Semester Adoption to Necessitate Changes in Course Program

DEANS APPROVE OF NEW SYSTEM

Regents to Vote on Final Approval of Measure Adopted at Faculty Meeting

By popular opinion the deans of the University endorse the movement for a two semester system as voted by the faculty members Wednesday afternoon. The deans are almost universal in approving of the system because of the advantage it will offer to transfers from other colleges and to students who graduate from High School in February and wish to enter college at once.

The disadvantage which caused most objection was the question of the number of terms of the held during summer school. This objection was finally eliminated by making the question into two motions; one for a two semester long term and the other matter of the number of summer school terms to be referred to a committee which will report at a faculty meeting January 12.

Reorganize Courses

An argument presented against the adoption of the plan was the necessity it would cause for the reorganization of courses. According to Dean Parlin this might become an asset instead of a disadvantage because it will cause a new valuation to be put on all courses and give them a freshness which will renew the interest of the professor and the student in the course. New material will be brought to light and that which is most valuable will be retained.

Dean Harper and Dean Benedict were outspoken in their approval of the new system. The change will take place at the beginning of the long term for 1927 if ratified by the regents. They will take action on the matter sometime during January.

JUNIOR PICTURES NOW BEING MADE

Medical, Graduate, and Senior Sections Have Gone to Engravers

Graduate and Senior pictures are off to the engravers in Fort Worth says Bill Elkins editor of the "Popular Book" for 1926-27. These sections have been closed several days and although a number of the people in those groups failed to have their pictures made, the sections are well represented. Pictures of the Medical school at Galveston came to the Cactus office last week and were sent in to the engravers with the Graduate and Senior sections. As soon as the copy has been returned from the engravers it will be sent to the printers.

"About 250 Junior pictures have been made up to the present time and the sections will likely be closed soon after the students return from Christmas holidays," Elkins said.

The athletic section is near completion with the track, football, baseball, and tennis already closed, it is stated.

Ralph Leo, Head of the Conservatory of Music in the University, will go to New York as a delegate from Phi Mu Alpha, honorary Musical fraternity, to the National Convention of the organization that will be held at Rochester, N. Y. Leo will give a recital on Long Island while in New York.

Due to Mr. Leo's absence during the Christmas holidays, no recitals will be given by his pupils. He will be back in Austin January 3, to resume his duties in the University Conservatory of Music for the winter term.

Prof Tells Fairy Tale to Students, But it is True

"YES, students, you may phone me the day after the exam and I will be glad to tell you your grade."

So begins a fairy tale that smacks of the familiar "Once upon a time . . . and they lived happily ever afterwards."

But this fairy tale is true, for a professor of anthropology informed his students that he would be willing to give them their grades over the phone if they did not feel like waiting until the grades could be mailed by the Registrar after Christmas.

TE-WAA-HISS TO GO ON RETREAT

Council and Staff Members to Practice Toward Degrees During Camp

Council and staff members of Camp Te-Waa-Hiss will go on a retreat to Oak Lodge on January 2 and stay until January 4, according to Gyneth Stugard, camp director. Approximately twenty girls will return after the holidays in time to go on the camp.

At this time the Council will make plans for trips to be made for the coming term. One of the trips will be in the form of a sightseeing tour and will include visits to the Capitol, French Embassy and other points of interest around Austin. A final three-day trip will be made to Camp Manana in the early spring.

Those receiving camper's degrees during the fall term were: Gyneth and La Verne Stugard, Minerva Cunningham, Eugenia Wier, Irma Hander. There are three other degrees in camping offered, the highest being the degree of gypsy. This is the first year that the conferring of degrees has been systematically worked out.

Practices toward any of these degrees will be enacted at each of the retreats including hiking, cooking, campercraft, firelore, and other of the crafts pertaining to camping.

Constitutions of Te-Waa-Hiss have just been printed and will be ready for distribution immediately after the holidays.

Faculty Members Are Among Contributors to Science Quarterly

Contents of the Southwestern Political Science Quarterly, which has just been placed in the mails include articles from authorities from several different institutions, according to Dr. C. P. Patterson, professor of government in the University of Texas, who is a member of the board of editors of the publication.

