

Exes Meet Again To Commemorate Independence Day

Eight Professors to Speak
At Various Alumni
Affairs

Message Read

Old Tradition of March 2
Enters Thirty-third Year

Eight University professors will address "exes" assembled at banquets throughout the country March 2. A message from President Benedict will be read to groups in approximately one hundred Texas towns and in the larger cities scattered over America, including New York, San Francisco, and Mexico City.

In 1900, B. I. Saner, now a Dallas lawyer, wrote on a sheet of theme paper the following resolution: "Whenever two ex-students of The University of Texas meet on March 2, Texas Independence Day, they shall sit and break bread together and pay tribute to the founders of the Republic of Texas that made possible our education." Thirty-three years later, students of the University are still following that resolution.

Cannon Borrowed

Three years before the tradition was begun by Mr. Saner, several junior law students got the holiday spirit and proceeded to celebrate Independence Day. Without asking permission, they borrowed a cannon from the Capitol lawn, hid it in the old power house, and waited for their chance to shake the foundations.

Dr. Winston, then president of the University, learned of the plan and had the cannon spiked—it would not shoot. By afternoon, President Winston had the holiday spirit himself and declared a holiday. He requested the lawyers to bring the cannon out on to the campus and helped them to shoot it.

The office of the Ex-Students' Association has been busy for the last two months sending out copies of yells and songs to the organizations all over the country. Officers and council members for the State organization will be voted on in a primary election.

Engagements Listed

Dr. W. T. Mather, professor of physics, will address the association at Victoria; Dr. L. L. Click, professor of English, at Beaumont; Dr. R. H. Montgomery, professor of economics, at Laredo; Dr. D. A. Penick, professor of classical languages, at Houston; Dr. E. P. Shock, professor of physical chemistry, at Dallas; Dr. J. B. Wharey, professor of English, at Hillsboro; J. W. Calhoun, comptroller, at Nacogdoches; and Dr. B. F. Pittenger, dean of the School of Education, at Stephenville.

The purpose of the March 2 gatherings is to revive annually the spirit of those early Texas students by singing songs, yelling, and best of all, by lazily discussing the escapades reminiscent of the University. This year plans for the Fiftieth Anniversary (Continued on Page Two)

Women May Be Allowed to Vote For Yell Leader

Change of the regulation which permits only men students to vote for University yell leaders in the spring elections is under consideration of the Students' Assembly, Allan Shivers, president of the assembly, said Monday. "There is really no reason why women students shouldn't have just as much say in the choice of yell leaders as the men," Shivers said, "and it seems as though a repeal of this regulation will be acceptable to everybody."

Plans Completed For Junior Prom Dance Features

Murray and Green Lead
In Grand March
Friday

An unusual feature of the junior prom will be the grand march on the form of a T, and the cotillion, in the form of a U. Annabel Murray, president of the junior class, escorting Elizabeth Green, president of the Cap and Gown, will lead the grand march. Margaret Grasty, escorting Miss Dorothy Gebauer will lead the cotillion. The prom will be held Friday night in Gregory Gym, and the grand march will officially open the dance at 9 o'clock.

The couples will form a line at the entrance to the dance floor, and will march half the length of the room. Dividing near the center of the room, Miss Green will lead one line to the left, and Miss Murray will lead one line to the right. Half way across the room, they will stop, and since most of the couples will still be in the straight double line formation, a perfect T will be formed. The same formation will be repeated twice, and the third time a small, compact T will be made, with couples four in a row.

The junior class council, escorting the Cap and Gown council, will be directly behind the two class presidents. The sophomore class council and Ann Ramsdell, freshman class president, will be next in line. The invited guests are Miss Lula Bewley, Miss Ruby Terrill, Miss Dorothy Gebauer, Mrs. Frances Goldbeck, Mrs. V. I. Moore, and Mrs. Arno Nowotny.

Grasty, Gebauer Lead

After the last T is made, the couples will break the line, and go immediately into the first dance. After three dances, Miss Grasty and Miss Gebauer will lead the dancers in the cotillion, to receive their favors. Favors will be small copies of "The Eyes of Texas," with the music score, rolled and tied with orange and (Continued From Page Two)

Yearbook Sports Feature Pictures

Hart, West and Hall Edit
Athletic Section

Development of the athletic department of the 1933 Cactus has taken rapid strides within the past few weeks and the section should be completed by the middle of March, Joe Riley, editor of the Cactus, announced Wednesday.

The greatest feature of the sports section this year will be the prevalence of pictures. Accounts of the various activities will be written, but the emphasis will be placed on pictures, both individual and action. Photos of the football, track, tennis, basketball, baseball, and swimming have already been taken. The golf section is expected to be finished within the next week, Riley said. In addition to the actual participants in these sports, photographs are also being made of the coaches, trainers, directors, and yell leaders. The intramural section will carry a complete layout of winners in the various sports in this division.

Members of the 1933 Cactus athletic department are Richard West, Weldon Hart, and Jay Hall.

GEOLOGIST TO LECTURE

"The General Geology and Reconnaissance in the Dutch East Indies" is the subject of an address to be given by David C. Harrell, prominent Texas geologist, at a meeting of the Austin section of the Southwestern Geological Society Friday night at 8 o'clock in Main Building 306, Arno Wendler, secretary, announced Wednesday. All members and others interested in geology are urged to attend, Wendler said.

Bill Introduced Would Correct Certificate Law

Collie in Favor of Making University Equal To Normals

Another Bill Up

Would Improve Status Of Six-year Elementary
Teachers

A correction in the State teachers' certificate laws to place the University and other first class universities on the same rank as teachers' colleges was offered in the Senate Wednesday by Wilbourne B. Collie of Eastland.

"Under the old certificate law, the State of Texas recognized the work completed by people attending the State teachers' college as being superior to those who attended either the State University, or any other state, or denomination college of the same standing," Senator Collie said in explanation of his measure, "to the extent that those attending the State teachers' college, taking one course in education dealing with elementary education, and at least one course in English, and that not more than two courses may be taken in any one subject, and this special course in education consisting of 34 hours recitation, would entitle such persons to a higher standing for certificate than those attending other state institutions, although such other school gave identically the same work, and had the same rating, or standing.

"To get around this and place these people who attended schools other than state teachers' colleges, or normal colleges, on the same basis, this portion has been added to the law:

Ranked as First Class

"An applicant who has satisfactorily completed the second year of college work in a Texas State normal college or in any university, senior college, junior college, or normal college, which is ranked as first class by the State Superintendent, and who has specialized in the materials of elementary education, including a minimum of 36 recitation hours of practice teaching in the elementary grades under the supervision of a critic teacher, shall be entitled to receive a permanent elementary certificate."

The purpose of another bill he introduced Wednesday was to prevent further discrimination between teachers and teachers' certificates and to clarify the law with regard to the grades and classes of certificates.

