University Practically Assured Bond Measure

The University became virtually sure of legislation allowing the Board of Regents to execute bonds not to exceed $1,200,000 for the purpose of erecting new dormitories and completing Main Building, yesterday when the Senate passed and sent to the House the measure providing for that procedure. A corresponding bill has already been given a favorable committee report in the House of Representatives.

Final passage on the measure will come before the House sometime today when that body considers bills passed by the Senate. Little or no opposition is expected for the measure in the House.

Senator John W. Hornsby of Austin sponsored the bill in the Senate.

Voted Out Favorably
The Senate bill went to the committee on public lands in the House and was voted out favorably late yesterday afternoon. The bill was sponsored in the House of Representatives by Representative Bob Long of Austin. Mr. Long moved that the bill not be printed, in order to have it available for vote today.

The bill authorizes the Board of Regents to issue bonds not to exceed $1,200,000 to secure funds to be used in connection with any other fund which may be available therefor, to complete the Main Building. The bonds are to draw interest at a rate to be determined by the Regents. They are to be payable in 15 years. Available University funds arising from grazing and other surface leases of University lands may be pledged to secure payment of the bonds.

The bill also authorizes the Regents to make contracts with the United States Government for the construction of dormitories which will be self liquidating.

Charles Tennyson of Wichita Falls spoke in favor of the bond bill when it was referred to the committee on public lands yesterday afternoon.

On passage in the House the measure will go to the Governor for signature.

Final Passage Today
The House will also bring up for final passage sometime today the measure authorizing the Board of Regents to condemn certain lands necessary for the erection of the W. J. McDonald Astronomical Observatory in the Davis Mountains in West Texas. Condemnation of lands will be entirely friendly and agreed to by land owners.

Judge B. F. Vaughan of Greenville, who introduced the measure in the House, said yesterday afternoon that the bill had been referred favorably by the House committee on judiciary and awaited final passage when the House takes up Senate measures.

Women May Make Reservations To Attend O. U. Game

Co-ed Specials to Leave Friday and Saturday For Dallas

Women students of the University may arrange to go to the O. U. football game in Dallas by making reservations in the co-ed special, which has been provided by the M. K. T. railroad. One train will leave Friday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. Another will leave Saturday morning at 1:20 o'clock. Only one train will return. It will leave Dallas Sunday night at 11 o'clock.

These cars are exclusively for co-eds, and will be chaperoned. The chaperons will stay at the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas, so that they may be reached in case of emergency.

If a University woman desires to make Pullman reservations, she must do so with Miss Ruby Terrell, dean of women. Co-eds who expect to attend the game are urged to arrange for lodging in Dallas before they arrive there, as lodging places are expected to be crowded.

Press Releases Pearce's Bulletin

Val Verde Rock Shelters Is Subject

"A Prehistoric Rock Shelter in Val Verde County, Texas" by J. E. Pearce, professor of anthropology and director of research in Texas archaeology, and A. T. Jackson, field foreman in archaeology, has recently been released in the form of a bulletin by the University.

The investigation of the Seminole Canyon, which flows into the Rio Grande and is located a few miles east of the Pecos River in Val Verde County, Texas, was first brought to the attention of the department of anthropology of the University of Texas by Mr. W. F. Boggess of Del Rio, Texas, in 1932.

According to the bulletin, unmistakable evidence of long occupation by man was uncovered by the investigation carried on in October and November, 1932, by the University of Texas crew. Many specimens were brought back in the collection gathered by Richard Smith and Eddie McCarron of Comstock, Texas, and secured for the University Museum.

Among the discoveries of interest were arrowheads; soles of sandals; whetting stones; bone, wood, and flint implements; parts of baskets; mortar holes in which were found crushed Texas walnuts, evidently a type of food used; and interesting examples of the characteristics of their customs of burial.

This work represents the first excavation made of the archaeological region in Val Verde County. The material that has been uncovered by this investigation is of great value in determining the culture of this particular area and its relationship with the culture of various other sections of the State. The work has not yet been completed.

