CLOSES SEASON FOR RICE

Oklahoma Aggies Favorites to Win Championship when Season Ends Saturday

The Rice Owls will play the Longhorns tonight at 7:30 in the Men's Gym in the next to the last basketball series of the season. At the game in Houston Coach Stewart's Texas team won out only in the last few minutes of play.

The Longhorn line-up, in all probability, will be as follows: Carrie Nation and Sandy Esquivel, forwards; Captain Lester Settegast, center; Mat Newell and Bertie Foster, guards. All five men are in good condition, and they should be able to play at their best.

Teams Tie for Title.
When the Longhorns came through and defeated the Arkansas Razorbacks in the two crucial games last week, they made it possible for T. C. U. to tie for first honors in the Southwestern conference basketball race. The Razorbacks are conceded an even break with the Sooner Aggies, and the Porkers may rise to the occasion and take both games from the Oklahomaans. In that case, the Frogs, Razorbacks and Sooner Aggies will finish with the same percentage.

The outcome of the Friday night's game at Fayetteville, will, in all probability, decide the championship. If the Sooner Aggies defeat the Arkansas team, they will have the pennant cinched. If, however, the Porkers come to life and do the unexpected, the game Saturday night, February 28, will be the deciding fray.

LONGHORN WILL BE READY NEXT WEEK

The first issue of the Longhorn Magazine for this year will be ready for distribution the first part of next week, according to DeWitt Reddick, manager.

Short stories by campus writers such as Vivian Richardson, Henry Simms, Welcome Dixon, and others will form the chief content of the issue. Essays, literary reviews and poetry will also be issued.

Two of the stories will have title pictures, and the cover by Jess Sealey is a picture of the cowboy statue in the capitol grounds. Contributions for the next number are coming in slowly, Reddick stated.

Athenaeum Will Hear Talks of "March 2"

Athenaeum Literary Society at its regular meeting at the law building tonight will hear a discussion of "Plans for March 2," in which W. S. Hughes will present the freshman side of the subject, while Andrew Woods will tell the sophomore side. John Palmer will tell the society about "Early Happenings in the Athenaeum," following which Roy W. McDonald is scheduled to give the society a talk on "Rumblings of the Spring Election."

Jewell Pridgen and Vivian Richardson Win Feature Prizes

Jewell Pridgen of Thomaston and Vivian Richardson of Austin won the prizes for the best feature stories written for The Daily Texan during February, according to Ty Cobb, chairman of the award committee. The winners will each receive five dollars.

Miss Pridgen won a prize on her story entitled, "How About a Date for the German Saturday Night," in which she showed how the boys have changed their methods of "courting" from the Lochinvars of 1890. Miss Pridgen, who was not in school during the fall term, is a senior journalism student and president of Gamma Alpha Chi, girls' national advertising sorority.

Miss Richardson, who also won a prize last month, wrote one of the best articles of the year on the girl who camps out at Lake Austin. Miss Richardson, too, is a senior journalism student, and also is an issue editor on The Texan.

The prizes are offered by the University Board of Publications.

Sorority Teams Swing Into Action and Cactus Sales Campaign Starts With Bang

The big Cactus Sales Campaign gets under way this morning with a bang and even the most secluded nooks of the campus are likely to be invaded by bustling co-ed salesmen inquiring, "Have you bought your Cactus?"

According to a member of the Cactus sales organization staff, the various sororities were visited last week by the entire executive personnel and sales team were organized in every sorority in school, which speaks well for the public-spiritedness of the sororities. The methods of signing up a prospective subscriber of the Cactus by means of the library deposit assignment was explained in full to each team. The prizes offered in this sale include the privilege of naming the University of Texas princess to the Fort Worth Southwestern Livestock Exposition and one round trip passage to New York City via the Mallory lines with hotel privileges in that city and at Atlantic City, all of which go to the winning team; a second prize is offered to the sorority team in second place at the end of the campaign, $50 in cash; and a third prize of $25 in cash to the team coming out third in the competition.

