MANY COURSES NOW OFFERED BY CORRESPONDENCE

Problem of Bringing the University to the People Gradually Being Solved—Teaching by Mail Becoming Popular.

The new credit courses announced in the Correspondence Bulletin are as follows: In the College of Arts, Banking and Investments, the Labor Problem, English 3 (advanced composition), the Mathematics of Life Insurance, and Advanced Debate; in the Department of Education, Teacher's Course in German, Teacher's Course in Spanish, and Methods of Teaching Agriculture; in the Electrical Engineering Department, Alternating Current Engineering, Machine Design, Mechanism, and Telephony; and in the Law Department, Pleading, Evidence, Bailmen and Carriers, and Sales of Personal Property.

The new non-credit courses are of a practical nature. They fall under four heads, namely: Business Training Courses, Courses in Commercial Spanish, Courses in Agriculture, and Courses in Engineering. The primary object of the business training courses is to aid business men over the state are unable to attend the University. The courses are announced as follows: Bookkeeping and Business Practice, Advanced Bookkeeping, and Commercial Correspondence.

The courses in Commercial Spanish, offered by Professor Hall, will deal chiefly with the practical every-day vocabulary of the merchant and business man who has to deal with large Spanish-speaking peoples of the Southwest. The courses are listed as follows: Commercial Spanish, three courses; and a reader's course in Spanish. The text book, "The All-Spanish Method," now in the press, written by Mr. D. Hall, will be used. A course of Business English for foreigners is also offered by the same instructor.

The courses offered in agriculture are: Grasses and Forage Crops, Plant Culture, Live Stock and Dairying, Poultry, Cereals, Soil Fertility and Soil Management, and Farm Management. All of these courses may be counted for admission credits to the University.

The courses in Engineering are intended for practical men who plan to make use of them in their daily work, or to use them in training others along practical lines of work. The courses announced are: Operation and Care of Electrical Machinery, Care of Electrical Machinery (advanced course), Heating and Ventilating, Lighting, Boiler Plans, Care of Steam Engine, and Gas Engines.

The great increase in the number that have registered for correspondence courses within the last two years show that the people all over the state are recognizing and making use of the opportunity offered them by the University. The total registration for 1912 was 767, while that for 1913 was 1,225, showing an increase of 46.6 per cent within one year. The highest number of registration for any one month was 173 in June, 1913, as against 129 for June, 1912. The highest increase in percentage for any one month was shown in October, 1913. In this month 134 registered, as against 74 during the same month in 1912. This increase was shown in spite of the fact that resident students are not permitted to register for correspondence courses while residing at the University. This rule is rigidly applied except in cases of Seniors applying for a degree in the present session.

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS.

That the movement of better civic attractiveness is taking hold of the University of Texas, is evidenced by the activity of Mr. Beck during the past few days to better the appearance of the campus.

During the heavy rains dates the campus was disfigured by the ditches that were cut down the driveways and walks. These drains have been filled up, and the passages have been fixed to present a more pleasant effect to the eye, and at the same time, make automobile more pleasant.

The drainage will be carried across the campus in subterranean pipes, instead of the plain ditches as were used heretofore. A great number of

BASEBALL TEAM WILL INVADE THE MISSOURI VALLEY

Many Out-of-State Games Arranged by Manager Matthews for Spring Trip of Varsity Squad—Ten Games for Home Grounds.

For the first time a Texas college baseball team will invade the Missouri Valley when the University of Texas team goes this spring for its games with the Universities of Missouri and Illinois. Manager G. E. Matthews has completed the schedule for the Longhorns and it is pronounced to be one of the best that the baseball team has ever taken. The out-of-state trip provides for games as follows: April 27, Westminster College at Fulton, Mo. (this team was the state champion of Missouri last year); April 28 and 29, University of Missouri at Columbia; April 30, Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind.; May 1 and 2, Illinois University, Champaign, Ill.; May 4, University of Oklahoma at Norman. This is the longest trip taken by a Longhorn team since the football team went to Chicago in 1904.

The home schedule with Texas college teams is as follows: Trinity at Austin, May 8 and 9; Southwestern at Austin, April 6, 13 and May 25; Daniel Baker at Austin, April 1 and 2; Baylor at Austin, May 21, 22, 23.

