Forty... Acres

By MARK BATTERSON

Overheard: "I was just kidding when I told him I worshipped my figure, but he tried to embrace my religion."

Spring politics bring this one to mind: Support the man whose doctrines true.

You feel certain most to you. And with this cheer the air was rent,

"Vote Kinsey in for President."

This is supposed to have happened in a rooming house just a few blocks off the Drag the other day, on a morning after.

One of the guys was trying to put his shirt on. He tugged and tugged, but he couldn't make it. To clean his phrasing up a bit, he said, "I got the wrong shirt back from the laundry. The collar's so tight I can't get my head through it."

His roommate caught the trouble at a glance.

"That's your shirt all right," he said, "but you're trying to put your head through a buttonhole."

'England Needs More Production For Recovery'

British Colonel Reminds Audience Wars Hurt Nation

By BUDDY BLINCOE

The key to British economic recovery, necessary to the United States' foreign policy, is higher productivity. Colonel Willard Chevalier, speaking before an audience of 300, said Wednesday night at Hogg Auditorium.

Production increases are being accomplished now with American aid, Colonel Chevalier said. England recognizes this problem and is facing it by its industry changing some of its attitudes toward competition and labor leaders changing their attitudes toward technological progress, Colonel Chevalier added.

Colonel Chevalier, who was sponsored by the Austin Area Economic Development Foundation, reminded that Britain is a nation that has suffered greatly in two world wars.

"She was beginning to lose her place in economic and trade relations before World War I, and two wars have further aggravated and awakened her."

"And," he added, "unless she increases material production, she will not have the psychological strength to hold and maintain her spiritual and cultural traits."

England's labor force, for one thing, cannot be expanded, he said. Therefore, productivity must be increased by more man-hours, but at a low cost if she is to sell her goods on the world market.

The Colonel, however, added an encouraging note to his talk, saying that England was back up to pre-war level of production.

The Marshall Plan has supplied immediate needs first, Colonel Chevalier commented, and now the effort is to help them build up production so when the Marshall Plan is discontinued, they will be able to take care of themselves.

England is making an effort to do this by bringing production

Smith, Darden Win 'Flowers' Prelims

Sam Henry Smith and Bill Darden placed first and second, respectively, in the preliminary session of the annual Battle of the Flowers Oratorical Contest held Wednesday afternoon.

Robert Hearon and Frank Bissett tied for third place. Other speakers were Newton Schwartz and Betty Kyle.

All six contestants will compete in the final contest Wednesday, April 12, at 2 o'clock in Geology Building 14. Original plans provided for eight contestants to be selected at the preliminary contest, but only six entered.

Winner of the contest, which is sponsored by the Battle of Flowers Association of San Antonio, will be guest of the Association at its annual luncheon for members and guests April 21 in San Antonio.

The winner will also deliver his oration to the members and will make a broadcast.

Four of the speeches Wednesday, including the first and second place winners, were about events in Texas history and their relation to modern events and trends.

Judges for the contest were Miss Norma Bunton and Mrs. Ora Bennett, instructors in speech, and Harry Ullom, teaching fellows in speech.

Gardener's Home Destroyed by Fire

By JO ANN EIDOM

When Henry Doernge, University gardener and his family returned from a movie Tuesday night, they didn't find their little four-room home on Bull Creek Road.

They found a mass of smoldering embers.

The house, eight miles out of town, evidently caught fire and burned without anyone noticing it.

And burned with it was a pile of lumber and new doors and window frames Henry had stored under the house—new lumber that Henry had bought from savings from his pay checks for months. He had planned to "fix up" his home, badly in need of repairs for many years.

Gone, too, were all the household furnishings and the clothing belonging to him, his wife, and 14-year-old daughter.

And there had never been any insurance, because there is no fire protection eight miles out on the Bull Creek Road.

But it didn't take long Wednesday for other University employees to come to Henry's rescue.

H. A. Dunn, building crew foreman, started the ball rolling by pledging help to the 48-year-old gardener.

And, with Thomas F. Attebury, head gardener, working all afternoon Wednesday, contributions from other gardeners, electricians, plumbers, University Press employees, Main Building workers, and from Dr. T. S. Painter brought the total contributions to more than $150.

They intend to increase this amount greatly Thursday by soliciting donations from faculty members, other employees, and students. Mr. Dunn will accept contributions in Main Building 18 and Mr. Attebury, in the green house near the power plant.

Mr. Dunn also asked for contributions of linens, household furnishings, food, and clothes to fit the girl, "who is small for her age," the wife, a small woman, and "a little man who is the best gardener we've ever had around the Main Building."

"He's the kind of guy who even watches out for the bird nests in the shrubs," Mr. Dunn commented.

Henry has cared for campus shrubs and flowers about a dozen years.

Mock Sanity Trial Shows Jury Unfit

By JOHN WILKINSON

Incompetency of a lay jury to determine the sanity of an individual was sharply demonstrated in the mock trial held at Wednesday's Coffeum in the Texas Union.

Trial proceedings were shown to be a farce and indicated that nothing less than a group of psychiatric experts were capable of pronouncing a person sane or insane.

The case was an actual one from the files of the Austin State Hospital. Events and circumstances were real, but fictitious names were used.

Patterned after a real trial, the case was presented in its entirety, from the swearing in of the jury, to dismissal of the court by the judge.

J. P. Porter acted as moderator and as the brother of the patient undergoing trial. Jack Skaggs served as judge and Perry Jones, attorney for Travis County, as prosecutor.

Ronnie Dugger was attorney for the defense, and H. F. Bolding, assistant superintendent of the Austin State Hospital, appeared as a witness in that capacity. Hall Logan, chairman of the Board of Control, also participated.

Six jurors were selected at random from the near-capacity audience. Attorney Jones used this as an example of how actual jurors were chosen.

"Prior to the first of the year, jurors were taken from court house loungers who were more interested in money they could earn than in deciding the sanity of a patient," Attorney Jones emphatically declared.

