WASHINGTON ORDERS DISCHARGE BY DEC. 20

RECEPTION WILL BE GATHERING OF FUN AND FROLIC

Admission Charged and Absolute Informality Observed

FACULTY HAVE STUNT

Students Will Also Have Special to Amuse Everyone Present

The All-Thanksgiving Reception at Men's Gym tonight is to be the latest, most original, and most democratic social event of the year. All students, alumni, and members of the faculty are invited, and a large attendance is expected. For the first time in the history of the Thanksgiving Reception there are no tickets to buy. The affair is to be strictly informal, no evening gowns or dress hats to be admitted.

The entertainment is planned along unusual lines, too. There is to be an amazing funny stunt to be performed by members of the faculty, the act for the different roles being chosen on sole regard to the fitness of the person in experience and appearance for the part. The costumes for this act were especially prepared by a committee of faculty ladies, the act trained by Mr. Sowers, an acknowledged critic of the dramatic art, and the scenic effect arranged by a committee of wide experience in such matters. Dr. Law, Dr. Schoch, Dr. Barry, Dr. Calloway, and Dean Taylor are to have leading parts, and many other favorites among the faculty are to play important roles in "amazing spectacle," as the movie picture bill boards say.

The students are also to present a play of an entirely unique character. A new member of the faculty helped in the planning of the act and in the arrangements for it. Special parties are being made for it, special costumes, and special training, to nothing of the special ability of the students selected for the parts. A. T. C. huskies, a girls' orchestra, and girls of dramatic ability, The Goddess of Liberty, and Uncle Sam himself, are to be in it.

When the Grand March has formed and time-honored T. U., the S. A. T. C. will play and the guests will sing "Eyes of Texas." Dancing will continue until ten-thirty, and at this time the Reception will close, in order that the S. A. T. C. may be in their tracks at the appointed time.

The decorations will be brought in by a huge truck and arranged to give a festive appearance to the Gym and embody the spirit of Thanksgiving. Marguerite Meyer is chairman of the committee on arrangements, and Elaine Wherry of the reception committee. The girls will meet at the

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR LARGE CROWD AT ALUMNI FEED

Roy Bedichek, Chairman Banquet Committee Thinks Many Will Attend

HELD IN DALLAS FRIDAY

Program Will Have Reference to Work of the University in the World War

Prospects are excellent for a fine attendance at the University Ex-Students Banquet, at Dallas, November 29, during the sessions of the Texas State Teachers Association, according to R. Bedichek, who was elected president of the banquet at the meeting of the association in Waco last year. Robert E. L. Knight, of Dallas, will preside as toastmaster, and the banquet will be held in the Palm Garden of the Adolphus Hotel at 6:30 p. m. Friday of this week.

The whole program will have reference to the University of Texas and the war, and all the toasts are merely topics under this general head. J. W. Calhoun, Austin, will respond to the toast "The Campus in Wartime," which will be followed by "University Women and the War," Miss Catherine Gray, of Dallas. "When our Boys Come Home" is the subject of another toast, and W. H. Atwell, Dallas, an alumnus of the University who has two boys in France, will respond to the toast "Our Heroes Who Have Fallen."

The singing of college and patriotic songs will be lead by a chorus in charge of Mrs. George Watson, Dallas.

The whole program will be short and adjournment will be taken in time for all who may desire to attend the night session of the State Teachers' Association.

The custom of Texas Exes banquet together at the sessions of the State Teachers' Association has been long observed, and has grown to be one of the most representative gatherings of ex-students held in the State.

BROWN IN NEBRASKA CHEMICAL DEPT.

J. R. Bailey, professor of Organic Chemistry in the University of Texas, who had leave of absence last year to do research work with the Hirsh Brothers in New York, is back. D. J. Brown, who took his place last year, is now associate professor of chemistry in the University of Nebraska. He writes that he likes his position very much and that he is delighted with the new chemistry building and equipment of the institution.

LT. A. S. McFARLANE EXHIBITED HIGH COURAGE IN ACTION

Former Student, Nephew of Mrs. Kirby, Recommended for Military Cross

A clipping from a Canadian newspaper gives some interesting details of the career and notable bravery of Lieutenant Alexander S. MacFarlane, former student of the University of Texas and more recently on its Roll of Honor for the dead.