HOGG DEBATING CLUB.

Program for tomorrow evening will be as follows:

Debate: Resolved, that the preferential ballot should be adopted in the next democratic state primary. Affirmative—H. Soule, Burney, Hayden; negative—Higgins, Calloway, Ogden.

Declamation—M. Brinn. Parliamentary Drill—Perkins and F. Young, leaders.

All members are requested to be on time.

CHAPEL NOTICES

Mr. Currie spoke on the passage found in Psalm 103, verses 3 and 4. David was offering one of his famous thanksgivings. There were three things on this occasion for which he was thankful: "Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction." The first is forgiveness for the guilt of sin; the second is forgiveness for the stain of sin; the third is for the power that enables us to live day by day as we should. The redemption from destruction does not here mean keeping us from sickness and death and trouble, but giving us that strength necessary for coping with evil and temptation, so that we may grow in grace and become more and more used to God in working out His salvation among the nations of the earth.

MONDAY.

The Child Labor Problem.

By special request, the child labor problem will be presented at the chapel hour. Fortunately, the services of Prof. Potts have been secured for the occasion. He is the leader in this realm in the state and may be considered an authority.

TUESDAY.

Prof. Sutton will follow up the subject of Child Labor by a discussion of Compulsory Education from the standpoint of the Master.

trees have also been planted around the campus. Mr. Beck said this afternoon, when interviewed by the Texan reporter, that it was his intention to make the University of Texas campus attractive in spite of the presence of the "shacks."

WEATHER REPORT.

University observatory up to 6 p. m. yesterday.
Temperature: Maximum, 70; minimum, 50. No rainfall.

MR. CAROTHERS SUBMITS NOVEL COVER DESIGN

Ashbel Literary Society in Receipt of Unique Design from Chicago Art Student—Contributions Are Wanted.

Mr. Neil Carothers, son of the matron of the Woman's Building, who is attending the Chicago School of Art, has submitted a beautiful cover design for the official Texas Song Book now being compiled by the song committee of the Ashbel Literary Society. The design is thoroughly suggestive and appropriate. It presents a cowboy on pitching horse, cacti, thorns, and lariat. This is the first design to be submitted, so there is no way of knowing whether it will be adopted or not. The book is to be composed of songs written by students and friends of the University. Contributions should be dropped into the song box in the corridor or addressed to the Ashbel Literary Society.

RURAL SCHOOL SURVEYS MADE

Department of Extension Is Engaged in New Work—Big Papers Are Interested.

E. E. Davis, of the division of information and exhibit of the Department of Extension has completed a three weeks' educational survey of Harris County. E. V. White, head of the division of information and exhibit, has recently completed a similar survey of Bell County.

These educational surveys of typical counties are a part of the Department of Education's study of rural conditions with reference to schools. When completed, these surveys will be published in bulletin form and will represent the most accurate and useful contribution to rural education literature ever made in Texas. This educational field work is attracting attention all over the state. The Dallas News had a special correspondent with Mr. Davis for two weeks in Harris County. This correspondent contributed regular articles to The Dallas News concerning Mr. Davis' work. The News will send a staff writer to accompany Mr. Davis on a similar survey of Collins County, starting January 27. Other newspapers, notably The Houston Post and Houston Chronicle, have been giving space to the discussion of this educational survey work.

Freshman Engineers to Entertain Seniors.

The Freshman Engineers have invited the Senior Engineers to a reception-dance to be given by the Freshmen at K. C. Hall on the night of Feb. 14th. In doing this the class of '17 sets a precedent in the history of the Engineering Department. Never before have the Freshmen entertained the Seniors and it is hoped that the plan will prove a success and will be adopted by the Freshman classes that follow.

J. B. Cheek was elected president of the reception. The following committees, appointed by President E. A. O'Hair of the Freshman class, are now busy making arrangements for the reception:

Finance—J. B. Atkinson, chairman; W. B. Lawrence, C. Anderson, G. A. Rutledge.

Printing and Music—J. E. Thweatt, chairman; N. Browne, W. L. Nash.

