AGGIES CLAIM SOUTHWESTERN CHAMPIONSHIP

University Athletic Council
Considers Title
a Tie

TEXAS PASSES UP GAME

A. & M. to Play W. & J. in New Year's Game at Dallas

By Lloyd J. Gregory

Despite the opinion, expressed by most sport authorities throughout the Southwest, that the Southwestern Conference title has not been clearly won by any team, the athletic council of A. & M. College has voted to award each member of the 1921 Aggie football team a gold football with the inscription "Southwestern Conference Champions 1921."

A similar proposition was laid before the athletic council of the University of Texas. But the Varsity council felt that as the Longhorn team did not have an absolutely clear title to the championship, gold footballs should not be awarded. In making their decision, the members of the Texas athletic council did not in any wise consider the Aggie claim to the title any stronger than are Longhorn claims. The Conference ruling which provides that a team must engage in at least three games with other Southwestern Conference teams before a legitimate claim to the title can be made does not go into effect until the season of 1922. Hence, it would seem that an impartial observer would feel constrained to declare the title a tie between Texas and A. & M.

The Texas Aggies are basing their claims to the title principally upon the fact that they won more Conference games than did the Longhorns. However, this advantage of the Aggies is balanced by the fact that the Longhorns won from Texas 56-0, while the Farmers were extremely lucky to get a 7-7 break. From present indications, partisans of the two teams will be endeavoring to decide many years from today just which team did win the Southwestern Conference title of 1921.

New Year's Game

With the announcement Sunday that the Texas Aggies and the Washington and Jefferson Presidents will meet at the Dallas Fair Grounds Stadium on New Year's day, the dispute concerning the "muddled" Conference title is likely, for the present at least, to be forgotten. Coach Bible's eleven will meet one of the four undefeated football aggregations in the east—and the Washington and Jefferson team has as strong a claim to the championship of the country as any other gridiron combination.

Without a doubt, the defensive system of play which the Aggie mentor has developed to so high a degree of stubbornness and efficiency will meet a monumental test. For the Presidents possess one of the strongest offenses in the country. It is hardly conceivable that the Aggies have anything in store for them, except a terrific drubbing. But if they can stand the hot pace which will be set for them by the formidable gridiron machine from Pennsylvania, and hold the Presidents to a narrow margin of supremacy, Southwestern Conference football will receive a boost throughout the country.

Texas sport followers will view the game with great eagerness, in

INTRAMURAL HANDBALL

Starting next Monday contests to determine the winner of the intramural championship in handball will be played. All men wishing to enter are requested by the intramural director to hand in their names and the department for which they will compete, at the athletic office. A place on the bulletin board of the Gym has been reserved for the signing up of contestants.

AUSTIN PLAYERS NOW PERFORMING IN NEW THEATRE

University Students Participate—Directed by W. R. Duffey

Austin Community Players presented two one-act plays last night at 8:15 at the Community Theater on Lavaca Street. These are the first plays to be given in the theater since it has been remodeled and the interior of the theater was beautifully draped and decorated. The general effect was both artistic and original.

The first of the two plays presented was "Those Who Pass While Lentils Boil." It was a one-act fantasy by Stuart Walker and it depicts with a queen who because of a slight breach of etiquette is to be beheaded. The six who pass the house of the "Little Boy" who is cooking lentils, on the way to the beheading and their impressions of the queen's crime form the theme of the play. Miss Eloise Miller was splendid as the "Little Boy," and Miss Eula Annette Nagle as the queen was also good. In the supporting cast W. R. Duffey and J. W. Posey showed up well.

Second Play

The second play "The Florist Shop" is a well known piece by Winifred Hawkrig. It tells the story of Maude, a florist's assistant who believes in mixing romance with the florist business and who converts the office boy and the Jewish florist to her belief. And in doing so brings to a climax the old-time love affair of one of her customers. The entire cast was splendid, especially Dorothy DuMars as Maude and H. J. Muller as Slovsky the florist.

Music between acts was furnished by a mandolin quintette accompanied by a piano. The plays featured several University students and were under the direction of Dr. W. R. Duffey of the Department of Extension. The program will be repeated tomorrow night.

MISS HEFLIN RETURNS FROM TEACHERS' MEET

Vocational Home Economics
Instructors Held Conference at Denton Last Week

Miss Bess Heflin, director of teacher training in home economics at the University, has returned from a conference of the vocational home economics teachers and directors of the teacher training department of the University of Texas, College of Industrial Arts, and the Southwest Texas State Normal, which was called by the state department for vocational home economics. The conference was held at the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, the three days preceding the meeting of the State Teachers' Association.

