CHAPEL NOTICES

Dr. F. L. Jewett concluded his week's chapel talks using as his theme a sentence summing up the teaching of the parable of the rich fool—"All material wealth and possessions have a relative value." Our relation to God is the big thing. God has even the disposal of our lives. We who are poor and those who are rich are on the same basis before God.

The best program for a man's life is to give his entire life with all he has into God's hands to be directed and used for Him.

Not how much of my money, time and talent will I give to God, but how much of God's money, time and life shall I dare use selfishly for myself—this is today's Christian program.

Music for Monday: Duet by Messrs. Holmes and Penick.

COMMENCEMENT INVITATIONS.

Invitations to attend the commencement exercises of the 1914 graduating classes are now being sent out by the seniors to their friends and relatives. The "bids" are unusually artistic in design, consisting of two pages of heavy paper with University seal at the top and the lettering placed upon raised glaze surface. The exercises are to extend through three days, June 7, 8 and 9.

DRURY SPEAKS AT CALVERT.

Mr. T. D. Drury, assistant baseball manager, delivered a commencement address at the Calvert High School Friday evening. "Ted" hails from Calvert himself, and each year at school closing time he is called back to address the graduating class.

Miss Mattie Belle Davis of Abilene is visiting the Pi Beta Phi house.

INTER-CLASS MEET PROVES TO BE FARCE

Grady Watson Wins Individual Honors—Upper Classmen Run Relay in Citizens' Clothes—Little Interest Shown in Meet.

Yesterday's track meet, instead of showing any class spirit, or class rivalry, proved only to be a farce. The meet was supposed to be an inter-class affair, and it was thought that the classes would be out and evince some interest, but such was not the case. However, freshmen were there in abundance, winning every event except one, which was the relay race. The relay team which defeated the freshmen was a representation of the sophomore class.

Grady Watson of Orange, freshman, was awarded the individual medal for the highest number of points. He won in the 100-yard dash, the 120-yard high hurdles and won second place in the 220-yard dash.

A relay race was the last event, which was the most farcical race of all, being won by four upper classmen in citizens' clothes. They raced against some freshmen in track clothes. The men on the upper classmen relay were Dailey, Tucker, Morris and Scurlock.

The following is a list of the events and the winners:

100-yard dash: Watson (freshman), won; Davis (freshman), second; Hinton (junior), third. Time, 11 seconds. 120-yard high hurdles: Watson (freshman), first; Davis (freshman), second; Shudemaker (senior), third. Time, 17 seconds.

Pole vault: Sophs, first; freshmen, second and third.

Shot put and discus: Berry and Goodman, first, respectively, with Dittmar second.

BARB-FRAT FIGHT SHULER'S SUBJECT

Will Also Speak on Other Subjects in Church and Y. M. C. A.—Last Addresses for Months.

In view of the fact of the ferment in the student body in the past few weeks, "Bob" Shuler will give three addresses, mainly to the students, this morning and tonight. His first address will be to the Baraca class, which meets in the University Young Men's Christian Association, and his subject will be "The Barb-Frat Fight." The second will be a sermon at 11 a. m. in the University Methodist Church, the subject being "Speaking in World Terms." The third will be a sermon at 8:15 p. m. in the University Methodist Church, which will be "Last Words to the Students."

These addresses will no doubt be very interesting, as they are the last that will be given by Dr. Shuler in several months. Dr. Shuler is known by all as "Bob," especially by the young men students of the University. He is well versed in the most intimate student affairs, and his address at the Y. M. C. A. on "The Barb-Frat Fight" will probably be attended by many students. His other two addresses also vitally concern the student body and also being his last, will be very largely attended.

WINSONIAN BANQUET.

The second annual banquet of the Winsonian Dramatic Club will be held at the Driskill tomorrow night. It is upon this occasion that the new members are initiated, and although the proceedings are very secret, it has leaked out that the new men will have some horny goats and other beasts to ride. Those who will be initiated are R. M. Mather, A. H. Spann, Gordon West, J. E. McDonald, J. Dikes, Crowley English and Leslie Flowers.

REAGAN TO ENTERTAIN.

The senior girls and Reagan patronesses have received invitations to the second annual "Senior Sing" to be given from 4 to 6 o'clock Tuesday, May 26, at the Bible Chair. The members of Reagan Literary Society will be hostesses.