Location and Refreshments—Joseph Barrow, chairman; C. S. Glazbrook, S. E. Arledge.

PRESS CLUB SMOKER.

Hornaday, Lowry and Landrum Lead Round Table Talk on Phases of Journalism.

Some phases of journalism that are now forcing themselves on the students and faculty of the University for solution will be considered by the Press Club at the smoker to be held Monday night. After a short, spicy talk by the leader of the discussion, the question will be thrown open to the members of the club for a "round table talk." The leaders will be Walter C. Hornaday, of the University of

CLUB WOMAN OF NATIONAL FAME TO SPEAK HERE

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, President of National Federation of Women's Clubs to Address Present Day Club at Open Meeting.

As special speaker before the Present Day Club, Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the Federation of American Women's Clubs and well known as one of the most popular and influential club women in the United States, will address the women of the University in the Auditorium on Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Pennybacker has recently returned from a lecture tour of the North, and it is exceedingly fortunate that the Present Day club, which has been making a study of American Women's clubs, should secure the presence of Mrs. Pennybacker. All University women are cordially invited to attend.

FACULTY TEAM BEING COACHED

Faculty All-Star Basketball Team Will Play Varsity in February. W. E. Metzenthin Organizer.

Members of the faculty are organizing a faculty basketball team, and plan to play Varsity during the second week of February. Mr. W. E. Metzenthin, manager of the team, is giving his squad daily workouts on Austin Academy courts. Owing to ravages of gout and old age, the full quota could not be drawn from the faculty; therefore Vining, McVey and Garrett of last year's team will perhaps get births on the official team. Mr. J. B. Rix, former Dartmouth guard, and Mr. C. C. Taylor are showing up well and will likely make the team. Of course, Metz will not overlook his own merits—just for the sake of old Columbia.

EXTENSION WORK GIVEN PUBLICITY

Extension Department Puts Self Before Public by Effective Advertising—Lecturer to Be Sent.

The Department of Extension has issued a large poster, 21x26, announcing in attractive form the work of the different divisions of the department. The poster is printed in two colors and illustrated by a panoramic view of the campus and buildings.

It has been sent to each of 250 county superintendents, to 750 principals and superintendents of town and city schools, to 350 commercial clubs of the cities and towns of the state, and also to a large number of other persons.

The purpose of the poster is to inform the people of the state the forms of science the Department of Extension of the University is in a position to render them.

Its value as an "ad" has already been demonstrated, for, although F. M. Bralley, director of the Department of Extension did not ask for replies, he has already received several hundred letters of application. He also received a petition signed by 50 of the women of Buna, Jasper County, asking that a lecturer of the Division of Home Welfare be sent to their little city to deliver a series of lectures and make demonstrations for one week beginning Jan. 26.

Miss Frances Lowen, lecturer for the Division of Home Welfare and demonstrator of Domestic Economy, had arranged to answer this call. Later, however, a telegram was received announcing that an epidemic had broken out in Buna, so the occasion has been postponed until a later date.

Wisconsin; R. C. Lowry, of The Austin Statesman, and Lynn W. Landrum, managing editor of The Daily Texan. The time of meeting has been changed to 7:45, in the office of the president of the Students' Association.

SAINT EDWARDS UNABLE TO COPE WITH LONGHORNS

Catholics Are Vanquished but Put Up Good Fast Game—Littlefield Star of Game—Final Score 34 to 18.

Superior tactics and cunning in the art of finding the basket, gave the Longhorns an easy victory over St. Edwards yesterday afternoon. The Catholics were defeated 34 to 18. Texas U. had the game from the very outset.

The boys from the hill south of town made an excellent showing against the Longhorns on the basketball court, but their youthfulness and experience was against them.

The first half ended with the score 13 to 8 in favor of Texas, and honors about 9 to 0 in favor of St. Edwards. Their fast left forward made several thrilling shots during this session and the fast work of the Catholic guards kept down the scoring of the Longhorn forwards. Captain Edmonds was put in against Eggleston during the rest of the melee and made things interesting for him.

Littlefield was easily the star of the game, scoring 20 of the tallies made by the Longhorns. The final score—34 to 18, was indicative of the relative strength of the two teams.