After the first of the year improvement was made in that jurors were drawn from the regular list of veniremen, Mr. Jones said.

When the trial was over Porter pointed out that no particular qualifications were required of jurors, but to determine sanity was complicated.

Representative John L. Crosthwait, Dallas, said that House Joint Resolution 32 has been submitted and is designed to remedy the situation.

"This bill was proposed in order that the mentally ill and sick might be tried, not as criminals, but as other civil cases," Representative Crosthwait said.

If passed, the resolution will make jury trial optional. The patient, or other interested party, can decide if he wants a trial by jury or merely a hearing.

"I firmly believe the resolution will be passed this session," Representative Crosthwait declared. He also predicted that the legislature would provide 22 million dollars to remedy conditions existing in the mental hospitals.

"The essential thing is to cure the patient, not to house him," Mr. Logan stated.

Law Review Staff To Hold Banquet

Eight judges will be honor guests at the annual Texas Law Review banquet Thursday night at 7 o'clock in the Home Economics Tea House, announces William Young, staff member.

Toastmaster Stanley Plettman, editor-in-chief of the Review, will introduce Leo Brewer, San Antonio attorney, who will be principal speaker.

Entertainment will be a skit on the School of Law faculty. The 1948-49 Review staff will be announced, Young said.

A tribute will be paid Charles T. McCormick, dean of the School of Law.

The five Supreme Court judges who will attend are James Hart, R. H. Harvey, Meade F. Griffin, J. E. Hickman, and W. St. John Garwood.

Other honor guests are Judge Frank L. Hawkins, Court of Criminal Appeals; Judge Roy C. Archer, Court of Civil Appeals; and Judge J. Harris Gardner, Fifty-third District Court.

Cobb Gathers Hill Hall Support as Yell Leader

Campus politics invaded Hill Hall Wednesday and got a body block.

A petition circulated Tuesday in support of Dodo McQueen's race for head yell leader was countered by another favoring Ty Cobb. Signers included nine who had signed McQueen's and changed their minds. They said they didn't know Cobb was running.

A letter from about thirty-five prominent men in Hill Hall said "we are not united behind McQueen. In fact, there is a very active group who are awaiting Cobb's filing and announce support of him."

Management Frat to Meet

Sigma Iota Epsilon, honorary management fraternity, will meet Thursday at 7 o'clock in Texas Union 309-311.

'Fire Dr. Ayres'irate Solon Says

By MARK BATTERSON

Texas Editorial Assistant

Representative Sam Hanna told the House State Affairs Committee Wednesday night that Dr. Clarence E. Ayres, University economics professor, "ought to be run out of the University and state."

Earlier, Dr. Ayres had appeared briefly before the committee to protest against Representative John L. Crosthwait's bill requiring University students to sign loyalty oaths. He said he had been asked to appear by the American Civil Liberties Union, which he emphasized was not attached to the Communist party in any way.

The professor terms the bill a "very mild one," with only slight intervention by the Legislature. He added that although

University students wouldn't be disconcerted at signing a loyalty oath, such a measure would "stir up trouble."

The bill was favorably reported out. When Mr. Hanna took the floor at the hearing's end, after listening to several University students argue for and against the bill, he shouted that he felt "sorry for some of these screwballs we witnessed here tonight. They ought to be locked up in an insane asylum."

He added that he wasn't as much concerned about the students as he was Dr. Ayres. Then he produced a newspaper clipping quoting a Northern professor as

Liberals Endorse Girl for President

By WARREN BURKETT

A woman, Doris Daniels, will be a candidate for president of the Student Association for the first time since student government came to the University.

Meeting on the eve of the spring filing deadline, the Liberal Party Wednesday night nominated Mrs. Daniels, graduate assemblyman and sociology-educational psychology major, for president; Robert Spradlin for student body secretary; and Frank Pinedo for Chief Justice.

The party also endorsed Oury Selig for student vice-president, and Dick Elam for Texas editor.

An eleven-point platform was also adopted at the convention:

1. Return the control of blanketing tax appropriations to the students.
2. Revise University disciplinary procedure.
3. Endorse the Great Issues course.
4. Support the National Students Association, with referendum to the student body.
5. Expansion of the Texas Union.
6. Continue the Council of Fair Business Standards.
7. Expand the University Press.
8. Encourage Students Project for Amity among Nations (SPAN).
9. Encourage and co-operate with the committee on DP students.
10. No discrimination against athletic teams regardless of race or color of any member.

The next party convention will be held Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The convention passed unanimously a resolution refusing membership in the party to Communists or Fascists, resolved to refuse to seat any member of communistic or fascist organizations in the party conventions.

The resolution stated that the Liberal Party had found it impossible to work with members of such political groups.

The convention refused to take any definite stand on the so-called "loyalty pledge issue" before the Texas Legislature.

Bob Bartay, Liberal Party member on the Student Assembly, was elected permanent chairman for the party for 1949-50.

Three other resolutions opposed segregation at the higher educational levels, endorsed the present medical school bills providing for schools at Dallas, Temple, and San Antonio, and approved a recent series of articles by J. P. Porter on the poor conditions of Texas Mental hospitals.

At the beginning of the meeting, Barefoot Sanders, student president, spoke in praise of the Liberal Party's work last year, and called 1948-49 a good year for student government.

Sanders cited lack of absences in this Assembly, and took the work of the many Student Assembly committees.

He also termed the program of teacher evaluation as one of the major projects to be carried on by the next administration.

Ellis Brown's name was first submitted for endorsement, but

Scholarship Application Deadline Extended

Applications for scholarships available to women students will be accepted through Saturday, Miss Margaret Peck, assistant dean of women, announced. The limited number of applicants made extension of the April 1 deadline necessary.

Filling out application blanks, available in the Dean of Women's Office, Main Building 106, is the first step. Applicants will be interviewed by the selection committee.

Announcement of winners will be made at Swing-Out, Miss Peck said.