Those men who are interested in debating this year are urged to register now by placing their names on the lists appearing in the Law Building, Main Building, or Waggoner Hall. Places on the tryouts team will be open until the conclusion of the eliminations Thursday night.

Material concerning this topic may be found in the reading room of the Library.

Benedict Defends Recent Attitude

Makes Report to Faculty On Finances

Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University, defended his action of supplementing some of the University salaries by means of fees in a report given at the first meeting of the general faculty held Tuesday afternoon in Garrison Hall 1. Dr. Benedict's report covered in detail the financial situation of the University, and compared it with other schools in the State.

Dr. M. R. Gutsch, secretary of the general faculty, introduced a resolution as to the legislation of the Student Association which requires the approval of the general faculty. The resolution provided that such legislation must be submitted first by circular to the individual members of the faculty, and will be held to have been approved ten days of circulation.

Motions were approved to adopt resolutions in honor of Judge D. F. Bobbitt, member of the law faculty who died last summer; and to engender among the students an anti-damage campaign for the protection of the new buildings.

The next meeting of the general faculty will be held Tuesday, November 14, Dr. Gutsch announced.

Kirby Gets Noise; S. R. D. New Road

Excitement was rife Tuesday around Kirby Hall when the city grading machines started work on the street in front of the dormitory. Several students, apparently swept away by their illusions, thought the only possible solution for such procedure would be a nice, new strip of bright and shiny pavement.

After all, though, the outcome was rather mild. Imagine their crestfallen disappointment on learning that Scottish Rite Dormitory would get the pavement and Kirby Hall—well, just a graded road.

Freshman Math Contest to Be Held Saturday

Elementary Algebra And Plane Trigonometry To Be Covered

Interest Sum Used

Brown University Prizes Offered Three High Winners

Examinations for the Brown University mathematical entrance prizes will be held Saturday, October 14, at 2 o'clock in Waggoner Hall 101. The contest was established by an alumnus of Brown University in 1917. The interest on this fund is awarded as prizes annually by the staff of the department of pure mathematics on the basis of competitive examinations. If no competing paper is deemed worthy of a given prize, this prize will be withheld. No prizes will be divided.

The amount of each prize will be determined by the Auditor as a convenient sum near, but not exceeding the following fraction of the interest accrued during the preceding year: first prize, one-fourth; second prize, one-sixth; and third prize, one-twelfth.

These prizes are offered to the regular freshmen making the best grades on a special voluntary examination that will cover the minimum entrance requirements in mathematics, namely, elementary algebra and plane geometry.

Zilker Park New Austin Addition

Recreational Facilities Of City Increased

Zilker Park, consisting of three institutions which offer opportunities for horseback riding, target practice, and a study of reptiles, has been added to the recreational facilities of Austin.

The Texas Reptile Institute in Zilker Park contains a collection of living reptiles which have been captured in Texas and in various sections of the United States. G. E. S. Tordt, manager of the Texas Reptile Institute, will show the different species of reptiles to visitors, and will explain the lives and habits of these reptiles.

The Zilker Stables will be a municipal riding club under the management of Harold Wentworth and Charles Wentworth. Most of the horses available to riders will be five-gaited. Free instruction for beginners will be included with horses rented from the club. These instructions, which will cover the best forms of riding, change of gaits, mounting and dismounting, control of the horses with a bridle, and riding with ease, will be offered in regular classes which will be held Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday from 9 to 11 o'clock, and from 2 to 4 o'clock.

The Zilker Skeet Club, also municipally operated, affords an opportunity for target practice. The equipment of this club has been inspected by experts, and it has been pronounced one of the best in the State. During the hunting season, the club will be open from 4 to 6 o'clock for people who wish to practice. When five or more persons arrange for a match, the club will be opened at any time. Arrangements for this will be made with Marvin Krueze. Several faculty members of the University have been practicing their shooting ability at the Skeet Club.

Girls' Swim Group Announces Tryouts

Tryouts for the Turtle Club will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Women's Gym, Alta Butler, club leader, announced. All upperclassmen and second term freshmen are eligible for membership.