Lieutenant MacFarlane was hit by a splinter from a bomb while participating in an engagement. He was placed on a stretcher with two of his men, but before he could be removed from the danger zone, a bullet from a German sniper pierced his heart, killing him instantly.

Although Lieutenant MacFarlane was only twenty-one years of age, he had rendered service of so distinguished a nature that he had been twice recommended for decoration with the military cross. As well as can be certified, this is the first and only time that an ex-student of Texas has been honored. After an engagement near Amiens in August he was recommended for decoration by the commander of an infantry unit which his battery had supported. Later, at the battle of Quentin Drocourt in September, Lieutenant MacFarlane was recommended for the military cross by an artillery commander who was unaware of the fact that he had already been recommended. It was during this last engagement that the young American was wounded for the first time. He bravely refused to go to England for treatment when he was hit in the face with a bullet, but insisted on rejoining his battery after ten days in a French hospital before he had entirely recovered. He was to have been given a furlough within ten days to go to London to be decorated by King George.

Letters from higher officials speak of Lieutenant MacFarlane as a brilliant young officer who was devoted to his men in the same great degree that they respected him.

The University of Texas remembers Lieutenant MacFarlane as a seventeen year old youth who came here from Canada some four years ago to attend the University in which his father had been Professor in Physics about twenty-five years ago. Although he was too young to be drafted, his high courage and sense of duty led him to withdraw from the University, return to Canada, and enlist for overseas service.

Lieutenant MacFarlane was a nephew of Mrs. Helen Marr Kirby, dean of women at the University of Texas.

THE GAME.

Of course the game is the big thing. We are all anxious and impatient for the sound of the first whistle. What the outcome of the game may be little matters. It is a fine thing if two rival institutions can compete upon the field of honor, for a championship title, and throughout it all maintain the same high standards of sportmanship.

We're too prejudiced to have any doubt as to the outcome of the game as expressed on the scoreboard. It is our firm belief that Texas will win the southwestern championship. We do not expect to do so without effort. On the other hand, we believe that there will be a mighty struggle for supremacy before the curtain is pulled down. We base our hopes of victory upon that grim, unyielding fighting spirit that makes our team the same steady unflinching unit that it is. A persual of the dope sheet seems to give the Longhorn team a slight advantage. But dope doesn't count when the Farmers and Longhorns meet, and everyone who sees the game can do so with the assurance that there will be one of the best exhibitions of football ever witnessed hereabouts.

THANKSGIVING MEMORIES

Once more the clans are assembled for the titantic struggle the Aumunni have come home to revive fond memories and gle on the football field. Again renew old friendships.

The student body of the University of Texas welcomes you one and all. To the old students we extend a greeting that is born of a sense of kinship; for we feel that every Alumnus is a brother of sister who, having gone forth to seek his fortunes, returns now and then to his alma mater to lend encouragement and inspiration to his younger brothers and sisters, while he himself renews his store of love and honor for the old institution that made him.

To the Cadets and faculty of A. & M. we extend a greeting, not as enemies (as some would have had us do in the past), but as friendly rivals, who, striving for the same ideals as we are, find pleasure and profit in the trials of strength and prowess as expressed on the football field.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Since the last Thanksgiving Day our country has been through mighty throes of emotion for its spiritual nature and of the action and suffering in physical form. But out of forces such as these come character; and in what has been done and endured by people all over the land, there has been forged anew the sort of character which is truly American. The same forces that have operated this last year were felt in the early times of colonial and pioneer life when the white settlers dared the wilds of the New World and came face to face with savages.

The white man conquered the red man, not because of the difference in color, but because he, the white man, had been trained in ingenuity, invention, arts and crafts that he could put to use in creating a civilization out of rough natural resources and could overcome the Indian because his knowledge was greater than that the savage had acquired in mere primitive struggle with anything that opposed him from cold of winter and heta of summer, to the shrewd contest of minds.

And now the descendants of those brave white settlers are contending against race of savages; men more barbarous than the Indian, because they have known better things. They are fighting them gallantly, persistently and seemingly with success. But when the foes are finally conquered it will not have been our guns or ammunition that quenches the Teuton's thirst for blood and plunder and causes him to lay down his arms. It will be the change of spirit that will enable him to see and to acknowledge that to kill and torment in order to accomplish his own desire ias gainst all the teachings of a high and fine spirit that is willing all men should have opportunity, happines, comfort and security in living, but that knows none freely can have these things unless all agree to obtain them for each other as wel las for themselves.