The bill would provide that the holder of a State first class elementary certificate, who has taught for six years, shall be entitled to receive a State elementary permanent certificate which would permit the holder to teach in the elementary grades.

Holders of first class certificates are not entitled to a permanent certificate after having taught six years thereunder, even though a holder of such first class certificate may have had considerable college work.

Professor Talks In San Antonio

Reorganization of Society
Is Lecture Topic

Plans for the reorganization of society were analyzed in a lecture given by Dr. R. H. Montgomery, professor of economics, at the San Antonio Y. W. C. A. Wednesday night. The lecture was scheduled to be given Friday, but due to the fact that Mr. Montgomery had been called to another meeting on the latter date, the meeting was moved up two days.

The subject of the talk was "Toward a Planned Society," and he took as his text the quotation from "Alice in Wonderland," "Would you tell me please," said Alice, "which way I ought to walk from here?" "That depends a good deal on where you want to go to," said the cat.

Besides analyzing the plan of the "technocrats" and other suggestions for the reorganization of society, he offered a few of his own views. Mr. Montgomery was one of the economists recently called to Washington under the sponsorship of the Rockefeller Foundation to study current economic questions.

B'nai B'rith Head Will Speak Here On Lecture Tour

Director of Membership To Appear at Temple
Tomorrow

Richard E. Gutstadt, director of the membership bureau of the B'nai B'rith organization, sponsors of the Hillel Foundation, will speak at Temple Beth Israel Friday night, March 3, at 8 o'clock. Rabbi S. H. Baron said Wednesday. Mr. Gutstadt has not yet announced the subject of his talk.

Before Mr. Gutstadt accepted his present national position in Cincinnati, Ohio, he was executive secretary of District Four of the B'nai B'rith lodge with its headquarters in San Francisco. He was also a leader in the Community Chest of that city.

At present Mr. Gutstadt is on a lecture tour of Texas, addressing various communities. He has been brought to Austin through the cooperation of the Beth Israel congregation and the local B'nai B'rith lodge, whose president is Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, professor of pure mathematics.

Mr. Gutstadt will make his appeal to the students and a good attendance of students is expected to hear and meet him. Following the services an informal reception will be held in honor of the out-of-town speaker. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend, Rabbi Baron said.

TEXAS' FREEDOM DECLARED NINETY-SEVEN YEARS AGO

By FRANCES BRANCH

Ninety-seven years ago in a little wooden building in Old Washington, situated on the right bank of the Brazos River, there gathered 58 of the 62 elected delegates from the Texas Province, and there they signed the document which brought into existence the Republic of Texas and gave a new direction to the war with Mexico.

George Campbell Childress was the chairman of the committee to draft the Declaration of Independence and his copy was adopted with but little change. On this committee with him were James Gaines, a soldier of fortune, Baily Hardiman, a lawyer and a soldier, Edward Conrad, who because of his great enthusiasm arrived at the convention on February 27, and Collin McKinney.

This document which was presented to the convention, adopted by them, and signed by all the 58 members present read in part: "When a Government has ceased to protect the lives, liberty

Office Aspirants To File Student Petitions Sunday

Election Held April 4
For Campus
Leaders

13 Places Open

Expense Account Limited
To $50, Shivers
States

Petitions of candidates in the annual spring election will be accepted Sunday and from then on until ten days before the election, Allan Shivers, president of the Students' Association, announced Wednesday.

This announcement officially opens the 1933 election season, which will reach its climax Tuesday morning, April 4, at which time student voters will decide who is to be entrusted with the school's government for the coming year. The offices to be filled are as follows: president, vice president, and secretary of the Students' Association; editors and associate editors of The Daily Texan, Longhorn, and Cactus; chairman of the judiciary council; and a yell leader and two assistants.

All students who aspire to offices must file with Zula Williams, secretary of the Students' Association, petitions which must state that the candidate is a bona fide student of the University and which must be signed by at least 50 students in the University.

Personally Present Petitions Accompanying the petition must be a statement signed by the Registrar stating that the candidate is at the time registered for at least twelve hours of work and that he or she is passing nine of these hours with a grade of at least D.

Shivers pointed out that the petition must be personally presented to the secretary of the association or to a member of the Students' Association. No petitions will be accepted under the door or left lying on desks of the association's office.

Getting petitions in first will have no bearing on the position on the ballot, Shivers said. Before the election the names of the candidates will be placed each on a separate card. The cards will be placed in a box which will be shaken vigorously to insure that the cards will be thoroughly mixed, and then the secretary will draw each card separately, placing the names on the ballot as the cards are drawn.

No student is allowed to hold more than one office, and any student convicted before the faculty discipline committee is ineligible to hold office.

Special Qualifications Offices requiring special qualifications include the editor and associate editors of campus publications and the candidates for yell leader.

Each candidate for a publication office must either have served on the particular publication for a period of one year in some capacity or have received credit for at least two courses in journalism at the end of the year in which the election is held.

Aspirants for the office of yell leader or assistant yell leader must appear before a committee for recommendations for candidates for office of yell leader before they are eligible for election. All the candidates must run on a single ticket, and the one getting the most votes will be yell leader (Continued on Page Two)

Services Held for Gregory As Friends Pay Respects at Gym

"One thing I ask of life,
When still in death I lie,
And I shall rest content and glad—
That those I've known may hold
Kind hearts remembrance
Of the love we had."

In the quiet of an evening hour, T. W. Gregory once recalled those lines, supposed to have been written by old King Solomon in the years of long ago, and expressed the simple hope that that would be his own reward—"that those I've known may hold kind hearts remembrance of the love we had." And on Wednesday those he had known gave vivid demonstration of the fact that their hearts WERE throbbing monuments to the man they loved.

Feature Section Nears Completion

Cactus Editor Asks For Campus Snapshots

The feature section pages of the Cactus are now being composed, and the deadline for this section is rapidly approaching, Joe Riley, editor, said Tuesday.

Students who have any snapshots showing campus activities or University life may turn in these pictures for the feature section of the annual year time before the deadline, Riley said. They may be left at the Cactus office, B. Hall 116.

"These snapshots will help us cover all phases of campus life, and the use of them will be appreciated," Riley said. All pictures will be returned to the owners after they have been used.

Fletcher Has Article In London Magazine

"Some University of Texas Copies of 'Robinson Crusoe'" is the title of an article by Dr. E. G. Fletcher, professor of English, in the January 7 issue of "Notes and Queries," literary magazine published in London.

Dr. Fletcher contrasts the different rare editions of the book and compares them with the standard set down by H. C. Hutchins. According to his account, there is a very good first edition of "Robinson Crusoe, Part I" in the Wrenn Library, a copy in the Stark collection which might pass for a first edition, a first edition title-page having been pasted in, and a third and a fourth edition of Part I, issues 3c and 4c in the Aitken collection.

