported Saturday. The charges were made over a state-wide radio network it was claimed.

Strikes and Spares

Dallas telephone operators went on strike Friday because one of their co-workers, a victim of polio, was fired.

Favorite Son, Yes

In more direct opposition to Senator Johnson's leadership, ARCH ROWAN, a conservative leader in Dallas, said he thought a favorite-son candidate should not come from the delegation leadership ranks. He said he had no opposition to Senator Johnson being a favorite-son candidate for nomination but that he did object to his being the delegation chairman.

Along the same line, earlier in the week Governor Shivers himself, said that Senator Johnson is making "suckers" of many Texans by making himself their favorite-son and, thus, the logical contender for "leader." He explained the party had a rule against allowing the nominee on the convention floor until after his nomination.

Thirteen Year Road Improvement Bill Battered Back and Forth by Congress

The much debated Federal highway bill broke back into the news this week along another farm measure to replace the one vetoed by PRESIDENT EISENHOWER two weeks ago. Also in Washington, the merged AFL-CIO labor union was having its troubles.

The possibility of a vast system of superhighways moved closer to reality Friday when the House of Representatives passed a $51 billion bill for a Federal-state spending program to build and improve roads over the next thirteen years.

Tennessee's Democratic Senator ALBERT GORE said that the principal difference between the House and Senate is how to divvy up the money to the states.

The bill provides for a 40,000 mile network of super interstate highways. The Senate has already passed a bill introduced by Senator Gore which sets up a program for spending $18 billion in five years. Gore thinks the provisions of his measure and then send the whole package to conference.

New Farm Bill

Republican Congressmen were frantically attempting to put together some kind of a farm bill Friday that could get by the Democrats and meet the president's approval so the nation's farmers can go to the polls in November with some Federal aid in their pockets. The new measure will be built around the President's soil bank plan, but will not have the rigid price support that the Democrats tacked on to the last bill. The main point of the Democratic opposition is the plan to pay farmers that take land out of cultivation, 50 per cent of amount due in advance, and the rest at the end of the year. Republicans are gambling that the Democrats will not risk letting the year go by without farm support legislation.

Labor Dispute

Organized labor's widely heralded merger of the AFL and CIO was experiencing some tense moments last week as controversial problems that led to the splitting of the two unions twenty years ago was causing disagreement again. Also, DAVE BECK's teamsters had to be threatened with

Teachers Resigning

In Pueblo, Colo., school teachers were beginning to resign from their jobs at the rate of one a day in protest of the dismissal of fellow teacher, THEODORE COLTON. Colton's contract to teach in a junior high school was terminated when it was discovered that he had taken a job in a hotel bar to augment his teacher's pay.

Reagan Members to Read to Blind

"What is it like for a blind student in the University?" This question was pondered by members of the Reagan Literary Society, and the result was a brand-new project.

As a trial, members of the Society will read to a blind student, said Kathy Pollard, projects chairman. If this is successful, the reading program will be broadened to include as many of the fifteen blind students in the University who need aid as possible.

"Julia Lawson of the State Commission for the Blind suggested we read to University students for our service project," Kathy said.

All blind students must have readers for their courses. They apply to the State Commission of the Blind for help and the commission apportions money for about 100 hours of reading per week. Most of the students hire a full-time reader, and although they help, it isn't enough.

The entire twelfth floor of Main Building has been divided into small, soundproof rooms especially for the blind students and their readers.

Members of the Society have

University Women Win Tennis Titles

University of Texas students blasted their way through the University of Texas Women's Intercollegiate tennis finals Saturday to win three of the four titles.

Betty Gray, University graduate student, defeated UT freshman Betsy Ross 6-2, 6-1, to win the women's singles title.

Marion Simon outlasted Kitty Harrison for the consolation singles title. Cora Louise Morgan and Nancy Quinn defeated Nancy Dingwall and Edith Wilson to claim the consolation doubles title.

Dr. Davis to Lead Panel On Religious Journalism

"Journalism and a Church-Vocation" is the third topic in a series of Sunday discussion groups on the significance of a Christian's vocation as a journalist. It will be held Sunday at 9:30 a.m. in the recreation room of the Methodist Student Center.

Dr. Norris Davis, professor of journalism, will be moderator for panel members Mary Elizabeth Fox and Joyce Jackson. Miss Fox is director of publicity and a teacher of journalism at Southwestern University. Miss Jackson is the editor of the Texas Presbyterian Magazine.