E. E. Pendleton and H. P. Robertson of Temple are here visiting the K. A. house.

BETTER EDUCATION.

Bralley and Other Extension Lecturers Tour the State—Eighteen Counties Were Covered.

Mr. F. M. Bralley will leave Austin in a day or two for an extended trip through different parts of the State. The purpose of the trip is to deliver lectures in a number of cities. The cities that will be touched are Dallas, where two lectures will be delivered; Uvalde, where also two addresses will be made; Houston, Alvin and Garrison. Mr. Bralley will be gone an entire week.

The group of representatives of the department of extension that have just completed a campaign through eighteen counties of the State in the interest of "Better Country Life and Better Education" have returned to Austin, and are now doing research work on this question and on questions that have suggested themselves during the trip. A great deal of material for this work was collected during the campaign. The members of the party were Messrs. G. S. Wehrwein, C. B. Austin, E. V. White and E. E. Davis and Misses Rich and Lowen.

Mr. C. T. Gray of the educational department will leave Austin next Monday for Moulton, Texas, where he will deliver a commencement address.

RAMSEY SPEAKS TO BALL CLUB

Small Audience Grooms Ball Campaigner—Speech Characterized by Wit and Applause.

Before a rather small but spirited audience Judge W. F. Ramsey spoke in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last night in the interest of Colonel Tom Ball's candidacy for Governor. The judge spoke from start to finish in a happy vein, and was frequently interrupted with generous applause. Especially was he greeted with applause when he said "We stand for, and represent in Texas, the same cause that Woodrow Wilson stands for in the Nation."

Judge Ramsey made a strong appeal to the young men of the University to return to their respective homes and fight vigorously for Colonel Ball. He stated that he believed that they could not do otherwise and discharge the trust that the University had placed in them.

From beginning to end, the speech was entirely free from personalities. Although the speaker stated that he found much fault with the present administration, he would not stoop to personal attack, for he felt no bitterness.

Judge Ramsey gave several reasons why his hearers should actively support Colonel Ball. One of the chief reasons given was that Ball stands for election reform. He would deprive uneducated Mexicans and other incompetents of the privilege of voting in this State. Ferguson, he stated, was opposed to this reform.

Again, he stated that Colonel Ball stood for the betterment of the State educational institutions. He would have a special tax for their maintenance and would thus free them from dependence upon the whims of the Legislature and Governor. Here the speaker stated that Mr. Ferguson would be unable to bring about such a result.

Ferguson's prohibition views and his land policy were the subjects for attack by the speaker. The speaker thought that Mr. Ferguson's land policy was a trap to catch the farmer vote. Moreover, here the judge predicted that, in spite of the fact that this is normally an anti county, and in spite of the fact that there are many tenant farmers, Travis County will go for Ball by 500 majority. The whole scheme he characterized as a fallacy so shallow and apparent on its face that few would be deceived by it.

In conclusion, the speaker paid high tribute to the character, manhood, statesmanship and fitness of Colonel Ball. He believed that the Houston candidate was making a real sacrifice, but consented to make the race because he felt the spontaneous call of the people too strong to be resisted. Moreover he said that never before in the history of the State was there a more urgent call for a man of ability than today, and he believed Ball to be in every way the man best fitted for the place.

BARBS BANQUET WITH CAFETERIA

Fraternity Men Invited to Join in at Feast Held Wednesday Night. Date Is Changed.

The Barbarian banquet is to be held Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock, instead of Monday night, as previously announced. The hosts of the "great unwashed" are due to assemble at the University Cafeteria at the time stated and celebrate their recent victory. A feature of the feast will be the presence of Robert L. Skiles, member of the Delta Chi fraternity and victor over his Barb opponent for the office of circulation manager of The Texan. Mr. Skiles will be on hand as a specially invited guest, and it is understood that he will be called upon to address the faithful on matters of interest.

Manager W. F. Anderson admitted to a Texan man that he was putting the big pot in the little one, and expected to satisfy the appetite of the most voracious Barbarian diner. It is stated unofficially that plans for providing better facilities for the social side of non-fraternity life will be taken up, and it is not impossible that a reception or something of the nature will be attempted next year.