Oil Receipts For February Drop

Low Prices Cause Loss
In University Income

Receipts from University oil lands now total $16,114,181.69, C. H. Cocke, receiver for the General Land Office, said Wednesday. Receipts for this month amount to $58,275.35 which is a drop of $27,419.20 from last month's total.

The receipts have been greatly reduced because of the low prices in effect now. Whereas the oil was worth 75 cents, it came down to 50 cents and is now worth 35 cents. The two largest fields, the Big Lake and Texon fields, have seen a great decrease, he said. The Big Lake fields brought in receipts amounting to $29,837.12 this month but totaled $44,730.88 last month. This is a drop of $15,000. The Texon field's receipts amount to $15,852.45 this month while the receipts last month were $23,668.

Independence Today

Is there any Texas Independence today? If the fathers of the sovereign State who ninety-seven years ago set their names to the Declaration of Independence, and then proceeded to shoulder muskets in defense of their homes could see Texas today, would they feel the result had been worth the effort? People are not lacking at this moment to say it has not been.

True, in 1845 Texas surrendered her sovereignty to a larger commonwealth, but it was to one whose independence had been bought at the same terms, and in whose independence Texans came to share. What has become of that quality since then? There are orators and writers who say that we are slaves, that our liberties are hemmed in on every side, that we are at the mercy of either an immense, blundering, bureaucracy, or an omnipotent group of insidious capitalists. They go further and say that we are faced with terrible consequences unless we do this and that.

Our independence is curtailed to a considerable extent, but is not the fault more with ourselves? We have deprived ourselves of many privileges through our carelessness and ignorance. The campus of The University of Texas is the scene every day of inadequacies about which there is much talk and no action. We have had dinner into our ears since we entered grammar school that we "are potential citizens of the State of Texas" until the phrase has lost any meaning it might ever have contained. An appeal for thought and action must be based on some other ground than desire to become "good citizens." Students must be made to realize that in failing to take advantage of opportunities for education, which is another name for experience, they are cutting themselves off from an incalculable number of privileges of which the fathers of our State had not the slightest conception.

There will be a difference, and a difference wide enough to be easily noticed, between the citizens of Texas who, in their youth, equipped themselves for independence, and those who did not learn how to live.

Across the Waters

Modern educators will admit that there is something wrong with the grading system now practiced at American institutions of learning. Could the defect be not in the misuse of opinions by teachers as students like to believe, but in the manner we take examinations?

Let us take a glimpse inside an examination room of our far-off friends, the English, attending Oxford. A student describes the informality of it all as follows: "First we all light our pipes and sit around awhile discussing the subject. Then we start to write and if we get stuck, we can always ask our neighbor. That is what is expected. You can't write a paper unless you know the subject."

Yet we Americans believed ourselves to be informal and reasonable. Could we not import a few of these ideas?

A Co-ed's Love Hope

"Any woman who is not a positive hunchback can marry any man she chooses."

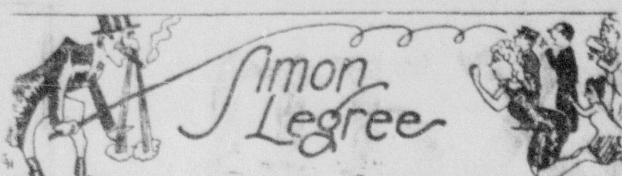

—Dr. Click, after Thackeray.

Becky Sharp's pronouncement is just as true at The University of Texas now as it was in the England of Thackeray's time. There are many co-eds whose primary purpose in being here is to get married. This is commendable.

"How would I go about it, myself?" A co-ed repeated this writer's question. "Well, I'd find out what the man liked; what he liked to talk about and what he liked to do and the colors he liked best—then I'd talk, act and dress so. Of course, I'd have to meet the man first, but that wouldn't be hard."

Most men like to talk about themselves, and this is particularly true of college men. The love-hungry lady should profess intelligent interest in all the things "her" man is doing, make herself indispensable as the one person who would always listen rapt to whatever he had to say. She would soon find that she had become as much a part of him as his pipe.

In the beginning of such an affair, the co-ed might make herself liked and talked about by the man's friends, for in college

"Another twenty, Dad, and I think I can pull through February."

Editor the Texan,

My Dear Robert: Please sign just my initials to this letter,—you know how much I dislike publicity. But I resent this fellow Legree calling himself a professor, casting in that manner a horrible slur upon the honored profession. Personally, I revere my professors.

And I resent Legree's insinuation that my textbooks are lousy, verbose and uninteresting. Some may be, but Patterson's "American Government" is one of the most popular books on the campus.

The other day, as is my custom, I brought my lunch, and was eating it as the steam shovel-men completed their morning's work. I enclose two little sketches of the scene that followed. One of these men was avidly reading Perrin's "Psychology" and the other, Patterson's significant work. Any man that can put over his book like Patterson did his, can consider himself a real governmental authority.

The Students' Assembly would consider it a great public service if Simon Legree were given his proper work, washing dishes in the Cafeteria.

