THE HONOR SYSTEM.

He who cheats on examination pays heavily for any course. He robs himself of much more than he robs the school. He subsequently finds that in remorse, in fear of detection, in the deterioration of his character, he has paid too great a price for the difference between failure and a passing grade.

But on each final examination at least one pays this price, and suffers the severe and lasting penalty of his capitulation to temptation. Usually at least one is brought before the students' council as the result of detection. And he suffers the penalty whether he is detected and brought before the students' council, or whether he escapes detection.

We would fortify those who yield to this temptation to cheat by urging a commonsense consideration of the relative cost of cheating and of outright honest failure.

The price of dishonesty, no matter how small, is still exorbitant. The price of honesty, no matter how great, is low. The greater the cost of honesty, in fact, the more valuable it is.

ANNUAL SCHOLARSHIP.

Texas Society Daughters of American Revolution Soon to Award.

Applications are now being received for the annual scholarship in the University of Texas offered by the Texas Society Daughters of the American Revolution. This scholarship, valued at $250, is open to young women only. Applicants may or may not have attended any college previously. The committee on award consists of Mrs. James Lowry Smith of Amarillo, State regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Neil Carothers, chairman of the scholarship committee. Dr. W. J. Battle, acting president of the University, and Miss L. M. Casis. Application should be made to Mrs. Carothers; the award will be made at the end of April, and will be announced on the first of May.

"NO BLUEBONNETS," SAYS BECK.

The absence of the "Texas Flower" from the hills around Austin is quite noticeable this year. Mr. H. B. Beck, superintendent of the campus improvement, explains it in this way: "The scarcity of Bluebonnets on the hills around Austin is due to the tropical storm of last August. The ground was soaked and the flowers all came up out of season and were destroyed by the hot dry September sun and weather."

Phunnigraphs

If you don't like 'em, you still have the ads.

Villa is to hold the Mormons in Mexico as hostages to stop the invasion by American troops. Imagine the feelings of one of these unfortunates with all his wives weeping on his arms at once.

—HAR—

We should say that to trap Villa a little real money would make an attractive bait.

—HAR—

Senators Ashurst and Fall are foaming over in their enthusiasm about going into Mexico. They themselves, however, are unavoidably detained in Washington.

—HAR—

According to the Austin American, the "liberty bell of Texas" which was rung upon the conclusion of the declaration of independence March 2, 1836, was a dinner bell of a boarding house. 'Twas indeed calculated to stir the innermost man.

—HAR—

Downtown osteopath is named Butin. Remarks about bone in relation to headwork will kindly be withheld.

—HAR—

Students' Assembly dismally failed to award grapher his "T & Quill." We suspect the Woman's Council of lobbying against us.

—HAR—

We suppose the toothpicks for the Newspaper Week home-products banquet will be furnished by the manual training department.

FIRING LINE

Bouquets vs. Eggs.

It is with extreme reluctance that I enter the sacred field of the Firing Line; but there was one sentence appearing in one of the studies (critical and otherwise) of "An Egg" which seems to me to be of particular merit, and which I think would have sufficed in itself to dispose of the egg. "Did you ever hear anyone pass a compliment on some good piece of work done by The Texan?"

Yes; I have; and more, I am glad to say that I have myself 'passed' a few. This is my third year here and I have taken and read The Texan every year, and certainly The Texan now is the best we have had these three years. And if anyone interested will compare The Texan with any of the big Eastern college dailies. I think he will, along with the rest of us, see that we have some reason to be proud of our student publication. Certainly, it is not fair to compare The Texan with the big dailies over the country, whose editors and staffs do not have to carry from five to seven university courses on the side. I have visited The Texan shop many times almost at midnight and have seen the boys at work, and then see them next morning waiting for the library to open to get in and study for a 9 a. m. quiz,—meantime, I complacently amuse myself reading about eggs interspersed with editor's parenthetical apologizing for misplayed capitals.

At the same time, I look in vain for Firing Line articles acknowledging the snappy stories, the lively athletic reviews, chivalrous accounts of the brave encounters of the Graphter with the Woman's Council, Tercentenary Celebration dates and plans accurately foretold, general news items of interest, the fine appearance of the front page.

I have never edited or managed any kind of pulication, so that my opinion is entirely that of an admirer on the out side who enjoys reading the Texan. But it seems to me quite an accomplishment on the part of the managing editor that he keeps his numerous staff so well in hand and so thoroughly organized. And if I noticed the few errors that recently escaped the proof reader, I have also noticed and enjoyed the excellen editorials. The editor has the gift of choice and facile, virile expression that neither shoots over our heads nor shocks the E. 1 profs.

