POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION MEETS.

The Economic and Political Science Association held its regular meeting last Thursday evening, when the December program, which had been postponed, was carried out. Robert Penn, the only member on the program present, took also the part assigned to his colleague and made a very interesting talk on the "Economic Status of the Cotton Industry in the United States." At the conclusion of Mr. Penn's talk a short business meeting was held. It was decided to secure more members from the Political Science School, and to have a public address the latter part of the year by some prominent citizen of the State. The president of the association stated that at the end of the year a faculty committee would look over all the papers that are prepared this year, and would select the best ones and have them published in bulletin form. This should not only stimulate interest, but should be of value not only to the students, but to the people over the State, as the subject which is being worked on this year is "The Cotton Industry in the United States." The next meeting will be held Jan. 27, and all interested in the work are urged to attend.

NOTICE SOPHOMORES.

The Sophomore Academics will meet the Sophomore Engineers in joint session on Saturday, Jan. 15, at 2:30, in the Auditorium, to decide upon the issuance of a class edition of The Texan and the election of an editor. Every member of the class is urged to be present.

GILBERT EMPLOYED AS DALLAS CLUB LIBRARY ARCHITECT

LIBRARY PLANS WILL SOON BE DRAWN AND WORK TO BEGIN AT ONCE—COMPLETED BY

MARCH NEXT

Monday morning the Board of Regents met to discuss the plans and specifications of the proposed new library building, and remained in session for a day and a half. Preliminary plans were decided upon and detailed drawings called for from the architect employed. Cass Gilbert, one of the best known architects of New York City, has been engaged to draw up the plans. The new building is to cost upwards of $200,000, and is to be one of the most beautiful and modern of its kind in the South. It will probably be located on the southwest corner of the campus. Work will be begun as soon as possible and pushed rapidly until the building is completed. By March 1, 1911, the Board of Regents hope to have it ready for occupancy.

With such an architect as Mr. Gilbert to draw up the plans we can look for an excellent piece of modern architecture. This man was recently president of the American Institute of Architects and stands at the head of his profession. Many public buildings have been planned and constructed by him, and many more are now under way. Contracts have recently been let to him to design the Custom Houses of New York City; the buildings of the University of Minnesota have been planned by him; and he is now constructing a new public library in St. Louis, and a new capitol for Arkansas and Minnesota.

DALLAS CLUB GAVE INTER-SOCIETY DEBATE SMOKER LAST NIGHT

FORTY-FIVE MEN HAILING FROM DALLAS SPENT LAST EVENING AT JOYOUS RECREATION.

About fifty men, all students from Dallas, met last Sunday afternoon and organized a Dallas Club. This is the first club organized under the name of the city from which the members hail, and begins its career under very favorable auspices. The organization of the club is due pretty largely to the individual efforts of some two or three Dallas men.

The object of the club is to bring the Dallas men in closer touch with each other, to advertise Dallas at the University, but primarily to advertise the University of Texas at Dallas. The club hopes through its organization to advertise the University thoroughly at Dallas and induce an increasing number of students to come here from year to year.

The officers of the club are as follows: Winter term; John C. Harris, president; G. Lawson Long, vice-president; R. Allan Ritchie, secretary-treasurer; R. C. Hill, reporter. Spring term; A. C. Allan, president; W. A. Dealey, vice-president; R. A. Ritchie, secretary-treasurer; F. W. Wozencroft, reporter.

Last night the club held its first social function, a smoker. This was held in the basement of the Law Building, and forty-five jovial spirits mingled, smoking good cigars, drinking good punch, eating luscious fruit and listening to appropriate speeches. The speeches were such as only Dallas men can make, and no other student would attempt to make one of the kind. The University orchestra rendered music for the occasion. This is a first of a series of social meetings the club is to give through the year.

If last night's function is any indication of the success of the club it will be showered with prosperity throughout its existence.

Engineering Department, Room 1, basement.

The house of election will be from 8 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., and students are urged to vote early and "avoid the rush." The election will be held under the Australian Ballot System and the whole conduct of same, both as to the officials holding the elections and the voters at them, has been placed under the Honor System. Improper, dishonest, or suspicious conduct will be investigated and dealt with, and reported to the Students' Council in the same manner as cases of dishonesty on quizzes or examinations are now dealt with by the Council.

The judges above named are requested to see me before Tuesday and receive further instructions regarding the procedure of election. In case an officer cannot serve, he should so indicate at once, that other appointees may be named.