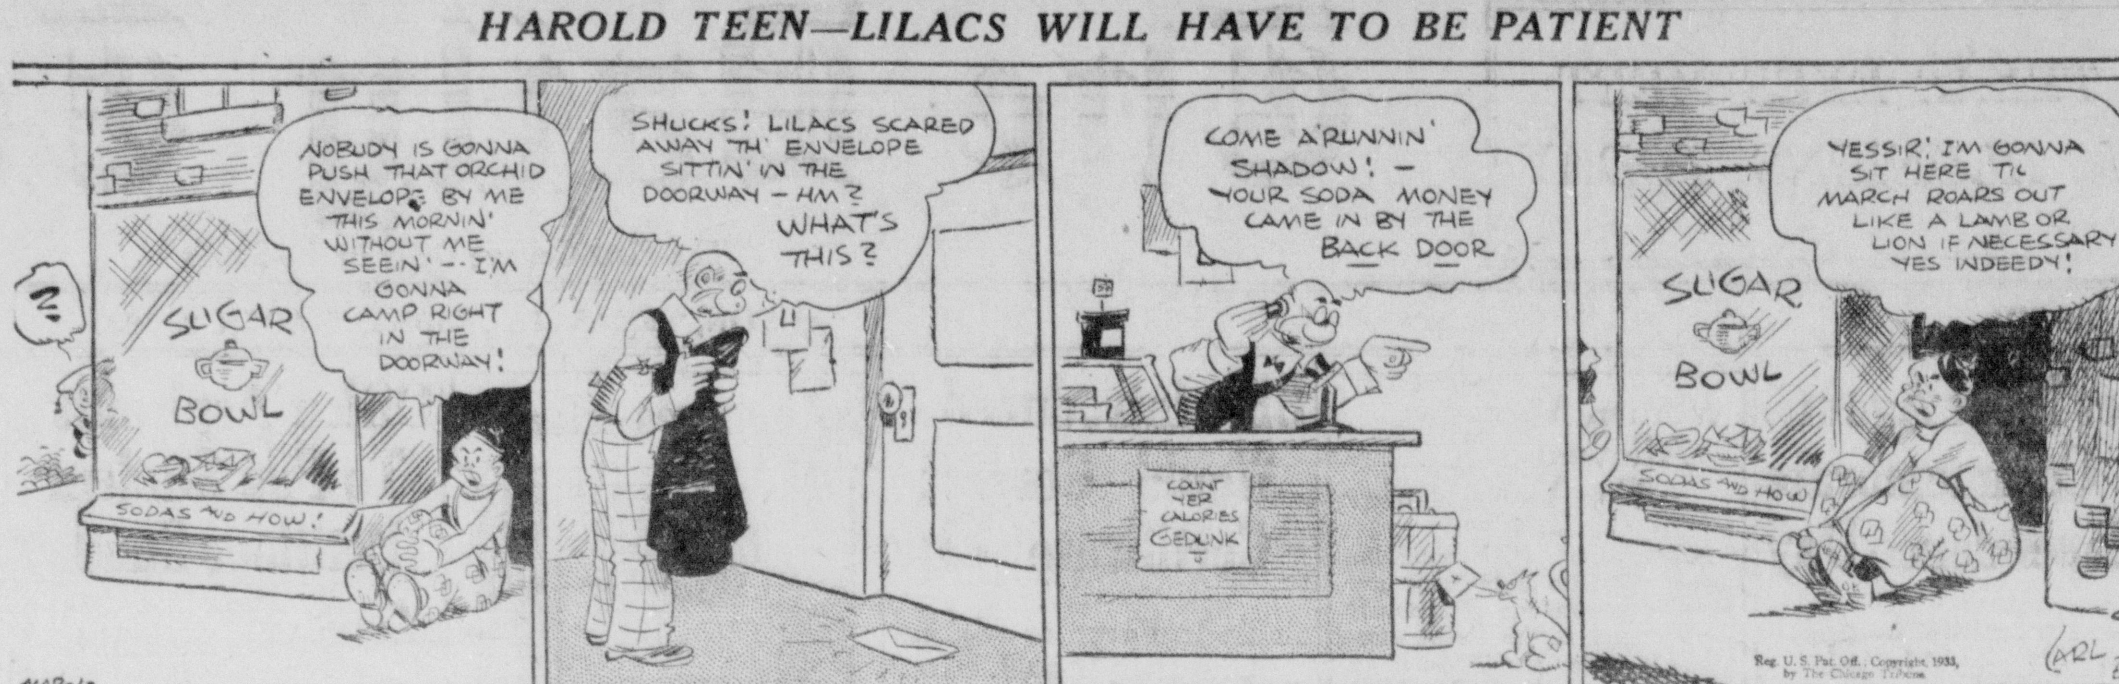

Affectionately,
Allan (Call me "Al") Shivers.

Student Forum

DISSERTATION ON FEES

was so depressing due to the total lack of any facts or material concerning the proposal measure to increase the matriculation fees to all State schools of higher learning, that it seems expedient to get before these two intelligent and capable gentlemen some information and facts which will enable them to abandon those invective statements of attack on their personal views and will enable them to cogitate and expound on the real problem of higher entrance fees.

J. A. is defending Aristocracy and L. D. is defending Democracy. L. D. contends that the limit of public education is determined by public finance, and that good, sane leaders are necessary to Democracy. He holds that the object of education is citizenship, a step in the direction of enabling a man to live with man, and the improvement of man as a worker, as an individual, and as a citizen.

J. A. contends that the aim of education is not citizenship; it is the aim of education to accommodate those individuals who are backed by abundance. "Higher fees would insure that those who come here for an education would be those who are willing to pay for it," J. A. argues.

A Stable Fee

L. D. should be in favor of establishing a stable fee based on option. There could be a fee of $30 for every student attending State schools, and then there could be another fee of $350. (This is the maximum amount stipulated in the proposed measures) which could be open to those energetic Aristocrats who would be "willing to pay for it." This plan offers a chance for the Aristocrat and a chance for the Democrat.

The installation of a substantial increase in the entrance fees to all State institutions of higher learning would have two definite results, viz:

It would impede the continuance of hundreds of deserving, intelligent, and capable men and women from the privilege of higher education. It would not only hamper the individual student, but it would injure The University of Texas and other State schools, because in the present semester there are 462 students from other states who come to the University "because it is cheaper." The school would lose most of this group of students. Then, of the 6,755 students in the University, 3,018 are earning part of their expenses. Yes, 47 per cent of the total student body are earning part of their expenses. Extremely high matriculation fees, like those being advocated by three bills in the present session of the State Legislature, would eliminate, because of financial stress, hundreds of this great portion of working students.

Educational Oppression

Educational oppression would be the other obvious result, if the proposed measures are enacted into law. L. D. holds that if these measures do not lead for general social good, then their enactment would be detrimental to the purpose and plan of our government. But J. A. defends class discrimination.

This information is not an attack on J. A. or L. D. It is an expression of one who is thinking seriously about the problem of higher matriculation fees.

—E. E. M.

PLAN FOR LOW FEES

The Texan misquoted my impersonal suggestion for an effective influence on the proposed increase in University fees.

I do not believe that general resolutions from groups of students will be of much effect in influencing votes in the Legislature.

Let those on the campus who are active in this campaign secure a map of Texas showing legislative districts; let them secure also a University directory, ascertain the legislative district from which each student comes, seek signatures.

Let each State lawmaker find upon his desk—and that soon—a letter signed by "the following students of The University of Texas, who also, are among your constituents," asking for a retention of the present fee schedules.

Let each legislator hear from his own constituents and no others.

Parents of students, and their friends, back home, might add their bit, put letters to their legislators into the mail.

Such a plan—where there industry enough available—would, I think, have some effect. Our own President Benedict will indicate clearly to the Legislature what the University as a whole thinks of increased fees, and he will do it well.

sary and the Round-Up will be stressed.

"The groups will pause in their celebration to pay respect to one of the greatest ex-students of them all, General Thomas Watt Gregory," John A. McCurdy, secretary of the Ex-Students' Association, explained.

The following message from President Benedict will be read at the various banquets:

Message Given

"Education, the surest remedy for the troubles of the world, is, along with almost everything else of value, suffering from the maladjustments of civilization that it has not yet had time to correct. Upper and lower, public and private education are alike seriously threatened despite the fact that the proper training of the young is the first duty of man. Granted enough to keep away mere hunger and cold, the next need is to keep away ignorance because that is the best way to keep away hunger and cold.