A seven point average on four fundamental strokes and three dives will be required for entrance. The side stroke, back stroke, breast stroke, and the crawl, together with a front dive, a back dive, and any other optional dive, will complete the requirements.

Jester Replies to Faculty Petition Made to Regents

Coin Treasure Lies Hidden In Safe for Twenty Years

Hardly Ever Seen, Uncatalogued Metals Have Five Figure Value

In the discussion of museums and collections in the general information catalogue, there is mention of the Swenson Coin Collection located in Garrison Hall, but the most careful searcher cannot find this collection there, simply because it is in the rotunda of the Main Building and has been there as long as Dr. W. J. Battle, professor of Classical languages, can remember.

Hidden from sight for 42 years, locked securely in a large safe, and absolutely inaccessible to students, this collection of ancient and modern coins, with a value uncatalogued but well into five figures, is unique in its aloofness.

The collection, numbering 3,476 coins and 1,846 medals, with the safe, was given to the University in 1891 by S. M. Swenson. Two thousand two hundred and seventeen of the coins are bronze, 1,172 silver, and 87 gold. Six hundred and seven of the medals are silver and the remainder are bronze. Many of the pieces date before the Christian era, and few were cast later than the Sixth Century.

The collection is valuable in the study of history and was previously used for this purpose until one of the coins disappeared while a class was studying them. Students have not been given access to the coins since then.

There are a few American, English, French, and Swedish coins, all illustrating important historical events of the different nations. Ninety-two Russian medallions show in bronze the history of that country from Ruric to Czar Alexander.

The chairman of the department of history is in charge of the collection, though Dr. M. R. Gutsch, present chairman, reports that the safe has hardly been opened in the last 20 years.

63 Staff Members Make Complaint To Ruling Body

Petition for relief from the inequalities and confusion incident to highly itemized legislative appropriation bills and to a policy of singling out certain departments and individuals for special treatment by the legislature, as made in a communication to the President of the University and the Board of Regents during the past summer and signed by sixty-three members of the University faculty, has been replied to by Beauford H. Jester, chairman of the Board of Regents. His letter to the faculty was read at the meeting of that body Tuesday afternoon.

In their address to the President and Regents, the faculty members expressed entire sympathy with the legislature and its problem in the present financial crisis of the State and suggested that "it is not only just but expedient that the University and its staff members should share proportionally in the reduction of appropriation."

Suggestions Offered
In their petition the faculty members suggested, however, that certain features of the appropriation act passed at the last regular session of the legislature afforded reasons and justification for addressing the Regents concerning "two principles of University administration which we think are fundamental to the harmonious operation of the institution and its efficient service to the State."

The first principle proposed by the members signing the petition was "that details of internal administration, especially those relating to individual salaries, promotions, and the establishment of new positions should be controlled by the President and Regents." Developing this point, the petition pointed out that "the relative position in rank and salary of the members of a university faculty is the result of many factors, the more important of which are scholarship, teaching ability, and general administrative usefulness. Obviously there is no precise method of determining an individual's value to the University. None of us would contend that the existing scale of rank and salary is wholly just. All of us would agree that there are numerous inequalities, and most of us could agree upon particular inequalities. Many of us believe that the promotion of younger members of the faculty is too slow. Nevertheless, admitting these and other deficiencies of the system under which the University has developed, we still believe that control of rank, salary, and promotion by the President and Regents is preferable to adjustment of such details however well meant by the legislature."

Reasons Set Forth
Suggesting reasons for the belief in the principle set out, the original petition of the faculty members proceeded as follows:

"The President is acquainted with the individuals composing the faculty. He knows departmental and interdepartmental conditions and problems; and through the President the Regents may inform themselves. Their combined action, therefore, is reasoned and deliberate, based upon knowledge of all pertinent and relative factors. Under such a system one feels himself the subject of even-handed, judicial treatment. He may disagree with the decision of the court, but he knows that the court has weighed all the evidence.

"There is no disposition here to question the good intent of any member of the committees which framed the recent act. It may be granted that each of them acted with the best intent. The fact remains, however, that they did not and could not possess the comprehensive knowledge of the situation necessary to a just and fair exercise of the power to adjust individual salaries and ranks."