Speeches from A. Garland Adair, president of the Students' Association; E. H. Lawton, president-elect; Gowan Jones and C. F. Richards of the Barbarian executive committee; P. P. Reynolds, candidate for the Texas Legislature; Senator Darwin, and other prominent Barbs are in prospect.

The charge will be 50 cents per plate, and the men in charge are after a list sufficiently large to make it a financial success. They state they expect 500, but this is probably mere press agency.

Committee chairmen to make up a list of those who intend to go to the banquet have been appointed as follows: Academic, Sam Holliday; law, Mike Mulcahy; engineering, J. C. Ellington. These men will choose their own committeemen and will have their lists made up Monday night.

ASHBEL REPEATS CLEVER COMEDY

Misses Ruth Potts and Catherine Wheatley in Masculine Roles Win Much Applause.

A large and appreciative audience greeted the second performance of the clever Irish play, "Hyacinth Halvey," which was presented by the members of the Ashbel Literary Society in the Auditorium last night. The performance was creditable from every standpoint, and no little commendation is due the ladies who participated in this production.

Miss Ruth Potts, as Fardy Farrell, was the essence of dramatic professionalism, and by the clever rendition of her lines won much applause. She represented a coarse servant lad, and she certainly looked and acted the part with a smoothness which is highly commendable.

Miss Bertha Minkwitz, who carried the role of an unwise Irishman, won many laughs by the naturalness with which she rendered this masculine part.

Miss Catherine Wheatley, who played in the leading role as Hyacinth Halvey, was all that could be expected of a real Irish lad. She seemed perfectly accustomed to her masculine attire, and acted her part with a cleverness which is seldom seen in such character impersonations.

Among the other characters, Miss Rowena Barnett as Mrs. Delane, and Miss Runge as Miss Joyce were indeed laudable. Miss Runge was a typical old maid, and her characteristic gossip was well received. Nothing escaped the unfailing eye of Mrs. Delane and the manner in which she foretold the contents of a sealed letter was truly laughable. Miss Ethel Allen ably rendered the role of Sergeant Carden, around whom centers the main interest of the play. As an officer of the law she was quite attendant to her duty.

All of the play was very successfully presented, and to Mrs. Fletcher, the coach, much praise is due. The renditions of the male roles were indicative of excellent coaching, and exceed any previous attempts by the members of this organization along

ECONOMISTS BANQUET.

Annual Spread of Applied Economics Club Presided Over by Alec Spence.

Following its annual custom, the Applied Economics Club brought the past session's work to a close with a banquet at the Driskill Hotel. This final spread is also in the nature of an initiatory banquet for the newly elected members. Alec Spence presided as toastmaster.

The subjects for the toast list were drawn from the fundamental premises of economics. They were very appropriately handled and the humorous phases of abstruse topics were brought out. The speakers were:

"Law of Diminishing Utility," H. L. Vorhies. "The Malthusian Law of Population," S. L. Joekel. "Law of Future Estimation," George Wythe. "Law of Indefinite Expansibility of Wants," M. H. Griffin. "Law of Decreasing Productivity," Albert Steiner. "Gresham's Law," Allen Wight. "Law of Increasing Returns," F. L. Vaughan. "Law of Least Sacrifice."

Mayor Wooldridge and Judge Kleburg were present and made short addresses.

The new members of the club are Steiner, Naigle, Baker, Wight, Lanfear and Huff.

ASSOCIATION IS LAWYERS' PLAN

Alumni of Law Department of University Preparing to Meet at Austin Annually.

For the purpose of establishing a University of Texas Law Association, with annual meetings at the University at some convenient time during the school session, with the possible publication in connection therewith of a law journal to be edited by the law department, the following call has been issued to the alumni:

"Fort Worth, Texas, May 23, 1914. To All Former Law Students of the University of Texas.

"The undersigned take the liberty of calling a meeting of all former law students of the University, to be held in the auditorium of the law building, Austin, at 9 a. m., Monday, June 8, 1914, for the purpose of organizing a University of Texas Law Association.

"This association is to be formed for the purposes of, among other things, (1) aiding the profession, (2) keeping the former students in closer touch with each other and with the University, and (3) having an annual reunion.

"We indulge the hope that all those who can do so will attend, and that those who can not be present at this initial meeting will become none the less interested and will, in meantime, by letter (addressed to the University of Texas Law Association, University Station, Austin), authorize their names enrolled as charter members.