SEVEN MEMBERS APPOINTED BY GOV. FERGUSON QUALIFY

Foster Elected Vice-Chairman and Simmons Secretary of New Board

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Splawn Makes Annual Report No Actions Taken on Appropriations

By John Palmer.

H. J. Lutzer Stark of Orange was unanimously re-elected as chairman at the organization meeting of the new board of regents of the University Monday. M. E. Foster, editor of the Houston Chronicle, was unanimously elected vice-chairman of the board, replacing Mrs. H. J. O'Hair of Coleman, who refused to accept re-election to that position. C. D. Simons, editorial and statistical assistant in the Registrar's office, was elected as secretary succeeding E. J. Mathews present secretary who asked that he be relieved of his duties because of the great volume of work in the Registrar's office.

Members Take Oath.

The seven new members of the board appointed recently by Governor Ferguson qualified by taking the constitutional oath of office in the Secretary of State's office. They were: H. J. Lutzer Stark, Orange, reappointed; M. E. Foster, Houston; George W. Tyler, Belton; Edward Howard, Wichita Falls; Mart H. Royston, Galveston; Sam Neathery, McKinney, and S. C. Padelford, Fort Worth. After receiving their commissions the new regents came to the University where they met in the office of Dr. Splawn. Mr. Stark was unanimously elected chairman of the board.

Splawn Makes Report.

Dr. Splawn presented his annual report to the board, following which matters were discussed in a general way, but few definite steps were taken at the initial meeting of the new board.

R. E. L. Sauer of Dallas, University land agent; Dudley Woodward, representing the George W. Littlefield estate, and Guy Collett, representing the campus extension committee, conferred with the regents to acquaint them with the new details coming under their respective jurisdictions.

The board acted favorably on several requests for leaves of absence. Arnold Romberg, who is going to Europe to study, was given a leave from February 15 to September 15, without pay. Charles Paul Boner, a graduate of the University, was appointed by the board to meet the classes of Dr. Romberg during his absence.

E. E. Hale, professor of economics, was given a leave of absence for the session of 1925-26 for the purpose of continuing graduate work in the University of Wisconsin.

Eugene Blount, chairman of the house appropriations committee, conferred with the board in the afternoon. Matters of appropriation were discussed, but no definite action was taken. No action was taken on the University building committee's recommendation as to the men's gym, former Secretary E. J. Mathews stated. The committee had recommended that the gym not be used for any other purpose than athletic contests, and that no chairs be placed on the floor on any occasion. The matter of the Littlefield memorial was also discussed, but no definite action was taken.

The following committees were appointed: Auditing, Sam Neathery,

TEN HOURS SLEEP A WEEK

Alderson Fry, a student at Marshall College, Princeton, W. Va., has slept only ten hours a week for the last five years. He says, "Sleeping more than ninety minutes a criminal day is a waste of time."

Now "pipe up" all ye who say that you can't get along without seven or eight hours sleep a night! Boldly proclaim that it's impossible for a person to live on ten hours sleep each week. And for 260 consecutive weeks. Five years!

Not only has the young Mr. Fry accomplished this unusual feat—if we are to believe newspaper stories concerning him in our papers conceded to be the most reliable, but he is a very active college student; he belongs to the swimming team, manages the college paper, and is credited by Professor M. P. Shawkey as being "one of the best students in the college."

"It is just as bad to oversleep as it is to overeat," says Fry, who cannot "early to bed and early to rise." He is, in a class all by his lonesome in consistently being either very late to bed and real early to arise, or real early to bed and mighty early to arise!

Oh, the money he ought to make! Not merely an ordinary get-rich-quick sort of person but a veritable get-rich-quicker! This Mr. Fry could do the work of three average men each day of the week, each week of the month, and each month of the year, and doubtless each hour of the day by holding down two eight-hour positions and a job as nightwatchman, getting his ten hours of sleep a week on the night-watching job!—Emilo Van Zandt.

EVERYBODY IS QUEER

Once there was a wise old Quaker who said to a pretty Quaker girl: "Everybody is queer except thee and me;—and sometimes I think thee is a little queer."