Cites Appropriations
The statement then proceeds to cite various appropriations for salaries in the biennial appropriation bill, which it is submitted do not make for a fair and equitable assignment of salaries to the members of the staff.

Setting out the second principle to which they wished to call particular attention, the petitioning faculty members said:

"There is a regulation of the Board of Regents to the effect that the President is the official head of the University; that all official action of the University and all official relations between members of the faculty and the Regents must be conducted through (Continued on Page Four)

Veteran Fee Bill Signed Saturday

All Claimants for Refunds Apply to Registrar

The University of Texas has been restored its privilege of honoring scholarships issued in previous years, and veterans of the Spanish-American and World Wars have been exempted from the payment of registration fees. These provisions are the content of House bill 15 which has been passed by the called session of the Texas legislature.

As a result of this bill the University may now honor scholarships which were awarded in former years, and for which the holders have made the scholastic average required by the scholarships.

Another section of the bill provides that the individuals who are affected by this bill and who have already paid their fees may obtain refunds. Max Fichtenbaum, assistant registrar, stated Tuesday that these refunds may be obtained by applying at the Registrar's office. However, they are required to submit their Auditor's receipt showing the payment of fees, and in the case of the ex-servicemen, they must submit evidence of their service in the war. All those who are entitled to refunds are asked to submit their claims at once to the Registrar.

Maxey Scholarship Continues Unused

The new fellowship opened to prospective Methodist ministers last week by Frances C. Maxey as a memorial to her parents remains unused. The fellowship is open to all students definitely committed to the Methodist ministry (preference given to those working toward a degree), who have attended the University for at least one semester with an average grade of not lower than C. The fund consists of the interest on $2,500, amounting to approximately $100 a year. It may be awarded to the same person four successive years, but, if within two years after graduation, he has not become a member of the ministry, the entire award plus interest must be repaid. This will be added to the principal.

Application for the fellowship must be filed with John A. McCurdy, secretary of the Ex-Students' Association.

Ninety-three applications have already been filed for the test which will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday, October 14. Place of the examination has not yet been designated. Applications should be made at the Registrar's office.

Society to Elect Heads Wednesday

Le Cercle Paul Claudel To Reorganize for Year

A corresponding secretary, recording secretary, and a treasurer will be elected and definite plans for the year will be discussed at the first meeting of Le Cercle Paul Claudel, University French club, Wednesday night at 7:15 o'clock in the girls' study hall, Thelma Kimball, president, said yesterday.

The club will have three meetings a month, one formal, at which talks will be given, stories read, and plays acted out by French professors, town citizens, and others learned in the French language. The other two meetings will be informal, one at the University Commons at 6 o'clock, an open discussion and a light supper, and the other at 7:15 o'clock in the Union Building, a period of drill in games and songs.

"The aim of the club is to afford an opportunity of speaking and hearing French spoken, of becoming acquainted with the customs and manners of France, and of studying French literature," Miss Kimball said. "All old members and all University students, professors, and townspeople interested in the French language are urged to be present."

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 10.—Harvard College at Harvard University has established a record in enrollment, administration officers announced this week. Total registration in the college now has reached 3,429, as compared with 3,361 last year and 3,233 two years ago.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Late registrations were expected by enrollment officers this week to bring the total number of students up to or beyond the 36,987 mark of last year at Columbia University.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 10.—Professor Matthew Brown Hammond, nationally known economist of Ohio State University, was being mourned this week following his death, which was caused by a heart ailment.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Students of New York University this week were invited to join a La-Guardia-for-Mayor Club composed entirely of undergraduates, graduates and administrative officers. A McKee-for-mayor organization also was expected to be formed.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 10.—"Read a detective story before you go to bed—it takes your mind off your studies." Such was the advice given University of Nebraska students this week by Professor W. E. Walton of the psychology department, who recommended the murder thriller as a method of relaxation—as a sedative for weary or excited nerves. He himself is an enthusiastic reader of detective fiction.

College students throughout the country are co-operating whole-heartedly in President Franklin D. Roosevelt's national recovery program, a survey made by College News Service showed this week.