LEST WE FORGET.

Texas University cherishes very dearly the memory of the men who have given their lives in the present war. We sent them out full of life, enthusiasm, and a noble purpose to fight for us and for all Americans, that we might live safe from the menace of armed insanity.

It is only fitting that in some way we should memorialize what they have done. The plan should not be pushed in such a manner as to jeopardize its final fitness. There will be time enough later to decide whether we shall build a monument, erect a memorial building, or establish scholarships. The thing that we must keep in mind is to not forget that something is going to be done about it, and when it is done, we must be prepared to have a very real part in it.

Some say that memory fails us and that if we were to rightly remember our past relations with A. & M., we should feel differently. But we well remember on past occasions when the student body has gone to Bryan en masse, that everything has been done to make us welcome and to show us the courtesy due guests. We believe that in general teh University of Texas has tried to treat the Cadets from A. & M. in like manner.

True enough, there has always been, and may always be, a certain element in both schools, who, not falling in with the general attitude and opinion, have by their thoughtless, careless, acts and words, jeopardized for a time, the proper relations between the schools. We believe that in general this element is largely gone. At any rate speaking for the student body in general we feel safe in saying that we extend to the Cadets and faculty of A. & M. the friendliest and heartiest of greetings.

BOYSEN PREPARES WAR LECTURES TO BE USED IN SCHOOLS

The Department of Extension, University of Texas, announces that it has in course of preparation an illustrated lecture on "The German Government of Conquered Peoples." It will deal with the government of Alsace-Lorraine, Schleswig-Holstein, and Poland. It will be ready for use by the public within ten days.

The lecture is being written by J. L. Boysen, professor of Germanic Languages in the University. Being a native of Holstein and intimately familiar with the other parts of Germany concerning which the lecture deals, gives to Mr. Boysen's lecture an added interest. The illustrations will consist of fifty lantern slides, these being prepared at the laboratory of the University.

The lecture is being prepared expressly for use in history classes of the public schools, though it may also be adapted for use in evening lectures. The lecture will be typewritten, and this with the lantern slides will be loaned free to responsible persons applying for the same.

PETE SEZ

Thanksgiving day has come at last,
With lots of things to eat,
But you has to buy your dinner now,
It ain't a family treat.
An' I guess you thinks agin
'Bout what they has at home,
A sittin' on a linen cloth,
That makes the table groan.
Over there's some turkey hen,
An' goodold dresin' too,
With cranberry sauce al red an' nice
An' pies of different hue.
Firts there's mince an' chocolate,
Then comes raisin pie,
An' egg custard white on top
No money could ever buy.
An' then some taters, yellow yams,
So sweet an' full of juice,
With syrup on 'em two feet thick,
An' good old maple moose.
An' olives of all different shades,
An' pickles—home-made brand,
The kind they knows jest how to made,
The kind you can't withstand.
An' cake, now let us see,
There's chocolate, angel, and devil,
All standin' out so prominent like,
Cause we can't be at the revel.
But boys, I has to give it up,
It don't do any good;
An' we'll take jest what we've got,
In a real Thanksgiving mood.

was a large attendance of food ad-meeting proved very interesting and beneficial.

At the meeting of the State Federa-

Mr. Hartt, Miss Dimmitt, and Miss

WARM CLOTHING ISSUED TO MEN OF S. A. T. C. YESTERDAY

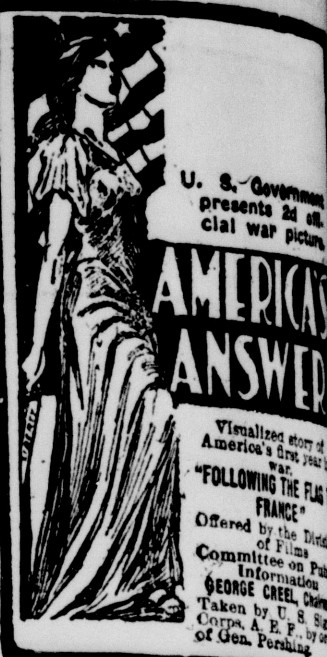

The S. A. T. C. men have an added reason for giving thanks this year—new clothes! Monday afternoon the S. A. T. C. supply room with its strong odor of camphor balls brought back memories to passersby of winter clothes being brought down from the attic back home. Men with their arms stacked high with O. D. woollens and heavy "extras" were leaving the building for the barracks with super-thankful expressions on their faces.