Crucial Year Ahead For Jews, Says Leader

Jews today are facing the most crucial year in 2,000 years of Jewish history, Madame Pauline Opert said Wednesday in her campaign for United Jewish Appeal for refugees.

Madame Opert was leader of the French underground resistance against the Nazis. She has worked with the underground since her husband was murdered by the Gestapo. She also has established eleven homes for children in France to care for 1,500 Jewish children who were not exterminated by Hitler.

Her talk, Madame Opert said, was an effort to bring the Jews in America closer to those Jews outside of America who have undergone gruelling hardships from the hands of the Nazis. She told of transporting thousands of Jews from France to a beach in Italy for embarkation to Israel, and of the courage of the Jewish people.

"You fortunate Americans have never seen anything comparable to the sights witnessed by four-year old children in Europe," she said.

A sacrifice of 10c a day was asked by Madame Opert from supporters of the United Jewish Appeal Campaign.

"Thirty-thousand Jews reach the soil of Israel each month," she said. "This means that Americans with their help are transporting 1,000 men, women and children a day."

Campus goal of the Campaign is $7,500, as it was last year.

Madame Opert was introduced by E. H. Saulson, director of Hillel Foundation.

MADAME PAULINE OPERT

debate centering on his support of the party platform brought the nomination of Mrs. Daniels, a member of the Liberal Party, for president.

Pinedo's nomination for chief justice came as a surprise. In accepting the nomination, Pinedo said he knew his decision would alienate many of his friends, but "I have, in the past, practiced sitting on the fence and getting by, but now is the time for decision."

Assembly Plans Called Session

Two Committees May Be Dissolved

Dissolution of two Student Assembly committees will be discussed at a called meeting Thursday night at 7 o'clock in Texas Union 315.

Committees under consideration to be dropped are the anti-discrimination and property deposit committees. No evidence of discrimination have been brought to the committee this year, Student President Barefoot Sanders said.

Pat Boone, chairman of Student Activities Committee, will recommend students to attend the state-wide students' association meeting at North Texas State College in Denton April 23.

Bob Brinkerhoff will report on campus entertainment co-ordination, and a report will be made on the possibility of taking blanket-tax pictures at Gregory Gym next September.

Also on the agenda for the special meeting is the consideration of delegates to the Texas Convention of Student Associations, to be held at North Texas State College in Denton April 23.

The Denton convention will be organizational in character looking toward formation of an intercollegiate association of students in Texas colleges and universities.

Wednesday Sanders appointed Bob Bearden to replace John Langley who resigned as chairman of the displaced persons Committee. Bearden, a member of Sigma Nu fraternity, is an assistant yell leader.

8 Colleges to Send Debaters to Meet

Eight colleges have accepted invitations to the Texas Debate Tournament Thursday through Saturday, Edgar Shelton, head men's coach, said Saturday.

Schools accepting invitations are Universities of Arizona, Wichita, Kansas, Texas, Utah, Murray State College in Kentucky, Texas A&M, and Iowa State Teachers College.

Cups for first-place winners in each division will be awarded by judges, who will be faculty members and Austin business and professional men.

Debate question will be "Resolved: That the United States Communist Party Should Be Outlawed." Fourteen teams will enter.

Headquarters of the debate tournament will be in the speech building.

ROTC Proficiency Award Is Received by Painter

A certificate of proficiency in recognition of the high rating received by the University Army and Air Force ROTC's in annual inspection was presented to President T. S. Painter Wednesday.

The presentation was made by Colonel A. A. Horner as the Navy joined with the Army and Air Force ROTC's to celebrate Army Day in an inspection parade at Whitaker Field.

Army Day at the University began with an exhibit of quartermaster, engineering, and military police equipment Wednesday morning.

A forty-five piece ROTC band provided music as the three service units passed in parade review at noon.

Besides the proficiency certificate award, outstanding students in the Army units were presented military awards.

The parade opened with a marching precision drill by The University of Texas Rangers and the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps.

Then a squadron of P-82 Twin Mustang fighters flew over the field forming the letter A.

The Mustangs were from Bergstrom Air Force Base and under command of Colonel A. B. Packard, commanding officer of the field.

Slogan of Army Day was "The US Army—Part of the Team—for Security."

Twenty-six University faculty members and army, air force, and naval officials composed the reviewing line. Brigadier General Martin of the Texas National Guard headed the reviewing line.

Guests of the ROTC units were the co-ed sponsors who marched with them. Cadet officers from St. Mary's University, Schreiner Institute, and San Marcos Academy and their co-ed sponsors also took part in the review.

Sumrall Pitches No-hitter for Pem

By JAMES RECH
Texas Sports Staff
 A perfect no-hit no-run game topped the intramural nine-game softball program Tuesday with two games being defaulted. Three defaults also cut the evening's water polo matches to two games.
 It was three up and three down for six straight innings as C. B. Sumrall pitched the Pem Club to an 8-0 victory over the Ceramic Club.
 In the fraternity division, SAM defeated Phi Sigma Kappa, 8-6. Archie Brood paced a eleven-hit attack on Kappa with two singles and a double.
 Smashing out eighteen base hits, ATO beat Tau Delta Phi 8-2. Peppy Blount allowed the Delta Phi's only two hits over the route and knocked out a single and a double to aid his own cause.
 It was Phi Gamma Delta 7-0 over AEPi as J. R. Jennings pitched a four-hit shutout. W. B. Merkel had three hits for the victors.
 The PIKA's took a close game from Delta Tau Delta, 3-2, behind the three-hit tossing of Robert Mill-

Wharton Rally Downs Texas Yearlings, 7-6

By HOWARD PAGE
Texas Sports Staff
 The Wharton Junior College Pioneers—scoring seven runs in the eighth and ninth innings—edged out the error-ridden Texas Yearlings, 7-6, Wednesday afternoon on Freshman Field.
 The climax of the Pioneers rally came in the ninth frame when Yearling pitcher Luther Scarborough allowed shortstop Dean Jordan to steal home with the winning tally. Jordan was safe at first on third baseman Ben Tompkins' overthrow, allowing Donald Burns, Pioneer third baseman, to score the tying run.
 Floyd Olsen, righthanded curve baller, relieved Ed Lechler, Pioneer starting hurler, in the fourth frame and allowed only two hits and two runs the rest of the game.
 John (Red) Adams, demonstrating a very effective fast ball, shut the Pioneers out as he allowed only one base hit in the five innings he pitched. He struck out four and walked three Pioneers.
 Coach Ed Price decided that Adams needed some rest, and sent in Ray Tarrt in the sixth frame. The Yearlings held a 6-0 lead at this time.
 Tarrt didn't have any trouble with the Pioneers in the sixth and seventh frames, but the fireworks nally retired in the wild eighth.