In numerous camp student-sponsored campaigns were under way to secure signatures to consumers' pledge cards under the NRA, and at the University of Michigan, booths have been established at various locations on the campus under the auspices of the Undergraduate Council to facilitate the work of distributing pledge cards and consumers' NRA stickers.

Similar campaigns were under way on many other camps throughout the land, another notable example being Los Angeles Junior College, where the Junior Collegian, student newspaper, sponsored the movement which resulted in practically all of the institution's 4,500 students signing the pledge cards.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 10.—The administration of Texas A. & M. College will continue to oppose the admission of women students, T. O. Walton, president of the college, said this week.

"With women in it, Texas A. & M. would become merely another college," he declared. "It would lose a certain distinctiveness which now marks it."

A suit has been filed to force the college to admit women.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—New York University students have formed their own "Curb Exchange." On sidewalks and streets during the first few days of classwork this fall they gathered to sell and trade books and other equipment. Their cries and activity finally caused university authorities to assign guards to the crowd with orders to keep it moving.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10.—An Einstein is registered at Tulane University. He is Robert Einstein, age 20, cousin of Professor Albert Einstein, and he has enrolled at Tulane to complete his medical education which he started in Germany but discontinued because of Nazi practices.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—Controversy over compulsory military training courses at the University of California at Los Angeles this week broke forth again as the Board of Regents was scheduled to weigh the cases of two entering freshmen who refused to enroll in R. O. T. C. classes.

Should the board decide that the students, Alonzo Reynolds, Jr., 18, and Albert W. Hamilton, 19, should be expelled, the latter have indicated that they will start legal action designed to bring about a decision of the State Supreme Court to settle their right to attend the university as "conscientious objectors" to military training.

They are to be represented by John Beardsley, attorney, who will prepare their case in this event. The students declared that Beardsley has been retained on their behalf by the Southern California Methodist Conference, which, they stated, has decided to make of their's a test case which perhaps may settle once and for all the question of compulsory military training in publicly-owned institutions of higher learning.

Hamilton is the son of the Rev. W. A. Hamilton, retired Methodist minister, and former chaplain at Joliet Penitentiary, while Reynolds' father is the Rev. Alonzo Reynolds, Sr., of the Wilshire Community Church in Los Angeles.

It was understood that representatives of the Methodist clergy would file petitions with the Board of Regents, protesting any move to dismiss the students, at the time their cause was to be considered this week.

Meanwhile, reports from the University of Oregon revealed another outbreak of the controversy there, several freshmen having distributed handbills urging their classmates not to enroll for R. O. T. C. As a result, the Daily Emerald at Oregon in an editorial, while taking no stand for or against "militarism," protested the "spreading of propagandistic material which might discourage any student from taking courses instituted in the university's curriculum."

We had a hunch, when they reduced the size of money, that the stuff would be harder to find.—California Trojan.

Russia, Japan Argue $71,000,000 In Beer Taxes

DISPUTE: Russia and Japan have gotten into another argument.

This time, in documents circulated at Moscow, the Japanese government is charged with plotting to seize the Russian owned Chinese Eastern Railway. Japan has not only denied the charges but has begun an investigation in an attempt to prove that Russian officials were responsible for the document's circulation.

The new threat to peace, like others before it, has grown out of wrangling over the projected sale of the railway to Japan's puppet state, Manchukuo. Japan entered the negotiations with announced intentions of mediating, but the Soviets suspect something more sinister.

CHILD LABOR:The rejection for the third time of the proposed child labor movement by the Texas Legislature calls attention again to this so-called "lost amendment."

Congress adopted this amendment nine years ago, after the Supreme Court had ruled two federal child labor laws unconstitutional, and it was promptly submitted to the states. Ignorant opposition, whipped up by sweat-shop industries, caused 25 states to go on record against the amendment, and until this year only six states had ratified.

But with the inauguration of the NRA it began to dawn on the people that there was no sense in working boys and girls when millions of adults were out of work, and in quick succession, nine states ratified the amendment.