Articles in this issue are "Foreign Investments and the Attitude of the State Department" by D. M. Thomas of the University of Arkansas; "Cotton Crop Reports of the United States Department of Agriculture" by Joseph A. Becker of the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics; "The Gary Dinner System: An Experiment in Co-operative Price Stabilization" by Maurice H. Robinson of the University of Illinois; and "Recent Changes in Marketing American Cotton in Europe" by Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas.

REBECCA AGAIN FREED

Rebecca Bradley Rogers was liberated early Thursday morning under bond of $2,000 on the charge of arson that was filed against her at Round Rock Wednesday afternoon. The total bond under which she has been placed amounts now to $7,000. Her husband, Otis Rogers, was reported slightly improved at Seton Infirmary Thursday night by Dr. Joe Eckhart. Rogers was taken to the hospital in a serious condition Tuesday, and has a typical case of influenza, his physician said.

COMMANDER BYRD, ARCTIC HERO, TO BE HERE JAN. 10

First Man to Fly to North Pole to Give Lecture on His Experiences

FLIGHT TOOK 15 HOURS

Naval Officer, in Addition to Being Pilot of Note, is an Inventor

Commander Richard E. Byrd, first man to fly over the North Pole, will be in Austin January 10 under the auspices of the Faculty Women's Club, according to a recent announcement. He will tell the story of his flight in his public appearances, and will use moving pictures and slides to illustrate some of the phenomena that he observed on his flight.

Commander Byrd is on a trans-continental tour of the United States and is including the South on his trip. He will also visit California, the Northwest, and the Mountain States.

On May 9, 1926, Commander Byrd in his powerful Fokker airplane achieved a feat never accomplished before—that of flying to the top of the world. Although the flight itself took only fifteen hours, it represents a life-long training, adventure of infinite courage and intense resourcefulness in navigation in a part of the world where navigation goes by no set rule and where the compass, usually regarded as trustworthy, can as easily point south or west as north.

Great Inventor

Commander Byrd is not only one of our greatest air navigators but is the inventor of two instruments which made his straight, arrow-like flight possible. These are the drift indicator and the bubble sextant. He also carried the new sun compass.

The story of his marvelous achievement, and of the exploits of the men who worked with him, especially his friend and pilot, Floyd Bennett, will be the subject of Byrd's lecture.

Deans Will Spend Holidays Attending to Customary Work

Almost all of the deans of the University will spend their Christmas holidays in Austin attending to their customary work, and preparing for future work in their respective departments.

V. I. Moore, dean of men; H. Y. Benedict, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences; H. T. Parlin, junior dean of the College of Arts and Sciences; B. F. Pittenger, dean of student life; and T. U. Taylor, dean of the College of Engineering, all will remain in Austin and spend their holidays either at work or at rest.

Miss Ruby Terrill, dean of women, will spend the first half of the holiday period in North Texas visiting relatives. On December 26 she will leave for the National Student Conference at Milwaukee, Wis.

Judge Ira P. Hildebrand, dean of the School of Law, will go to Chicago to attend a meeting of the American Bar Association which meets during the holidays of the University.

Dr. J. Anderson Fitzgerald, dean of the School of Business Administration, is as yet undecided as to whether he will remain in Austin or whether he will go to St. Louis to attend the meeting of the American Economic Association and the American Statistical Association.

Dobie Will Attend National Folk Lore Meeting Christmas

J. Frank Dobie, associate professor of English, will attend the National Folk Lore society meeting as the guest of the Curtis Publishing Company, publishers of the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies Home Journal, and the Country Gentleman. The meeting will be held in Philadelphia during the first week after Christmas from the 28th to the 30th. Mr. Dobie will leave for Philadelphia sometime before Christmas.

Commander Byrd of North Pole Fame to Lecture on Flight

LEUT.-COMMANDER Richard E. Byrd, director of the U. S. Naval plane which, with pilot Floyd Bennett, was the first to fly over the North Pole, will appear in Austin under the auspices of the Faculty Women's Club, January 10, to lecture on his experiences while in the Arctic region.