 In the first inning, the Yearlings showed signs of turning the game into a rout, pushing across three runs off three hits. Kal Segrist, Yearling second baseman, doubled down the third baseline to score centerfielder Harry Bengtson, who had beaten out an infield hit. Shortstop Cliff Gustafson singled between third and short to score Dick Robertson, who had walked, and Segrist for two more tallies.
 Catcher Stuart Benson singled to open the Yearlings' half of the second inning and advanced to second on Adams' drive to right. Benson took third on a passed ball, and scored on Bengtson's fly to center.
 After Robertson had fled out to open the fifth, Segrist and Tompkins drew successive walks. Both runners moved up on a wild pitch and scored on Gustafson's drive between third and short.

Perry to Carry Load In Sprints at A&M

By EDDIE WEEMS
Texas Associate Sports Editor
 Perry Samuels will probably be the only member of Texas' "first-string" 440-yard relay team who will be able to run against Texas A&M in the Longhorn-Aggie dual meet at College Station Saturday.
 That seemed pretty definite Wednesday afternoon. Charlie Parker, number one sprinter, and John Robertson, sprinter and number one broad jumper, were out for track practice, but not for work. Both sprinters who are out of competition with leg injuries, could do no running.
 Parker was injured at Fort Worth two and a half weeks ago, and Coach Clyde Littlefield does not expect him to be able to run again for two or three more weeks. Robertson pulled his muscle in the Texas Relays Friday and may be out for six weeks.
 But the Aggies' three top men will be ready. They are Ray Holbrook, who ran a 48-second 440 at the Border Olympics—the season's first meet, J. D. Hampton, who set a mile record of 4:18.7, and a two-mile mark of 9:36 at the same meet, and George Kadera, winner of the Texas Relays discus throw at 154 feet 10 1/2 inches and fourth in the shot put with a heave of 47 feet 7 1/2 inches.
 The Texas Yearlings will accompany their big brothers to College Station and duel the Aggie Fish, runners-up to Texas' first-year men in unofficial scoring in the Texas Relays. The Yearlings had 28 1/5 points; A&M, 12.
 Shouldering most of the responsibility for the Yearlings will be Floyd Rogers and Carl Mayes in the 100 and 220, Tom Rogers in the 880 and mile, Ray Womack, and Byron Townsend in the high jump, Bill Milburn, Reed Quinn, and Townsend in the weights, Joe Runnels in the pole vault, and Gerald Seallorn in the hurdles. The Yearlings' 440 and mile relay teams should finish strong, also.

O. B. Chesshir, the fourth man on the first-run sprint relay team, is out for the season with a pulled muscle, suffered at Fort Worth. Samuels will be favored in the century, but the loss of points caused by the absence of Parker and Robertson is expected to be more than enough to swing the meet to A&M.
 The Aggies, however, also have a man-out because of an injury at the Fort Worth Southwestern Recreation track meet. Aggie Coach Frank Anderson expects Don Cardon, sprinter and hurdler, to be unavailable for two more weeks and maybe the rest of the season. Cardon suffered a knee injury

Li Reportedly Refuses Red Surrender Terms

NANKING, April 6—(P)—The Chinese Communists Wednesday handed the government an ultimatum to surrender its army by April 12 and Acting President Li Tsung-Jen reportedly refused. Official Chinese quarters said the Communists threatened to drive across the Yangtze into South China by the deadline. The Red radio kept up a propaganda drumfire, calling for immediate government surrender. Semi-official sources said Li still is trying desperately to strike a better bargain with Reds. He was keeping the diplomatic corps in Nanking informed of the grave turn of events. Li is said to have informed the diplomats that the Red ultimatum amounted to virtual surrender. He could not accept it in that form. The harsh terms were brought from Peiping, where the peace talks are in progress, by two Communist representatives.

Military Chiefs Urge Unified Preparation

WASHINGTON, April 6—(P)—America's military leaders urged the nation Wednesday to share its armed might and forces with western Europe and thus help forestall a war which Secretary of the Army Royall said might last 20 years—"perhaps more."

While declaring that war is not imminent nor unavoidable, top officials of the Army, Navy, and Air Force laid heavy stress on the need for unified preparation now as they joined in the nationwide observance of Army Day.

They spoke out on the eve of a new attempt to weld this country's three armed services into a better fighting team through smoother operations of the unification system. This effort is to be made under direction of General Dwight

D. Eisenhower at closed door sessions with the joint chiefs of staff starting Thursday at Key West, Fla.

President Truman himself pointed up the new unity drive in telling Chairman Tydings (D-Md) of the Senate Armed Services Committee he is anxious to bring about a "complete team atmosphere." Mr. Truman talked with Tydings at the White House before the Senate committee opened hearings on the President's plan to give the Secretary of Defense specific authority to enforce the unification program.

Solons Would Deny UN Violators Aid

WASHINGTON, April 6—(P)—The Senate Wednesday approved a proposal to shut off American aid to any nation singled out for punishment by the United Nations for violation of the UN charter. Sponsored by Senator Brewster (R-Me.), it was aimed at the Dutch-Indonesian dispute in the East Indies.