MORAL UPLIFT IS PLANNED BY "Y"

Clarence A. Baker and Several Other Noted Religious Workers to Conduct Campaign for Higher Morals Among Students.

Indicative of a general tendency throughout the United States among the leading social workers and teachers for a more direct and practical education concerning the great moral questions that are vitally involved in the lives of men and women, a campaign is being planned in the near future to bring the practical problems of religion before the students in an informal but convincing way. Secretary Currie and several other leaders in the Christian service work of the University met last night and formulated plans for a definite and cohesive campaign that will be launched Feb. 10. Secretary Currie states that an earnest effort will be made to really improve the every-day moral and religious life of the University student.

Among the speakers who will aid in the campaign are A. M. Trowick, of Nashville, social service secretary of the Southern Y. M. C. A. and well known as one of the most forceful religious workers in the South. Another prominent speaker will be E. C. Mercer, formerly of the University of Virginia, who has spoken twice before at this school. Mr. Mercer will direct most of his attention to the subject of clean morals and right living. The last and probably the most prominent of the scheduled workers will be Clarence A. Barber, of Rochester, N. Y., head of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Baptist Church, and at present prominent in national Y. M. C. A. circles. Mr. Barber will have direct personal charge of the campaign and has had wide experience in his chosen line of work. John L. Hunter, state students' secretary, will be on hand and will take his usual interest in University religious meetings.

"GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY."

Today, January 25, has been designated "Go to Church Sunday."

Go to church.

Write a letter to mother.

"THE FACULTY."

What think ye of "the faculty"? Your answer to this seeming jest, in so far as it expresses your real attitude toward the men and women who teach you may be taken as indicative of what your college training will mean to you beyond commencement. That's vital!

Various students and groups of students hold widely differing opinions as to what meaning, if any, "the faculty" conveys. To some "the faculty" is synonymous with "infallibility"—they would never admit it "right out loud," to be sure, but to all intents and purposes that is their conception. If "the faculty," or any member thereof, should so far forget itself, himself, or herself (what we need is more pronouns!) as to declare Francis Bacon to be the real author of Shakespeare's plays, or any other absurd fiction, there are those who would accept such declaration and religiously maintain it before a benighted world. Such students are of the "blotting paper" type, mere graphophones to reproduce the master's voice. They become the helpless derelicts of society when thrust headlong into the busy affairs of real life, where initiative and self-reliance alone can pilot the bark—pitiable spectacles indeed! It is they who cause matter-of-fact worldlings to discount the value of college training.

There is another group, larger perhaps in point of numbers, but happily less considered, who conceive "the faculty" as a prodigious ass made up of sundry individuals differing only in degree of assinity. To such students all regulations and formalities are so much "red tape"; when a student "busts out," they remark that "the faculty" has "fired" him; when an athlete fails to qualify by passing ten hours, "the faculty" has "dropped him from the team." Such students never have the ability to see their own shortcomings, either in or out of the classroom; they criticize "the faculty" blatantly, and withal make a virtue of parading an ignorance which they steadfastly refuse to remove. This group furnishes the deterrent force to the "swelling act" in the college drama.

Between these two extremes lies the true conception. Fortunately the vast majority of the students hold conceptions ranging between these two extremes with varying degrees of nearness to the real truth. Haziness of concept is the chief objection to students of this group. They have sufficient broad-mindedness to see, and sufficient good sense to assume, the proper attitude toward "the faculty" did they but think any such concept-forming on their part of any real importance. It is just that importance that we would emphasize:

However slight importance we may attach to the fact, it is patent that "the faculty" stands for the most carefully selected group of educators that Texas can boast of; "the faculty" occupies one whole end of the log in the time-honored definition of a college, balancing the entire student body; it was to associate with these men and women, to be trained by them, that we came here. Obviously, the attitude we assume toward these individuals is an important factor in the training process!

Think the matter over and arrive at something definite concerning what your attitude toward "the faculty" shall be. Remember that, surprising as it may at first appear, "the faculty" is composed of human beings, and deserves to be judged according to the rules commonly applied to such groups. They neither solicit nor admire either the opinion that they are always right, or that they are always either downright wrong or impractical. R. L. S.