MANY EXES ARE IN LEGISLATURE

Senators and Representatives From All Parts of State Are Former Students

When the Fortieth Legislature convenes in Austin on January 12, 1927, it will not only bring together the members of that body but also a number of ex-students of the University of Texas. Among the legislators who are former students are:

W. S. Barron, Bryan; R. L. Bobbitt, Laredo; H. S. Bonham, Beeville; Ernest C. Cox, Corsicana; A. J. Durham, Sabinal; B. F. Foster, Del Rio; Victor B. Gilbert, Baird; W. M. Harman, Waco; Ray Holder, Lancaster; Polk Hornaday, Harlingen; Nathaniel Jacks, Dallas; George C. Kemble, Fort Worth; Cornelius Land, Memphis; Chas. McCombs, Dallas; A. J. McKean, Prairie Lee; Fred Hawley Minor, Denton; T. B. Moursund, San Antonio.

Tharp to Lecture at Meeting of Science Association, Dec. 27

Dr. B. C. Tharp, associate professor of botany at the University of Texas will deliver a lecture before American Association for the Advancement of Science at Philadelphia Dec. 27. The subject of his lecture is "Plant Ecology of Green Island." It will deal with the natural plant life of Cameron County and the Laguna Madre in particular. Dr. Tharp spent last summer in an exhaustive study of the dense growth of underbrush in that part of the state. The slides to be used to illustrate the lecture are being prepared by the Visual Instruction Bureau of the University.

Faculty Club Honors Santa Claus Saturday; Children Are Invited

The University Club will entertain its members Saturday, December 18, 1926, with a formal dance in honor of Santa Claus. Miss Gertrude Schott's Varsity Peacock's will provide the musical program, and refreshments will be served.

The sons and daughters of club members are cordially invited to attend and may bring their own dancing partners. All persons expecting to attend will please notify Mrs. C. T. Gray before Friday evening.

Steers Open Basket Season with St. Eds at Gym Tonight

NO DECISION ON ROYALTY DISPUTE YET

No decision has been reached on the question of division of the royalties coming from the University oil lands, according to reports received from Houston, where a committee representing both the University and the A.&M. College, is meeting. The A.&M. College is claiming an interest in the income from the oil lands and in order to settle the matter in a friendly manner, representatives from both schools have met to discuss the question.

Those attending the meeting as representatives of the University are President W. M. W. Splawn, Judge Marth Royston, Judge Storey and H. J. Lutchter Stark, chairman of the Board of Regents. Mr. Stark reports that while no settlement has been reached, the spirit of the meeting is friendly.

Law Students Attend Hearing of Oil Case at Capitol Thursday

More than seventy students of Dean Hildebrand's Law School attended the session of Section A of the Commission of Appeals at the Capitol Thursday, to hear the argument before the court in the most famous oil and gas case in the last three years, Waggoner's Estate against Sigler Oil Company. The argument was a rehearing of the case to determine whether the opinion recently handed down by the Commission should be modified, or should remain unchanged.

The argument was opened by John B. King of Wichita Falls at 9 o'clock and he was followed by H. O. Head, Judge F. A. Williams of Galveston, J. O. Humphrey of Wichita Falls and Judge A. H. Carrigan of Wichita Falls, all speaking for the oil company, in an effort to have the opinion modified. Beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Judge D. Edward Greer of Houston again spoke for the oil company, and then Judge S. W. Barwise of Fort Worth made the argument for the state, and Chas. L. Black of Austin closed for the oil company, finishing his address at 6 o'clock. The court is composed of Judge Ben H. Powell, presiding judge, Hon. Ocie Speer and Hon. H. B. Short, associate judges.

All the members of the Oil and Gas and Property III classes in the Law School were in attendance, together with Professors Walker and Bobbitt, the instructors in those courses, and also Dean I. P. Hildebrand and a number of law students, particularly junior laws, not taking the courses primarily involved.

Christmas Pageant Presented Sunday at Presbyterian Church

The Christmas worship of the University Presbyterian Church will be held Sunday in order that the students might share in it. At the morning hour there will be a service of Christmas music and Rev. Lawrence H. Wharton will preach a Christmas sermon on the subject, "What Christmas Is". The meeting of the Presbyterian Young Peoples Association at 6:30 will also be a Christmas meeting. At 7:30 a Christmas pageant entitled "A Little Child Shall Lead Them" will be presented. The students are given a most cordial invitation to share in this fellowship of Christmas worship.