Aiming to stand among the best of state universities, Texas will, of course, suffer in standing if Texas cuts down on education more than the United States average of reduction, but it will not suffer more than the other State supported colleges of Texas. These have, and deservedly, their supporters and partisans, but nowhere are there signs of special enmity or opposition to the University. Every Texan cannot have for The University of Texas the affection that you have, but practically every patriotic Texan wishes The University of Texas to retain its membership in the top third of American state universities and to rise even higher towards the top of the list, not for the sake of the University, but because it is one of the chief roads to a great destination—a finer and happier civilization for the whole State of Texas. To this ideal it is devoted and its progress so far is such that despite immediate clouds, the sky of the future is clear.

"Be of good cheer, therefore. Prove the worth of the University by being good citizens, incidentally helping Regents and faculty to make the University better yet."

white ribbons. They will be distributed by Billy Bob White and Annie Lee Marshall.

The cotillion formation will be two successive U's. The first U will be made with the couples in a single line, and the second formation will be double the size of the first. Beginning at the entrance to the dance floor, the couples will march the entire length of the room, and turning just before they reach the orchestra pit, they will circle back around the room, completing a semi-circle, U effect. Seven dances after the cotillion will conclude the program. All music will be furnished by Steve Gardner's orchestra.

Tickets for the prom will be on sale Friday morning in the rotunda of Main Building. The price is $1 per couple, and $1 per stag. The dance is open to all University girls; it is not restricted to junior and senior class members.

THEATERS

"THE WOMAN ACCUSED" (B plus)—Nancy Carroll, Cary Grant, John Halliday, Irving Pichel, now through Friday. At the Paramount.

"BROADWAY BAD" (C)—Joan Blondell, Ricardo Cortez, Ginger Rogers, now through Friday. At the Hancock.

"WHISTLING IN THE DARK" (?)—Ernest Truex, Una Merkel, now through Friday. At the Queen.

Estimates: A, great; B, good; C, fair.

Reviewed Today

Grant and Carroll Paired in Love Story.

A REALLY excellent story of modern love is presented in "The Woman Accused" with Nancy Carroll, Cary Grant, and John Halliday playing the leading roles. The picture is first class entertainment all the way through. The acting is good, the cast is excellent, and the setting exactly right for the tone of the story.

John Halliday gives perhaps the best performance of his screen career as the lawyer friend of the murdered man who tries to get evidence on the "woman accused," Nancy Carroll. Cary Grant is the sporting lover of the accused girl, and does some clever acting to protect her.

Grant and Carroll make a fine team in a picture of this sort. They first played together in "Hot Saturday," but their performance in "The Woman Accused" surpasses their first appearance.

The story has all the ingredients that go to make up an interesting picture—murder, love, suspense, and revenge. It is a credit to the authors who wrote it. At the Paramount.

Estimate: B plus. —M. S.

Ginger Rogers Knocks on Wood.

JOAN BLONDELL is everybody's pal in "Broadway Bad," now showing at the Hancock, but for an entirely different reason from that she usually has in her pictures. Whereas she has been in the habit heretofore of going around keeping other people from being taken for all they have, in this show she turns around and proceeds to take everybody else for as much as possible. Her reputation has been ruined, in the picture, so she sets about capitalizing the publicity attendant to her downfall and ends up being the star of the show in which she got her start.

Miss Blondell gives a good performance, as does Ginger Rogers in her few scenes, but the rest of the cast is mediocre. Not even a cast of stars could have made of this rather slow, disconnected, and pointless story anything more than a fair show. Ginger Rogers knocks on wood at just the right moment for the best gag of the show.

The Primo Carnera, Ernie Schaaf prize fight, a newsreel, travelogue, and an excellent Vitaphone feature of a ventriloquist complete the program.

Estimate: C. —L. K.

Returning Today

NO MAN OF HER OWN," the picture about the making of which there was much hemming and hawing until it was agreed to present it under some title other than "No Bed of Her Own," will be on the Texas Theater screen today and Friday. Carole Lombard is the woman; Clark Gable, the man. The plot concerns itself with gamblers and gambling, but is really only an excuse for scenes the likes of which the screen had never reflected in full flower until the advent of the famous Greta Garbo. This is one of the better vehicles for Miss Lombard, the orchid lady of the Paramount studio, and Mr. Gable's initial appearance under another banner since his accession to popularity as a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer matinee idol.

Texas' Freedom—

or glass and protected by an ornamental grill of handwrought metal which bears the words "Declaration of Independence." It is so lighted by electric bulbs across the base of the niche that every one of the sacred words is clearly visible and legible.

Copies Lost
Today the Declaration of Independence is displayed for the world to see, but there was a time when few people knew of its whereabouts.

At the time of the convention five copies of the precious paper were made, signed by the delegates and inscribed "original." For many years after the convention, however, none of these five copies could be located, and it was presumed that they had all been lost.

In June 1911, Judge Seth Shepard, a Texan and then Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, discovered in the Department of State in Washington a copy which was proved genuine by the following notation "Left at the Department of State May 28, 1836, by William H. Wharton." On it were also the words "the Original." There it had lain for 60 years hidden from the world.

At this time the document was brought back to Texas and put away in the vault of the office of the Secretary of State. There it lay shut away for years while secretaries of State came and went.

In 1927 when Mrs. Jane Y. McCalum became Secretary of State under Governor Dan Moody and took over the office she went through the vault and took out the papers to examine them. She handled them carefully for fear that because of their great age they would tear or crumble in pieces. And then she came upon an old paper bearing various signatures in different styles of writing and seeming of great age. She saw the names famous in Texas history—Briscoe, Potter, Robertson, Houston, Swisher, Maverick, and others too numerous to mention. Could it be an original document—a State paper of great importance? It was. She had brought to light again the famous document that had proclaimed to the world the separation of Texas from Mexico.

That paper was carefully treated by a chemical process to prevent further dissolution. It is now displayed in the Capitol near the sculptured figures of Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston—two of the men who fought to establish the reality of the independence that the old document declares.

Services Held—

"U. T." were formed of yellow iris on a background of white carnations, lilies, and roses, and green ferns. Gamma Eta of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, the Texas chapter, was represented by a wreath in the form of the society's badge, done in blue carnations, with daffodils and other yellow flowers. Texas Alpha of Pi Beta Phi sorority presented an offering of red carnations in the form of an arrow, official badge of the sorority.

From Clarksville, Tenn., came a wreath from Alpha Tau chapter of Alpha Tau Omega at Southwestern Presbyterian University. Mr. Gregory was initiated into the fraternity at that institution. The "T" Association was represented by a large "T" formed of yellow flowers and ferns.

