Sixty-five thousand people attended the inauguration of W. Lee O'Daniel, Fort Worth flour merchant, as governor of Texas Tuesday in a five-hour ceremony in Texas Memorial Stadium. The above pictures show parts of the crowd, largest ever to attend a political gathering in Texas, and glimpses of the activities and personalities taking part in the program.

the Governor and a freshman in the University. Next to Governor O'Daniel is Walter Woodul of Houston, who prior to the gubernatorial ceremonies turned his lieutenant-governorship over to Coke R. Stevenson of Junction.

Governor O'Daniel is shown making his inaugural address in the upper right photo. Behind him is seated former Governor Allred who introduced the new official. To the right of Allred is Emmett Morse, recently elected speaker of the House of Representatives

Steers Must Beat Bears Tonight for Title Chance

By CLARENCE La ROCHE

At the cross-roads of the 1939 Southwest Conference basketball race, the University basketball team tonight meets the high-flying Baylor Bears in a game they must win to stay in the fight for the title. Game time is 7:15.

The Steer squad of thirteen players will leave for Waco this afternoon at 2 o'clock to get in a practice session before the game.

In teeing off against the Bears in Waco tonight, the Longhorns will be fighting a jinx that has not permitted them to win a game in the Bear home-town since 1936, the last banner year Texas had in basketball. Last year, the Longhorns dropped two close games to the Bears, one of these by a one-point margin.

Wednesday night's game will be the second time the two clubs have met this season, the Steers having defeated the Bruins 46-38 in the semi-finals of the Oklahoma City Invitation Tournament. Since that game, however, the Bears have won two straight conference tilts from Texas A.M. and T.C.U. The Steers have won one and lost two in conference com-

Communist Flag Is Too Close For Lone Star

While candid cameras clicked and campus visitors and students cheered, Fireman M. R. Miller climbed up a ladder on a fire truck and cut loose a Communist flag that was flying alongside the Texas Lone Star on the east flagpole in front of the Main Building Tuesday afternoon. The flag had been on the pole since very early Tuesday morning.

The hook and ladder squad was called out after students and janitors were unable to manipulate the pulley rope because of two

'Public Eye' Says 'It's Great'

Here's the way various people in the public eye reacted to the spectacle at Memorial Stadium Tuesday as W. Lee O'Daniel took the oath of office as governor, according to International News Service:

Mike O'Daniel, son of the Governor and also a University freshman: "I never saw so many cameras."

Son Pat, also a University freshman: "It's a pretty big affair so far."

Daughter Molly, prospective University freshman: "My brother's going to take me to the dance. Did you know Mike had been appointed janitor of dad's flour company?"

Former Governor James E. Ferguson: "It's very imposing and it will set a precedent for every other state in the union. It's fine advertising for Texas and I'm for it 100 per cent."

Speaker Emmett Morse of the Texas House of Representatives: "It is a fine tribute to the confi-

326 Emergencies Aren't Enough To Ruin Big Show

By CLYDE La MOTTE

Handling a crowd of 65,000 people. Keeping a program of five hours duration running smoothly and on schedule. Meeting sudden emergencies. Directing the hundreds of persons participating in the program. Those were some of the problems facing W. L. McGill, chairman of the stadium committee, and his assistants at the inauguration yesterday at Memorial Stadium.

"Station nine, rush. Get that step ladder off the platform."

"Station two, emergency, rush. Send an ambulance to gate seven."

"Station nine, emergency, rush. Send an escort to gate two to meet Allred and his party. RUSH!"

Such messages were just a few of the 326 that Mr. McGill dictated to his fast-working stenographer, who typed them and passed them over to the switchboard operator, who, in turn, relayed the messages to nine telephone operators located at vantage points throughout the stadium.

It was a hectic ordeal for Mr. McGill and his crew of trouble shooters. Located in the top of

Massed Humanity Replaces Football

Some of them came in dilapidated cars of ancient vintage; others came in expensive cars; school busses brought many children. At any rate there were some sixty-five thousand in the assorted mass of humanity out there in Memorial Stadium where, instead of a football game, W. Lee O'Daniel was made the Governor of Texas.

The rain of Monday night made the seats a bit wet for those early arrivals, but with pillows and papers they settled themselves for the long, and at times pretty dull program.

Bands, attired in vari-colored uniforms, swung into the north entrance, around the track to the reviewers' stand and back down the east side of the track. The 160-piece Texas A.M. band, largest of the group, drew a lot of attention as it marched around the track.