Passage was by voice vote. Brewster told the Senate that unless the Indies dispute is settled, it will be a "major hurdle" to Senate approval of the newly-signed North Atlantic Defense Treaty. Holland is a signatory of the twelve-nation treaty.

So far, all efforts of the United Nations to get a peaceful settlement of the Indonesian strife have failed. However, the Dutch have recently indicated willingness to hold peace talks with the Indonesian (native) leaders who had set up an independent republic in the Dutch-ruled Indies.

Brewster said the Dutch do not think the United Nations has authority to intervene in this particular case.

Wednesday in Congress

Foreign Aid—The Senate worked slowly toward a final vote on the $5,580,000,000 authorization for the second installment of Marshall Plan aid to Europe.

Appropriations—The House Appropriations Committee recommended passage of a $671,000,000 supplemental appropriation bill containing a $110,000,000 emergency fund for the Atomic Energy Commission and $43,000,000 for the Berlin Airlift.

Veterans—Representative Rankin (D-Miss.), author of a new veterans pension bill, declared there is a "definite movement on foot" to delay pension legislation and to put the former servicemen under social security.

UT's Bond Advisors Meet at Dallas

DALLAS, April 6—(P)—The Central Bond Advisory Committee of Texas's higher educational institutions held an organization meeting Wednesday.

The committee is made up of seven educators from colleges and universities of the state. It met and began looking toward issuance of bonds to finance the building program of higher state institutions.

Those present included G. W. Gilchrist, Texas A&M; C. C. Kreuger, Texas A&M Board of Directors; William L. Kerr, representing state teachers colleges; Ernest H. Poteen, Texas A&I; S. B. Whittenburg, TSCW; Charles W. Woolridge, representing Texas Tech; and D. W. Woodward Jr., representing The University of Texas.

Mindszenty Trial

LAKE SUCCESS, April 6—(P)—East-West clashes began in the United Nations Wednesday over the Communist prosecutions of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary and fifteen Protestant churchmen in Bulgaria.

The United States led off by proposing that the United Nations study the cases in the light of peace treaty guarantees and United Nations pronouncements on civil and religious rights.

The Soviet bloc came back with the contention that these cases were internal matters and no business of the United Nations.

Bridges Gets Support

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6—(P)—Harry Bridges' CIO Longshore Union voted Wednesday night to stand behind him in his fight with CIO President Philip Murray.

Fire Hazards

An investigation of all state institutions for fire hazards was approved Wednesday by the Senate. The resolution was sent to the House for action.

House Postpones Vote on G-A Bill

By the Associated Press

The House refused Wednesday to bring the first of the Gilmer-Aikin School Bills to a vote on second reading.

The vote against such action was 98 to 40. It apparently indicated that House members want an opportunity to consider more amendments before taking a final vote on the measure.

Backers of Senator Jim Taylor's school reorganization bill had scored a victory earlier in the day when the House rejected, 85 to 54, an effort to postpone consideration until next Monday. That vote came on Representative Doyle Willis's motion to recommit the bill to the committee of the whole house. This parliamentary move would have let the House call witnesses for further public hearing on the measure.

There were signs the House is still up in the air on what to do about the reorganization plans.

It killed a complete substitution for Taylor's bill offered by Representative W. R. Chambers of May. That was a victory for Gilmer-Aikin forces. Chambers's proposal essentially would have maintained the present administrative setup of the State's public school system.

Mature Liberals

WITH LESS THAN twenty-four hours left before the deadline for filing the Liberal Party, or about forty of its members, made what may later be known as a major decision in their short history on the campus.

THIS DECISION was to boldly assert party weight in the coming election by putting their own candidates in the races rather than stand on the side lines and become a "me too" group. To do this members politely tossed out one recommendation of their executive council.

THE COUNCIL had announced they considered Ellis Brown worthy of Liberal support, but immediately members jumped up and cried "whoa!" And with no prior planning on anybody's part the group suddenly nominated a girl to be their standard bearer in the presidential race. She is Mrs. Doris Daniels, a good-looking, hard-working Assembly woman from graduate school. She has been a member of the Liberal party in the Assembly since last fall.

THEN THE PARTY proved that they were sincere in trying to keep the Greek-Independent issue out of the campus races by throwing their support behind a fraternity man, Oury Selig, for vice-president. He had many supporters at the convention who expressed their confidence despite any possible commitments with the Clique which has also endorsed him.

JUST TO BE completely unorthodox they put a boy in the secretary race, a spot which has been reserved for a girl up to now. "I think a boy can take notes and understand English as well as a girl," one man said. The boy is Bob Spradlin, an English major.

AS FAR AS the Texan editorship is concerned the party seemed split over two men, Dick Elam and Bill Bruce and one member said as far as he was concerned both were liberals. They finally decided to throw their weight behind Elam.

THE LAST RACE which they asserted their interest was in chief justice. Frank M. Pinedo, law student from Austin, was asked to run as a Liberal Party candidate for this post. He explained to the group that his running as a Liberal would be an honor, but frankly told them a lot of people in law school would be alienated because of it. During the convention a group of law students who have taken shots at the Liberal Party from its beginning were alluded to. "The men who beat NSA with their smear sheet and can get money from off the campus to beat anything they don't like," one man said.

AFTER HIS NOMINATION Frank went up to the "bleachers" where some strange bedfellow observers were sitting, and had a friendly chat with his opponent, Larry Warburton. Also up in the bleachers in Garrison Hall 1 were campaign managers such as Joe Blades, for Sterling Steves, Ben McDonald, Tony Guerra, and a couple of Assemblymen.

AFTER JACK SUMMERFIELD read the first resolution of the convention which called for an unseating of any Communist or Fascist Party members in the Liberal Party, the temporary chairman at the convention, Bruce Meador, commented, "We've come a long way."

HE HAD REFERENCE to an unfair comment the Texan made at the inception of the Liberal Party a year ago at which time this resolution was batted down. The reporter took this to mean the party was controlled by Communist sympathizers and Summerfield's action Wednesday night was to make it clearer than ever before that such an idea was fantastic.