There was new clothing issued yesterday for 632 men and each man received 1 blouse, 2 pairs breeches, and 2 pairs of woolen underwear. An extra pair of shoes will probably be issued next week. In all there was $8000 worth of goods drawn for the S. A. T. C. men yesterday. This was had from the quartermaster's department at Camp Mabry for the total number of men in the S. A. T. C. unit, collegiate section A. Here it was re-divided and issued in proper proportions to the companies where it was distributed to the men.

When all the clothing due the men has been distributed each man will have 1 barracks bag, 1 waist belt, 3 O. D. blankets, 2 pairs cotton breeches, 2 pairs woolen breeches, 1 cotton coat, 1 woolen coat, 2 pairs cotton underwear, 2 pairs woolen underwear, 1 service hat, 1 pair leggin laces, 1 pair shoe laces, 1 pair leggins, 1 U. S. collar ornament, 2 flannel shirts, either O. D. or gray, 1 pair shoes, 3 pairs woolen stockings.

Every man has to be measured before the clothing is ordered to get the

LONGHORNS HAVE FULL CONFIDENCE IN SURE VICTORY

Personal Data About Longhorn Squad That Shows How They Will Do It

TS CONLEY WILL PLAY

ings the Average Weight of the Team Up to 170 lbs. No Serious Injuries Mar Prospects

(By Everett Looney.)

DAVE PENA (Captain).

The Texas Longhorn team goes into conflict today prepared to win and in the full confidence born of past even ability, they are prepared to be the best that the Farmers can produce.

"Fats" Conley, big right guard who has been temporarily out of school re-entered and is eligible to play today. This will bring the average weight of the Texas team up to 170 lbs.

The personal history of each man on the team is given below: Dave Pena, captain of the Longhorn team, has had quite a career in the football sense of the word.

At the position of left tackle, few players have been in as many scrimmages as he. From his first year on Austin High School eleven, he played so that his work was given considerable notice. Three years on the team developed a well balanced team at the game.

Pena was selected as all-state tackle in the interscholastic section in his first year; he was also captain of the winning team in his organization. Along with the rest of the squad he was selected as an all-state team during his third year for the A. H. S. Pena is twenty-one years of age, weighs 165 pounds, and is five feet ten inches tall.

Last year he made a letter on the team at the position of left tackle. The Houston Post and Dallas News writers selected him for the all-state squad.

Pena was elected captain of the team this year up the withdrawal of "Fat" Conley from the University.

JOE SPENCE.

Joe Spence, the stellar guard, has played two years for Central High School, Dallas. Central High played eventful years, during his stay Spence probably has the honor of being the youngest man that ever received a letter from the University of Texas, he making the squad last year at the age of sixteen.

He is now playing his second year on the regulars, and it would be a mighty good man to fill his shoes better than he is now doing it. He is seventeen years of age, and weighs 179 pounds, and is six feet tall.

"DOC" GRAVES.

G. "Doc" Graves, a wearer of the letter from last year's squad, and a power in the 1916-17 freshman team. He also filled this position last year.

"Doc" is a speedy man, and worked for track last year, but was out of work on account of a bad leg. He had his previous experience, becoming a University of Texas, Galveston High School.

Graves is twenty years of age, weighs 159 pounds and is five feet and six inches in height.