"Marshall Hicks, San Antonio; T. H. Stone, Houston; Robt. E. L. Knight, Dallas; Jno. L. Terrell, Fort Worth; Wm. H. Atwell, Dallas; J. W. McClendon, Austin; Allan D. Sanford, Waco; J. L. Lockett, Fort Worth; Jesse Andrews, Houston; Tom Connally, Marlin; Rhodes S. Baker, Dallas; Wm. H. Kimbrough, Amarillo; R. E. L. Saner, Dallas; J. H. Tallichet, Houston; Jas. G. Wilson, Fort Worth; Thos. H. Botts, Houston; Chester H. Bryan, Houston; J. A. Elkins, Huntsville; J. H. Hart, Austin; Royal G. Smith, Colorado; E. M. Bramlette, Longview; W. F. Ramsey, Jr., Cleburne; J. B. Dibrell, Jr., Coleman; J. P. Haven, Denison; Ben H. Powell, Huntsville; Jas. D. Walthall, San Antonio; W. T. Bartholomew, Fort Worth; Orville Bullington, Wichita Falls; Jas. W. Waymen, Galveston; Jno. P. Dinsmore, Greenville; J. P. Hill, San Angelo; Cecile Storey, Vernon; J. E. Quaid, Galveston; W. C. Blalock, Fort Worth; C. S. Potts, Austin; Edmund Heinsohn, Temple; David E. Hume, Eagle Pass.

this line. The scenery and costumes were quite pleasing, and combined with excellent acting made this year's play the best of Ashbel productions.

Miss Alice Lynch Harris of Gainsville is visiting the Tri Delta house.

"CHANCELLORS" INITIATE TEN NEW MEMBERS

Senior Law Society "Tap" Ten Middle—Paraded Through Buildings—Announced at the Fountain—Banquet Tonight.

Ten middle law students were "tapped" during regular classes yesterday by the members of the Chancellor Society. New members are elected each year from the middle law class upon the basis of good scholarship, participation in student activities and general good-fellowship. The initiates were marched through the Library, the halls of the Main Building, out to the fountain in front of the Main Building, where they were duly "annointed." The remainder of the initiation was in secret and conducted in the basement of the Law Building. The annual Chancellor banquet will be held at the Driskill tonight.

This year's initiates are the following: George Lee, Tilden Anderson, Milton Daniels, George Heyer, Julius Runge, John McCall, M. J. Bruce, E. B. Cartwright, Harwood Stacy and John Poindexter.

D. K. E., 5; K. A., 0.

Yesterday after the inter-class track meet, the Dekes scored 5 against the K. A.'s 0 on Clark Field. Seven innings were played. Barrell was knocked out of the box and Littlefield finished the game. Bailey held the box for the Dekes.

This makes the Dekes the winning team in their section. The first contest between the Phi Gammas, Baracas and the Dekes, as highest in their respective sections, will be held some time next week.

PRIZE WINNING SONGS SELECTED

Landrum, Peeler and Jester Win First, Second and Third Prizes—All to Be Printed in Pamphlet.

Lynn W. Landrum, editor-elect of The Texan, won first prize of $25 with his "To Texas" in the song-writing contest just closed. "Wild and Woolly Texas Song" by George Peeler won second prize, $15; and "Texas Football Song" by Buford Jester was awarded third prize of $6.

F. E. Farrar of Bradford, Mass., wrote the music for Mr. Landrum's song. The others wrote both song and music.

All songs handed into the committee will be returned upon request of the writer; otherwise they will be given to Miss Essie Hunter, who has charge of the song and tradition committee of the Ashbel Society. Eleven songs were handed in, and they will all be printed in a pamphlet by the committee.

The song awarded second place was used by the Glee Club on their North Texas trip this spring, and was also sung at their concert last Thursday night.

The judges for the contest were the following: Drs. Penick and Schoch, and Messrs. Metzenthin and Reed.

The prize money for the contest was given by the various fraternities and sororities of the University.

TRUNK MOVERS AT B HALL.