Miss Heflin reports 100 per cent attendance. A number of the teachers are graduates of the University. Miss Genevieve Fisher, representative of the federal board for vocational home economics, was present. She was high in her praise of the work that has been accomplished, and she said that she had never seen a more wide-awake and enthusiastic meeting.

One interesting feature of the conference was the three minutes' talk given by the high school vocational teachers on the work they have accomplished in their respective towns.

The representatives from Texas University were Miss Bess Heflin, Miss Louise Jane Duffy, and Miss Eloise Douglas Berry. Miss Berry gave an illustrated lecture on school nutrition clinics. This lecture caused much interest among those present and Miss Berry was asked to supply the teachers with literature, and was requested by some of the teachers to assist in establishing clinics in their high schools. Miss Duffy gave a lecture and a demonstration on home nursing in high schools.

SIGMA DELTA CHI SELECTS MEMBERS

Angly, Fulcher, Gregory, Williams, and Jack Are Honorary Journalists

Texas chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary and professional journalistic fraternity for men, has announced the election of five University of Texas students who have shown exceptional journalistic ability.

The five are: William Harry Jack, managing editor of the Daily Texan; Maurice Angly, managing editor of the Cactus; Henry Fulcher, issue editor of the Daily Texan; Lloyd J. Gregory, Daily Texan sports editor; and Carroll Williams, cartoonist for the Daily Texan.

The majority of these students have had journalistic experience on state newspapers, as well as University publications.

To Be Initiated

As part of their initiation they will do the journalistic work of publishing the Daily Texan for one day, garbed in full dress suits and wearing a quill over the left ear. This is a traditional part of Sigma Delta Chi initiation ceremonies. The date for this initiation has not been definitely set as yet, but will probably be during the next week.

Everett Jones, associate editor of the Longhorn, was elected president of Sigma Delta Chi for this year; Carl Swartz, athletic section editor of the Cactus, was elected secretary.

Glee Club Starts Training Under New Sectionizing Plan

Intensive training for the first concert of the year which is to be given sometime in January will begin this week, is the statement given out by the director of the Glee Club, Lester Brenizer. The sectionized system will be used; sectionizing starting with last night's rehearsal.

The club will be divided into a first section and a second section. The men for the first section will be chosen for their ability to produce the glee music and will represent those who can produce the song-stuff the best. A second section will be arranged and regular rehearsal hours for it will be taken care of.

Two Sections

The splitting up of the club members in this manner is essential in order that those best suited for the parts may get together and practice the concert numbers, but this does not mean that the men in the first section will be the ones to make the trips, the director said. Every year there are a number of the second group men that are chosen for the tours since many in the first section do not pass in the required number of courses.

Further announcement is made by the director that all men trying out for the Glee Club must appear at least at two of the meetings scheduled for this week.

Beginning this week all absences will be checked and this week will be the last in which the deposit can be paid.

Y.W.C.A. AND Y.M.C.A. REPRESENTATIVES MEET

Representatives from the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. will meet at 8:30 tonight in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium to plan for a world fellowship play to be given shortly. The play will be followed by a social meeting.

This is the first of a series of joint recreational meetings to be planned by the two associations. The associations feel that there are many students who do not enjoy the dances on the campus, but who would be glad to meet other young people, and it is for these students especially that the entertainments are being planned.

NEW LAW FIRM

Rupert Ricker of Graham, who received the Bachelor of Law degree at the University in 1915, and W. J. Bryant of Wortham, also a graduate of the University, have formed a law partnership at Wortham. The two men will practice law under the firm name of "Bryant and Ricker."

Total Receipts Approximated for Texas-A&M Game

Approximately $29,000 is the total which the receipts from the Longhorn-Aggie game will reach, according to communications received by L. Theo. Bellmont, University athletic director, from James Sullivan, business manager of A. & M. College athletics. Just what amount of money will be divided equally between the two schools, after the expenses have been deducted from the receipts, is problematical. It is expected, however, that each school will receive close to $10,000.

LAW MAKE BIG PLANS FOR ANNUAL BANQUET

Yearly Peregrinus Celebration
Will Be Held Next Week
at Driskill Hotel

Plans are now progressing for the annual law banquet to be given Tuesday night, December 6th at the Driskill Hotel, according to R. D. Jackson, chairman of the banquet executive committee and president of the Law School. Prof. A. L. Green has been selected as toastmaster for the occasion.