UNIVERSITY AND PRESS.

Taking their cue from Wisconsin, the Kansas State University and the Kansas Editorial Association are to be joint hosts to a national convention of journalists, the purpose being to exchange practical information touching the business side of newspaper making, and more important still, to study seriously the question whether the ethical standards of the press are high enough.

It is to be regretted that the University of Texas has experienced delay in getting its department of journalism under sail. When the school does open, it may very well happen that the University will assume the initiative in bringing together the journalists of the Southwest to discuss the possible attainment of higher standards and the discovery of more effective ways of service to the public. This is not saying that standards in this part of the world are low, but undoubtedly nothing but good would flow from periodical experience meetings of the sort suggested. Often all that is needed to bring a worthy thing to pass is the good offices of a disinterested outsider.

The proposal offers another opportunity to the University to constitute itself a leader and guide in the worthwhile activities of the State. It has its rural education week, its household economics week, its State athletic and forensic meets, and has been instrumental in organizing the mayors and city attorneys of the State. Now it may even join hands with that even greater agency of education than itself, the press, and both institutions may derive enlightenment, inspiration and power from the contact.—Austin Statesman.

The first step has already been taken. The University Press Club is inviting the college newspaper men of the State to meet in Austin on April 29 for this very purpose.

It is easy to see how this meeting may be of considerable importance. It may lead to a joint meeting of the State and college press next year.

The Texan, the University Daily, is doing good work among the students of that institution and is setting a high standard for the character of the future leading citizens of Texas. The Texas is also setting a standard some pretentious daily papers might well emulate.—Austin Tribune.

THE FIRING LINE

On Cliques, Again.

The mild article which appeared in the Firing Line of Friday's Texan, under the caption, "On Cliques," has at least borne some fruit. If it has done nothing else, it has demonstrated to the student body something of the caliber of at least some of the members of these "light fantastic" clubs. Indeed, if anybody has been curious enough to read the highly incoherent tirade by my esteemed friend, Mr. C. J. U., he will be impressed with several salient facts. In the first place, C. J. U. got hot on the spur of the moment and wrote under the heat of passion. Hence we must forgive him for some of the remarks made by him, which we know he is now ashamed of. In the second place, it might have been noticed that C. J. U. was so far beside himself that he did not even get the name of the writer of the article to which he was endeavoring to reply. He refers to "Mr. R. H. B.," when it might enlighten the gentleman a little and pull some of the fury out of his eyes to state that the writer really signed his article "R. G." Moreover, the broad-mindedness of the esteemed C. J. U. is further attested to by his worthy attitude toward his opponent. "Bigoted democrat," "imbecilic types of democratizers," "idiot," etc., are the generous appellations used by him.

From the above stated facts, it can readily be seen that poor C. J. U. was too wrathful to talk coherently; and hence, what little weight his puny argument would normally have carried has been lost.

But we are prepared to reiterate our first proposition: That these lilliputian social cliques are undemocratic and do not reflect credit on the University. They are undemocratic because they are exclusive. They tend to create a self-assumed caste founded on the ability to buy and wear dress suits and evening gowns, and to do the "light fantastic." They do not reflect credit on the University because they furnish the enemy of the University with his powder to fire his shots. When a prejudiced bigot gets out in one of the small towns of Texas and begins to run down the University, one of the very first things he does is to point to what he is pleased to term our irreligion. And to support his contention, he points to our Germans and the rest of our dancing clubs. You need not flatter yourself that it doesn't have its effect. It does create an erroneous impression as to the moral and religious environment here. This impression hangs on with a bull dog tenacity. And just so long as such social cliques are prevalent, just that long will we hear the University denounced, however unjustly, at various places over this state.

Hence, I reiterate what I said before: these clubs have a perfect right to exist. No one will be so narrow as to deny this fact. But when we

REGULATIONS OF INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET SENT OUT

Circular Letter Sent Out to All Affiliated Schools Calls Attention to Rules of Contest—Entries Coming in Slow.

