Records Endangered By High School Athletes In Final Round Today

Contestants qualified by preliminary wins will compete for State honors in the final events scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Excellent field conditions and consequently fast time, bid fair to reveal new record-smashing material.

J. C. Petty of Kaufman High twirled the discus in a mighty heave of 151 ft. 2 in., to smash his own last year's record of 141 ft. 9 in. Running a remarkable race in a fast field, Green of Abilene High tied the League record in the 220-yard dash with a time of 21.5 seconds.

COL. A. T. MCKINNEY

Another of the men who have served The University of Texas has passed. Colonel A. T. McKinney, former regent of the University is dead.

In the words of a leading Texas newspaper: "Colonel McKinney distinguished himself as a member of the Texas bar, served as a member of the House of Representatives of the Texas Legislature, and had wide educational interests."

He possessed the distinction while living of being the oldest living graduate of Princeton University. He witnessed the Civil War in the service of the Confederacy as a captain under General Robert E. Lee, the growth of Texas from a frontier and undeveloped state to its present prestige, was a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1875 and one of the signers of the Constitution of Texas. Altogether a colorful life was brought to an end by the sudden death of this distinguished man.

THE PRESS DIVISION

The second annual convention of the Interscholastic League Press Conference opened its session yesterday. The program consists of a variety of speeches on different angles of journalism, together with contests of various types in the news-writing field. Visitors will have the pleasure of attending different exhibits, the outstanding of which will be a talking picture at the Texas Theater portraying the production of a newspaper. At the conclusion of the meet, the delegates will hold a business meeting to elect new officers, and to announce new plans for next year.

It is entirely fitting that this feature of the Interscholastic League should be developed just as has been the case with the many other lines of activity in which representatives from over the state engage. The publication of high school papers, weeklies, and yearbooks has resulted in an increase in the number of persons engaging in journalistic endeavors. The annual Press Conference is but the natural provision for the showing of interest and arousing of competition among those so interested in the schools over the state.

WITH IMAGINATION

Imagination is the seed from which the big things, the great accomplishments sprout. Imagination, which we love to think of as the exclusive property of the idle dreamer, is the most potent factor in the tremendous achievements of our modern civilization. Imagination causes great rivers to be spanned by wonderful bridges; it causes the erection of towering skyscrapers, dedicated to the spirit of our times; it builds great cathedrals; brings into existence mighty dams; builds the fleet steamers, the amazingly fast airplanes; and harnesses the wild forces of nature to be used for the good of mankind. While in the realm of literature and art, it holds its centuries-old sway.

Imagination is essential. The individual without an imagination is imprisoned in a dull and dreary world. Without it he is powerless to break his bonds and gain a freedom of mind and soul. He stares about him with unseeing eyes, is like a man, who because of his bowed head misses the beauty of the heavens at night. His lack of imagination makes him narrow and selfish, dry and uninteresting. Because he cannot think big, he cannot do big. He lives his petty life, solaced by the bliss of ignorance.

Look at the important figures that have gained our respect as wonder-workers, miracle-creators. Can you doubt that it was a virile imagination that was responsible for their big-scale successes? Aren't their achievements but the realizations of their big dreams and imaginations? Imagination is the cause, big deeds the effect.

In Chili, a co-ed can't go out on a date without being chaperoned by a member of her family or some other party equally interested in her welfare.

There is no great genius without a tincture of madness.—Seneca.

Ignorance of one's misfortunes is clear gain.—Euripedes.

CONVENTIONS FROM ORIGIN

Few studies afford a greater fascination to the casual student of human nature or give keener stimulation to the abstract scholar than an investigation of the development of human conventions from their primitive origins to their present form in the guise of polite manners.

When a gentleman in evening dress extends his hand to receive the faint contact of a lady's finger tips in recognition of a formal introduction, he seldom reflects that this particular convention originated in the practice of barbarous peoples who, when proclaiming their intent of meeting in the spirit of friendship, thrust forth the open hand to show that it carried no offensive weapon.