The arrival of W. Lee O'Daniel livened the show up a bit. And the crowd displayed a lot of amused interest in watching the antics of the cameramen,

Record Crowd Sees Pageant, Hears Governor's Hillbilly Band

By PAT DANIELS

Texan Editor

Unlike the hillbilly who was able to knock aside all political criticism by singing "Please Pass the Biscuits, Pappy" when he was elected last summer, W. Lee O'Daniel, Fort Worth businessman, was seen as a dignified statesman yesterday when he became Governor of the State of Texas. The entire four-hour inaugural ceremony, presented before approximately sixty-five thousand Texas citizens—the largest in the history of this State—was held in the University's Texas Memorial Stadium. The only reminder of anything unusual in the entire ceremony was the conclusion of Governor O'Daniel's inaugural address by the O'Daniel Hillbilly Boys' version of "The Old Rugged Cross," the singing of the Governor-composed "Beautiful Texas," and the remembrance that the entire procedure, including a session of the Texas Legislature, was taking place on a football field.

The crowd, however, was in a holiday mood. Many of the spectators had traveled hundreds of miles to see the 47-year-old flour salesman who was elected on a platform based on the Golden Rule and the Ten Commandments, with a pledge of $30 a month pensions and application of business principles in government. More than forty colorful military and school bands, military and aerial salutes, the circus atmosphere of popcorn, peanuts, and souvenir vendors, news and cameramen running in every direction, did not hurt the spirit of the occasion.

The Governor's family attracted as much attention as did the first citizen himself. Mrs. O'Daniel, grey-haired, quiet, and dignified, was dressed in a grey wool suit with a powder blue pin stripe. Her wrap was a silvery grey fox scarf. She wore a jeweled clip at her throat and three small pom-poms on her black straw hat. Molly, the smiling, charming 16-year-old daughter, wore a three-piece yellow suit, with brown alligator bag and slippers and a brown silk moire hat. Mrs. O'Daniel carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses, and Molly carried yellow Talisman roses. The two sons, Pat, 20, now president of the flour company which his famous father formerly headed, and Mike, 18, whom Pat

Longhorn Captain

Wee Willie Tate, captain of the 1939 University basketball team, should hit his stride against the Baylor Bears tonight, when he remembers the close games the Steers dropped to Baylor last year. Tate, a senior from Stephenville, has been shifted from center to forward this season. He is a two-year letterman.

HAVING undergone quite a panning—along with editor Pat Daniels and columnist Joe Neiser—in "The Battalion," A.M. semi-weekly, for the pot-shots we took at Aggie Grid Coach Homer Norton, we browsed around a bit and dug up another "juicy" morsel to let Mr. Doss, Battalion editor, "chew" on for a while. Here it is: it was not printed at the time because Billy Disch, Steer baseball mentor, asked Vernon Rooke, last year's associate sports editor, not to print it. When the Steers went to College Station for the first game with the Farmers last baseball season, they were seated in front of a freshman section . . . after a while, the exuberant Aggies were not content with merely "riding" the Longhorns and proceeded to subject the Texas team to a barrage of tobacco-juice expectorations. One uniformed-yokel went so far as to put a lighted cigarette where the Steer team manager was sitting and succeeded in giving him a damaging burn. After a fashion, a few "officials" or stadium keepers came point them out . . . magnificent gesture. . . . At the last report, Joe Neiser was deep in research accumulated Thanksgiving Eve car-burning episode.

BACK to Waco today go the Longhorn basketball team . . . but not back to the Baylor University "pill-box" gym. Last year's "grudge" game between the Steers and Bears was played in the tiny gym . . . there were more people on the outside trying to look in than there were inside. The tragic part of the entire episode is that the game probably was the best one played in the conference that season. Baylor won the nip-and-tuck affair by a one-point margin . . . Bouncing Bobby Moers and Bubba Gernand were spewing color all over the premises . . . Don White and Happy Shahan, two of the best guards in the business, vied for honors . . . Willie Tate and the mighty Hub Kirkpatrick dumping sensational field goals. Tonight, the same two teams battle. We should be inclined to predict a Texas victory on one detail only: the Bears have no Bubba Gernand this year . . . and Gernand was their "money player" . . . especially against the Steers. Texas MUST dump the Bears if they want to stay in the conference race.

RICE looms up larger every time out as the dark-horse . . . Buster Brannon, a Jimmy Kittle nunit at Athens High in the National Title era, is turning in a great job of coaching the Owls . . . he is also blessed with some fine soph material in the persons of Frank Carswell and Placido Gomez. Southern Methodist is slated for rough sailing with Baylor, Rice, and Texas in the offing. The Ponies have at least two defeats coming their way . . . the Steers must win all games from now on to keep abreast of the Ponies and Bears. It looks like they might do it . . . when Willie Tate hits his scoring stride, Thurman (Slew) Hull hits the basket more accurately, and W. D. (Speedy) Houpt keeps improving.