The Quaker spoke with understanding, indeed, for all of us have at least a few habits and traits of character which distinguish us from the rest of humanity and make us "queer."

Recently an American who professed which religion killed his own child as a living sacrifice to God. Here, of course, was the extreme type of queer person—a fanatic, in fact. He was mentally unsound. But you may look about you and seen hundreds of perfectly sound persons who are almost as queer.

Now you will find a hardened old butcher shedding honest tears of sympathy with the ill-starred heroine of a motion picture play. Again you will find a refined man of culture in a courtroom listening to testimony which reveals the facts of the gory murder of which he is guilty. A quiet, unobtrusive little man will sometimes be pointed out to you as an orator who can sway great audiences one way or another at will. Dignified, stern-looking men sometimes prove to be "good fellows," full of rippling humor.

If these folks do not strike you as being queer, consider the girl who is hyper-solicitous for the welfare of a pet dog, doing all sorts of favor for it while she delegates to her weary-eyed mother the performance of all the household drudgery. Go into a newspaper office and you may perhaps find a little dried up man writing vivid stories of football games and prize fights while a big two-fisted giant ponders over stories that will appear in the paper under the head, "News of the Churches." Go to a university and you will find genuises among the bustees, and dull, incompetent looking students at meeting of Phi Beta Kappa. Here and there you will find a common, slouchy "ed," for whose favor the girls engage in earnest competition; or a comely little co-ed who habitually goes around alone or with other girls because she cannot get along with boys. Frequently you will find a man who has had unbounded freedom in the selection of a wife married to an uninteresting woman who is not pretty.

Examples of queer personality might be cited indefinitely. All of us are a little queer. Those who are not queer are queer in that they are not queer. And it is fortunate that each of us believes the others queer, for otherwise this would be a monotonous world, and a monotonous life.

The only regret is that the distinguishing characteristic, the something which makes one queer, is not always admirable. If your queerness is of a nature which does not inspire admiration or favor, practice minimizing it. But if you are so fortunate as to be queer because of a smile that won't wear off, or kindness that can't be dispelled or some virtue with which you are obsessed—if that is the nature of your queerness, keep on being queer.

—Jack Logan.

Two Prizes Offered for Poem and Play on Texas History

Two prizes of one hundred dollars each, one offered by Mrs. P. J. Lewis, president of the Battle of Flowers Association, and one offered by the association, will reward winners of competition for the best poem on a patriotic theme about Texas and the best one-act playlet, the scene of which must be laid in Texas, according to an announcement received by Dr. Harper.

The prize winning playlet will be presented by professors at the annual Battle of Flowers luncheon in April. The playlet competition is open to any resident of Texas or any native Texan residing elsewhere.

The conditions are, that its length of acting must not be less than twenty minutes nor more than 30 minutes, and the number of principles used must not exceed six, and the scene must deal with Texas. The theme of the play may be either

PURPOSE ANTI-INTOXICATION BILL TO PROHIBIT DRINKING AT ALL UNIVERSITY DANCES

The anti-intoxication bill as passed January 8 by the Students' Assembly and submitted to the President is as follows:

Section 1. Any appearance at any University social function in an intoxicated condition will be considered an offense against the student self-government.

Sec. 2. Punishment for such offense shall be within the discretion of the Men's and Women's councils.

The members of the assembly, which is the legislative branch of the Students Association, considered the passage of this bill for several weeks before taking definite action. It is not the aim of the assembly to assume the powers of a police agency and to attempt to enforce prohibition among the student body. It is the evident aim of the assembly to forbid and penalize drunkenness at all social functions which have the sanction of the University. A merited increase in favor with the people of Texas and with the Legislature of the State is the fundamental reason for the passage of the anti-intoxication law.

To Report Drinking

Floor managers at the Germans have no option as to reporting all cases of drunkenness, whether of a slight or an exaggerated nature, but must perform this duty in a satisfactory manner in order to hold their jobs. Personality and politics play no part.