Similarly, when the wrath of a young second-lieutenant waxes hot upon receiving a sloppy salute from some weary trooper, he little thinks that the Roman military tribune (for quite a different reason) once watched the salutation of the centurion coming into his presence. In the days when the Roman legions were fighting their first battles beyond the walls of Romulus, that hand coming to the helmet visor was carefully scrutinized to see that the palm turned out properly and that it did not conceal a sharp, pointed dagger.

Many of our every day conventions, which we take for granted in the course of the events of our daily life, have originated in some such fashion. The origin of some are lost in the mists of antiquity.

As a casual moment amusement and good brain food, we might suggest nothing better than tracing conventions and manners to their origin and marvelling at their evolution.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN COLLEGE BASEBALL

Razzing the umpire and opposing players continues to be a favorite pastime of baseball players in many colleges, although such tactics are taboo in other sports.

Football has its code, as has basketball, tennis, and track, while golf has a very formal etiquette. But actions that would not be tolerated in these sports are regarded lightheartedly and even encouraged in baseball simply because they have always been a part of the game.

T. N. Metcalf, of Iowa State College, secretary of the Big Six Conference Directors' Association, has suggested that the conference endorse and follow the National Collegiate Sportsmanship Code for Intercollegiate Baseball as laid down by the Intercollegiate Baseball Guild.

The Sportsmanship Code was considered by the Big Six last year, and although it was not formally adopted its principles have been observed by a gentlemen's agreement. Personalities against players and umpires have been eliminated, and the conference standard has been raised appreciably.

Personal remarks to opponents and officials, protests, interference with throws, obstructing base runners, and fake warnings and directions are taboo under the code. Coaches should keep quiet, and courtesy should be shown in the matter of batting and fielding practice. Pitchers should not use resin or freak deliveries as "spit" or "shine" balls, and men at bat should maintain a sportsmanship attitude. Players, in brief, are asked to help eliminate all unsportsmanlike practices and in their playing to conduct themselves as gentlemen and sportsmen.

Chester L. Brewer, director of athletics in the University, strongly favors the code. Indeed, there is no reason why the same standards of sportsmanship that obtain in other athletic activities should not exist also in college baseball.

The Big Six enjoys a high standard of conduct in baseball, but it would do well to adopt the entire code. It is a move in the right direction and should be supported.

In the words of the code: "We all recognize that rules and codes will not make a sportsman out of a mucker, but it will help to transform the spirit that prompts it, and will create in time the same spirit of sportsmanship toward opponents that is characteristic of other inter-collegiate contests."—Columbia Missourian.

GO WEST, YOUNG MAN

Travellers returning from the Mid-West report deplorable or commendable conditions—according to one's point of view—amongst the students of certain state universities. Serenading is an established campus practice, and it is said that some of the crooning and imitation crooning is good to listen to. The theory that interchange of students amongst different colleges, even for only a few days at a time, may be most illuminating is supported by these unofficial ambassadors from McGill.

Dating is handled in a practical rather than a circuitously careful manner. The only qualification for getting a partner for the evening is to supply two bits of information, one's name and one's height. In any residence there are all sorts of girls to choose from, and a smart pairing is almost assured. The most popular women's residences are those with the most convenient fire escapes, and the rooms leading to this means of egress, are cornered by the seniors.

The frankness of youth in the United States—we read about it up here, but the visitors from whom we get our information tell us that it materializes upon examination. All the better known brands of whisky and gin with Dominion Government labels are obtainable at most of the best parties, although it seems that some of the bottles bear strange resemblances to javel water and hair tonic containers. Chemistry students are at a premium.

Other quaint customs are prevalent in Mid-Western universities.—McGill Daily.

Specialist Makes Visit to Bureau

Kedzierski Conducts Study Of Distribution

S. L. Kedzierski, assistant chief business specialist of the merchandizing research division, U. S. Department of Commerce, spent several days in Austin last week conferring with officials of the Bureau of Business Research at the University.