The Benevolent Association of Trunk Movers has again resumed operations. This time the one to receive the aid of the society was Mr. Wayne Bowman of Llano, Texas. Mr. Bowman has shown symptoms of the lamented spring malady for some time, and the president of the society called a consultation of all the attendants of the Insane Asylum. After due allowance for Mr. Bowman's late escapades on the "perip," it was decided to send all his personal property over to Grace Hall, where his habitation has been too conspicuous of late.

At a late hour the matron called in the detectives and all the local police force to work on the case. The mystery was all cleared away when the laundry marks on his night shirt and other similar apparel were examined, since these latter were found suspended to the door knob.

THE STEGER LETTERS.

The many friends of the late Harry Peyton Steger are enthused over the publication of some of his boyish letters. When the first call for his letters was issued the response was hearty and when the first installment was printed in a recent number of The Alcalde the readers were delighted. Letters of appreciation came from numbers of ex-students and alumni. But the commendation did not stop here. The Alcalde found its way into some of the publishing houses of New York City and fell into the hands of men who had known and loved Steger during his business association with Doubleday, Page & Co. From these friends—men who are skilled in the appreciation of literary gems—came unsolicited praises for the work of publishing these letters.

"Whatever you may do, count on me to help you wherever it is possible. Harry's friendship was one of the big things that have come to me in my life, and I should be happy to have an opportunity to show my appreciation," writes one of the publishers who has just been apprised of the intention of The Alcalde to publish these letters in book form.

The second installment of these letters appeared in the last issue, and these will be supplemented and published in book form. The letters published thus far are those written in his youth—if we can speak of Harry as ever being old. They are characterized by this same publisher as "those delightful boyish letters." The book will include many of these written after his school days were ended, and they are more wonderful than the others.

To John A. Lomax, the warm personal friend of Steger, belongs the credit for this work. He knew Harry in his school days, and followed him in his short but brilliant career in New York. He knew the type of boy Harry was, and realized the inestimable amount of pleasure his friends would derive from a reading of these letters. He now proposes to further his object by publishing a limited number of letters in book form.

Letter-writing is an art. He who has the gift of transmitting his very personality through the medium of the mails is blessed indeed, but the greatest satisfaction of all comes to the friends who are thus enabled to enjoy his personal touch.

Harry was a past-master in the art. His letters fairly teem with his boyish enthusiasm. One can not read them without loving him.

You can write letters if you will—not letters like Steger's, perhaps, but letters that as truly represent you as his did him. You have friends who love you, and these friends can be drawn closer to you if you will just put your personality into your letters.

These letters are a source of satisfaction to all who knew Steger. A friend writes: "Everyone of us who loved Harry can get along without a monument, yet there will be a deep satisfaction in the existence of a tangible reminder of the wonderful boy."

YOUR MOTHER'S SCRAP-BOOK.

But the best collection of all the letters in all the world would be a scrap book containing every letter that you have ever written your mother. We have urged you to write to her every Sunday. If you had taken our advice to heart and had written your mother every Sunday this year; if you should continue next year, and the next, and so on until you had finished school, and even after you are out into the world—what a wonderful collection your mother would have!

Like thumb-prints give a key to identity, so letters give a key to character. If you are a good letter-writer your very soul goes into your letters.

If you should make a success of life, wouldn't it be a pleasure for your mother to trace the up-building of character through her scrap-book? And, if you made a failure, think you she could not detect from a reading of these letters the very place where your downfall began?

But, unless you are more thoughtful than the average boy, there would be many blank pages in your mother's scrap-book.

THE FIRING LINE

News and Puffs.

The writer of "Turn on the Light," which was printed a few days ago, seems to think that news stories concerning members of the faculty (which he alludes to as "puffs") are inspired if not dictated by the professors who are the subjects of them. It is conceivable that this might be true in isolated cases. To imply that it is usually, or even frequently, true as the above article does, is an unjustifiable reflection on The Texan editors and reporters, to say nothing of the professors who are the subjects of the so-called "puffs," frequently without their knowledge or consent and contrary to their wish. Often the subjects of these sketches are as much surprised and displeased as "Anti-Puffer" or anyone else.

A few characteristic instances known to the present writer will illustrate. Three or four publications of a certain professor have been mentioned four or five or possibly six times in recent weeks. Only one of these was with the author's knowledge or consent, and in that they were all mentioned at once, in a brief, inconspicuous note, almost without comment. The subsequent notices were apparently made by reporters, or possibly students or fellow members of the faculty, who had not seen the original announcement, but who happened upon one or more of the articles. With the issue editors and reportorial force of The Texan changing so frequently as they do, it is impossible that any one, not to say all, should keep in touch with everything that has appeared in previous issues.