Among the innumerable other offerings were wreaths from the Houston Bar Association, the trustees of the Houston Art Museum, the University Ladies' Club, the Austin National Bank, the Students' Association, the West Texas Oil Scout Association, the Ex-Students' Association, Hill City Lodge number 456, the Travis County Bar Association, Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, Midland Oil Scouts, Scottish Rite Dormitory, and others. Two standards, one carrying the United States flag and the other the Texas flag stood beside the casket.

At four o'clock, as the sun sent shafts of gold across the funeral couch and the surrounding mass of flowers, the services began. The Men's Glee Club and the Girls' Glee Club of the University, numbering 80 students, took their places. The Longhorn Band, with its 64 members in uniform, entered and were seated in a special section. As the band played the processional, numerous distinguished members of the faculty, prominent ex-students, students, and others were shown to their seats by a group of twenty University athletes.

Prominent Persons Attend
Judge Robert Lynn Batts, close friend and former law partner of Mr. Gregory, and General Albert Sidney Burleson, his associate in Woodrow Wilson's cabinet, were among the prominent personages in attendance.

The faculty and students of the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, of which institution Mr. Gregory was a trustee for many years, entered in a body.

The members of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity marched to their places.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson of the State of Texas and her staff entered. Lieutenant Governor Edgar E. Witt and numerous members of the State Legislature and the State judiciary were present.

Beauford H. Jester, chairman of the University Board of Regents, President Harry Yandell Benedict and Mrs. Benedict, and the special University committee, consisting of Dr. W. J. Battle, Dean T. U. Taylor, Dr. W. T. Mather, William L. McGill, John A. McCurdy, Allan Shivers, and Robert L. Baldridge, appointed by President Benedict to be in charge of arrangements for the funeral, entered and were followed by members of the family. The family included Mrs. T. W. Gregory, Sr.; two daughters of Mr. Gregory, Mrs. George Heyer and Miss Cornelia Gregory; two sons, T. W. Gregory, Jr., and Nalle Gregory; Mrs. T. W. Gregory, Jr., Mrs. Gavin Hamilton, a sister of Mrs. Gregory, Sr.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nalle, the latter a sister of Mrs. Gregory, Sr.; Ewell Nalle and family; Ernest Nalle and family, George Nalle and family, and others.

The pall-bearers were T. W. Gregory, Jr., Nalle Gregory, Ewell Nalle, George Nalle, Judge Todd of Washington, D. C., and John A. McCurdy, executive secretary of the Ex-Students' Association.

Glee Club Sings

At the conclusion of the processional, The Rev. Charles L. King, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Houston, read the opening sentences from the scripture; The Rev. Tom Currie of the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary read another scripture lesson. The Men's Glee Club and the Girls' Glee Club sang "Lead Kindly Light."

The Rev. W. R. Minter of the First Southern Presbyterian Church of Austin offered a prayer. The glee clubs sang "Abide with Me" and The Rev. Mr. King offered the benediction. Following Mr. Gregory's well known wishes, no eulogy was given.

As the band played the recessional, the family retired and the casket was taken to the front of the building, down the broad steps of the massive structure that stands as an enduring monument to the Gregory name, and to the waiting funeral coach. Led by President Benedict, Chairman Jester, Judge Batts, and the University committee, faculty members, ex-students, students, and other friends followed the casket from the building, followed their leader in death as they had followed him in life. A gentle breeze stirred the folds of the great flag which flew at half-mast over Gregory Gymnasium.

Services at Oakwood Cemetery consisted of a prayer and a benediction as Thomas Watt Gregory was laid to rest—in quiet and in peace.

ORCHESTRA INITIATES FOUR

Orchestra, dance organization for women, held initiation services Wednesday for Dorothy Shelby, Benita Watkins, Beverly Murphy, and Isabel Holmes. Plans for a spring dance drama were discussed by the members, Amanda Gattousa, leader, stated.

STEERS PLAY REVISED HOSPITAL NINE TODAY

SPORT SHOTS

By DICK WEST
Texas Sports Staff

The basketball game here Saturday night with Texas A. & M. should be the best of the season, not excepting that one played February 11 against T. C. U. The Aggies would like nothing better than to put another blot on our record. Then, they will be fighting to keep second place in the conference race.

Texas Christian must play Southern Methodist yet and the Aggies think the Ponies will beat the Frogs. So if the Maroons beat the Longhorns, they will clinch second place and at the same time beat the club that they would rather beat most.

In Merka and Moody, Steer fans can see two mighty good basketball players who have played consistent games all season. Moody, if it had not been for Sumner and Gray, would have received unanimous selection for an all-conference berth. Many will place him there anyway. Merka is the outstanding center of the loop with the exception of Kubricht.

Shelley Goes Up

Dexter Shelley's selection as coach of Cisco High places another University man at the helm of that high school's athletic affairs. He succeeds Bull Elkins, who, during his short stay in Cisco, developed an enviable reputation as coach. His team was not permitted to play in the Interscholastic League because of ineligibility charges, but he went ahead and played the outstanding junior colleges of the State. He defeated such teams as San Angelo Junior, Abilene Christian freshman, and Corpus Christi Academy. Shelley will inherit a good portion of the club coached by Elkins and should go good in the Oil Belt where football is toughest.

Tennis Team Strong

In past years there have been few schools that had better tennis teams than Texas, but this year it can be safely said that Dr. Penick will have the greatest college team in America and possibly the best all around collection he has ever had. Tulane has had its Sutters, Stanford its Gledhills, and Carolina its Grants, but this season the five-man squad of Kamrath, Buxby, Surface, Welens, and Williams is unsurpassable.

Some school in the national collegiates might produce one individual star of enough brilliance to win singles, but it is doubtful if any other school will place as many men in the final rounds of this tournament as Texas. There will be plenty of competition in this conference, however.

Doc Barr, who won the 1929 State interscholastic meet, will be eligible for S. M. U. His older brother, John, won the title before him. At Rice Holden and Connelley and Wilbur Hess will be available. Baylor has McCleary. None of the above named can defeat Kamrath, Buxby, or Surface.

Tennis Harder Than Football

A great deal of comment has been passed lately on the question of which is the harder game, both mentally and physically, tennis or football. Now to begin the argument, it is assumed that both games are to be played by the best of contestants. We quote from Barry Wood, All-American quarterback of Harvard and a top-notch tennis player.

"Tennis, is to my notion, the harder game. I would rather quarterback against Notre Dame and Northwestern in one day than to play a hard five-set tennis match against an opponent who is your equal.

"In football you run a play, get hit pretty solidly, and then rest a few minutes in the huddle. In tennis, it's run, use your wits, strain every muscle, and hit perfectly. This process is kept up continually in a five-set match for about two hours."

Scores of other football players have protested, saying tennis is a game for pansies and guys that can't take it. They never get hurt.

Draw your own conclusions.