MONTY Stratton plans to hurl for the Chisox next season; the white Sox ace will use an artificial leg . . . he will report for spring training with the rest of the squad . . . Van Lingle Mungo swears he never will play ball for the Dodgers at five grand a season . . . the Cardinals are basking their pennant hopes on the doubtful wind of Paul (Daffy) Dean . . . Detroit is banking on young Hutchison and Lynn (Schoolboy) Rowe . . . the Yanks may switch young Tom Henrich to first in the not too distant future . . . the Yanks are coming up with Charlie Keller heralded as an embryonic Babe Ruth . . . Buddy Rosar, the best catcher in the International League last year, is also slated for Ruppert livery . . . Joe Louis may decide John Henry Lewis, but we'll take J. H. . . . all's not milk and honey at Pitt U. . . . the outstanding footballer in the country in 1938 was Davey O'Brien . . . we'll stick to Bullet Bill Patterson . . . the United States Davis Cup team was not wrecked when J. Donald Budge shunted the simon pures for the sheekels . . . Bobby Riggs, Frankie Parker, Wayne Sabin, Gene Mako, and Betsy Grant will keep the big mug in the U. S.

O'Brien to Meet Rival Patterson

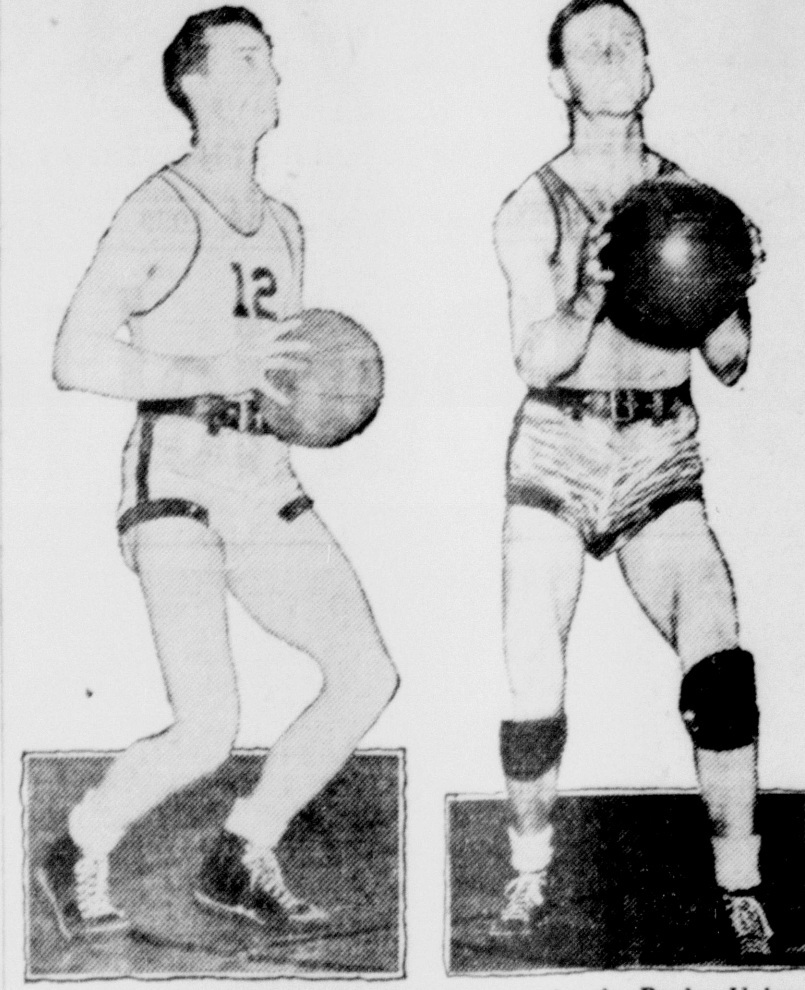

Bullet Bill Drops Pro Contract

American football fans are still wondering who is the best passer in modern football and the Knights of Columbus have decided to do something about it by scheduling an all-star game in which Davey O'Brien of T.C.U. and Bill Patterson of Baylor will meet each other. They will compete against each other in a charity game which will be played in San Francisco January 29.

Patterson, who brought himself into national fame by means of his passing the West team to a 14-0 victory in the New Year's Day's East-West game, agreed to report next Sunday for the practice which will precede the game. Art Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh national league pro football team, stated Monday that he had received information that Patterson had decided not to play professional football and that he would cancel his agreement to play with the Detroit pro team next year.

All-American Davey O'Brien will not be the only Texas Christian player to compete in the charity game. Other Horned Frogs who will make the trip are Ki Aldrich, I. B. Hale, and Dan Hill. Pacific Coast stars will play the other positions on the two teams.