Tickets are now being sold at the price of two dollars each by the committee under the leadership of John K. Weber. The committee urges that all law students obtain their tickets at the earliest possible date.

This banquet of the Law School is the annual celebration which many of the distinguished jurists and judges of the higher courts of this state will attend as invited guests. In addition to the speeches of members of the faculty the representatives of each of the three law classes will give talks.

FACULTY MEMBERS EDIT MATHEMATICS BULLETIN

Teachers in Various Schools of Texas Contribute to Recent Publication

Members of the mathematics faculty of the University, P. M. Batchelder and A. E. Cooper, are editors of the Texas Mathematics Teachers' Bulletin, which has recently been published by the University of Texas press. Teachers of this subject in various schools of the State are contributors to the bulletin.

Among the contributors to this issue were: T. M. Broadfoot, principal of the Weatherford High School; George H. Wells, principal of the Cisco High School; Irving Ball, superintendent of the Quanah public schools; and Miss Margaret Brewer, teacher of mathematics at Terrell.

Elective courses in mathematics for secondary schools is the report by the national committee on mathematical requirements reprinted in this bulletin. Advice to makers of question papers is given in the final draft of a report prepared by a committee appointed at a conference called at the request of the Board of Review of the College Entrance Examination Board. A copy of the examination given this year to freshman contestants for the Brown mathematical prize is also contained in the bulletin.

SCANDINAVIAN SOCIETY

Martin A. Henry, assistant in the Department of Romance Languages, will play from the piano works of Edvard Grieg and Christian Sinding at the second meeting of the Scandinavian Society next Saturday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Boysen, 710 West 35th Street. Dr. Boysen, who is chairman of the Department of Romance Languages, is also arranging for a speaker on some phase of Scandinavian art and music to appear before the club.

Y. W. C. A. SHOWER

Under the auspices of the social service committee of the Y. W. C. A., a shower for the International Institute will be given in the parlor of the Woman's Building at 5:30 Wednesday afternoon.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION HAS LARGE ATTENDANCE

Miss Newton Elected Secretary of Executive Women's Committee

Rural school education in Texas provided the main topic of discussion at the Texas State Teacher's Association held in Dallas from November 24 to November 27 with an attendance of 7,000 teachers and educators.

Inaugurating the collegiate activities of the convention a breakfast was given at the Hotel Adolphus to the teachers holding executive positions throughout Texas. Officers of the Executive Women's Committee were elected as follows: Miss Ora Johnson of San Antonio, president; Miss Lucy Newton, secretary.

With two hundred ex-students and graduates present, the Varsity alumni among the teachers held a banquet in the Adolphus Palm Garden on Friday night with Dean H. Y. Benedict as toastmaster. Place-cards in the forms of miniature Longhorns were given as souvenirs.

Women Deans Meet

The deans of women from fifteen various colleges and universities were entertained with a luncheon at the Adolphus Friday. Those on the program were Dr. May Agnes Hopkins of Dallas, Miss Ruby Terrill of the East Texas State Normal College, and Miss Ada Bell Stapleton of the Texas Woman's College of Fort Worth. Among the questions discussed was the placing of deans of girls in high schools. Resolutions were passed on the death of Mrs. Kirby, lauding her as the Dean of all Deans. Miss C. O. Williams, president of the National Education Association from Memphis, Tenn., was present.

Among those from the University who attended the Association were: Dr. W. J. Battle, Dr. E. D. Shurter, Dr. C. W. Hackett, Miss Laura Murray, Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, Dr. R. L. Moore, Miss Lilia Casis, Dr. Francis Waterhouse, Dr. C. T. Gray, Dr. C. G. Haines, Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, T. H. Shelby and E. J. Mathews.

Talk on Physical Efficiency Given at Vesper Service

Young Women's Christian Association Vesper service was featured Monday afternoon by a solo by Caradine Hooten and a talk by Miss Mary Washington Ball on the relationship of physical efficiency to religious life. Miss Ball brought out the fact that our bodies are the temples of the Holy Spirit and are the instruments through which God works.

It behooves us to keep them fit for his service. The time has come when the "clinging vine" woman is no longer admired and when vital, gloriously healthful womanhood is coming to be the rule, not the exception.

Miss Ball mentioned the fact that the gymnasium staff, as sponsor of the Friday night gym dances, is confronted with a vital problem. Differences in social dancing are merely a matter of good or bad taste, and not of morality or immorality. Improper forms of dancing, quite as much as extremity in dress, speech, or action, show very poor taste. The staff is anxious for the girls to conduct themselves in such a manner that there will be no doubt in the minds of visitors as to their refinement and culture.