With baseball season coming on, the railbird has a desire to get his chew of tobacco and go out and watch his favorite team practice.

With the depression in its greatest fury, Babe Ruth announces that he has finally submitted to a salary cut and will get only $50,000 for four months' work.

Peggy Ayer, Rachel Barnes and Caroline Treecore attended the graduation dance given at Randolph Field in San Antonio last Friday.

Josephine Strauch is spending the week-end in Kerrville.

Lewis Adds Allen, Mather And Taylor

Considerably strengthened by some additions to his lineup, "Big Foot" Lewis' State Hospital nine will meet the University baseball team Thursday at Clark Field. The game starts at 3 o'clock.

"Potsy" Allen, all-conference catcher for the Longhorns several years ago will do the catching for the hospital nine. Allen went to the big league star leaving the University, but came back and has played quite a bit in the Texas League, being with the Galveston Bucs last summer. Allen has been working out with the Steers this spring and his catching and hitting should be a large factor in the hospital team's game. This addition will send Lewis to the outfield.

Huldy Mather, well known Central Texan who played a great game at first last year with the Llano team in the Hill Country League, and who has played for several years in the Texas League will probably start at first base.

"Chink" Taylor to Play
Another ex-Texas Leaguer that may play against the University is "Chink" Taylor, former major leaguer who was shipped back because his hitting wasn't good enough. Although he couldn't go against the Big League pitchers he has shown that he is able to hit the ball. The Texas League pitchers have to offer, and he should give the Steer chumpers plenty of trouble today. He managed the Llano team in the Hill Country League and led the loop in hitting. He is a clever baserunner, and should bolster the outfield considerably.

The rest of the hospital nine will probably be the same that took a 12-6 lacing from the Longhorn last Thursday with Milligan at second, Burger at short, Chapman at third, Strong in the outfield and McLaughlin pitching. The Big Saint Edwards youngster allowed only two infield hits in his three innings on the mound in the previous game, and with a full week's rest, his arm should be in shape to go a longer time.

Steer Starters Indefinite

Coach Disch has not announced his starting line-up, but it will probably be the same club that started a week ago. Taylor or Winton will get the call to start on the hill, with Lovelady, first; McDowell, second; Viehig, third; Ankerman, short; Miller, left field; Koy, center field; Gannon, right field, and Blanton catching.

The performance of Miller, left fielder and leading hitter in the last game, Captain Ernie Koy, all-conference and all-American centerfielder, and "Chick" Gannon, lefthanded hitter and thrower at the right field position, will be watched.

Even if these men do start the game the fans will probably be given a chance to see what the "second string" men can do under fire, for before the game has gone many innings there will be many substitutions.

Jim Phipps probably will play part of the game at first; Bohn Hilliard will be able to show whether he is as good a ball chaser as he is a ball carrier when he gets into the game at second base. Pete Sikes will be ready to relieve Pat Ankerman at short when the game gets well under way, and Oscar C. Arnold will be given a chance to show how he can field the third base position.

In the outfield there is Del January, quite a heavy hitter from last year's squad, Dan Delaney, and Buster Baebel, both sophomores who have not been able to break into the starting line so far.

Rigg Art Exhibit To Continue One Week

Alvin E. Rigg, architect and artist, has a few of his etchings, water colors, and pencil drawings on exhibition in the architecture library, and they will remain there for about a week longer. S. E. Gideon, associate professor of architecture, said Wednesday. After this exhibition, they will go to the Elisabet Ney studio for the public and then to the School of Fine Arts in Houston.

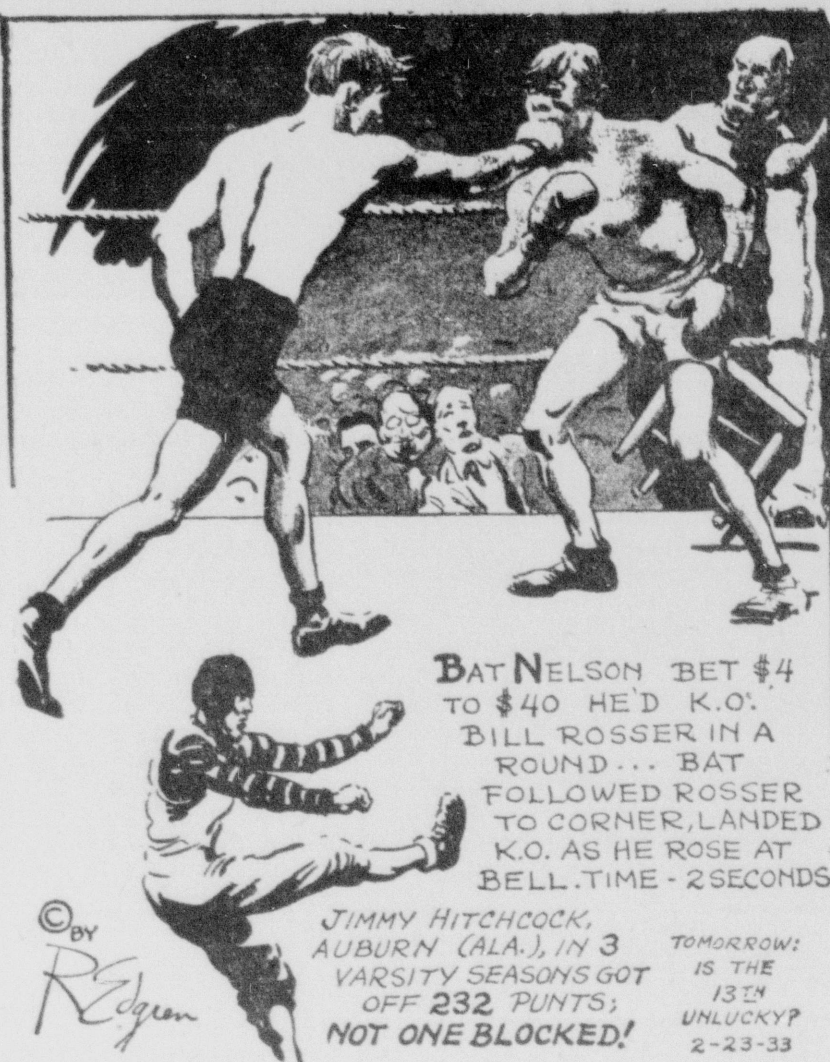

Mr. Rigg has studied in Europe for many years. Much work was done in the School of Fine Arts in Fontainebleau, Paris.

Bears Lose Final To Frogs, 51-22

Special to The Daily Texan
FORT WORTH, March 1.—The T. C. U. Horned Frogs slaughtered the Baylor Bears here Wednesday night, 51-22. The game ended the cage season for the Bruins and left the Frogs with one battle to go, tied for second place with the Aggies of College Station.