It is too bad the Texas government saw fit to oppose such a commendable piece of legislation.

EXPERIMENT:In an effort to combat motor truck competition, the Pennsylvania Railroad is experimenting with the delivery and receipt of freight at store doors.

The plan, authorized by Joseph lection and delivery of less than carload lots of goods.

The idea, however, is not entirely new, since a similar service is being rendered by a New York company which is said to be controlled by the New York Central.

LYNCHING:South Carolina had another lynching Monday, and as a result four men have been charged with murder.

A coroner's jury investigating the crime obtained confession from one of the men claiming the negro drew a pistol on them Monday night in a Ninety Six, S. C., cafe. The negro was arrested and put in jail.

Later, the confession said, the four men went to the jail, demanded the prisoner, and were told by the chief of police to come back later and they would find the jail unlocked.

Although the accused police chief denies having aided the men, the negro's dead body, terribly scarred, was found the next morning.

BEER:Federal Treasury reports say that nearly 3,500,000 barrels of beer are being produced monthly in the United States, and that the amount is increasing month by month.

So far, it looks as though the government is taking most of the profit from the sale of the newly legalized brew, since more than $71,000,000 in taxes and fees has been collected since last April.

And while the treasury is taking in this enormous sum, many retailers are wishing they could at least sell enough beer to cover the cost of their licenses.

Dance Pass Amendment

Whether the "lame duck" assembly at its Thursday night meeting decides to put the dance pass question before the student body or not is of little importance. The issue is certain to be among the constitutional amendments presented to the students at the election Tuesday.

There are two methods of changing the constitution. One, by the passage of the amendment by the assembly and a two-thirds vote of at least fifty per cent of the qualified voters in the University. Second, by submitting a petition containing the names of at least fifteen per cent of the student body, and a favorable vote by at least two-thirds of at least fifty per cent of the student body. It is likely that the latter method will be used in submitting the dance pass petition.

Either method will mean that 2,550 students must cast ballots in the fall election, and almost 1,900 must vote favorably on the proposed amendment.

We offer the following suggestive amendment to article 112, chapter 2, title 8, so as to have the handbook read:

"The committee (the dance committee of the Students' Association) shall have control of the general management of the dances, including floor rules, admission, chaperons, and places for holding the dances; BUT UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES SHALL THIS COMMITTEE GRANT OR GIVE AUTHORITY TO GRANT PASSES TO ALL-UNIVERSITY DANCES. This committee or its representative on the floor shall have the authority to stop any dance when conditions warrant such action. This committee shall make a report to the Students' Assembly each month of all money received and expended."

Learn How to Vote

Observation is seeing things. It is the ability to differentiate between the correct and the incorrect aspects of a situation. Many people look and see nothing. They go through life seeing everything that amounts to nothing. We mean by this statement that what they see amounts to nothing because they have no conception of the proper way to see things. They usually have no basis upon which to form a true conception.

There is a campus activity which is to occur in the near future which has a direct bearing upon every student in college, namely, the student election. We ask you to observe very closely any information regarding the student election, the candidates for office, the nature of the office they seek to fill, and especially the qualifications of the candidates for these offices. It is necessary that you weigh these candidates from the standpoint of their worth to the student body and not from a personal viewpoint. The purpose of the offices to be filled is to promote student functions and to some extent govern student affairs. It is, therefore, needless to say that one should keep this in mind when the time of voting is at hand.

Student politics often become a personal issue and in this manner tend to disrupt the end to which it attends. If we have the ability to dissect and interpret what we see in the light of its worth to us as a group we are then ready to work as an organized body with leaders selected from our own group. It is something that no one is able to do for us, and it is a thing that we must learn to do ourselves. Let us learn to look and see things as they should be seen, with a sense of values and foresight. Let us look to the future.

The average life of a popular song is said to be two months or less... couldn't lyric sopranos share the same fate? They are not even popular.

what makes a cigarette taste better

WHAT makes anything taste better? It's what is in it that makes a thing taste better.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because we buy ripe tobaccos. These ripe tobaccos are aged two and a half years—thirty months. During this time the tobaccos improve—just like wine improves by ageing.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because they have the right kind of home-grown tobaccos and Turkish Tobaccos "welded together."