Mr. Kedzierski is concerned with locating an outstanding example of among Texas wholesale grocery efficient distribution methods concerns.

The information obtained in Texas centers will be combined with that secured from outstanding wholesalers in a number of other principal cities in all parts of the country. The results of the study when completed will be made available to the grocery industry in the form of a report of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

In commenting upon the nature and the scope of economic research now carried on by the Bureau of Business Research, Mr. Kedzierski stated, "I am very much impressed with the way in which the bureau has approached many of the economic problems in the state. The Bureau with its staff can very readily place itself along with the research bureaus connected with the larger universities of the country."

It's a drama about a high class gigolo who makes his living off of various and sundry ladies—"Women fought for his caresses; men threatened his life." He falls in love himself, and from then on it's a struggle to unravel the complications in time for the satisfactory ending of the picture. The ladies in the case are Kay Francis, Carole Lombard, and Olive Tell. Competent performances can be expected of all these people; a god deal of smart dialogue, of the lines; and plenty of entertainment in the picture. WILD FLOWERS EXHIBITED
BY BOTANY DEPARTMENT

Fresh specimens of more than four hundred and fifty species of native Texas plants, including many wild flowers, will be displayed today through Sunday in the Biological Laboratory.

Faculty and student members of the department of botany had gathered numerous specimens by Thursday evening. They continued their search for various representatives of native Texas flowers early Friday morning. Hills and canyons in a radius of 60 miles of Austin were being secured early today for the desired specimens.

A unique exhibition which promises to be both pleasing and educational has been arranged by representatives of the department. Each plant has been labeled with its scientific and common names. All have been arranged in family groups showing relation of one plant to another. The department promises a collection of Texas plants that are seldom exhibited at one time.

The flower show is held each year during the Inter-scholastic League meets. Last year a similar exhibition was offered. The show is extended through Sunday to allow out-of-town people who are interested to make the trip to Austin.

Major Games Used Up

The Bear-Steer baseball game of Thursday was the final exhibition to be played in Austin in any major sport until September 26, when Simmons comes over for a football game. However, since this isn't football weather by any means, Abe will spare himself the manly perspiration, and you the trouble of skipping by refraining from any further mention of the subject.

So let's toss off the football uniforms and take a long, cool dive into a very light diatribe on swimming, the coolest of all sports, especially in winter.

Shorty Alderson tells Abe that there is a lad down in San Antonio who answers when you call him Rogers Gardner, who is the best prospective swimming man that he has seen in a long time. At present, Gardner is swimming for the San Antonio "Y". Gardner goes to Main Avenue High, and is 19 years old. He is planning to try-out for the Olympics. This lad has done the 100 in 58, and the 220 in 2:40, and if you think that isn't good time, try it some time, with or without a hungry shark a couple of jumps behind you.

Swimming is perhaps the one recognized and popular sport wherein women are physically equipped to compete with men. The sport requires quickness, grace and coordination. There is a lass out at Seattle, Wash., who does the 100 in 60 flat, a time that would push any conference swimmer to beat.

Abe mourns the fact that women aren't allowed to compete in the Southwest Conference. Of course, there is no conference ruling that says they can't, but powers that control girls' athletics in almost every school have laid down the law in no uncertain terms forbidding interscholastic competition, either fe-educational or co-educational, if you get what that means. But perhaps it's best the way it is, for with all due respect to our Deans of Women, Abe doesn't imagine that there would be so much desire among participants to make trips if several chaperones were taken along to insure the sane and sober conduct of the co-educational athletes.

Alas! Alas!

Four of Uncle Billy Dirsch's baseballers have played their last game on Clark Field. They are Minton White, Van Lamm, Mike De la Fuente, and Oscar Peeples. The loss of all four of these men will be hard to take, but the loss of the two first-string pitchers will hurt most.