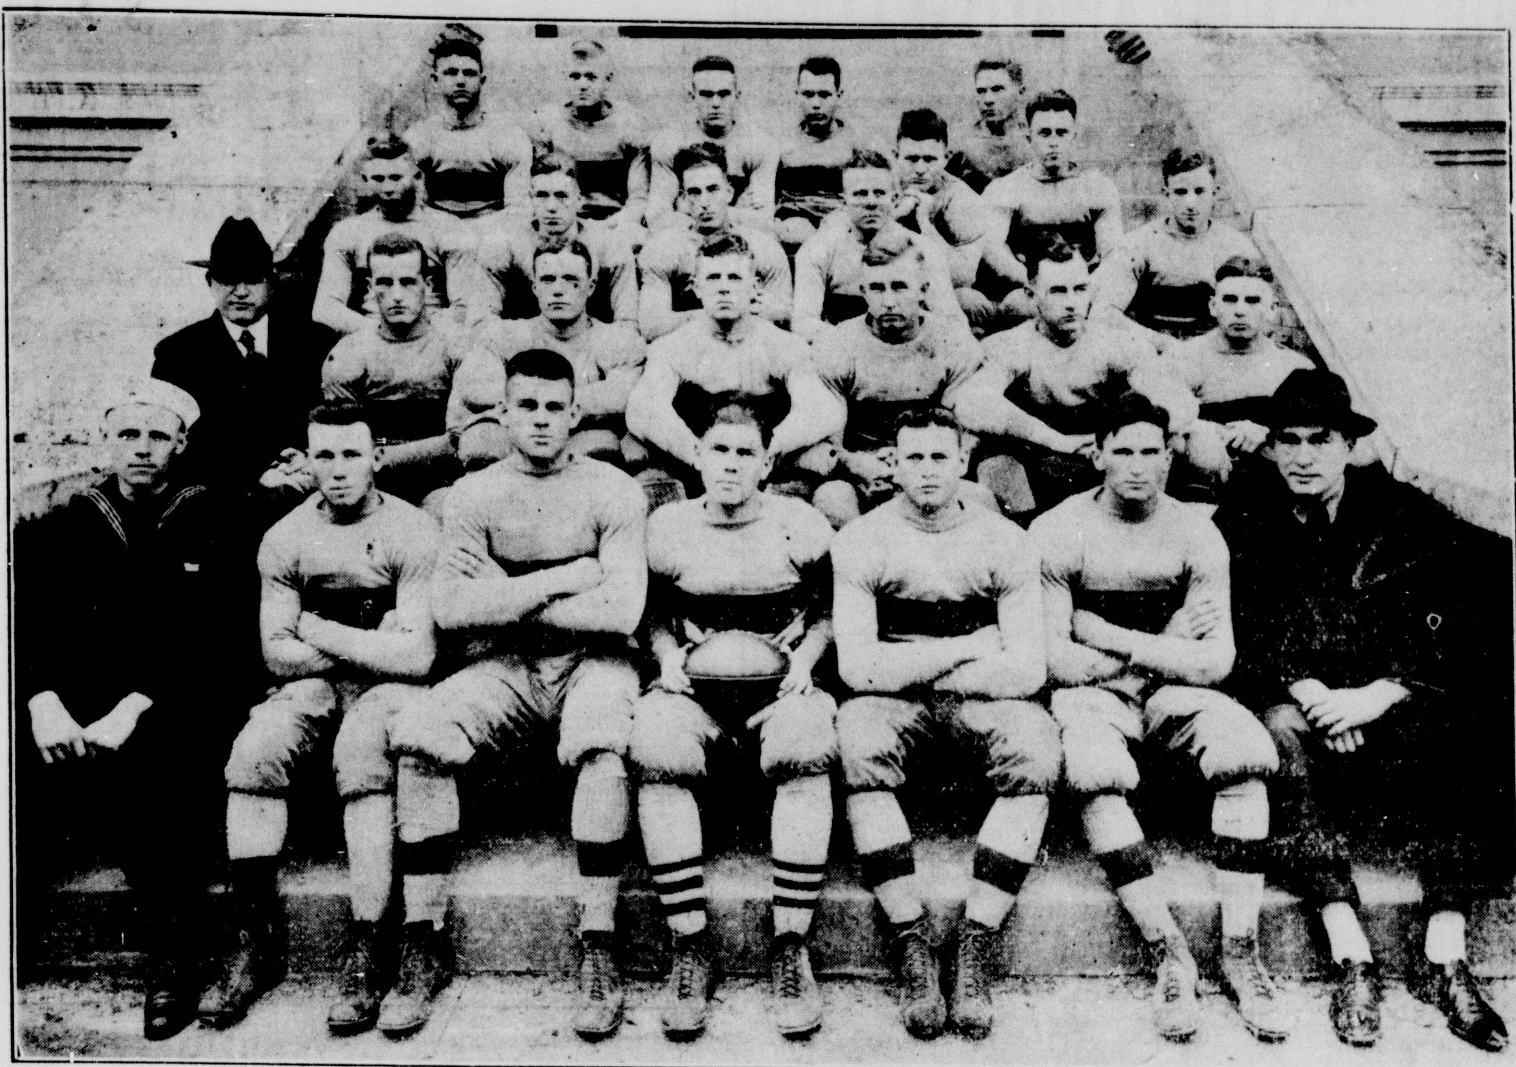

LOUIE SMYTH.