This informal group of practicing journalists have been meeting to discuss specific ethical problems and to explore the creative means of service to God.

The last of the series will be presented Sunday, May 6, and is titled "The Freedom to Know."

Painter Traded President Job For Zoology Research Work

Dr. Theophilus Painter has been working in his favorite field, chemistry of the chromosome, since 1952 when he resigned as president of the University to become, once again, a professor of zoology. After nearly eight years as head administrator, he felt his "mission was accomplished," and he returned to his study of cytology and genetics.

Dr. Painter came to the University in 1916 as assistant professor of zoology, and by 1944 he had become an outstanding professor, lecturer, and authority on genetics. He was awarded the Girard Elliot Gold Medal by the National Academy of Science for picturing the genes on the chromosomes of the fruit fly and had written many articles for scientific magazines.

In 1944 he was elected by the Board of Regents to replace Dr. Homer P. Rainey temporarily as president of the University. By the end of the year he was asked to accept the position permanently. He did this, feeling it was his duty to the University, and reluctantly discontinued his research.

The University at that time was in a turmoil because of the recent dismissal of Dr. Rainey.

The faculty, and students criticized Dr. Painter's appointment, believing him to be an excellent scientist, but not a trained administrator. But Dr. Painter brought an end to the squabbles between the faculty and the administration, mapped out plans for extensive building and enlargement of the University, and succeeded in removing the University from the "black list" of the American Association of University Professors.

By the time he resigned in 1952, the Student Health Center, Law Building, Pharmacy Building, and Journalism Building were built or nearly completed.

The Experimental Science Building was designed to put the various related scientific departments together, giving them laboratory and lecture hall space, as well as the benefit of common knowledge.

The Regents hailed him as having brought an "era of tranquility" back to the University and praised his ability as an administrator.

Since returning to his position as professor of zoology, Dr. Painter has been teaching a full load. He is also technical research director of the Radiobiological Laboratory at the Balcones Research Center. He has not been able to do as much research as he had wanted. "So much had been done during the eight years I was president," he said, "and it takes a long time to catch up." He also does some independent research and some with his graduate students in the lab at the Experimental Science Building, where he has his office.

In addition to his work at the University, Dr. Painter raises garden flowers as a hobby. He is responsible for the ponds that are in back of the Biology Building and contributed the first lilies for them. He has his own pond and greenhouse at home, where he raises flowers of all kinds "for pure enjoyment."

High Standards Required--Peck

"As sorority girls you have a great responsibility in upholding the highest and finest standards regarding your activities," Miss Margaret Peck, associate dean of women, told thirty-two representatives at a Panhellenic retreat Saturday afternoon.

The group, composed of junior and senior Panhellenic members and alumni representatives, met at Miss Peck's cabin eight miles southwest of Austin for an informal discussion of Panhellenic's policies regarding public relations and extra-curricular activities.

Units to Exchange May Flag Duties

Approximately 80 ROTC cadets will take part in a mount ceremony on the terrace of the Main Building at 5 p.m. Monday.

During the ceremony Navy ROTC cadets will turn over to the Army ROTC cadets the responsibility of raising and lowering the flags located on the terrace for the month of May.

Units participating in the ceremony will be the Army's Ranger drill team, the Navy's Buccaneers drill team, and the ROTC band.

Workshop to Give Scenes

The University Opera Workshop will present scenes from "The Old Maid and the Thief," "Pique Dame," "Macbeth," and "The Marriage of Figaro," in Batts Hall at 8:15 p.m. May 11. There will be no admission charge.

Teachers to Get $3,000 Award

Humble to Present Five Scholarships

Five science teachers will receive scholarships from Humble Oil and Refining Company to attend the University's new science and mathematics teaching center this summer.

The company gave $3,000 to the University to enable five high school teachers to attend the center, a new approach to the problems of science education and teacher training which have become critical in recent years.

"The teaching center is a worthwhile undertaking," Humble Research Director Dayton Wilde of Houston explained. "We have every confidence that it will be highly successful."

The scholarships are designed to cover subsistence, registration and fees, and travel expenses, and to compensate in part for the teacher's loss of earnings while attending the center.

The program, to be offered during the first term of the summer session, is designed for both experienced teachers and those who desire basic preparation.