We hope this answers your question.

Seven hundred men assembled yesterday in the auditorium at a mass meeting to consider the endorsing of the Anti-Vice Crusade. The meeting was short and determined and grew out of a petition submitted with 300 men's signatures upon it. Steers Scrimmage Against Frosh; Sooners Point For 28th Game With Longhorns

By CURTIS BISHOP

A full hour's scrimmage against Coach Shorty Alderson's freshman gridsters yesterday afternoon saw Clyde Littlefield experiment with back after back in an effort to find a worthy replacement for the colorful Bohn Hilliard, who Saturday will see another bear the brunt of the Longhorn offense for the first time since he became eligible for competition last fall.

Deadline for Tickets

Tickets for the Oklahoma game in Dallas go off sale Thursday at 6 o'clock, Ed Olle, business manager of athletics, announced Tuesday.

Students with blanket taxes may purchase tickets for $1.10.

And if the frosh were supposed to show up weaknesses in the Steers' attack they did a good job. Alderson's scrapping youngsters played the varsity on almost even terms, and except for a pair of passes to Jack Gray of basketball fame and as many long runs by Melvin Preibisch, Red Sealy fullback, acquitted themselves honorably.

Arnold Showing Up

Big Jay Arnold, whose duties so far have been principally confined to blocking assignments, did his share of the ball-lugging as did Buster Jurecka, Robstown sophomore, but for some reason Jimmy Hadlock, fleet little Marshall halfback, did not see much service in the scrimmage. Hadlock, however, is sure to be given the opportunity to make the fans forget all about Hilliard Saturday against the Oklahoma Sooners.

Evidently Littlefield is planning lateral passes to use against the Oklahoma Sooners, for his charges pulled plenty of 'em yesterday. To be more exact, they started plenty of them. As we've said the freshmen were awake most of the time.

Littlefield's plans for Saturday's battle are still unknown. The Steer coach tried a drastic experiment with Jurecka against the Cornhuskers, sending the swarthy sophomore to fullback in an effort to strengthen his offensive drive. Jurecka, however, is not showing up nearly as well as in the earlier part of the season, and at present it looks as if Jay Arnold and Jimmy Hadlock will have to do most of the backfield work with Preibisch and Ray Laurence nice fullbacks both, fitting in with either Charley Johnson or Buster Baebe.

Johnston Favored

Johnston, who will be having his first chance at real competition, is probably the favorite for the starting position at quarterback. Ronald Ragan, veteran signal-barker, was injured in the tilt with the Cornhuskers, and although he is expected to be in shape to play it is almost certain that Littlefield will risk either Johnston or Baebe and hope for a pleasant surprise.

APPLICATIONS DESIRED

The Present Day Club is now accepting names of those desirous of becoming members. Persons wishing to be voted on will leave their names with Miss Lula M. Bewley, assistant dean of women, not later than today.

NORMAN, Oct. 10.—Throwing down the frazzled end of the fire-cracker labeled "Tulsa University" that exploded so unexpectedly in their hand at Tulsa Saturday, the University of Oklahoma football team Monday began pointing for what the coaches regard as the most important clash of the year, the twenty-eighth annual Oklahoma-Texas game at Dallas Saturday.

Except for a rib injury to Casey Cason, sophomore tackle, the Sooners emerged from the Tulsa defeat with no injuries. Coach Lewie Hardage even believes the defeat did the team a world of good.

"The boys realize now that we haven't a great football team," the coach declared. "It was only natural, since 30 of the 39 men on our squad are sophomores, that they would let up a bit after reading all those press notices about holding Vanderbilt to one first down last week. Sophomores are that way. Even if we play a whale of a game against Texas this week, we'd probably relax the following week. But that's the only way you can build up a sophomore squad, through the experience of defeats as well as victories."

Hardage Praises Tulsa

The Oklahoma head master praised the Tulsa University team warmly.