He is quite a feature bill in all matters pertaining to athletics. He has the honor of having three letters in his freshman year, having earned up to the standard in football, track, and basketball.

Smyth holds down the position of fullback in the best of style. He won a praise for his work last year, and is doing still better at that position at present.

He was the nucleus of the strong Cliff High School team for four years. This team had many a victory last season with Smyth at the heavy

THE LONGHORN TEAM

Smyth is twenty years of age, weighs 180 pounds and is six feet in height.

BIB FALK.

Falk was a member of last year's championship ineligible team. This eleven was made up of such men as Hardy Jackson, Tillie Ferguson, "Rat" Watson, and Falk. He was chosen as all-state tackle for the second team.

With two years of previous experience on the Austin High first team before entering the University, it has taken scarcely no work to make a number 1 man of him.

In 1915-1916, 1916-1917, Austin High held the state championship in interscholastic football. Falk was a strong factor of the team of those years.

Falk made a "T" in baseball last year, being the mainstay of Billy Disch's pitching staff.

He is nineteen years of age, weighs 174 pounds, and is six feet tall.

W. B. FERGUSON.

"Tillie" was the man that was heard from last year among that championship ineligible squad. He also was a member of that aggregation of Watson, Jackson, Falk, Ferguson. In that backfield that any University would be proud of, Ferguson was one of the halves.

Three years on the Waxahachie High, coupled with a year at Trinity, has made some player of Ferguson, and added to the Juneau type of training he promises to be an all-state man.

Ferguson is our dependable quarter and works his head and feet at a very fast speed. He has a punt that is hard to beat.

W. H. COLLINS.

Bill Collins, last year's yell leader, letter in baseball last year, and elected yell leader this year, was forced to give up his position as yell leader, so as to be able to play at his position at end on the local gridiron.

Bill led the yells for the games last year, but this year he takes his place among Juneau's pigskin men. He has worked out with the squad for two years prior to this, but lack of experience was a holdback to him, as he never played football in his preparatory school days. But despite all drawbacks, Collins has developed into a player, bordering on stardom, this year.

He is twenty years old, weighs 150 pounds, and is five feet and seven inches in height.

JOE ELLIS.

Powell Training School has given us a stellar player in the person of Joe Ellis. Ellis played three years in that school and played in several memorable games with that organization. Powell School was defeated by Terrill School in a very hot game with a score of 10 to 0. The S. M. U. ineligible last year went down before Ellis and his co-players to the tune of 20 to 0.

These games received statewide mention.

Joe's first year at Powell School saw him at the position of tackle, but the last two saw him at the full-back's pivot.

Ellis is now making the state look at him as the dependable little right half back.

He is nineteen years of age, weighs 172 pounds, and is five feet and eight inches tall.

GEORGE P. HILL.

Hill, despite the fact that he has had no football practice in two years, is running along at end, alternately will Bill Collins. He having left the Central High at Fort Worth two years ago.

During his prep school football days, Hill played first at tackle, then at center, but Juneau saw material for an end in him, and he is now located at that position.

Hill is twenty years of age, weighs 155 pounds, and is five feet and ten inches tall.

TOM NEWMAN.

Newman, our left guard, directly from Garland High School, has had four years of successful work in the football line in prep school, and is now seeing his fifth year, which is more successful under his new role of guard. Newman formerly played as tackle and fullback.

Garland, last year, came near winning the North Texas championship.

Newman is nineteen years of age, weighs 185 pounds and is six feet and one inch tall.

MAGNUS SWENSON.

Magnus has played four years on the line, prior to his coming here. Three years out of four, he was on the winning team. He is from Stamford High School.

Out of eight games played last year by that eleven, seven games were won, and one game was lost.

Swenson is a sure enough eighteen year old man, weighing 187 pounds, and being six feet and two inches in height.

ALVARRO McCALLUM.

Another product of Austin High School is making a name for himself. Alvarro McCallum, that is, he is making his name known in intercollegiate football.