CHEM LIBRARY REMOVED

Damaged to some extent by water, but still serviceable and very valuable, the chemistry library of the University of Texas, consisting of a large number of technical books, has been removed to the Biology Building, one of the fire proof structures on the campus. It will probably remain there until a new chemistry building is erected. Following the fire, which destroyed the old Chemistry Building, the books were placed in several of the shacks about the campus.

SAINTS HAVE A VETERAN TEAM

Reilly and Solomito Are Mainstays of Woerber's Court Aggregation

By DICK VAUGHAN
Texan Sports Editor

With the rosiest prospects an Orange team has shown since the greatest five in Southwestern history ran undefeated through 22 conference games in 1924, the Texas Longhorns will open the 1927 basket ball season against St. Edwards Saints at 7:30 tonight at the Men's Gym.

The play of Captain Stalter, King, Nation, Olle, and Estes, a veteran team; the new blood drawn from the fast freshman team of 1926; and the surprising game of a powerful handful of dark horses has indicated that the Steers will race with the conference leaders for premiere cage honors this winter.

Veteran Five

It is likely that Coach E. J. Stewart will send his veteran five of Stalter and Joe King at forwards, Nation at center, and Olle and Estes at guards. This is practically the same team that won the last six games on the Texas card last year against the cream of the season. Brock could be substituted at forward without loss of any strength; Patrick is a very good center; and Higgins is a letter man at guard. The ineligibility of Sasse; Webb, Harwell, Looney, and Krueger for the fall term will cut the quality of the reserves, as every man of this five is a good prospect.

Coach Woerber has a good smooth working machine in Milly Solomito and John Deegan, forwards, Sticks Reilly, center, and Jansing and Durrenberger, guards. The team will probably fall below the quality of the 1926 aggregation that boasted of Chinski, a great basketballer, and Swanson, captain elect, who failed to return. The guardian of the Saints will be as good as formerly however with Reilly and Jansing or the job.

Texas is Favorite

Texas will be favored to win the game by a decided score if Coach Stewart elects to keep his veteran team in the game. Ineligibility of many bright sophomores, however, has cut the strength of the reserves, and the Saints will be able to cope with the Steer substitutes with ease, it is expected. The fact that five of the six letter men played football until Thanksgiving Day and have not been on the courts long will have to be taken into consideration in reckoning the issue of the fray. The quality of Steer material is very good at that, and the hard fight the Saints are sure to put up will be welcome, as it will serve to put the men on edge for the hard Hilliard tussel carded Tuesday and Wednesday.

Texas and St. Edwards will continue their basket ball series tomorrow night. The Steers and Saints also meet in the winter term schedule.

Special Dance at Women's Gym Saturday

Special permission was given Thursday by the calendar committee to the management of the All-University dance to have a dance at the Woman's Gym Saturday night.

The move was made by the calendar committee after a reconsideration of a previous refusal. Proof that the dance would be a success and would not interfere with the students studying for finals was given the committee.

It has been the policy heretofore to have the dance end its fall term operations with the advent of dead-week. The large attendance thus far this year, however, has justified the extension of the dance for one more week. Al Lucket, manager, explained.

Steve Gardner's Hokum Kings have been secured for this special dance Saturday night.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

KEEPING ONE'S HEAD (The Daily Illini)

THE WORST that can be said about college is that it has substituted too often the artificial objectives of passing examinations and acquiring a sheep-skin for the true goals, education and culture. We have been told so frequently that our institutions of higher learning are merely factories turning out butter-and-egg men that the cry merely dings in our ears now. Yet, one cannot but admit that schools are training bread-winners to the exclusion of the really valuable aspects of an education. The aim of a university ostensibly is to offer professional training—but it seems that some attention to the old ideals of culture which education once upon a time strove to furnish would not be either degrading to the universities or to the students. The ideals are no less valuable because they are old; they have not lost their worth, but merely have been shoved aside by a money-mad, dollar-grasping civilization.