Big Hershel Kinzy, Purple center, led the scoring with nineteen points. It was the sensational floor work of "Doc" Sumner, veteran forward, however, that was the biggest factor in the victory. Sumner's adroit handling of the ball, and fine blocking on offense. Frog plays gave his mates shot after shot. He scored eight points, while Lucey Reynolds led the Baylor scoring with six.

The Toads led, 31-15, at the half.

Tennis Squad In First Tilt Today

Tennis fans will have an opportunity of seeing Varsity and freshman netters in the first official spring appearance this afternoon at Penick Court in a special Texas Independence Day one set tournament. Play will start at 2:30 o'clock and the final is expected by 5:30 o'clock.

Nearly thirty-five players have announced they will compete in the tournament. Members of both squads who intend to take part in the tournament should see Louis Davis, manager, or be at the courts by 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Different from other tournaments, this meet will be run off in an afternoon, each match going but one set.

The champion Steer cagers have looked erratic this week as they prepared for their final game against the Texas Aggies here Saturday night.

Coach Olle fears his club will suffer a natural letdown and that the Aggies, intent on at least tying for second place, will give the newly-crowned champions a walling. The eight-game Farmer winning streak also adds to his misgivings.

Although the title is already won, a large crowd is expected out for a final glimpse at the 1933 Steers and a look at four probable all-conference first-stringers—Captain Joe Moody of A. & M., Captain Ed Price, Bill Kubricht, and Jack Gray of Texas.

Aggie Coach Says Roberts Best Guard in Conference

Special to The Daily Texan

COLLEGE STATION, March 1.—The most underrated and yet probably the best guard in the Southwest Conference today—that's the way Coach John Reid describes James Elton (Jocko) Roberts, of Terrell, who has been the main cog in a Texas Aggie cage defense which has had the least number of points scored against it of any Southwest Conference team this season. And Roberts also is a constant scoring threat and is one of the leading scoring guards in the conference.

It was "Jocko" Roberts who started a great Aggie rally which brought the cadets up from behind a nine point disadvantage late in the Baylor game played here. And it was Roberts' scoring spree which enabled the Cadets to take the lead and ultimately defeat the Texas Christian Horned Frogs here. At the same time he held Wendell (Doc) Sumner, Frog scoring ace, to three field goals. He had held him to two in the tilt played at Fort Worth. And it was Roberts who staged a scoring spree which "iced" the game with S. M. U. here Monday night.

Moody, Good Forward
Cooperating with Roberts as the mainsprings of an Aggie team which, refusing to be discouraged by early season setbacks, has pushed itself to second place in conference standing, has been Captain Joe Moody, a sterling forward from Corpus Christi. Moody now stands third in conference scoring with a total of 108 points.

BELGIANS APPRECIATE COST OF 'THE EYES OF TEXAS'

"The Eyes of Texas" may be an inspiring number to students of the University, but it is just another "bill of fare" to a certain Antwerp cafe owner. When Milton Schaefer, law student in the University in 1932, entered a cafe in Antwerp, Belgium, recently, he soon reached the conclusion that he disliked the native music.

Schaefer sauntered up to the orchestra and spent several hours teaching "The Eyes of Texas" to the Belgians. Believing that he had rendered a valuable service, Schaefer asked for a dinner check, and prepared to leave the cafe. He also has been the "brains" of the Aggie attack for the most part. During the T. C. U. tilt here, for instance, the Aggies were trailing in the second half. Moody called for time out and developed a tipoff play especially suited to the situation. The Aggies then go three straight tipoffs and took the lead. His calling of tipoff plays against S. M. U. Monday night was masterful and largely was responsible for the Aggies' ten point victory.

Moody and Roberts are seniors and both are being touted by Aggie supporters for all-Southwest Conference honors. They will end their Cadet basketball careers Saturday night at Austin in action against the University of Texas Longhorns.

Play Last Game
Other Aggie players who will wear the Maroon and White colors of the Aggies for the last time in the Longhorn game are as follows: Clarence (Bull) Marcum, Estelline, guard; Earl Horn, Dallas, forward; and Earl Shepherd, Port Arthur, forward. Moody and Marcum have lettered twice and Roberts has lettered once. Horn and Shepherd are squadmen.

Moody, Roberts, Marcum, and Horn, together with Joe Merka, center from Bryan, probably will comprise the Aggies' starting line-up against the Longhorns. Merka, incidentally, never has reached top form this season because of injuries and the flu. Aggie fans are of the opinion that if he had been in shape, the Cadets still would be threatening the Longhorns for the championship.

Imagine his confusion when he saw that an additional two-hundred and fifty francs, or twenty-five dollars, were on his bill for the rendition of the song of his beloved alma mater. Finding himself without the price for the priceless song, Schaefer explained his financial condition and declared that he was a poor sailor.

The owner of the cafe compelled him to show his passport before permitting his departure. A bogus doctor's certificate was presented. Unable to read Eng-

52 Frosh Diamond Aspirants Meet With Karow

Approximately 50 freshman baseball candidates met Marty Karow, freshman baseball coach, Tuesday night and filled out equipment cards and listened to a few words from W. J. Disch and Mr. Karow.

From the number of men out for each position there will be a lively scrap to see who will make the squad. Of the 52 men reporting Tuesday, 11 are pitchers, 6 are catchers, 8 first basemen, 9 second basemen, 5 third basemen, 3 shortstops, and 10 outfielders.

Some of the boys that are now out for basketball or are otherwise occupied at present will report later in the season.

Some of the boys come here with quite a reputation as high school players or summer league players, while most of them are unknowns. If any of them are capable of becoming varsity material Coach Karow will not be long in discovering their possibilities.

There will be several vacancies in the team next year with such stars as Ernie Koy, Claude "Ox" Blanton, Doug Bloebaum, and Charlie Winton lost by graduation. If any of these men show up there is quite a chance that several of them will break into the regular lineup next season.

The players are expected to have their first workout Friday afternoon.

The following members of Alpha Chi Omega will visit out-of-town friends over the week-end: Ruth Joost, Houston; Edythe Carson, Galveston; and Isabel Thomas, San Antonio.

lish, the owner accepted the certificate as a passport and permitted Schaefer to go his way.

—and the telephone

Keenly aware of the problems of business, large and small, Bell System commercial men are constantly devising special telephone plans to custom-fit service to the user's needs.

For example, a plan they worked out for a coal distributor helped him to contact 50% more dealers. A manufacturer, using a telephone selling plan, sold 700 dozen pairs of hosiery through one Long Distance call. A great meat packer handles complex sales and distribution problems efficiently with the aid of planned Long Distance and private wire services.

Systematic telephone plans are helping many users to build business—cut costs—handle collections—unify nationwide organizations—increase profits. And Bell System men are seeking still other ways to make the telephone more useful.