REPRESENTATIVES FROM BOTH SOCIETIES ARE PREPARING FOR THE FINAL STRUGGLE—BOTH TEAMS ARE STRONG.

BANK GUARANTY LAW

With the finals but one week away, with an array of debaters seldom equaled in ability and with a question over which both a state and a nation have been fighting, affairs are shaping themselves for the inter-society debate which takes place next Saturday night, January 22, in the University Auditorium.

The question for this year's contest is one of a nation-wide interest, The Bank Guaranty Law. True, the question is so stated that it is confined to Texas, but Texas is not the only state in the Union which has been struggling over this one measure. Similar measures have been enacted in other states, besides it was an issue in the last presidential campaign, being a plank in the Democratic platform.

The occasion of the annual contest between the two societies—the Rusk and the Athenaeum—is always one of intense rivalry—indications are that it will be a little more intense this year than usual because of the almost evenly balanced question, the strong array of speakers and deeper concern manifested on every side. Already sympathizers for each side are lining up for the contest and many predictions relative to the outcome are being made.

Although some of the representatives are new in the forensic field, they are unusually strong. McKinney, a Senior Law, from the Athenaeum is recognized as one of the most able debaters in the University. He was one of the representatives against Colorado University last year, when Texas climbed "Pikes Peak" and flayed those mountaineers. Hoffman, a society mate of McKinney, has never before broken into the inter-society circles. He, however, won the Ross-Rotan prize—a gold watch valued at fifty dollars—in an oratorical contest of the Athenaeum last spring.

GRAHAM'S

"You Know"

Both Stinson and McMillan have recently made their debut into the University debating world. They are strong men, as was evidenced by the way in which they handled the subject and their opponents through the preliminaries. From the Rusk comes four men equally as strong as the Athenaeum representatives.

Dyess has never before participated in a contest at this University. He holds A. B. degrees from both Baylor and Yale and is a Senior Law here. At the first named institution he received wide recognition as a debater and represented that institution in some of its contests.

Pleasants needs very little introduction. He won second place in the inter-society oratorical contest last year and is said to be much stronger than at any previous time. He is also a Senior Law.

Capers, another representative from Rusk, has engaged in some contests within the society. He has never before represented the society in the Auditorium; but his ability goes unquestioned.

Hutchinson is spending his first year here and is a student in the Law Department. He holds a degree from Princeton. Those who heard him during the preliminaries state that he is a forceful and effective speaker.

With a quartette on either side, backed by sympathizers strong in spirit and number—the coming contest promises to be the most enthusiastic ever held. The Auditorium will redound with the spirited yells which are to be given.

A PLEA FOR THE CAP AND GOWN

The question of abolishing the cap and gown, that time-honored mark of the graduate, which is now pending before the student body means more to us than the instigators of this plan realize. It takes away from us the badge of honor which we are permitted to wear only a few short hours at the most and which, in part, makes up for the ceaseless toll of four long years; for it is a satisfaction to wear a gown that distinguishes us as an individual class.

As to the objection that the gown is too hot for our climate, the boys can endure, on a hot summer's day, a sweltering collar or even when occasion demands, a stuffy dress suit; and, going to the opposite extreme, the girls can easily put on an evening dress on a cold winter's night and sit around with purple arms and chattering teeth in a poorly heated room. If we can do this for some-mere, social conventionality, how much more willing ought we be to "suffer" for only a very short time in order that we may preserve a beautiful custom that has been handed down to us by our forefathers.

And here the very age of the custom should appeal to our sentiment.
Every college in our own country and in every other country has its cap and gown. They are inseparably identified at commencement with the old walls of Cambridge and Oxford, with Harvard, Princeton, and Cornell.
Do we want to break away from this dress that is sanctioned by the ages and substitute for it one that has not the slightest distinction, namely, a common white linen gown, or a white duck suit?

No sooner will this new custom be inaugurated than there will spring up a spirit of rivalry among the girls for the most elaborate costume. The

WALDEN'S BUSINESS COLLEGE

THE RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE.

Upon the eve of an election of consequence, it has always been customary for the editorial column of this sheet to dilate more or less at random upon "the sacredness of the ballot," et cetera, and quite as often has it been little noticed, less heeded. But whether such appeal has been regarded as inconsequential in the past or will be so regarded now is not to the point, namely, can you, the individual student, afford to waive your right to be reckoned with an election in which you are, or else should be, intensely interested? We assume that the reasonable common sense answer is NO.