THERE WERE REFERENCES to the Loyalty Bills in the State Legislature, but most members felt this was an issue which agitation made worse, not better, but all members who expressed themselves had no love for the action of the Legislature in the matter.

BAREFOOT SANDERS, student president, told the Liberal Party members to deal in practical terms—it's not enough, he said, to point out a golden ideal which is actually unobtainable by student government. The Liberal Party has not been as guilty of this as other groups, Sanders added. If there is one contribution that it has made to student government it has been to make candidates examine their platform with care before running. And this has been more than enough to make it a stabilizing influence in campus politics, he said.

Editorial Comment
Do Unto Others

Tragedy, disaster, and calamities put men to the highest test. And they put cynics to shame. For it is these pessimists, you know, who grumble and say men are bad and evil and there is nothing anyone can do about it.

Disaster struck swiftly and hard at one of our University families Tuesday night. It came on the heels of the terrible fire which cost eighty lives in an Illinois hospital Monday. That was only an impersonal headline, but the first which completely destroyed the home of University gardner Harry Doernge is personal with us.

Harry Doernge, a faithful employe for almost a dozen years, was the sort of man who watched out for bird nests in the shrubs he trimmed. That's a little thing, you might say, we believe it's a mighty big thing in this seemingly mad world of ours.

Our cynics were conspicuously absent Wednesday afternoon in the Main Building, in fact they are conspicuously absent everytime a case like this arises.

Money, clothes, offers of furniture, lumber, and household furnishings to replace those the Doerniges lost began rolling in. In only one afternoon $150 was collected, not near enough to rebuild their modest home, or course.

But there will be more and more—all without asking but given voluntarily. Over and over again when a man is in need through no fault of his own his fellows are quick to come to his aid. There is no better philosophy to live by than that, and it's summed up in the Golden Rule.

Give It a Chance

University students are not the only ones interested in seeing the standards of their faculty raised to and maintained at a high level. While last year's faculty evaluation program was admittedly in the experimental stage, there are signs that it proved to be an asset to both the students and the faculty.

The University of Michigan, with an impressive faculty filled with noted scholars, began its own system of faculty evaluation. The question in Michigan was whether too much emphasis had been placed on scholarship and not enough on teaching.

Students were asked to grade their teachers on clarity, intellectual honesty, fairness in grading, and general effectiveness. In general, the faculty fared fairly well, although a few professors will not be pleased with their report cards which they will not receive until the end of the year.

Like the program at the University, Michigan's system is still in the experimental stage, but later it may be a factor in determining faculty promotions. Bad reports year after year may mean even dismissal for a professor.

According to Dean Lloyd S. Woodburne, "If a man is a brilliant scholar, he must be a passable teacher. If he is a brilliant teacher, he must be a passable scholar," all of which means that if he is all of one and none of the other, he will not fill the bill in Michigan.

The fate of faculty evaluation at the University is still undecided. Although a novel idea in itself, students' grading of faculty effectiveness in an outcrop of democracy. Our system here is mild compared to that in Michigan. No mention has been made here of student opinion having anything to do with promotions or possible dismissals. But it could become an effective program if given the chance.

If Michigan can base staff promotions and dismissals upon the opinions of their students, surely our own faculty can at least consider the evaluation made of it by Texas students.

AUSTIN CITY COUNCIL
CITY HALL

DEAR SIRS:

YOURS IS a Friendly City. And because it is a Friendly City, we, the transient students, wish to cooperate with you in fostering friendship.

YOURS IS, also, a growing city. And recently the growing pains of Austin have been suffered by students as well as other citizens.

THAT IS WHY representatives of students and faculty plan to appear before your council Thursday morning to ask your help in correcting a problem of significance to the University area.

THE PROBLEM is the large accumulation of garbage behind boarding houses, and fraternity and sorority houses in the University area. Since the University area receives only two day garbage pick-up service, health officers have found that the garbage piles are becoming haven for rodents, flies, and other germ spreaders. It doesn't smell nice, either.

TWO HOUSES are on probation with the Student Health Service partially because of unsanitary means of disposing of garbage. In other parts of the area neighbors have complained because of scattered garbage. Several houses use as many as fifteen cans to handle garbage disposals for three to five daily meals. Some organizations have arranged for private garbage collectors to handle "wet" garbage.

ALL OF THESE situations have been explained to officials in the public works department.

PUBLIC WORKS officials point toward a lack of equipment and personnel as reason for only two pick-ups. The budget does not now provide enough funds to care for the needs of increased population in the area.

ONE TRUCK and three men would help extend the pick-up one day in the campus sector, officials estimate, but the money for the truck and salaries will have to come from your Council.

IT IS EVIDENT that our sector is not the only one suffering from lack of funds to operate on. Other sectors are also straining. But there are no other areas any more congested than the University area which houses approximately around 7,000 people in no more than eight block radius from the Tower.

DAILY PICK-UPS at Drag cafes and drug stores are helping to keep the business area clean. If houses can not have daily pick-ups, they should at least have service three times a week.

GARBAGE PICK-UP increases would be in keeping with eating place clean-ups begun by the Council on Fair Business Standards recently and a permanent duty of the Health Service.

STUDENTS REALIZE that the problem is the result of rapid growth. They understand that Council members and newly-elected Council members are aware of these situations. We applaud the stand of those councilmen who are urging city planning for more expected growth.

THERE COULD be a place in your plans for immediate action to relieve other problems such as new paving for Speedway, the washboard-like avenue that runs by the Intramural Field.

LEST WE SOUND like a small minority—exempt from the $2.50 tax on every $100 property valuation—let us explain our status.

STATE OFFICES supply some $21,745,186 of Austin's wages, $8,000,000 of which goes to University-employed personnel. Industrial wages, according to a 1945 compilation by the Austin Chamber of Commerce, total but $6,066,848. In all some $46,450,016 is paid out yearly in wages.

ADD TO THAT figure the $12,800,000 the C of C estimates 16,000 students would spend in a year, and you have a picture of economy of the Capital City.