Below is a letter that was sent out yesterday to the county directors of the University Interscholastic League. Membership in the League at present is far beyond the total enrollment of last year. It will be noted from the letter of instructions that arrangements will be made by the Executive Committee to have a University representative visit a county meet and help in holding the contests, wherever the local officers can pay the traveling expenses. A number of requests to this effect have already come in, which is another evidence of the growing interest in these useful school activities.

1. You should, without further delay, set the time and place for your county meet, and announce your program to the schools, calling attention to the importance of paying the $1.00 membership fee at once, so as to get the benefit of the bulletins and other help from this office. The meet should be during the first three weeks of March or the last week of February, but in no case later than March 21.

2. Include in your program such additions to the events given in the Constitution as you think advisable; but in selecting contestants from the county to the district meet, you must be governed strictly by the rules in the Constitution.

3. You may allow certain schools going beyond the 9th grade to enter the Junior athletic division, and may include events not given on p. 35 of the Constitution. But boys selected to enter the district meet must be only from those schools not going higher than the ninth grade, and must be the ones who scored the most points in those events given on p. 35 of the Constitution.

4. Only boys above the ninth grade are eligible to Senior declamation, and only boys below the tenth are eligible to Junior declamation. Boys from any grade may enter the debate.

5. If you will pay traveling expenses, a University representative can attend your meet, provided that you file request for such visitor right away. Should you desire our assistance in holding the meet, particularly in athletics, you would better not delay filing your request, as only a limited number of competent men are available, and requests are being received already. By arranging with adjoining counties, a University man come to the question as to whether it is best for them to exist, that is a different matter. Without casting any reflection upon the young men and young women who have joined such organizations—for this writer has no personal feeling in the matter—the naked truth still remains that each and every one of them is doing the University a harm. I do not take to myself the position of a Hercules that I might kill a social hydra. But I do contend that those students who are garbed in a hydra mascot should step forth free of the encumbrance. They can afford to make the sacrifice for Varsity's sake.

R. G. CATO.

TO D. W. H. AND OTHERS.

I wish to offer a suggestion to those who see fit to make use of the "Firing Line" column. A number of times, lately, articles have appeared with mere initials signed, and when credit is sought to be given, it is discovered that more than one student is the fortunate or unfortunate possessor (as the case may be) of the same initials as those signed. I assume, of course, that no University student would sign any but his own initials; yet in justice to himself, if he wishes full credit for his article, he should sign his name and not leave his friends in doubt as to the origin of the article. If he does not wish to disclose his own name, he might at least do as others have done, and sign some name belonging to no one in University circles. If one consults a directory of the University, he will discover that few combinations of letters form the initials of one student only. In the particular case to which I refer, no harm is done to anyone except the writer, who is deprived of such credit as might belong to him. But cases can easily be imagined, in the discussion of more weighty matters, where persons might justly object to being given credit for articles not theirs. And I think I am correct in assuming that few University students wish to have credit given them for that which is not theirs, regardless of whether they agree or disagree with the ideas expressed.

could visit several counties in succession, thus reducing the expense for any one county.

Permit us to emphasize the importance of planning your county meet without further delay, and also the importance of having schools to pay the $1.00 membership fee now. It must be paid two weeks before the contest.

Trusting that you will favor us with a statement as to the situation in your county, and also with a copy of your program, we are,

Very truly yours,

E. D. SHURTER,

State Chairman.

TUITION RAISED AT YALE.

At a meeting of the Yale Corporation it was decided to raise the tuition in the college, the Sheffield Scientific School, and the Graduate School. The plan will go into effect for students entering in 1914 and thereafter. The tuition in the college will be $160 instead of $155, and in the Scientific School it is raised from $150 to $180.

Wellesley graduates are not to leave college with a vague desire to do something and not the ghost of an idea what the something is. Miss Florence Jackson, a vocational expert, is to come to the college once a week to advise undergraduates where they can best place their energies; and a faculty-alumnae-student committee is to help girls find the work they want.

of green and pink moline were tied under each chandelier and were looped from one to the other and were caught up in the center with large butterfly bows. The punch table was decorated with bamboo and smilax. In the center was placed an immense basket which was tied with the pink and green tarleton bows and butterfly. This gave an exceedingly artistic effect.