That some, through laziness, neglect to vote, we all must deprecate, but that some vote blindly or recklessly as to the issues is irreconcilable to mature manhood. The student that has no individual gain dependent upon or involved in this election should nevertheless vote for the man his reasoning powers must declare the best qualified and most deserving, and not allow merely those interested politically to subvert his interests and confer an honor in the name of the whole student body, when, in fact, only a part of the student body participates in the election.

An issue must necessarily have two sides, one usually having a preponderance of support, but to the man in the middle of the road, independence asserts itself, forcing him to reach some conclusion and openly take his stand. So if you must go with the minority or majority, go as your reason dictates and exercise a right valueless unless individually availed of.

frivolous display of lingerie dresses and flowers will rival even the high school commencement. And there will be absolutely no distinction between the men graduates in their white suits and the faculty in theirs.

BESS HARRIS.

"I THANK YOU."

In his recent address in the University Auditorium, Mr. Bryan added a little touch which carried us back to other days. Concluding, he said:
"I Thank You." How more gracefully and effectively could he have recalled for us the dear old days when on Friday afternoons we would don our Sunday togs and "speak a piece" in the old schoolhouse? Do you not recall how we used to advance with much trembling and trepidation to the front of the stage and extol the bravery of Spartacus or the fortitude of Regulus, or with Patrick Henry shout in thunder tones, "Gimme liberty or give me death?" Or perhaps we were no common declaimer or reciter, but instead with rare forensic skill we analyzed the relative merits of Columbus and Washington, or proclaimed the superior usefulness of the horse or the cow. In any case, our triumph of oratory was begun with a swift right-angle bow, our left hand being firmly pressed the while upon the general vicinity of our digestive apparatus, the gem of elocution being always concluded with an earnest "I thank you." Do not these words recall for you the little pink-ribboned girl who always selected recitations in which she had to kneel and offer a prayer?
When Mr. Bryan used this time-honored ending we felt somehow that he had committed sacrilege.

And it is charged by some that the University of Texas is not entirely devoid of this offense. It is asserted that debate speeches in the Literary Societies are frequently concluded, "I thank you." Now, as a matter of fact, profound gratitude is often due to those who have to hear the heart-breaking effort of the amateur orator. The ideal condition of affairs would be for the speaker really to have something to say, and either to say it in a pleasing manner or resolutely refuse to speak at all.
If the speech be good, no word of thanks is necessary; if it be poor, such an expression will not palliate the crime.

We therefore protest earnestly against the sacrilege in employing that reminder of our childhood days,
"I Thank You."

COMMISSIONER LOVE WILL AD-DRESS STUDENTS TONIGHT.

Banking and Insurance Commissioner Love, will address the University Legislature tonight, at the Law Building. The subject is "The Bank Guaranty Law of Texas." There will be no charges.

A PRECEDENT ESTABLISHED.

B. Hall has been the recipient of many valuable improvements since the present Steward, H. B. Seay, has taken the control of its affairs. These improvements are giving a refining influence, which can be observed in the general atmosphere about the Hall. A piano has been secured, and by a joint effort of the manager and students of the Hall, it is assured that it will be retained. A reception or lounging room has been provided for the students in which to entertain their friends. There is considerable talk of turning the fourth floor of the hall into a dancing room. If this is decided upon, it will be overhauled and have fixed every convenience for that purpose. Mr. Seay has already offered his assistance in this undertaking.

Another initiative step has been made which is causing many favorable and complimentary remarks. This is a reform that was instituted for the benefit of the dining room force. It lessens the work of the students in the dining room to almost half the original amount. From the very first, "Tick" Seay has expressed his willingness and intention of bringing about some means of lessening the time and work of those doing service in the dining room. The work is reduced to such a nature as to make the students more desirous of a position. It is certain that the precedent set by "Tick" will be continued by those who follow him as Steward. It means much to the working boys of the Hall. The boys, as a unit, are very grateful to our Steward for his untiring efforts toward the betterment of the Hall as a boy's home. AN OBSERVER.

BAND HAS RESUMED PRACTICE.

Through Proper Effort It May Become a Permanent Organization.

Once again the band has decided to make a final effort to get the support of the student body. Rehearsals have been begun again in the room under the standpipe, and will be continued until the last hope of maintenance has gone. A meeting was held the first rehearsal night, and new plans for solicitation of patronage from the students were taken up and discussed. A committee was appointed to raise the $125.00 yet needed by canvassing subscriptions.