WHERE POSSIBLE, therefore, we want to join our civic interests as well as financial with you, fathers of the Friendly City.

The Firing Line

UNFORTUNATE

To the Editor:

It is most unfortunate that many of our fellow students and others—men of "good will" who love their brothers—cannot bring themselves to understand that there are some men and groups of men in this world of ours that one just cannot be kind and generous to.

Many of our brothers outside the "Iron Curtain"—fellow travelers, etc.—still think that we can do business with a group almost exactly analogous to a band of bloodthirsty Chicago gangsters—i.e., the party with its Politburo. The only difference being that the gangster is sometime afflicted with a few of our "dirty" old bourgeois morality traits in his conduct and behavior.

To follow up the thought of my previous letter about the end

"world revolution" justifying any "means" of accomplishment used no matter how drastic or sanguinary. The bloodiest example of this means, slaughter—one among many—of from three to seven million Russian farmers in the early 1930's through use of a man-made (politburo) famine was staged before the gaze of a horrified world.

Under God, how can any man of integrity and good will justify such mass murder as this? Yet the Communist party makes it a point to champion to some degree party front organizations operating under the guise of titles containing lofty sounding adjectives. The reason is obvious—to take all men of integrity and good will who can't be bothered with cogitating some and looking at a gory record, open for all to see.

VIRGIL SMITH.

Trouble for 20 Per Cent—

Survey Gives Figures On Dating Techniques

CHARLESTON, Ill.—(ACP)—Feature writers at Eastern Illinois State College came up with the following survey:

"If you have two dollars you can ask her for that date, because, according to a recent survey taken on the campus, 77 per cent of the girls thought two dollars was all you should be expected to spend."

"Now that we have examined your financial status, how about your appearance? You had better slip into a shirt, sweater, and pants combination; 60.5 per cent of the girls on the campus preferred the combination. If all your sweaters are at the cleaners, then wear a sports outfit since the other 39.5 per cent of the girls preferred this type of garb."

"Where will we go? If there's a dance going on, it's your best bet because 60.5 per cent of the girls preferred this to any other entertainment. If there's no dance, then the theater is your next best choice (15 pe. cent), with skating, riding, and walking trailing the list."

"Just in case you might be considering going around by the tavern, you had better forget it since only about 23 per cent of the girls looked even tolerantly on drinking, and if there is a dance, do your best; 92.5 per cent of the girls wanted to date good dancers."

"If you're amusing, you've got the girls behind you 100 per cent and if your personality is one of those million dollar personalities, then count your lucky stars, because, according to the survey, you don't need brains or beauty if you've got the 'ole thing called personality."

"About you, girls: It seems that if you want to please the boys you will wear a skirt and blouse combination, unless of course you don't have any handy; then you can wear a dress which about 17.5 per cent of the masculine gender preferred."

"As to where you might expect to go for your evenings entertainment; well, dancing barely leads the list with a 29.5 per cent of the boys in favor of it. Movies and walking tied with a 20.5 per cent score, and riding trailed with 14.5 per cent favor, indicating that if there is a dance you will go dancing, but otherwise, movies or walking."

"Eighty-five and a half per cent of the boys think that girls should be good dancers, and 68.5 per cent think they should stay away from liquor. If girls must smoke, they will lose favor in the sight of 75 per cent of the boys, according to the survey."

"If they use cosmetics lightly, 59 per cent of the boys will favor it; if they use cosmetics about medium, then only 41 per cent agree, and if they use them heavily, then its best to just pray. Fifty per cent of the boys want girls to be frank, 3 per cent, boldness, and 47 per cent neither."

"If you have an agreeable nature, 60 per cent of the boys will go for you, 21 per cent fall for the independent type, and about 14 per cent go for the submissive type. Fifty-one per cent of the boys are going to be expecting a good-night kiss, even though it is the first date. That's okay, but only 31 per cent of the girls are going to be expected to kiss you on the first date. What I'm trying to tell you, boys, is that 20 per cent of you are going to run into difficulty."

A Lot of Us Ought to Ask This Question

EDITORIAL
Few college students any longer appear interested in knowledge for knowledge's sake, or learning for cultural and self-satisfying purposes. The great specialization urge has invaded the college mind, discrediting the once ideal liberal education.

Many students now, are concerned only with studies pertinent to what they consider their "monetary majors." Education for these is but a means to an end; and end composed of a diploma secured job and satisfactory wages.

A good example of this type of specialized thinking occurred recently in a philosophy class. At the time, the respective merits and failings of Spinoza, Kant, and Hegel were being discussed. The instructor then pointed out the fallacies in the philosophers' idealist tendencies toward sense-knowledge.

One of the specialists, annoyed with this "absurd waste of time," cried indignantly, "If all these guys are wrong, why do we bother with them at all. Why not study the ones that are right and save a lot of time and trouble?"

These "short cutters" are merely putting in time, time which they resentfully admit is necessary to secure that most sought after "be all"—the diploma.

In later years, when the body becomes old and worn, worldly riches can no longer be appreciated. The man, whose entire life had been wrapped around a farthing's whims may then experience discouragement and despair. Money, which had occupied the greatest part of his mind, will no longer seem important and he can only wait for death.

Consider your set of values wisely and well. Perhaps, you will have to live with them for quite some time.

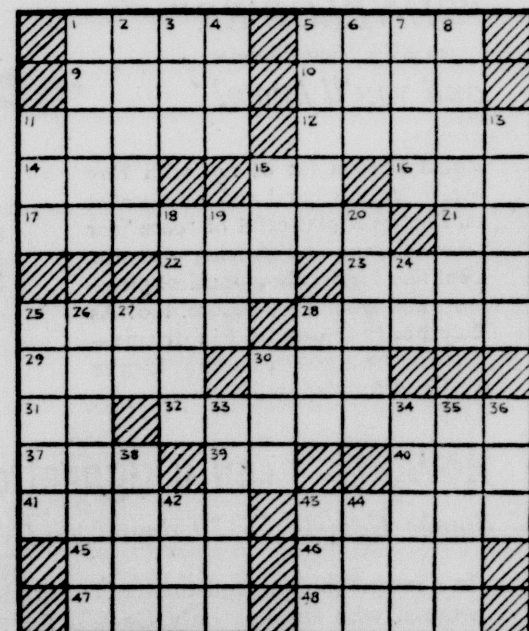

—Duquesne Duke.