McCallum during the two years played on the Austin High eleven, interchanging half-back for full-back and vice versa. During his two years on that team, it lost but one game each year. One to Beaumont, and one to San Antonio.

McCallum made left half in the first pickings of the Longhorns, and bids fair to hold it as long as he wishes.

He is eighteen years of age, weighs 157 pounds, and is 5 feet 9 inches tall.

Although the Longhorns average 170 pounds which is a pretty heavy bunch, they have got the speed. No, they are not speed demons, but a slow man can't catch them.

Every one has specialties, and so have these football men on the Longhorn squad.

If Louie Smyth should be asked what he likes to do, he would either pass the ball or tackle an opponent.

Graves and Spence have kicking goals stuck out on the plank as their specialty.

Falk caps it all with his kicking off. He uses his left foot and uses it effectively.

Ferguson and McCallum take turns punting the ball. They both have a pretty sure toe.

Hill, Collins, and Graves make a specialty of receiving passes.

Swenson is a very accurate passer, and has never fumbled to any one's recollection.

The whole line with Pena, Newman, Falk, Spence, and Swenson work like a machine. No gains more than a yard or so have been made through the line. Every man on the line may truthfully say that they have blocked kicks. Some use their hands, some bodies, some legs, some eyes, and nearly everything, but they all serve for the same purpose—football victory.

FAMOUS TEXAS STEER NOW GRAZES IN UNKNOWN PASTURE AWAITING CURE

The famous orange and white Longhorn steer refuses to come into the spot light of publicity again. He lingers—no one will say definitely where. As long as he could remember the thrills of the 21 to 7 victory he was happy and contented. It mattered not where he lived.

Then came humiliation; through the perfidy of A. & M. he became an ever-present advertisement of an ancient, heart breaking score. His belief in the security of University friends and the team vanished. The Longhorn steer pined for his native land far from the spying eye of man. Existence was impossible in an unkind city. Without warning, and escorted only by an uncommunicative keeper, one Sunday morning in December, 1916, he disappeared in the direction of the ranch regions surrounding Austin.

Who knows? Who can say? Almost two years have passed. The healing influence of time. Mulsified Coconut Oil, Herpicide and Danderine may have eradicated all evidence of the degrading brand. The Longhorn steer may come again on this Thanksgiving to Clark Field to celebrate peace for the world and—victory for Varsity.

TEXAS WOMEN HAVE DONE HEROIC WORK IN WAR ACTIVITIES

Volunteered for Red Cross, Hospital Service, and Other Work

That the young women of the University of Texas have been no less patriotic than the men is evident by the long list of girls now engaged in Government service. Varsity co-eds can be found in hospitals, hostess houses, Y. W. C. A. homes, and Government offices and laboratories throughout the United States and foreign lands.

Almost as soon as announcement was made of the Vassar Training Camp for Nurses, seven University seniors volunteered. Of these, Winnifred Hume of Austin, was the first to make formal application for admittance, but seven others, Elise Bumpas, of Terrell, Pearl Zilker, of San Antonio, Elizabeth Andrews of Austin, Hilda Knippa of Uvalde, Eula Whitehouse of Cleburne, Katherine Peers of Gainesville, and Mildred Paxton of Abilene, graduate student, were accepted immediately afterwards.

Two ex-students were also in the University group, Ada Miller, B. A., M. J., '17, of San Antonio, and Lynne Wooten Platter of Denison. All of these are now completing their training in hospitals in New York City, Boston and Philadelphia, except Elise Bumpas and Pearl Zilker. Miss Bumpas was called home early in the course by a bereavement in her family, and Miss Zilker was forced to withdraw on account of ill health. She did not, however, return to Texas, but became associated with Mrs. Pennybacker in community camp work in New York City.

Three other ex-students, Mae Whitsitt of Fort Worth, Ethel Randall of Dallas, and Florence Mathews of Austin, have enlisted as nurses. Miss Whitsitt is stationed at Fort Sill, Miss Mathews is in training in Chicago, and Miss Randall is in a Boston hospital.

The science department has added two other names to the list, Mrs. B. S. Marshall of San Antonio, and Eunice Heavenhill of Winters. Mrs. Marshall, B. S., M. S., '10, was called to the base hospital at Camp Travis during the spring term as bacteriologist, and on the advice of the surgeon in charge there, is now studying for her M. D. at Johns Hopkins. Miss Heavenhill was called to the base hospital at Houston as bacteriologist, during the same term.