ENGLISH 3 LIMITS TO TWO ADVANCED COURSES

English 3 students will be interested in learning that only English 125 and English 4 can be taken with English 3 as prerequisite, instead of English 2, according to the ruling of the English course committee.

Those students of journalism taking only English 3 will be obliged to take English 4 for the advanced course required for a B.J. degree.

PANHANDLE CLUB MEETS

Permanent organization of the Panhandle Club will be perfected at a meeting of students from the Panhandle district of Texas in the Girls' Study Hall, Main Building, tonight at 7:00 o'clock. It has been announced that in all probability a social program will be adopted at the meeting.

LOSSES RESULT FROM EXPLOSION IN CHEM SHACK

Damages to Chemicals and Fixtures Estimated at Fifteen Hundred Dollars

Fire caused by the explosion of a still in M Hall Monday afternoon resulted in the loss of chemicals and fixtures amounting to about fifteen hundred dollars.

From 1:30 p. m. to 2:00 p. m., flames and excitement raged about the chemical laboratory while students, instructors, and firemen rushed to the spot from all directions. Combustion due to the fact that in some manner air had become mixed with the superheated gasoline was the reason assigned for the explosion. The still was being used to refine oil and several of the glass jars of gasoline which were standing nearby were broken by the heat of the explosion, with the result that in three seconds the laboratory was a regular inferno.

Alarm Delayed

Although fire extinguishers had been placed on the walls of the laboratory, they were found to be empty and some time was lost in turning in an alarm and procuring water. However, by 2:00 o'clock the last smoldering flame was out.

Broken glass, blackened walls, and conglomerate mixtures of acids, oil and water now typify M Hall. No correct estimate of the value of the destroyed fixtures can be made as yet but it is safe to say that the damage will amount to fifteen hundred dollars or more.

Turns Gas Off

L. D. Burton, who was in the laboratory at the time of the explosion, sustained burns about the hands and face because of his praiseworthy act in turning off the various gas pipes. Otherwise, there might have been a great deal more damage done.

Labs Suspended

Laboratory sections in chemical engineering, which were held in the shack damaged, will not meet until the building is re-erected. Dr. E. P. Schoch announced last night that the Chemistry Department is so overcrowded at present that it will be necessary for these sections to suspend meeting until reconstruction work is finished. He estimated that by the end of next week the building would be ready for regular work.

CONSTITUTION ADOPTED BY NEWMAN CLUB

Newman Club members have recently adopted a new constitution which goes into effect with the beginning of the winter term. Provision is made in the new constitution for the club to have three morning meetings followed by an afternoon meeting in each term. The morning meetings will be mostly educational, while the afternoon meetings will be purely social. Two groups of program committees will be appointed at the beginning of each year, one for the morning meetings and one for the afternoon meetings.

SAN ANTONIANS TO PICNIC

All San Antonio students are cordially invited to meet in front of the Men's Gymnasium Saturday at 5:00 p. m. and from there proceed to East Woods, where a picnic is to be given, according to Erle Racey, president of the San Antonio Club. Abundant refreshments and entertainment are promised by the entertainment committee. Official sanction to this picnic has been given by Miss Lucy Newton, dean of women.

PAMPHLETS DISTRIBUTED

Distribution of approximately one thousand pamphlets to University men each week is the program of the sick and distribution committee of the Y. M. C. A. This committee is under the leadership of William Fetzner of San Antonio. During the past week nearly six hundred rooms of students were visited and literature of a religious character was left for their perusal.

CORNERSTONE OF MASONIC EDIFICE LAID YESTERDAY

Prominent Masons of State Aid
Grand Master in Impressive
Ceremony

GOVERNOR NEFF IS SPEAKER

Vinson Says Structure Will Cause People to Realize
University's Needs

In an impressive ceremony presided over by Andrew L. Randall of Dallas, Grand Master of Masons, the corner-stone of the new Scottish Rite dormitory for University girls was laid yesterday at 4:00 o'clock. A score of men prominent in Masonic circles and in the civil and political affairs of the state aided the Grand Master in the official ceremony.

Prominent Speakers

The speakers for the afternoon were Governor Pat M. Neff; Judge W. S. Fly of San Antonio; President Robert E. Vinson of the University; Sam P. Cochran of Dallas, a past Grand Master of Masons and a present member of the University Board of Regents; J. W. McLendon, vice president of the Scottish Rite Educational Association of Texas; and Joseph D. Sayers, ex-Governor of Texas, and also a past Grand Master of Masons.