"Tulsa University Saturday had as fine a football team as I've seen since I've been at Oklahoma," Hardage declared. "I believe that with the exception of pass defense, Tulsa has an even better football team this year than Nebraska had last year. I believe Tack Dennis, Tulsa fullback, is as fine a sophomore fullback as there is in America today."

"Few people realize the power of Tulsa's team. Last year Tulsa scored 29 points against George Washington University. This was more than Alabama, with one of the finest teams in America, could score. Last year Tulsa defeated Mississippi at Tulsa 26 to 0 and yet Mississippi had nearly defeated Auburn, Southern conference champions, leading Auburn 7 to 0 with four minutes to play."

Lauds Fullback Poyner

Hardage thought Ben Poyner, sophomore halfback from Weleetka, was the most improved player on his squad and he also had praises for Wesley Beck, sophomore guard from El Reno, and Morris McDannald, scrappy sophomore center from Houston, Texas.

"The Tulsa defeat also did us the good service of letting us get a look at nearly every man on our squad," the Sooners coach added. "Previous to Saturday we'd seen only about half of our men in action in a real game."

Jester Replies --

him. We have understood this to apply, and we believe ought to apply, to relations between members of the faculty and members of the legislature. It would certainly produce a demoralizing situation in the University if the impression should prevail that members of the faculty might freely ask from legislators favors for themselves, their departments, or their faculty friends. The knowledge that individuals and departments have been singled out for special treatment by the committees on appropriations tends to create the impression, whether justly or not, that some members of the faculty have sought such favors. It follows logically from such an assumption that members of departments which receive special legislative favors might incur embarrassing obligations which they would find it difficult to evade without the sacrifice of University standards."

Concluding, the statement said: "It is because of our clear conviction of the dangers to faculty morale and to University standards that we beg you to take steps: (a) that may effectively prevent in fact or appearance, intervention of members of the faculty directly or indirectly with members of the legislature for the purpose of obtaining personal or departmental consideration; and (b) that may discourage the granting by the legislature of individual or departmental favors to members of the faculty."

Answering the faculty members immediately after the petition was received, President Benedict expressed himself as being "in hearty accord" with the opinions set out, and stated that he had no reason to suppose "that any different opinion is held by any Regent."

"In at least two ways your communication is and will be of distinct service to the University," the President said. "It reveals a general and correct faculty opinion on a vital item in the conduct of our University or any other State institution of higher education; and, furthermore, insistence on the maintenance of the proper powers of the Board of Regents comes with much greater force and grace from the faculty than it can possibly come from either the Regents or the President. I speak from experience when I say that there is an unavoidable weakness involved in insisting on one's prerogatives."

Jester Replies

Chairman Jester, in making formal reply to the faculty petition, on behalf of the Board of Regents, states in his communication that "the Board of Regents is in entire sympathy with the principles advanced in this communication and cannot prevent such action and conduct by the members of the faculty. He submits as a constructive suggestion that the faculty consider 'the formulation and oblation of a code of professional ethics within the faculty, enforced by the faculty members, that would discourage and prevent members of the faculty, either directly or indirectly, from securing for individual members of the faculty or departments of the University favors and discriminations at the hands of the legislature."

Continuing, the chairman said that "the Board of Regents is well aware that outside influences, resulting in bringing about raises or reductions in the salaries of individual faculty members and for certain departments within the University, will result in inequalities, likely injustices, and marked disquietude within the faculty, as well as unwarranted invasion of the plain province and prerogatives of the Board of Regents, who alone, with the advice and recommendation of the President, are charged with these and other essentially educational acts and functions. It goes without saying that the Board of Regents must condemn such actions as have been complained of and are the subject of your communication to the Board."

Pointing out the difficulty of drawing the line between proper, helpful and legitimate communication between the members of the faculty and the legislature and the Board of Regents and such communication as is not, Chairman Jester also submits that the Board of Regents, acting alone, cannot prevent such action and conduct by the members of the faculty.

He submits as a constructive suggestion that the faculty consider "the formulation and oblation of a code of professional ethics within the faculty, enforced by the faculty members, that would discourage and prevent members of the faculty, either directly or indirectly, from securing for indi-