In another case a professor was away from the University for a few days. Another professor consented to conduct one of his classes during his absence. He sent to The Texan office a brief announcement of the fact, partly for the benefit of the class, but principally to make public announcement of the kindness of the professor who consented to meet the class. The latter's name was placed in the headline of the announcement, and the former's only incidentally mentioned. But when the announcement appeared in print it had been changed and the position of the names was reversed. Of course, this was done without the knowledge or consent, and it was also contrary to the wish, of the absent professor.

In another case a professor gave a Texan reporter a small, but not wholly insignificant, item with the request that if it were mentioned at all it should be in a brief statement in an inconspicuous part of the paper. Greatly to the disturbance of the subject of the sketch, it appeared on the front page, in a half column or longer account, and under a conspicuous "scare head." It might conceivably be properly criticised as a "puff." There was, however, no "gross exaggeration" about it, several cases of which "Anti-Puffer" says he can mention. It was a simple and truthful recital. But the subject certainly did not seek or want such publicity. Numerous other instances could be cited, which have been wholly undesired and sincerely regretted by the subjects of them, and in some cases by the reporters, and probably also by the editors. But after they were published they could not be corrected.

Neither should the reporters be too severely condemned. Most of them have not had extended experience. They have their own notions of news values. They doubtless often mistake

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Stark entertained the Pi Beta Phi and Phi Gamma Delta fraternities with a dance at K. of C. Hall Wednesday night. The hall was artistically decorated in pink Killarney, American Beauties and smilax. Ferns were banked in all corners. The punch bowl of beaten silver was imbedded in lavender orchids. Delicious punch was served during the evening. At the intermission a salad and ice course was served. The young people enjoyed the dancing until the early hours. Music was furnished by Besserer's orchestra.

The senior girls entertained the girls of the junior class with their annual trolley ride Tuesday night. Three carloads of girls left the car shed at 7:30, accompanied by the Band. They rode over town and then stopped at Protection Hall. Here the girls enjoyed games and dancing for several hours. Music was furnished by the Band, with vocal selections by the Glee Club Quartette. A picnic supper was served, consisting of sandwiches, pickles, potato chips and grape ice. The ride home was made more enjoyable by songs and yells of the girls.

CORRESPONDENCE WORK.

The correspondence division of the University is now sending out about 4000 letters to the high school graduates of the State. The letter urges every graduate student to continue his work in some good college or higher school, either at once or as soon as circumstances will permit. In case, however, persons can not for some reason leave home to begin college work at once, the letter suggests to them that they begin their college work by correspondence until they can leave home to attend college. By this means, the University is brought to the doors of the people of Texas, and according to the letters that come from all parts of the State, the people are realizing and taking advantage of the opportunities offered them in this way.

Sheffield, England, has a population of 455,000 and ranks sixth among the cities of England.

THE FIRING LINE

the genuine wish of a professor to avoid undue publicity, thinking it undue, or affected, modesty. On the spur of the moment they often feel that a matter is far more important than it really is, especially if it concerns a teacher for whom they have a sincere regard, or from whom they hope to earn a good grade. They are also ambitious to make their news stories as interesting as possible. A few facts obtained from an interview (which the subject of the sketch may not have invited), viewed through admiring eyes, or reviewed by an ambitious pen easily expands into a "puff," much to the discomfort of the subject, and to the disgust of "Anti-Puffer" and others who do not understand, or may feel jealous because they have not been mentioned among "other" notables."

Proper balance and proportion and a just sense of the relative value of news items are certainly desirable, and should be striven after, even if unattainable. But uninformed critics ought to be more careful about making unpleasant and unjustifiable insinuations. It is to be hoped that such articles as "Turn on the Light" may not entirely smother the light by causing teachers (nearly all of whom are very sensitive to such criticism), to withhold genuine news items which, taken altogether, may be of large service to the University. It is, of course, also to be hoped that such items will be distorted as little as possible. Furthermore, it is not desirable that one or two or a few should monopolize the attention to the exclusion of many. It would, however, be even more unfortunate if legitimate news concerning the many should be suppressed because publicity had been carried to excess in one or two cases. It is the hope of preventing this unfortunate result that has inspired this article, which is written by an instructor who has been a college editor and knows some of the difficulties and shortcomings of college journalism; but who knows also how sincerely and patriotically desirous the college journalist is of representing fairly and properly the faculty and students for whom he endeavors to speak.