Meeting Rooms Are Booked Up

"Some of the club meeting rooms in the Union are reserved up to May of 1957," said Mrs. Bruce L. Taylor, assistant to the director of Texas Union.

Mrs. Taylor requests that clubs wishing to reserve meeting rooms in the Union next year write for reservations as soon as possible.

There are only eleven meeting rooms available in the Union and the schedule for next year has already become crowded.

"We operate on the first come, first served basis," said Mrs. Taylor.

Engineer Awarded Scholarship

Eric Jones, senior engineering student, has been awarded the Mission Scholarship granted by the Mission Manufacturing Company. The grant will enable Jones to work toward a master's degree in engineering.

Hopkins Predicts Better Life To Come in Future 'Atom Age'

"It is time, I think, that millions who see the atom only as a symbol of the greatest destructive force mankind has even known be taught that the creative use of the atom can be our greatest material blessing," John Jay Hopkins, speaker for the University's June 2 general Commencement exercises, writes

Reserves Given 'Medic' Training

A new type of military training program, involving volunteers of Army Medical Service Reserve and National Guard Units throughout the country, has been instituted at Brooke Army Medical Center in Fort Sam Houston.

Men from the ages 17 to 18 and a half are spending fourteen weeks of their six-months' active duty learning to be "medics," after which time they return to their homes and complete their seven and a half years of military obligation as reservists or guardsmen.

The primary object of the training program is to equip the young soldiers to care for the sick and wounded in wartime, but their skills can well be used in case of automobile accidents, fire or flood disasters at home.

Training involves illustrated lectures by experienced medical personnel and practical applications, where the men act as both patient and medic, giving and receiving hypodermics, temperature and pulse readings.

Special emphasis is placed on the treatment of mass casualties resulting from atomic attack and the following of obstacle courses which contain hazards the men will have to contend with in combat.

The men will be quite handy to have around, whether in war disaster or a gas stove explosion in the kitchen.

Haden Talks at Conference

Dr. Ernest F. Haden, professor of Romance languages, addressed the ninth annual Foreign Language Conference at Lexington, Ky. Saturday. He spoke on "Teaching English as a Foreign Language in Italy."

in the May issue of Family Circle magazine.

Mr. Hopkins, who received his BA from the University of California in 1915 and his LLB from Harvard in 1921, is president of General Dynamics Corporation. A division of his company, Electric Boat, built the world's first atomic submarines, the Nautilus and the Sea-Wolf.

He is convinced that the only way to insure lasting world peace is to share the power of the atom with the starving and needy of the "have-not" nations.

"Our strongest weapon," Mr. Hopkins asserts, "is the development of higher living standards in all the less privileged areas of the world. We have to accept the fact

Alpha Delta Sigma Honored Pledges

Alpha Delta Sigma, honorary advertising fraternity, held a banquet recently at the Palomino Club in honor of the new pledges.

The pledges are Bobby Adams, Dan Alverson, Les Bearss, Dave Bennet, Don Bridges, Lange Burney, Don Carmichael, Dean Cantrell, George Dillman, John Dohannich.

Also Charles Faris, John Hamlett, Terry Hancock, Wilfred Herber, Richard Holmes.

Also Jon Hornaday, Jim McDonald, Jerry Morris, John Sobieski, and Gerard Webb.

—as part of our vast moral responsibility—that the power of the atom was not meant only for us, the United States, but for all humanity."

Mr. Hopkins explains that the attitude of today's younger generation toward the atom is the hope of tomorrow. He says, "Incredible as it sounds to us, we have hope for our children and grandchildren of a whole new 'atomic' world."

"Already our children understand a little about the exciting new world ahead—but not enough. It is up to us to show them how lucky they are to have the thrill of setting the trend of the world's future," he says.

Mr. Hopkins mentions the many atomic-age advantages that are already with us. For example, he says, "atomic medicine has already made such progress that in the last ten years that it is estimated that more lives have been saved by radiation than were lost at Hiroshima and Nagasaki." He also predicts that the average work week will decrease in the next ten or twenty years to four and a half days of six hours with a three-week paid vacation.

The greatest threat to fulfillment of the goals which far-sighted leaders have set is fear and ignorance of the atom. Mr. Hopkins says: "Just as we learned to use the telephone, to drive a car or tractor, to pilot an airplane, to control electrical power at the flick of a switch, so we—the more than two billion non-technical humans of the earth—must learn to use the atom."