In fact, The Texan does the best it can. It has on its staff the best newspaper workers in the University who are willing to work for its uplift as well as kick when it does not suit them. The merit system seems to me to indicate that The Texan is always ready with open arms to receive into its shop all superior talent that will volunteer to work on its staff. I think prayers on a wagon are more acceptable, if not better, than on paper.

BOOK ON TEXAS HISTORY ISSUED
 Work of Dr. Manning of University Faculty Throws Interesting Light on Early Events.

A book touching Texas history in a field hitherto sorely neglected is just issued by the John Hopkins Press, being the work of William R. Manning, Adjunct Professor of Latin-American History in the the University of Texas.
 It is a work of more than four hundred pages and goes into the matter of "Early Diplomatic Relations Between the United States and Mexico" very thoroughly, that being the title of the book. The period treated by Dr. Manning stretches from the earliest diplomatic relations with Mexico down to the recall of Poinsett in Van Buren's administration. A few chapter headings follow, being indicative of the scope of the work: "Tardy Appointment and Cool Reception of the First United States Minister to Mexico;" "British Influence in Mexico and Poinsett's Struggle Against It;" "Diplomacy Concerning the Opening of the Santa Fe Trail;" and "Texas and the Boundary Issue."

CAMPBELL CLUB
 TO BE ORGANIZED BY TEXAS STUDES

A political club for the support of Hon. T. M. Campbell, former governor and now candidate for the United States Senate is now in the process of organization. The petition circulated yesterday endorsing both the organization of the club and the candidacy of the former governor was presented by W. S. Blackshear of Palestine who is a student of the Law Department.

Governor Campbell was in Austin yesterday and seemed pleased when told of the movement, which, although now in its infancy might be the means of obtaining additional voters at the coming primary.

Following is the contents of the petition, the signers of which will organize what will be known as "The Campbell Club at Texas."

"In view of the fact that the record of the Hon. Thos. M. Campbell as Governor of the State of Texas conclusively shows him to be a most capable and statesmanlike public official, and that he initiated and fostered many measures beneficial to the public educational institutions of the State in general, and of the University in particular;

We, the undersigned, do heartily endorse ex-Governor Thos. M. Camb-bell as a candidate for the U. S. Senate and do hereby form ourselves into a "Campbell Club" for the purpose of doing what we may to secure his election to that high office for which he is so eminently fitted."

MARCH ALCALDE COUTAINS MANY UNIQUE FEATURES

The March issue of The Alcalde contains under the title of "Beginnings of the University" various reports upon debates held in the seventh legislature upon the question of establishing a State university. This article shows that the opinion of those times were practically the same as those of our days. There were some who opposed any attempt on the part of the State to encourage high education, some who supported the establishment of a State university but only one, and some who favored the endowment of two universities. "For the Unexpired Term" by Durell Miller of 1900 is intensely absorbing despite the fact that it is a true story, dealing with the destruction of the political machine and the decline of the "Aldredgites" in Texas. The history of football is taken from what the author Ben Dyer, call the "Dark Ages of That Sport at Texas," the years 1908, 1809 and 1910, up to the present. The defeats and victories of the Texas elevens are told partly by the outhor, himself, and partly by members of the teams of those years. "Mutt" Jones, Judge Bland, John Barclay, Bart
 Moore, "Happy" Massingill and Frost Woodhull, all add to the vividness and interest of the history of this sport here by their individual impressions of the great games of the departed elevens.

In this issue of The Alcalde, Fritz Lanham continues his inimitable poem, "Putting Troy in a Sack" and carries the story up to the poin where "poor Pat" is slain by "Hec." Under the "Who's Who at Texas," there is a witty but sincere appreciation of "Benny" which tells of his numerous accomplishments, his usefulness and his unselfish labor for the good of the University. A new department, "Keepin in Touch," has been added under the supervision of Roy Bedichek. This concerns itself chiefly with the criticism of the current events of the University and in a way takes the place of the editorial section. The book, taken as a whole, is a work to delight the soul of anone interested in the University and even exerts a powerful appeal to outsiders because of its varied, original and capable material.

NO MORE FOLDERS AT VARSITY GAMES

A new policy has just been adopted concerning the programs gotten out for all big athletic events, according to Director Bellmont. Hence forward, at the beginning of each long session, a neat and attractive folder containing the schedules for all departments of athletics will be got out, which folder will also contain cuts of some of the Varsity captains. A radical departure from the custom heretofore will be made in that the booklet will not be a medium of downtown advertising.