Clyde McDowell is one of the most brilliant youngsters who ever came out for the keystone position, and Van Viebig of the Frosh or Ernie Koy or Shorty Watson will be available for the first gap position.

There are two nice-looking freshmen hurlers coming up from the Frosh, Garrett and Taylor. Then there are Ingram and Winton. However, all four of these men are comparatively inexperienced, and the pitching staff of next year will doubtless be weaker than the De la Fuente-Peeples combination.

Taken as a whole, though, next year's squad will be as strong or stronger than the present aggregation.

Too Much Sun

Here's something from the Sporting News, entitled "Too Hot to Handle in Texas."

"Jack Kloza, Milwaukee Brewer outfielder, hasn't recovered yet from his experiences last season in Texas, and has been forced out of the lineup to recuperate. Some Lone Star chamber of commerce may make the nails sizzle over it, but here is Kloza's red-hot version of how he burned up in the Texas League: 'The sun makes a wreck of you. It is even tougher on the pitchers. Some of them are able to fool the batters for the first five innings or so, but after that the heat gets them. When the game is half over the players have to cool their spikes—that's how hot it gets down in the Texas League. After we complete an inning we have to soak our feet in a bucket of water to cool them.'"

Kloza probably needed some tall excuse for laying out a few days when he reeled off the foregoing statement, but if partly true, perhaps that's another reason why Texas sun-trained men usually stick when they hit the majors. They're tough.

Belva Ball, who was recently operated on for appendicitis, is convalescing at St. David's Hospital.

Miss Margaret Peck, Y. W. C. A. secretary, is spending the week-end in San Antonio.

The three schools more firmly entrenched themselves as favorites through the placing of men in Friday's preliminaries.

Rice led in the placing of men with 11, while the other schools followed in the order named: Texas A. & M., 8; Texas, 5; Baylor, 4; T. C. U., 1; S. M. U., 1; and Arkansas, none.

Conference Meet Gets Under Way With 110 Entries; Texas Has 22

Special to The Daily Texan.
FORT WORTH, May 8.—A total of 110 entries have been received for the annual Southwest Conference track and field meet being held on Frog Field Friday and Saturday. Rice leads the field with 26 men entered, and The University of Texas and Texas A. & M. College follow closely behind with 22 and 21 men entered respectively. T. C. U. and S. M. U. each have 14 men entered. Baylor will send eight men, while five men will come from the University of Arkansas.

In the field events, the hottest contests are expected in the vaulting and the weights. Dick Baldry, will have a dual battle for first Rice, and Harry Stittler, A. & M., place in the vaulting. Stittler holds the present conference record in this event, but has been consistently beaten this year by Baldry. In the weights, Buddy Sprague of S. M. U., and Dan Salkeld of T. C. U., are expected to wage battle for honors in the discuss and shotput.

Mike Hale, Rice broad-jumper, set a new mark in this event in the Stock Show meet with a leap of 24 feet 5 1/2 inches, and is expected to take this event and probably endanger the present conference record, which is 23 feet 11 1/2 inches, set by Farmer of A. & M., two years ago.

Hermann, of S. M. U., appears to be the best bet in the javelin. He has won this event consistently in dual meets this season. The high jump has no outstanding entries, but a host of good men are entered in this event.

The relay appears to be a toss up between the Longhorns, the Owls and the Aggies.

Nine Trackmen In Last Meets

By WILBUR EVANS
Texas Sports Staff

Running their last race and competing for their last time for the Orange and White, nine members of Coach Clyde Littlefield's thinly clad team will be fighting for the conference track and field title today. Of this group, five are tracksters and the remaining four will be entered in the field events.

Captain Wilbur Westerfeldt will be pitted against the greatest aggregation of quartermilers that this conference has seen for many seasons. "Westy" was one of the leading 440-yard men his sophomore year, and he won fourth place in this event at the conference meet. He was also a member of the champion mile relay team the same year.