Late reports show that the canvassers have been fairly successful, with a large per cent of the student body yet to be seen. Until the required money to enable the expenses to be defrayed can be raised the band does not propose to effect a permanent organization. If the students will respond as they should, the rehearsals will be continued, the band will become a permanent Varsity organization, the proposed concerts will be held in the Auditorium, and the delightful campus concerts of the spring months will become a reality.

CURTAIN CLUB PRE- PARING FOR NEW PLAY

FOLLOWING THE PRECEDENT WHICH HAS BEEN ESTABLISH-ED THE CLUB WILL PRESENT PERFORMANCE.

GIVEN FEBRUARY 21ST.

The Curtain Club met the evening of Monday last at the rooms of its president, Benj. H. Dyer, and besides enjoying a very delightful spread, despatched with some business of importance. It was decided definitely that the evening of February 21st, be the occasion of the annual representation of some Elizabethan drama, now the well established custom of the club. To those who witnessed "Beelzebubbles" in the fall and appreciated it in its entirety, this announcement will be welcomed. The contemplated undertaking of the club will be unique, yes somewhat daring in its presentation, for the drama that has been chosen is a charming little masterpiece of light comedy, keen with wit and laughable situations, and written in Beaumont and Fletcher's happiest style. "The Knight of the Burning Pestle" is the accomplishment of the master pen, truly skillful in its execution, and those who are sensitive to and appreciative of rare wit and subtle humor will enjoy immen-sely its performance.

Needless to say, the organization will drill diligently and rehearse frequently and tirelessly, nor will expense be considered in the effort to make it elaborate, as the club's past will generously confirm. Being conceded that the play would be presented uniquely, the boldly curious have already begun questioning whether there is to be a striking innovation or a revival of Elizabethan dramatic art, yet the question, so far unanswered, has lingered just where it began.

Mr. E. C. H. Bantel, president of the Athletic Association, has addressed a communication to the secretary of the club, acknowledging receipt of the club's voluntary contribution to athletics and warmly commends them for their interest in and substantial support of the same. Miss Grace Long, on behalf of the Woman's Athletic Council, expressed the Council's appreciation of the money which the club gave to that organization for the promotion of Women's Athletics. The attitude taken by the club in regard to the profits realized from "Beelzebubbles" seems to be regarded by the student body as having been thoroughly commendable and deserving.

THOS. B. LOVE ADDRESSES THE UNIVERSITY LEGISLATURE.

Last Wednesday night, Thos. B.
Love, Commissioner of Insurance and Banking, delivered an address before the University Legislature upon the subject, "Bank Guaranty in Texas." The discussion was able, interesting, and instructive. Mr. Love is an earnest friend of bank guaranty, and is, as his address showed, familiar with the guaranty proposition in all its details. He says that almost every conceivable loss is covered by insurance, and there is no reason why losses incurred through bank failure may not also be made good by means of bank guaranty, for "guaranty" is nothing more nor less than insurance.

Several visitors were out to hear the address. Mr. Love was voted the thanks of the audience.

The Bible Study Committee of the Young Women's Christian Association has arranged for an interesting course on the "Life of Christ" to be given during the winter term by Dr. W. T. Mather. Dr. Mather will lecture once a week in the Physic's lecture room on the first floor of the main building, and will illustrate his lectures by pictures and stereopticon slides bearing on his subject. It is also planned to serve tea occasionally at these meetings and thus give the girls an opportunity for discussion around the tea table. The committee is to be congratulated upon the arrangement for such a course, and the securing of the leadership of such an interesting lecturer as Dr. Mather.

The following officers were recently elected in the C. H. Miller Law Society:

"Officers for winter term."
T. P. Perkins, president.
J. J. Lee, vice-president.
G. J. Bateman, secretary-treasurer.
E. H. Persons, clerk.
"Officers for spring term."
H. Steiler, president.
C. S. Perkins, vice-president.
C. C. Shaller, secretary-treasurer.
S. Hamilton, clerk.

MISS MAY POOL IS DEAD.

News was received Thursday evening by friends in the University of the death from appendicitis of Miss May Pool at Baylor University, on last Wednesday. Miss Pool, lately of Cameron, but more recently of Amarillo, was a student at the University in 1907-08 and in 1908-09, but was this year a student at Baylor.

Her remains were taken to her old home in Cameron for interment. Miss Eleanor Henderson of the Woman's Building, left Thursday night to attend the funeral there yesterday.