At the appointed hour, the Grand Master and his official assistants entered the dormitory grounds, west of Lubbock Hall on Twenty-seventh Street. They had had a preliminary meeting at the Scottish Rite Cathedral. The ceremony which they now presented was witnessed by a large crowd of Masons, University students, and others.

Official Ceremony

Before the stone was lowered into its place, a copper box was filled with relics and placed inside it. After being placed on its foundation, the corner-stone was gauged by the official with the square, the level and the plumb—instruments which symbolize honesty, equality and uprightness. It was then sprinkled with corn and wine, symbols of nourishment and life.

Neff Praises Shrine

In his address, Governor Neff congratulated the Scottish Rite upon its action in joining hands with the University of Texas to erect what shall be a lasting edifice. He declared that just as no atom has ever been lost to the universe, and no sound when once uttered dies; so does a generous act or a philanthropic deed never die; and so will the new Masonic institution go on serving humanity forever.

Vinson Speaks

President Vinson emphasized the fact that the new structure will do good not only by providing a home for girls in the University, but will influence further progress in the whole University. Because of its magnificence it will form a striking contrast to the buildings at present on the campus; and will perhaps cause the legislators to realize the University's need of better buildings.

Other Speeches

Judge Fly made an extemporaneous speech, in which he paid tribute to Free Masonry. He said that this project of the Masons—the erection of the new dormitory for the girls—grew out of a desire on the part of Masons to further and to perpetuate a high standard of home life. He stated that, in addition to the work that the Masons are doing toward providing dormitories for students in schools, they are also financing the

THE NEW DORMITORY

Now that the cornerstone of that Masonic dormitory for University women has been laid, the campus will assume a festive air. New buildings are so rare about the University that when one is erected, even though it is not actually on the campus and is being built by funds from other than legislative sources, there is just cause for celebration. Possibly this one is an indication of better things to come.

To the Masons is due a unanimous vote of thanks. Not only have they given a generous sum of money, but they have placed it where it is most needed. A successful school can have its classes in isolated buildings and frame shacks. Its lecture rooms can be scattered from one end of the campus to the other. But when students room in houses all over town, each of which accommodates only a handful of men or women, there can be no adequate regulation of that part of college life which has come to equal, if not to surpass, studies themselves. Neither can the highest value in a positive way of outside activities be realized. The Masons, therefore, in providing dormitories strike at one of the fundamental faults in the University's life.

Gifts from the Legislature in the way of buildings seem to consist largely of shacks, three of which have caught fire within the last year and a half. It seems somewhat strange that the University whose establishment has been provided for by every Texas constitution, should have to depend upon charity for that which should be given through legislative appropriation.

POST-SEASON GAMES

No post-season games will be played by the University football team, it is announced. Any zest that might have come from seeing a game in Dallas on Christmas or New Year's Day has practically been destroyed anyway by the Vanderbilt and A. & M. games; but even if the Longhorns had won every contest, it is doubtful if a post-season game would be advisable. Football's greatest boast has always been that it is an amateur sport. Already the breaking up of this condition has begun, for professional football teams are being organized in different parts of the country. Eventually it is quite possible that there will be in the field of football something equivalent to the great baseball leagues.

Professionalization of that sort, though it may grieve some players, is permissible. Post-season games, however, professionalize in a less commendable way. Such games really are not college games. Teams have stopped the regular training, school spirit that gets behind the eleven has been broken up, games are not outgrowths and expressions of school loyalty. They are business enterprises guided by business men for profit. The same spirit spreads among the players.

There is the further danger that the big post-season games give a great field to gamblers, not only those here and there who make small bets but professional gamblers who are always quick to take advantage of opportunities. And gambling has always been a dangerous enemy of amateur sport.

INTERCOLLEGIATE COURTESY

Treatment accorded visitors to College Station Thanksgiving is a good example of inter-collegiate courtesy. A football trip unavoidably is attended by a certain amount of discomfort. Allowing for that fact, the cadets gave visitors to the campus a royal reception. The treatment accorded faculty men of the University, the press of the state, the college girls who were staying for the hops and the A. & M. former students, was all and more than could be right be expected. A good deal of discomfort and inconvenience was suffered by the students in seeing that visitors were properly cared for.