Last year Westerfeldt was easily the outstanding quartermiler in the conference. He nosed out Emmons of A. & M. to break the tape first, and ran as anchor man in the mile relay team that won this event. This year he is again expected to win the quarter and run the last lap of the mile relay, and to come in ahead of the field in this event. His greatest competitor in the quarter will be Jamerson of Rice, and he may force "Westy" to break the conference record. He will also run in the sprint relay in an effort to cop first place.

Westerfeldt went out for football his first two years and would have made the grade, but he decided to quit the gridiron and not risk getting crippled up, which would have ruined his wonderful track career.

"He is not only one of the greatest runners that I have ever coached, but is the best leader of a team," is what Coach Clyde Littlefield had to say of "Westy." We will have to look a long time to find a man to fill his shoes.

Perkins

Another to graduate this year is one who has had one of the most colorful careers of any athlete that ever attended the University. He is Milton "Pap" Perkins from Bastrop, and has lettered in three major sports while at the University. Pap tied for first place in the high jump at the conference meet in 1929 and again in 1930. He won in all of the dual meets last year, but the weather conditions were unfavorable at College Station, the site of the tournament, and he tied with four other jumpers. Pap will be favored to win this year barring rainy weather. It is very likely that he will also be entered in the broad jump, javelin, and shot put, and will be conceded a chance to take second or third in one of these events. He was a member of the football relay team that won the Rockne Memorial Race at the Drake Relays setting a record of 43.2 seconds.

Perkins has made three letters this year for all-conference despite the fact that he played intermittently. Pap wasn't a sub, however, but was one of the six regulars that composed the Longhorn backfield. It was in football that Pap first entered the Steer corral of fame, and to be exact, it was November 10, 1928 on the Cotton Palace gridiron in a game played against the Baylor Bears. He snagged a basket pass and weaved his way 34 yards for a touchdown and victory. In 1929 he was again a star half back and this was the only year during his career that his team failed to win the title. This year he divided time with Stafford at right half, and once more thrilled the fans with his side-stepping parades. Pap gained his third letter in basketball on the 1931 cage team. He was on the squad last year, but dropped out before the end of the season. He was a good guard and was at his best taking shots off the backboard.

Craig

Johnny Craig, premier broad jumper in these parts will participate in a conference track meet for his last time today. Craig placed fourth in this event his sophomore year and was the champion last year. Besides his pit performances, Craig is a dash man of merit. He has clipped the century in 10 flat several times, and will run as anchor man Saturday on the sprint relay team that will fight it out with the Rice quartet for first place. Craig and Hale are expected to have a merry contest in the broad jump and both will be fighting for first place. Johnny makes his best leap on his first try practically 90 per cent of the time, and should he do this again at Fort Worth, the scorer will please give the Longhorns five points.

As quarterback of the championship Longhorns in about half of the games this past season was how Craig spent the fall month. He is a smart field general and has the speed of a deer when he returns a punt or starts on an end run. He is off like a flash and is going at his best when he is tackled. He considers inches as scores and never slows down. He will be back next year and should fit nicely in a backfield of Elkins, Stafford, and Koy. John ran as anchor man on the football relay team that won at Drake, and should the Longhorns win the championship next year, he would be eligible to run again.

Wilkey

Scott Wilkey from El Paso will don his togs for the last time today when he runs in the 220-yard dash. Injuries have kept him out of all the competitions this year, but in his only race of the year and his last for Texas, he will have a good chance of capturing fourth. Wilkey was destined to place in both the century and the 220 at the conference meet, but his jerked muscle has reduced his speed until he will only enter one race. He would have been a member of the mile relay team had he been in good condition.

As a sophomore, Wilkey was good enough to get fourth place in the 220-yard dash against

Nine Make Trip For Season's Final

In the last matches of the season before the Conference meet, the netters of Dr. Penick will meet the Aggie netmen today at College Station. Nine netmen and a manager were taken on the trip, Karl Kamrath, Sterling Williams, Colmon Barnhill, David Peden, Warner McNair, Weldon Litsey, Bill Masterson, Phillip Gilbertson, and Robert McElroy, manager.