People may point with conviction to the enrollments in the universities and colleges, with the preponderant number of students registered in Liberal Arts and Sciences. They will argue from the figures they find that culture is not on the down-grade but rather that there is a steady, yet, even enthusiastic, desire of the students to reap for themselves the benefits of culture. We said they may argue for we have no faith in enrollment figures. The mere fact that a man in enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts is no token that he is not a materialistic grade and dollar-chaser, no more than the fact that a man is enrolled in the College of Engineering labels the student as a boxer, a sour scientist, in a word, an uncultured one.

College men do not prepare themselves, and colleges do not prepare them, for the more laudable aspects of education. Because of the public's inability to see values in culture as they can see values in a big bank account there has been great disparagement of the general pursuit of culture. The consequence is that students enter the portals of the various institutions with the Almighty Dollar indubitably impressed upon their minds and nothing in their four-year stay can erase the indelible mark. Even if the student does cherish private convictions that he could gain more personally from a pursuit of culture than strict adherence to the materialistic, such visions are usually dispelled by parents or folks from the community who appraise a university education directly by the money-success of the graduate when he enters life.

In The New Student, William Applebaum wails long and loudly against the students who leave our universities "equipped with a mass of facts and a materialistic moral sense of justice. They are equipped with such weapons that they may best, in a 'business' way outwit those who have not the skill and power resultant from a college professional training." Continuing, he says: "Now let us look into the camp of the student body. We have already seen that the average student comes to college to acquire a professional training, and he is sure to get such training if he will only apply himself. Still we find that on the whole the student does not apply himself and that they are somewhat displeased with the education and type of instruction they receive. Such dissatisfaction is seen very strongly amongst freshmen, and a great deal less so amongst seniors.

"However, they soon find out what is what. And so they learn that credits and honor points are the main things which count towards securing the diploma. The students learn that it is considered a greater honor to be on the football team than to be an 'A' student. The students realize that the university is but a place of business—this and nothing more. So what they do is quite natural; they employ the business moral sense of justice, and cheat wherever they can. And being dissatisfied, more or less, most students do as little studying as they possibly can and 'get by.'

"And in such a manner the years go by, and the students may pick up a few facts, or retain a few which have been shoved down their throats. They receive diplomas certifying that the owners are supposed to be fit to extract teeth, to outwit a smaller man in a law case, or the like. About the deeper and finer things of life they know very little. They know how to make a living, and they do not care for anything else. What do they care about the political, social, economic, and human problems of life? What do they care about ideals? They are practical men! A good automobile, a glass of gin, a woman, and a game of poker will fit all their needs! "And so it goes on! When the fall comes, the alumni visit their school, and in order to show their loyalty attend the football games, bet on their team, and cheer with the mad essay of a savage as the heroes make a play. The student goes on cramming and complaining. The professors continue to put many students—students who for some reason do not sleep much nights—to sleep with their dry lectures. The fraternities, dances, balls, games, and snake dances continue to remain the current topics of discussion in the mouths of most students. Football heroes are still being worshipped, and girls still continue to come to college in search of husbands.

"Yet there is always a group of instructors on every campus who wish to help the student in his search for truth. Such teachers always have something worth while to offer, and it is from them that he can learn things worth more than the knowledge of twenty texts. From the rest of the instructors, who are nothing but an army of comma catchers, dogmatists, or parrots repeating dates and facts, formulae and laws, which they have memorized in the course of decades, the student cannot expect more than 'patented' knowledge. Let him take this knowledge and exercise his own reason upon it.

"As a result of these contentions it would seem that there are some things which it would be well for the student to know. And so in conclusion I will say that he should know what the aim of the university is, for what people come to the university and why so, and what he should do if he wishes to retain and develop his individuality. The result will be that he will find no trouble in keeping his head in college, and above all, his education will be tenfold!"