A. & M.'s football team also saw to it that the visitors were properly cared for. The Farmer eleven went into the game conceding a loser by from one to three touchdowns. As usual, dope was upset and the Longhorns were held to a scoreless tie, in spite of the fact that man for man the Aggies were undoubtedly outclassed. The difference lay simply in the amount of fight and the teamwork they put into the game. So far as the score goes the game was a tie. So far as the amount of fight and grit put into the game by each individual is concerned, the Farmers clearly won a victory.

FROM DAILY TEXAN FILES

University Activities Twenty and Ten Years Ago as Reported in the Columns of The Texan

Twenty Years Ago: 1901

Thursday, November 28.—The usual close game on Thanksgiving this year turned out to be nothing more than a walk-over for the University. The Longhorns easily defeated the boys from Bryan by a score of 34-0. With this game Texas ended her season, the champions of Texas and the entire Southwest.

One hundred and fifty men at a single table and one guest, who was the toastmaster, was the situation at the B Hall banquet Thanksgiving. The guest was Judge James B. Clark.

W. F. Hyde of Taylor was unanimously elected captain of the Longhorns for 1902.

Friday, November 29.—The registration at Austin has reached the 818 mark. In the entire University there are now matriculated some 1,065 students.

The University of Virginia offered an eight hundred dollar guarantee to the Longhorns for a game to be played with them at Richmond Thanksgiving 1902. Nashville also offered a five hundred dollar guarantee.

Saturday, November 30.—The senior class had an informal reception tendered it at the elegant residence of Judge Z. T. Fulmore.

The freshmen defeated the sophomores in football. The most noticeable feature of the game was the loyalty of the freshman girls, who came out decked in the freshman colors, blowing trumpets and yelling. The "flirtation" carried on between the junior law boys and these girls was highly amusing.

The schedule of final examinations has been announced. The students will likely study hard and burn their midnight oil between now and the holidays.

Ten Years Ago: 1911

Tuesday, November 28.—The annual Baby Show of the woman's council was held and was in no way below the usual standard of shows that have come before. It was enjoyed by every girl who has learned again the exquisite joy of sucking red stick candy and wearing rompers.

The Press Club met and carried on its first stated program. Thornton Reed told the club many interesting things in his discourse of "What Is News?"

Wednesday, November 29.—The Engineers held open house from 3:00 to 6:00 p. m. and the whole University was invited without distinction as to "race or previous condition of servitude." All the rooms in the building were thrown open and guests permitted to wander at will. Some of these rooms were appropriately decorated by the various classes.

A crowd that filled both the floor and the galleries of the auditorium gave the team a rousing send-off for the Sooner conflict. Among speakers at this season's last rally were Judge Batts and L. W. Parrish.

When the "smoke of battle" had cleared away" after the rally, Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead, of the World's Peace Foundation, delivered an address on "International Peace." She was introduced by Prof. C. S. Potts.

Thursday, November 30.—The Oklahoma Sooners defeated the Longhorns 7 to 3 on Clark Field winning the Southwestern championship. Thirty-two hundred spectators saw the game.

The University German Club gave their annual Thanksgiving German at K. C. Hall contrary to the usual custom of having it at the Driskill. Mr. Ted Cole with Miss Helen Weaver of Dallas led the grand march.

DAY OR NIGHT

Athenaeum

Athenaeum Literary Society will meet in regular session tonight at 7:15 p. m. in Athenaeum Hall, Law Building. The following program will be rendered: Current events, Charles Reece; "After Effects of the Texas-Aggie Game," J. C. Young; snappy five-minute speeches on a subject of international interest, W. L. Kemper, H. J. Yarbrough, J. O. Harper and M. J. Hogan; declamation, W. G. Fanning.

Speakers

At tonight's regular meeting of the Speakers' Club a recent proposal for a joint meeting of all literary societies in the University will be the principal subject of discussion. The session begins promptly at 7:15 o'clock at Speakers' Hall in the Law Building.

The principal feature of the literary program will be a debate on the subject, "Resolved, That immigration into the United States should be prohibited for a period of two years by a law of Congress."

Other business matters will occupy the members of the club at the Tuesday meeting, which will be a brief one.

Pierian

Pierian Literary Society will meet in called session today at 5:00 o'clock p. m. Important business will be transacted, it has been announced.

Ramshorn

Ramshorn Chapter of the American Society of Engineers will meet in regular session tonight at 7:15 p. m. New members are requested to be present by the president.

Good Jewellery

When a man wants jewelry either for himself or for a gift, the first thing he wants to know is that it is genuine quality. There must be no question about that.

He must rely on the reputation of the jeweler to be certain of this good quality. For more than half a century this store has enjoyed the confidence of the public. It is known as an establishment where only the best of its kind is dealt in.