Entertaining 'Peerage' Is Thought-provoking

A sensitive play for a University audience is always an undertaking of some importance as one seldom knows how the work will be accepted.

"Burke's Peerage," Graham Ferguson's prize-winning three-act which opened Wednesday night in X Hall, goes even further than presenting such a bit of writing for University consumption. It attempts, in a sense, to offer some manner of solution for the ills of the world as seen through the eyes of an Upper Manhattan bartender, John Burke.

Despite some lagging moments in the first act, a crumbling scene or two, and a few spots of gross miscasting, the capacity audience seemed well entertained for two or so hours.

If the play attempts to answer any problem, it doesn't quite succeed. Rather, it stirs one's thinking, leaving him wondering for himself what the answer might be.

Burke, the disillusioned ex-GI, goes through most of the play protected by a cynical shell, a shell which deflects the problems of human nature. In the end he has rejected the theory of Providence through salvation, turning more to love and human understanding.

Only he never quite gets there; he is cut down before he has entirely made up his mind.

Jo Young as Burke displays creditable diction, but what we regard as a great lack of feeling for the role he plays. Maybe we've been bending elbows at the wrong places, or maybe uptown barmen are different creatures from those downtown, but Burke rarely approximated the type I'd usually think of behind the "stick" at such a place as Burke's Bar and Grill.

Orchesis Reveals UT Life in 'Daze'

Against a backdrop symbolizing the Forty Acres, Orchesis, the modern dance club of UTSA, began its spring recital Wednesday night with "Campus Daze," an interpretation of college life.

In three scenes the "Daze" ballet showed the change a student undergoes from her freshmen awe to her graduation accomplishments. The prologue skit was presented by Babbette Blankfield and Marion Edelstein. Soloists were Sara Collins and Jojo Levy.

The entire group took part in the chorus, dancing to Morton Gould's "Interplay," an American concertette for piano and orchestra.

Jerry Montague, in a clinging white, Grecian type gown, did a solo, "In a Cathedral," showing the reverence and sense of spiritual values one feels in church.

A number that was light, delicate, and in the classic style was "The Minuet," danced by Roberta Andrews, Jane Harris, assistant faculty sponsor, Dee Keith, Ysleta Leissner, Jerry Montague and Misses Blankfield and Levy.

The human voice was the only accompaniment for a dance depicting the witch scene from Shakespeare's "Macbeth." Dancers in this number were Molly Berrien, Jane Davis, Carol Douglas, and Miss Edelstein.

A satire on a funeral was "The Tragic Passing of Obadiah Jones," or "Who Got the Money When the Old Man Died?"

Emphasizing circular movement full of lightness and freedom was "Introduction and Allegro," a number built around a set of hanging spirals and free forms. Taking part in this dance were Mrs. A. D. Douglass, instructor in physical training for women, Peggy Hooker, and Dee Keith.

A duet, "Voice From the Subconscious," portrayed the fear and uneasiness of the human mind. Misses Blankfield and Levy danced to the weird strains of Rosa's "Dementia," taken from the "Spielbound" concerto.

In the "Mexican Ceremonial" number, Misses Andrews and Montague played the bride and bridegroom to a background of Mexican folk music collected by Carlos Chavez from the Mexican provinces. The entire group portrayed men and women in the imaginary primitive ritual in celebration of a wedding. Emphasis was placed on the beauty of linear design and group formations.

The recital will be held again Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the dance studio of the Women's Gym.

Play Training Course To Continue at 'Y'

The leadership training program in recreation will continue Thursday and Friday at the YMCA under the direction of the Rev. Larry Eisenberg, specialist in religious and small-group recreation.

Mr. Eisenberg's instruction Thursday at 4 o'clock will be on "Musical Games and Mixers," and his topic Friday at 4 o'clock will be on "Musical Games and Mixers," and his topic Friday at 4 o'clock will be "Community Recreation." Thursday from 12 to 1 o'clock Mr. Eisenberg will lead the women's physical education class in "Recreational Games" at Women's Gym 135.

The public is invited to meetings and to a closing jamboree Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in Women's Gym 123.

'Kick Out Brother Ayres' Representative Advises

"I think that's the kind of guy Brother Ayres is," he shouted.

Pointing at several University students who appeared to protest against the bill, Mr. Hanna said, "You are lower than any skunk who ever crawled on the face of this earth — you are ten times lower than Stalin, Gromyko, or Vishinsky."

The flushed Representative's words were met with a mixed volley of applause and boo's from the gallery and the floor.

At the start of the hearing, University law students Woodrow Bean, Pat Tennant, and Bob Doss appeared to commend the bill as being what they believed the majority of University students wanted.

University students Wendell Addington, self-avowed Communist, and Faye Lowry, spoke against the measure.

Bean, a former House member, said he believed the people of Texas have misconceptions about the University because of "the antics of one or two students."

Tennant said that "one of the great things about this bill is that it would remove the stigma of Communism from the University."

The last student to speak, Doss, told the committee members that the bill "defines exactly what we want done — and that's to cut out the student paper as a sound-out board for a bunch of junior grade commissars."

He added that the University "doesn't have any Communists to

He said the right to decide whether legislators can determine political affiliations has never been granted by the constitution, and added that any attempt to do so would prove ineffective.

He closed by saying that the legislators would do better to work on measures which would outlaw such things as anti-lynching and the poll tax.

As introduced by Mr. Crosthwait, the bill would require University students to sign affidavits to the effect that they are not Communists, Fascists, or Nazis.