The sworn duty of the Men's Council is to enforce the laws passed by the assembly. At the last meeting of the council it was agreed that after the publication of due warning, which this article embodies, the lid will be clamped down tight and men who are turned in for intoxication and who are proved to have been intoxicated at a University social function will be assigned a penalty ranging from social probation, which means enforced non-attendance at social functions upon the social calendar, to permanent expulsion from the University.

Severe Penalty

On the grounds that sufficient publicity had not been given the law, the council was lenient with the five offenders who have thus far appeared before it charged with intoxication. All five admitted their guilt and the penalty assessed was disciplinary probation for the remainder of the school year. The consensus of opinion at the last meeting of the council seemed to be that future offenders may look for the worst and that second offenses will place a student's status in the University of Texas between the frying pan and the fire. The council is not made up of relentless Puritans, but they mean business nevertheless.

It is rumored that the jurisdiction of the anti-intoxication bill will be broadened so as to include all forms of misbehavior. As the matter rests now the faculty discipline committee is empowered to take up all offenses involving misdemeanors, while the Students' Council considers cases of intoxication. There is a movement under way to remedy this obvious defect in assignment of jurisdiction which the assembly will probably consider at an early date.

Research will convince anyone that more than a majority of the students favor the strict enforcement of this law. They realize that the unpenalized appearance of intoxicated students at University social functions, however few in number they may be, will in the course of time cause the masses of the people over the State to regard the institution with disfavor and hostility. It is a time-worn fact that people see and remember the actions which do not accord with accepted standards of right and too often tend to judge the student body by the comparative few of its members who conduct themselves in a disorderly way or who violate the canons of good taste. The student government believes that it has not only the backing of the major part of the student body but of the major part of the citizens of the State in the enforcement of the recent anti-intoxication law and of any similar law increased in scope so as to cover disorderly conduct.

a real incident or legendary or imaginary. The contest will close on March 15, and all manuscripts that are to be presented must be in the hands of the chairman of the committee, Mrs. E. C. Branch, 118 San Pedro Avenue, San Antonio, by that date.

The poem should deal with the history of Texas and must be submitted not later than March 20, must contain not more than five hundred word nor less than two hundred, and all manuscripts are to be mailed to the editorial department of the San Antonio Express.

WINTER HISTORY QUARTERLY ISSUED

Translated Statistical Report of Texas Statistics by Castaneda Is Featured

"Almonte's Statistical Report on Texas," (1834 translated by Charles E. Castaneda, and the "Federal Indian Policy in Texas," (1845-1860) by Lena Clara Koch, are features of the January number of the Historical Quarterly, official publication of the Texas State Historical Association.

The recent issue of the quarterly also contains another of the series of articles on the Bryan-Haynes correspondence, edited by E. W. Winkler, University of Texas librarian. In the section for book reviews and notices, there are articles pertaining to a number of recent historical works. The publication closes with the usual news item and points of interest.

Work Important

"The work of the contributors to the Historical Quarterly has revolutionized the whole treatment of the state of Texas in the period of Spanish domination and in the state's relations with the United States," said Dr. C. W. Ramsdell, professor of American History at the University. "The early articles published in the quarterly were written mostly by the native Texans and pioneers, whereas the work today is done chiefly by college professors and others from almost a purely critical and scientific viewpoint."

It was largely through the efforts of G. P. Garrison, at that time professor of history in the University, that the Historical Quarterly was started twenty-eight years ago at the time the Texas State Historical Association was organized. Among the prominent men of the state who were members of the organization then were J. H. Reagan, O. M. Roberts, and Frank Lubbock.

Has 700 Members

Today the association has a membership of about 700, most of whom are residents of Texas. Anyone interested in Texas history and wishing to help in the work can become a member if elected by the present members. The officers are as follows: president, Mrs. A. D. Loosan of Houston; vice-presidents, Alex Pieust of Temple, A. J. Houston of La Porte, G. W. Tyler of Belton, and T. F. Harwood of Gonzales; C. W. Ramsdell, corresponding secretary, treasurer and business manager.