POW-WOW (Yale News)

"ALL that glitters is not gold" and conversely we would add that all that is gold does not glitter. This may be stating the matter a little strongly but the analogy does contain a certain degree of truth when applied to the National Student Federation. Last week we were inclined to doubt the efficacy of the congress at Ann Arbor. On paper it seemed to be too much up in the clouds for Yale to derive any practical value from it. But reports from the scene of action lead us to believe that although the leaders may not have had their feet planted firmly on the ground, although they may have been somewhat carried away with enthusiasm for their brain-child, nevertheless some practical benefits may accrue to the university as a result of the conference.

There were inspirational speeches by college presidents, there was some vigorous playing of the fiddle, blue lights, pennies on the drum, et al. Educational ideals were discussed and collegiate Utopias conceived. But it is quite possible that outside in the cool fresh air Harvard and Princeton sat down to a sensible informal talk; and that gentlemen from the West came to know gentlemen from the East and discovered that there is still some virility, some cosmopolitanism, some progressive spirit in the musty institutions of old New England. Californians may have been surprised to discover that the delegates from Massachusetts did not carry Bibles and the representatives from Maine may have been disappointed to see that the congressmen from Colorado did not have feathers in their hair.

One may have learned that California Tech had its Dr. Millikan; another may have been informed that there were some football games played east of the Alleghenies this fall; many another from the Mid-West may have been astounded at the discovery that some of America's older colleges are making experiments in education. In fact, there is a possibility that something did come of the pow-wow out in the great open spaces.

SEVERAL BIG STATE PAPERS ARE TRYING to maintain their record for integrity by bringing Santa Claus to the city. Not that we don't believe in Santa, but how can he be in so many cities at the same time?

AND WE WONDER IF THE FELLOW WHO IS ALWAYS yelling advice about not crying over spilt milk ever spilled any himself?

THERE IS A MOVEMENT AMONG EASTERN COLLEGES to abolish freshman regulations. And now that cuts off another supply of jokes for their comic magazines.

CERTAIN MID-WESTERN UNIVERSITIES HAVE two restrictions placed upon the students. First, they must not kill faculty members. Second, they must not burn colleges buildings. But the first rule is not enforced.

"I KNOW THIS—THAT I KNOW NOTHING AT all, but very few people know even this," quoth Socrates. And we think so too.

ITS TOUGH TO BE RICH (Wisconsin Daily Cardinal)

THIS complicated society of ours! We have just finished reading a story in the Saturday Evening Post telling the world how hard it is to be the son of a very wealthy man. The writer, himself the son of a multimillionaire, has a very good argument supported by good facts, but we wonder if he ever stopped to consider just how hard it is to be the wealthy man.

The latest drain and drawback to be put upon the wealthy man is the income tax return blanks. For some years we have read and heard jokes about their intricacies and length, but now we read one which caps off all the rest. The University of Wisconsin is giving a special course through its extension bureau in the art of compiling income tax returns!

Materials for the course consist of 375 pages of printed matter on the contents of the income tax law, and 100 mimeographed pages telling how to do it. It must be tough to be a rich man!

TODAY At Austin Movie Shows

Hancock: Continuous Interstate Vaudeville and screen feature.
Majestic: Colleen Moore in "Twinkletoes."
Queen: "Kosher Kitty Kelly" with Viola Dana.
Texas: Florence Vidor in "You Never Know Women."

HANCOCK

Personal appearances of picture stars has hit the juvenile ranks too—Mickey Daniels, he of freckle fame, and Mary Kornman, said to be the screen's prettiest girl youngster, comedian and leading lady respectively of "Our Gang" comedies, are the latest to desert the film lots for the boards of the vaudeville theater. These clever youngsters are now trotting the vaudeville stages and make their personal appearance at the Hancock Opera House here this afternoon.

The Texas Four is a quartet of gents who hail from the Lone Star State, hence the name. This singing organization has played successful engagements wherever vaudeville is a form of entertainment.

Joan Granese and Brother Charles, besides being probably among vaudeville's niftiest lookers, are singers of note.

One of the most unique acts in vaudeville is scheduled to please the theater patrons when Selbini and Albert present their vaudeville novelty, "The Butterfly and the Nat."

As Risley experts the Five Jencleys probably have no peers in vaudeville. In the opening act of the new bill these gymnasts perform difficult acrobatic stunts.