Miss Elizabeth Shelly of Austin, a former student, and a graduate nurse, spent some time at the beginning of the war nursing the Italian soldiers in Florence, Italy, and at present is in New York awaiting overseas orders. Mary Lake Henderson, of Cameron, has finished her training and is also awaiting overseas orders.

Marguerite Stewart of Houston, former president of the local Y. W. C. A., and district secretary of the Southwestern Field Committee, has been in France since the first of the year in the interest of the association, and Ethel Fonda of Austin is now in Tokio, Japan, teaching to the Japanese girls athletics under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A.

Mildred Marshall of Austin, heads the list of girls in Washington. She has been there for several months as private secretary to Senator Shepard. Viva Booth went before commencement, and during the summer among those entering actively into war work there were: Mary Alice Jones, Voncile Lidell, Sallie Whitehouse, Mae Fenet, Jose Hatch, Lalla Boone, Alma Baker, Wanda O'Rinskim, Geneva Dean Lohmann, Mary Grace Muse, Marie Jordt, Dalla Lawrence, Dorothy Wilcox, Elizabeth Butts, Eudora Hawkins, Marion Hawkins, and Mary Bledscoe, who has gone since the beginning of school.

Caddie Whitsitt is employed as an expert stenographer in a government office at Columbia, S. C. Reba Baker of Mart, is also acting as stenographer in Fort Worth, Texas.

In Texas, the girls are doing various kinds of war work. Charlotte Spence of San Angelo, president of the Woman's Council last year, is in charge of the cafeteria of the hostess house at Camp Bowie, and Gertrude Goldsmith of Cleburne, another member of last year's council, was supervisor of the Y. W. C. A. tea room at Galveston this summer. Lucille Parks of Austin, has recently been made state supervisor of Girls' Canning Clubs, Elizabeth Chandler of Kingsville is censoring Spanish mail at San Antonio; Annie Louise Stayton of Corpus Christi, is Y. W. C. A. secretary in charge of girls' work in the Southwestern Division of Texas; Martha Gillespie is attached to the Extension Department of A. and M. College as lecturer and food demonstrator, and Coronal Thomas, an Austin girl, has recently been appointed secretary of Girls' War Work under the Fosdick Commission.

Ruth Stocking, a senior who gave up her degree this year to accept an appointment in the Bureau of Statistics, was called home in August, and is now managing her father's drug store in Clarendon.

No complete list has been kept of all the girls who have entered the service of the government, but the list is one of distinction, and the University as a whole is proud of the feminine stars on its service flag.

THANKSGIVING. Bettie Ashford.

*Thanksgiving time is here,
With its laughter and good cheer,
And its turkey, and mincemeat, and pumpkin pies.
With its skies of somber gray,
And its winds that blow away
Everything that saddens hearts, or dims the eyes.*

*There's the dinner table grand,
Loaded down throughout the land,
And the happy folks exchanging tales of fun,
But the time of all the day
When our hearts will feel most gay
Is the time when our team makes its first good run.*

*Some folks talk about the Ball
And the Holiday, and all
Of the things that go to make
Thanksgiving gay.
But to me the day's no fun
Till the football game is won—
Till we've beaten A. and M. the same old way.*

WOMANS' BUILDING ACCOMODATES HUNDRED AND FIFTY WITH ANNEX

The Woman's Building, like every other feature of the University, has been changed to meet war conditions. The eighty-four girls coming back to the Building in September were amazed to see not only places for a hundred and fifty girls in the dining room, but one hundred and fifty girls to fill the places. For a few days there was no explanation except mumbled words of Annex A, and Annex B and later Annex C. Finally, though, the matter became more tangible and the three new homes, rented to the University by three fraternities, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta, and Sigma Nu, accepted as part of the Woman's Building for the duration of school year.

The annexes are under the supervision of Mrs. Carothers as Director, and Miss Anna Henricks as Building Manager, and the same rules and regulations are observed by all the girls whether in the Building or in the annexes.

Mrs. Harwood at Annex A, Boswell at Annex B, and Miss Yeiser, are in direct charge as managers of the additions to the Building.