This reputation protects your purchase, and the comprehensive stocks give you that choice in taste and price which you desire with the assurance that the price is a value complimentary to good purchasing judgment.

Dear Mary:

Sometimes when a day goes wrong and one's surroundings and clothes seem specially aimed toward making the worst of everything, it is best to drop the daily routine and give oneself a holiday. It always helps to get away from strain and disappointment. A few hours among objects pleasant to one's taste will key up a tired mood to one of optimism.

Take my suggestion and try the Josephine Shop the next time you feel blue. A woman's good times turn on the point of good looks, because that has always been the turning point in the verdict of others.

A new hat—a gay corsage bouquet—a bag and fan to match—a girdle and necklace that go with the ensemble and an impudent veil—Any woman knows these smart touches make her happier and more confident.

And the gift articles! You should see them. I am simply bursting with ideas, but can tell you very little about them in one letter. Dainty lamps concealed under spreading skirts of a Colonial Dame; attractive French powder boxes and bottles of perfume; marble figures; porcelain birds; Venetian glass bowls and candlesticks; Christmas baskets for fruit and flowers; fascinating perfume burners, etc., etc., etc. It is the perfect taste of this collection for personal and home use that challenges admiration.

Please do not think that I am "smarty," for really I am a very modest person, but the things I believe in I just have to champion.

Yoursly,

Anne Alert.

Season Closes for Cross-Country in Intramural Event

Closing cross-country activities for this year, the intramural cross-country run will be held at 5:00 o'clock Friday afternoon over a two and a half mile course, starting at the Men's Gymnasium and finishing in front of Clark Field.

To the men taking first, second and third places intramural medals will be awarded. Any departmental team to place must have three men in the finish. No limit has been placed on the number of men a department may enter. Using the same scoring system employed in the cross-country race at A. & M. the team scoring the least number of points will win the run.

Having received letters and places on the Varsity cross-country squad, the following men will be ineligible to compete: Loop, Grimes, Youngblood, Alderson, Latimer, Trout, Vickers, Griffin and Coale.

All teams are requested by Coach McLean to be on hand at the Men's Gym at 4:30 for final instructions and numbering.

AGGIES CLAIM SOUTHWESTERN CHAMPIONSHIP

order to ascertain just how gridiron play in this section of the country compares with the game as it is played by the older institutions of the north and east. The unusual successes attained by players from Texas who have cast their football fortunes in with the big time gridiron institutions has been nothing short of phenomenal. Bo McMillan, the All-American quarterback of Centre College, Eddie Boynton, formerly of Williams, and other All-American players have demonstrated the fact that the state of Texas has material second to none in the country.

When the far famed Washington and Jefferson forwards swing into action against the Farmer line, they should find one man, at least, fully competent of giving any one of them a tough battle for supremacy. While it is doubtful whether or not Murrell, the big Aggie guard, will be allowed to play the stellar role which he enacted Turkey Day against the Texas Longhorns, his 190 pounds should make a most favorable impression upon the All-American team selectors and metropolitan sports who have been invited down to witness the intersectional conflict.

Had the Athletic Council of the University of Texas thought best, the Texas Longhorns would have been the representative eleven from the Southwestern Conference to oppose the Washington and Jefferson team, instead of the Texas Aggies. An invitation was extended to the Varsity team for the big game. A number of factors entered into the decision of the Council to not sanction any post-season games.

First, there is the undoubted evil of professionalism which attends big inter-sectional post-season games, such as the Varsity-W. & J. game would have been. The keeping of football squad in training for an entire month after the completion of the regular season, in order to have this squad compete in a single contest, is a rather dangerous experiment. Such a practice, if long continued, would tend to make of the members of a college football team little else than professional athletes, giving all of their time and energies to the increasing of the athletic prestige of their respective schools.

Secondly, the Athletic Council felt that the playing of such a post-season game, as the one suggested, would entail too great a hardship upon the individuals composing the team. A man who makes the football squad, necessarily, has to devote much of his time to his athletic activity. After Thanksgiving, the members of the squad must have the weeks intervening between Turkey Day and the final examinations for hard study. A continuance of training—especially, the rigid training to which the team would have to submit, in order to make a good showing against the big eastern team,—would preclude the giving of proper attention to university courses. And the mental development, rather than the physical, is felt to be the prime mission of the college or university training.

education of students whose means are limited.