The Steer netters have yet to lose a match this season, and they have met the fastest squads in the southwest including Oklahoma, champions of their conference, the strong T. C. U. squad, led by McDiarmid, and the Rice aggregation, headed by Connally and Holden.

Special to The Daily Texan.

COLLEGE STATION, May 8.—Meeting their fifth Southwest Conference opponent, Coach W. H. Thomas' Texas Aggie tennis team will tangle with the Texas University netmen here Saturday at 2:30 o'clock.

So far this season the Aggie netmen have won from Baylor University and have lost to Rice Institute, T. C. U. and S. M. U.

Bracey and Leland. Last year he finished fourth in this same event, coming in ahead of Emmons of the Aggies and Goddard of Baylor. He was also a member of the mile relay team that finished ahead of the field.

Trousdale

Henry Trousdale of Smithville has been one of the main vaulters at the University during his three years of competition. Although he has never placed in the conference carnival, he will be expected to make a good showing. The conference has two excellent pole vaulters this year in Stittler of A. & M. and Baldry of Rice. Trousdale has also run the hurdles in some of the dual meets this year, but it is hardly probable that he will enter this event, as Rice and A. & M. have the first four places "sewed up."

Cole

Cecil "Cy" Cole, co-captain of the 1930 cross country team, will be entered in the two-mile grind. Cole has placed in this event for the past two seasons and should give Smith of A. & M. a close race for second. Blakeney of Texas will be a heavy favorite to break the tape in this event.

Cole has had three successful years on the cross country team but his team has had to finish second to the strong A. & M. harriers for all three seasons. Cole has a great finish for a two-miler, and unless the leader has yards to spare, he may lose what he thinks a cinch race.

Jim Fomby gained his first letter in track last year and gained it by his high jumps. He rates next to Perkins in this event this year, and should place among the first three in the conference meet. He has been jumping around the 6 foot mark consistently this season.

Fomby, Cote and Bowen

Fomby was captain of the 1931 cage team and was one of the leading centers of the circuit. He was never out-jumped by opponents and this includes "Too Tall" Dietzel of the champion Frog team. He made two letters in this sport and was a great leader of the 1931 team.

Clifford Cate of Austin will run the mile in the conference meet. He has been entered in this event for three seasons, but has never placed. He has shown and ran a good race in the triangular meet with S.M.U. and Baylor. Cate was also a member of the cross country team.

Bowen is a two-miler and will run in this event at Fort Worth. He has been on the track squad for three seasons, and has been one of the leading two-milers.

Freshmen Beat Allen 13 to 7

Garrett Holds Academy To Six Hits

Continuing their winning streak, the University Freshman baseball team scored at will in the early innings of their game with Allen Academy nine to establish a safe lead to win the game by 13-7. The game lasted only seven innings, but it was the length of a twelve inning game. Some of the longest drives made in Clark Field this season were made yesterday.

Floyd Garrett, curve artist, pitched the first six innings and was never in trouble being touched for only six hits in this length of time. He was wild and timely blows accredited for the six runs scored on him. Garrett hit three of the opposing batters and gave four free passes to first base. He was relieved by Vernon Taylor in the seventh inning who allowed two hits and one run.

Viebig had a perfect day at bat, slamming out two home runs that lodged on the centerfield cliff and refused to come down until the slugger had scored. He also hit two screaming doubles into deep center. Guy Ben Royal Matheny, spectacle right fielder, was credited with three singles and two doubles in five trips to the plate to share batting honors with his captain. "Skeet" January was the only other freshman to collect as many as two hits.

The Allen boys had to use three pitchers and the last one called upon was very effective and allowed only one run in the course of four innings. Their infield functioned well and completed one double play. Eichelberger, first baseman, made a beautiful catch of Cole's foul that came down over the Frosh dugout.

The same teams will meet again this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on Clark Field.