MAJESTIC

"Twinkletoes" at the Majestic is an adaptation by Winifred Dunn of one of Thomas Burke's famous Limehouse stories, produced for First National by John McCormick and directed by Charles Brabin.

Colleen herself appears as a dancer headlining a second group of dancers, "The Quayside Kids," at a Limehouse theater.

Kenneth Harlan plays opposite the star in the role of a champion pugilist, and other picturesque characters of the famous slum by the Thames are depicted by Gladys Brockwell, Warner Oland, Tully Marshall, Julianne Johnston, and John Philip Kolb.

QUEEN

Redolent with the atmosphere of New York's East Side, "Kosher Kitty Kelly," F. B. O.'s current Gold Bond Special now showing at the Queen Theater, is rich in the color of Avenue A, that warring place of the Irish and Jews.

Little Kitty Kelly is played by Viola Dana who graces the role with her usual dashing charm and pert piquancy. Others in this unusual cast are: Tom Forman, Kathleen Myers, Stanley Taylor, and Carroll Nye.

The director who has guided this uproarious masterpiece to the screen is James Horne. The adaptation was made by Gerald Duffey from the stage play by Leon De Acosta.

TEXAS

Admirers of Florence Vidor will be amazed and happy when they see screendom's newest star in her first Paramount starring vehicle, "You Never Know Women," which comes to the Texas Theater today.

They will be amazed at the woman's marvelous transformation, "The Orchid Beauty of the Screen" at last blossoming out. Those who were delighted by the artistry she evidenced in "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter" will again have something to "write home about."

As the Russian vaudeville dancer, Miss Vidor has a chance to wear a large number of gorgeous costumes, while the action gives the star a real opportunity to display her histrionic ability.

Send your friends a bundle of fun every month, subscribe for The Texas Ranger at the Co-op or L Hall; $2 per year.

Physical Education Faculty to Disperse for Holiday Period

Members of the faculty of the Physical Education and Physical Training departments of the University will spend their vacations in various places, according to information received today.

Miss Bertha Kirk has already gone to Durham, N. H., for the holidays, while Miss Thelma Dillingham will visit Miss Gertrude Rath, former member of the staff here, at her home in Hollings, Va.

Mrs. Tex Lynn will visit in Fort Worth. Misses Bertha Black of Navasota and Ann Ruth Johnston of Giddings will spend their vacations at their respective homes.

Misses Edith Boys, Jeanette Wood, and Olga Andersen will remain in Austin for the holidays.

Miss Anna Hiss, who has been in Baltimore, Md., for the last several weeks, will probably be here to resume her duties at the beginning of the winter term, according to officials in the P. T. department.

Stays Put

"The example was recently cited," notes the Record of Christian Work, "of the zeal of one woman who was at the forefront in all church work, and whose tombstone bore this inscription: 'This is the only stone she ever left returned.'" — Christian Register.

Spur to Heroism.—Because he had crawled out on thin ice and rescued a playmate who had broken through, little Willie was the center of a group of admiring men and women.

"Tell us, my boy, how you were brave enough to risk your life to save your friend," said one of the ladies. "I had to," was the breathless answer. "He had my skates on."

Also Detour Sign

First Passenger—"Isn't the ocean grand and majestic?"

Second Ditto—"Yes; and there's an indefinable something about it that impresses me strangely."

First—"I feel that way, too, I guess it's the utter absence of billboards."

—Boston Transcript.

Painting the Lily

Magistrate—"You say he said you had the face and habits of a monkey and that he could make a better man than you out of chewed string? What happened then?"

Victim—"E then became abusive." —Punch.

Wife—"The maid has just given notice; she said that you spoke insultingly to her over the telephone yesterday."

Husband—"Great Scott! I thought I was speaking to you." —Pele Mele.

Whipping the Devil

One rule says: "It is against the law to mix or serve liquor brought into the hotel"; and down a little further is, "A charge of one dollar is made for furnishing cocktail and highball glasses." —New York American.

INTRAMURAL AWARDS

All-Intramural grid awards, which were donated by the Carl Mayer Jewelry Company, will be on display at the University Co-op from today until Saturday. Members of the all-intramural team may get their awards by calling at the Co-op after Saturday.