COLLEGE NOTES

Vassar:

Founders' Day was celebrated at Vassar May 1. The festivities began with the singing of May Day carols in the early morning at the different college halls. At 10 o'clock the song contest between the four classes was held in front of Rockefeller Hall.

Northwestern:

An inter-class water basketball series is being played. The classes are represented by rooters and the whole student body comes out to see the sport.

Indiana:

Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock was announced yesterday as the exact hour for the convocation at which the proposed plan for student self-government will be submitted to the men of the University.

Illinois:

University of Illinois athletes will invade Madison on Saturday afternoon, when three teams will be sent up from Urbana to meet the Badgers in track, baseball and golf.

Utah:

"U" Day is the scene of a tug of war between the freshmen and the sophomores. Twenty-five freshmen fought on one side of the rope and twenty-five sophomores on the other. The rope was stretched across a 4000 gallon pond of ice water. The freshmen won. The sophs were ducked.

Minnesota:

The election for the new academic student council was held last Saturday. In the elections only the men could vote for the men candidates, and only the women for the women candidates.

Stanford:

A woman's fencing match was recently held. Much hard fighting resulted in the award of the coveted prize to a freshman.

Mr. R. C. Campbell, a member of the California chapter of the Phi Delta Kappa, spent Saturday visiting members of the local chapter of Phi Delta Kappa. After his visit here, Mr. Campbell returned to his home in El Paso.

NEW EXTENSION BULLETIN.

Members of the department of extension are now actively engaged in preparing a new bulletin for group studies. The bulletin will make its appearance within the next few weeks. Many new additional courses will be announced in the new publication that were not offered last year, among which will be "The German Epic," "Study of Birds of Texas," "Music" and others. The increase is due to the remarkable success of the group-study plan. Last year the University conducted thirty-three group-study classes, while for this year seventeen group study classes have already been organized and provided for.

LUTCHER STARK MEDALS.

Former Football Manager Makes Poignant Suggestions to Other Grads.

The University Interscholastic League, as previously announced in these columns, is indebted to Lutch Stark, graduate football manager, for the badges and medals that were awarded to delegates at the annual meeting of this League, held at the University May 1 and 2.

The medals were gold, sterling silver and bronze, awarded to first, second and third prize winners, respectively. The badges, one of which was presented to each delegate, were highly prized. Of the 600 that were ordered for the meeting, only three or four remain and requests are being received daily at the public discussion office of the department of extension to have these badges sent to those who somehow missed receiving them at the meet.

The following letter from Mr. Stark is self explanatory and will doubtless prove of interest to students and alumni.

"Orange, Tex., May 8, 1914.

"Dr. E. D. Shurter, Austin, Texas.

"Dear Sir: I received several letters from you containing a hint for $200 in excess of amount promised. You will find enclosed $300. I feel this is as strong as I ought to go—as you can expect me to go.

"The whole trouble I find with education is the deeper a man goes, the more he specializes. It seems to me that in the outlying towns of the State there ought to be a few more 'Rubes' who could come across with a few rocks.

"My advice would be a little less education and more diversification.

"Sincerely yours until next year,
"H. J. L. STARK."

NEW RULE EXPLAINED.

Resident Students May Not Take Correspondence Work While in Residence—Work Is Popular.

Through a misunderstanding of the new rules of the department of extension, many resident students have attempted to sign up for correspondence courses, and, consequently, were denied the privilege of doing so. The new rule states that all resident students must take all of their work in the University, with few exceptions, and may not at the same time do correspondence work here. Resident students, however, who this year have been denied the privilege of taking correspondence work, are now signing up for correspondence courses which they expect to take during the summer. Many students who are expecting to teach next session are finding it necessary to complete some part of the five required courses which will entitle them to a temporary first grade teacher's certificate. Many students also are preparing to complete fragments of courses, and others are attempting to work off courses required for graduation. The law, engineering and teacher's courses are proving very popular for this purpose.