Work Formerly Research

The work of the association has been largely of a research nature, the results and findings being published in the quarterly. Most of the work has been done by members of the faculty of the University, according to Dr. Ramsdell. The editor of the publication is the senior professor of history in the University. Since the magazine was first started, it has had only two editors, G. P. Garrison, until his death in 1910, and since then Dr. E. C. Barker.

The present staff of the Historical Quarterly is as follows: editors: E. C. Barker and Herbert E. Bolton; associate editors: C. W. Ramsdell, E. W. Winkler, E. L. Hewitt; managing editor, E. C. Barker.

MUSIC SPECIALTY FEATURES PROGRAM

Lloyd Ibach and Group Entertain with Syncopated Melody

Action and lots of it is promised in the Hancock vaudeville bill that opened Monday afternoon. L. Novy, who bosses the Hancock, says the advance reports indicate the bill is a pipkin with the entertainment highly diversified.

Much music, eccentric comedy, intricate dance steps and funny stories, delightfully told make up the elements that compose the bill.

Lloyd Ibach heads a group of syncopators. His entertainers do almost anything musically. Then, too, a dancing specialist is featured among his musicians. It was with Ibach's group that Benny Meroff a recent Majestic favorite got his start. Ibach is featuring Kendall Capps as a dancer. Intricate steps hop out of his hot hoofs with apparent ease and he goes in for the most eccentric twists of the stage. Allen Quirk is a saxophonist also featured with the Ibach entertainers.

Polly and Oz are back again. They need no introduction to Majestic audiences. Their "monkey business" of last season stamped them with approval of Majestic audiences.

Walter C. Kelly, known from one end of the world to the other because of the delightful way in which he tells humorous stories also shines among the luminaries of the new Majestic bill.

"Two Chocolate Cake Eaters" is the way Billy Lytell and Tom Fant introduce themselves to Majestic audiences. They are blackface comedians.

Eccentric comedy of the first water makes its appearance with Walmsley and Keating with their "Lure of the Stage." It's a singing and talking act with a lot of action.

A novelty bicycle act features Downey and Claridge. Downey is a riding comedian whose bike work is similar to that of "Joe Jackson." Miss Clairidge besides being restive to the optic nerve is a skating marvel.

'The Fast Set' Stars Betty Compson

Faultless scenes, artistic direction and an absorbing story all act as a background for a superb cast in William de Mille's latest Paramount picture, "The Fast Set," which came to town last night at the Texas theater. Clara Beranger adapted the photoplay from Frederick Lonsdale's stage hit, "Spring Cleaning."

The originality of the plot is something that deserves honorable mention. The story unfolds the manner in which a husband saves his wife from a gay Lothario who makes a hobby of making love to married women.

There is no lack of acting talent. Betty Compson, Adolphe Menjou, Elliot Dexter and Zasu Pitts, the four featured players, are a screen quartette with whom film-goers will find no fault. And the supporting cast is more than adequate in their respective roles.

Thomas Meighan At Majestic

Does Tom "come through" in "Coming Through?"

We'll say he does—with a bang!

"Coming Through" is Thomas Meighan's latest production for Paramount now at the Majestic theater. The story is a picture version of "Bed Rock," a mining novel by Jack Bethea.

Lila Lee, in her first screen role in more than a year, is featured at the head of a strong supporting cast. Wallace Beery gives one of his greatest characterizations as a roughneck mine foreman. Others in the cast are John Milten as a multi-millionaire steel magnate, Laurence Wheat and Frank Campeau.

SCHUMANN-HEINK SINGS AT HANCOCK

Famous Contralto will Give Concert in Austin Wednesday Evening

Nearly five decades of music lovers have been packing opera houses and concert halls to enjoy the art of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, and still each year finds her more popular than ever. Her public appearances began when she was sixteen, now she is sixty-three, mother of seven and grandmother of ten, and still she is the greatest of contraltos. The wonderful voice and artistry that thrilled Europe just about half a century ago, that America first heard with the De Reszkes, Plancon, Eames, Nordica, and Bispham more than a score of years ago, that cheered the dough-boy on his way to France and on his return comforted him in army camp and hospital all over the country will be heard here again Wednesday at the Hancock Opera House under the local direction of Louis Novy.