The grand march was led by Miss Lillian Sutton and Mr. Herbert Ogden. Miss Sutton was handsomely gowned in pink crepe metor with sea-foam green overdress and silver beaded lace. She carried a shower bouquet of pink Killarney roses and lilies of the valley.

The first cotillion was led by Miss Lucy Johnson and Mr. Madison Cooper. Miss Johnson's gown was white charmeuse with real lace over dress and American beauty roses. The favors were ribbon tennis rackets in the rainbow colors and small balls were batted across a net to favor the men.

The second cotillion was led by Miss Lillian Sutton and Mr. Edward Maruchau. The favors for the ladies were Tarlton scarfs and large chrysanthemums for the men. Delicious refreshments of two courses were served during the intermission. The mothers of the club members were asked as chaperons.

Speaking of Freshmen and their cleverness, those in the Woman's Building last night won for themselves a name that will go down in the history of the building. Each year it is customary for the new and old girls to exchange hospitalities. Last night the Freshmen broke all records in the way of elaborate entertainment. The affair, taking the form of a theatre party, with supper as a grand finale, necessitated all of the accoutrements for a theatre with cabaret attached.

At 8 o'clock the elaborately dressed guests were properly ushered into the gymnasium, which had been transformed into a modern theatre. Printed programs which were decidedly unique were caused no little merriment.

The overture was played by Miss Whitsitt. The prima donna was then presented. She was Madam Helena Janoch. Madam Janoch was exquisitely gowned in a rainbow creation of artistically fashioned real lace curtain and draped with yards and yards of pink, blue and yellow veiling. She carried an immense arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and cedar tied with a high bow of pink tulle. Accompanied by Miss Whitsitt at the piano and Misses Vera McNew and Margaret Liddell on the violin, she sang "The Bow of Roses."

Miss Lois Foster, as stage manager, presented her well trained cast in the "Six American Beauties," a one act comedy that recently scored a big success on Broadway. The stage setting was elaborate and the play itself brought the house to its feet. Too much praise cannot be given the cast, which was composed of Misses Ruth Potts, Ruth Hall, Ruth Rose, Helen Leary, Helen Ragsdale and Virginia Spence.

After the play was over the audience moved to the running course of the gymnasium. Here tables were placed among many palms and a hidden orchestra made a realistic Cafe de Paris. There were soubrettes to add gaiety to the occasion. Here Misses Ruth Henderson, Ruth Dudley, Ruth Potts, Agnes Ledbetter and Merle Meers, attractively dressed as French maids, served a one-course buffet supper.

Misses Roxie Weber, Ruth Rose and Ethel Nichols, as soubrettes, danced in and out among the late diners. As a finale, Misses Nichols and Rose presented a clever character sketch, "The Lazy Moon," which was a fitting climax to the evening's entertainment.

WANT A WINDOW DRESSER.

Opening for Experienced Man or Woman, for That Matter.

At Y. M. C. A. headquarters has come a call for an experienced window dresser. "Surely, out of two thousand or more students there must be at least one who has the taste, experience and other qualifications to decorate windows, but so far we have not received an application," said Mr. Morison of Moore & Morrison.

"We do not recall hearing of a woman decorator, but fail to see why this field has not been invaded by the industrial woman. It is a work, it seems to us, for which a woman is peculiarly fitted and adapted."

AVOID ACCIDENTS

Every week, in fact almost daily, accidents occur which could be averted by the exercise of just a little care. Many of these result in injuries—some of which are permanent, others less serious though painful—and in some instances, death occurs.

It is with the hope of lessening these accidents that we have undertaken the organization of the Austin Safety League, of which you are counted a member. You should remember that you are always exposed to and may have an accident when you least expect it, and at times and under circumstances over which you have absolutely no control. You should, therefore, always be on the alert and avoid every possibility of an accident that you can. Just a little forethought and just a little care may save much suffering and many heartaches. The good work along this line should not be confined to protecting one's self. The times frequently occur when you can warn others of danger and save them, and you should take advantage of every opportunity and WARN THEM. Let your slogan be Safety, First, Last and Always.