Mr. Cochran stated that the Scottish Rite is especially interested in education. Its members are providing for the erection of university halls and dormitories; and are in other ways encouraging higher education, which better enables students to fit themselves for the duties of citizenship and of life. He stated that the Masons also plan to erect boys' dormitories here at some time in the future.

Mr. McClendon explained that Masonry is the philosophy of human life, taught by symbols. He said that the erection of the girls' dormitory symbolizes two things: the modern enlightenment of the people, and the exaltation of womanhood.

Ex-governor Sayers emphasized the fact that every girl who will enter the Masonic dormitory will be under the protection of the hundred thousand Masons in Texas. He expressed his belief that the erection of this dormitory will encourage similar undertakings among other organizations.

ENGINEERS EN ROUTE TO CUP

The Engineers, by winning the intramural football championship, have stepped out in front in the race for the D. A. Frank intramural cup. The Engineers won 56 points by winning the championship. The Pre-Meds won 48 points as runners up. The Freshmen and Laws won 39 points each by winning one game in the intramural series and the Sophomores and B. A.'s won 27 points each by putting out teams which were defeated in their first start.

AT THE THEATERS

Majestic

At the Majestic the first half of this week "The Birth of a Nation," D. W. Griffith's great screen classic will be shown, in its 1921 revival. This great production presents the rise of the American nation from the bitterness and strife of the Civil War, with a wealth of detail that makes it intensely realistic without losing the effect of the great moments and issues of the conflict. The love story of a southern soldier and a northern girl in the midst of the troubled times is woven in without detracting from the general effect.

Many notable battle scenes are reproduced with faithful care for this picture, and some of the most stupendous artificial effects of motion picture history achieved in it have never been surpassed.

The cast of the play includes such widely famed stars as Henry B. Walthall, Lillian Gish, Mae Marsh, Miriam Cooper, Ralph Lewis, Raoul Walsh, and Donald Crisp. The direction was all handled personally by D. W. Griffith.

Hancock

Taken from the book, "Fanny Herself," by Edna Ferber, "No Woman Knows," the picture which is at the Hancock the first three days of the week is one of the most human of the pictures that have been here this year. The heroine is a young Jewish girl, Fanny Brandies, this part being taken by Mabel Julienne Scott, whose acting is exactly suited to the part. The girl, hampered by the demands of a worthless brother and the handicap of race, finds for herself a place in the business world of Chicago, but it is only after a long struggle that she shakes off the bonds of her brother, and allows herself true life.

Texas

Does a woman's vow to honor the man she marries, imply his continued worthiness of that honor, or is it her place to forgive and forget his weakness and inconsistencies? This is the question on which the plot of the story "The Uncharted Sea" is based. It is a story of the old versus the modern views of the institution of marriage. In the end, there is a compromise when the woman remains faithful, but demands some proof of her husband's manhood, and when they start out to the uncharted sea of

Queen

"The Son of Wallingford," now showing at the Queen is one of the most stupendous productions of the year, but unlike most stupendous productions, it really has an interesting and well carried out plot. Great care and unlimited expense have been taken to make the picture the success it is. Possibly the best scene in the entire picture is that one in which a great lake of oil burns for days. The whole picture is made on this same large scale and the result is both startling and pleasing.

Aggies Lose In Game of Hearts

Sunday evening saw the return of many sleepy, reluctant co-eds who attended the Thanksgiving hops at A. & M. College. The Texas colors still waved from their arms, and their dresses were decorated with many buttons, pins, and other trophies of war taken from the College Station Farmers. Although the A. & M. football team stood firm against the onslaught of the Longhorns, it is feared that the reserve force of co-eds inflicted many casualties on the whole College, taking as prisoners scores of hearts from the Aggies. Unless the University lawyers and B. A.'s get busy, it is feared that a number of Texas girls will return to the farm in spite of having seen the "gay life" in Austin.

SCENIC BEAUTY

No other city in the world has as much unexplored scenic beauty as Austin. It is near yet so far.

THE BULL CREEK SCENIC LOOP

proposes to open to the public the first opportunity to see beautiful Austin by Automobile. City and County funds have been exhausted; only a few miles of The Bull Creek Scenic Loop remains unfinished.

Eight thousand dollars must be raised by private subscription or the Loop which will reveal Austin's scenic beauty to the world will fail for a generation.

Everyone should contribute to this worthy fund.

Car owners are requested to invest $5.00 this, Austin's greatest inducement to tourists.

As a business proposition it is sound; as a pleasure drive it is unexcelled the world over; as a thing of beauty it will be a joy forever to those who contribute to Austin's greatness.