Cast of 'Greed' Brave Death Valley

The last car to return to civilization, before the von Stroheim company descended from the deserted town of Skiddoo into Death Valley, carried the wills of four of the members of the troupe which made the trip to obtain scenes in exact locations for von Stroheim's film version of "McTeague," which is called "Greed," the current attraction at the Queen theater. The hazards of the journey were so great everyone was advised to take the precaution of leaving his affairs in order before starting out.

Most of the troupe stated their effects would revert automatically to the persons they wished to receive them, should any fatalities occur. But the four who made their last testaments were under the impression there would be difficulties should they die without straightening out their affairs.

inning. The Longhorns batted around at this inning, and Pfann added a long two-bagger on his second trip to bat. Ten runs were garnered by Disch's men in the second inning. Akers, a pitcher from the Deaf and Dumb Institute, took up the hurling for the all-stars, and he held the Longhorns well in check, allowing only a few hits.

Although B. B. Falk made only one hit, the big Chicago left fielder played a good game. The other men of the all-stars were out of practice, this being the first game that most of them had taken part in this year. Twenty hits were made by the Longhorns and six by the visitors.

Coach Disch gave most of his men a chance to show what they could do. Horace Kibbie at second, Heine Odom, shortstop; Howard Williamson, pitcher; Fred Thompson, left field; Clyde Pratt, center-field; Jack Smith, right field; Colie Falk, first base; Albert Leissner, third base, and Harry Pfannkuche, catcher, were the men who started against the all-stars. Cy Williams, pitcher; Hustler Ramsey, catcher; Roy McKnight, left fielder, and Half-Pint Bradford, third baseman, also participated in the game.

Bib Falk's all-star team was made up of Texas League, Texas Association and semi-pro players. The all-stars found Howard Williamson rather hard to hit, but they had better luck with Cy Williams. The line-up of all-stars was as follows:

Dickinson, left field; Hopkins, shortstop; Arthur Falk, second base; Bib Falk, center field; Brannon, third base; O. Lind, first base; Allen, catcher; and Swede Lind, pitcher. Akers relieved Swede Lind after the second inning, and the Deaf and Dumb moundsman held the Longhorns in check.

Crooked Tracks Lead to Recovery of Car Sunday

Investigation caused by the curiosity of Chief of Police J. N. Littlepage led to the recovery of a stolen car Sunday, which belonged to Margaret Barclay of Waco.

Noticing a car parked at a rakish angle near the main walk, Littlepage crossed the street to see what it was all about. He noticed that tracks leading from the car ran all over the campus several times, indicating rather a wild ride on the part of the driver.

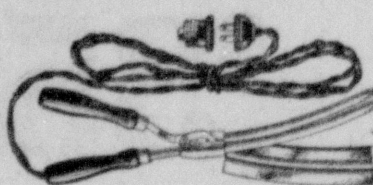

Taking down the number, Littlepage reported to police headquarters, and discovered that the car had been stolen about 10 p. m. Saturday from Miss Barclay at 2411 Whitis avenue.

Felix
has decided to go to Europe

FELIX, the well-known catwampus of the screen, wrote to us the other day and said he wanted to work his way to Europe. The star catback of the Catown eleven crashed his "mid-terms" harder than he ever hit an opposing feline line, and received a pink unconditional release, good until September, 1925.

Felix explained in his letter that he was in the pink of condition and was willing to stoke, peel potatoes, or catch rats bare-handed. We wrote Felix that Cunard ships were all oil-driven and needed no stokers, and as for rats on a Cunard ship, why they just didn't exist. We also asked Felix if he had heard of our new College Cabin service for Congenial Cats—Clean and Comfy. Evidently he hadn't, for he's just telegraphed us to "send him the dope." We wired back—