Star for Baylor

FEDERATION COFFEE
Local club women who are members of the State Federated Clubs have been invited to call at the Texas Federated Women's Club Building from 9:30 to 12 o'clock Wednesday for a coffee to honor the new administration. The announcement was made by Mrs. Marvin Hall, president of the Austin City Federation.

petition, showing a victory against Arkansas, and defeats at the hands of Arkansas and Rice Institute.

The Bear outfit is composed of sophomore and junior performers exclusively, and because of the inexperienced talent in the line-up the Bears have had difficulty keeping their offense from folding up. Outstanding in the Bear line-up are Frank (Frisky) Bryski, forward; Joe Terry, forward, and Grady Vaughn, guard; all sophomores. Pete Creasy probably will handle the Baylor center duties and Happy Shahan will hold fort at the other guard slot. Shahan and Creasy are juniors.

Coach Gray did not announce a starting line-up for the Bear tilt, but the probable openers will be those that split the two-game series with the Arkansas Razorbacks last week-end. W. D. (Speedy) Houpt, center; Willie Tate and Thurman Hull, forwards; and Robert (Bouncing Bobby) Moers and Oran Spears, guards.

O'Daniels Receive Warm Welcome At Crowded Inaugural Dances

A gala holiday celebration gave the new first family its introduction into Austin society last night as the Governor's party made public appearances at six inaugural balls over the city. Dances at Gregory Gym, downtown hotels, and in the streets kept the O'Daniels busy being introduced to the crowds. Meanwhile a fireworks display at the University intramural field attracted hundreds of onlookers as well as the dancers from the Gym.

At Gregory Gym, where Mr. O'Daniel and the other state officials made their first appearance, flags and bunting formed an effective background for the inaugural reception held there. A record crowd danced to the music of Jimmie Weiler, and the balconies were filled with others there to watch for the arrival of the Governor.

After the introduction from the stage of Gregory Gym the party went to the outdoor reception on Congress Avenue north of the Capitol, where the Hillbillies played. At the reception in the Capitol, Madame Slaviansky and a hundred members of her group gave a musical program.

"Boop" Burger's orchestra played from an improvised stage on the mezzanine of the Driskill Hotel while crowds packed all entrances in an effort to see the O'Daniels after "The Eyes of Texas" announced their arrival. Another reception at the Stephen F. Austin Hotel also attracted huge crowds. Clyde Mitchell played for the reception there.

Tuxedos and lumberjacks brushed elbows at the dances in the streets while men in concession stands sold hamburgers and pictures of the Governor. At the dance on Congress Avenue Jack Steele played, and at the City Hall a string orchestra provided music for the dancers. At both, as well as at the other entertainments on the night's program, a spirit of holiday excitement prevailed. Austin citizens and visitors greeted the new Governor and his family with a show of festivity that has been rivaled on no other occasion in recent years.

knots, one above and one below the banner. Several students also had attempted to climb the 85-foot pole, but only one reached the half-way mark.

When the red checkered flag, with its painted emblems fluttered to the ground, a "class" struggle ensued as souvenir hunters fought over remnants of the sickle, hammer, and star.

MEXICAN LUNCH TODAY
The Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae Club will have a Mexican luncheon Wednesday at 10:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Martin Herman, 1708 1/2 Sabine, Mrs. Claude Wild, president, announced Monday.

Fans of the Jones family will find the latest of the series, "Down on the Farm," now being shown at the Queen, fairly enjoyable; non-supporters of the Jones family will find the show short but not short enough.

The story involves Father Jones, played by Jed Prouty, in a political campaign. To keep the backing of his followers and win the election he must win a corn husking contest which he entered through a mistake. His political enemies kidnap him just before the contest, but his young son rescues him in the nick of time. A detailed picturization of the corn husking then follows with Father Jones eking out a narrow victory, much to the delight of everyone but his opponents.

Spring Byington, who plays the mother of the Jones family, deserves better roles and usually gets them. Louise Fazenda, who is the aunt of the Jones family, comes back to the screen after a long absence but with no improvement in the delivery of comic lines. Russell Gleason, who used to play in better pictures, and Prouty play their roles adequately but have no chance to display any acting ability.

Farm life is pictured as anything but quiet and peaceful, even having a little corn liquor thrown in to liven it up. Perhaps this new type of farm life will appeal to the public but it is doubtful. The love interest is practically nil.

Three Regents Renamed to Posts

GOVERNOR W. LEE O'DANIEL, in his official capacity, began his relations with The University of Texas nearly seventy-two hours before he took the oath of office before sixty-five thousand people in Texas Memorial Stadium Tuesday afternoon.

In Fort Worth Saturday the then Governor-elect announced the reappointment of three members of the University Board of Regents, Mrs. I. D. Fairchild of Lufkin; H. J. Litcher Stark of Orange; and Dr. K. H. Aynesworth of Waco. Their new terms will continue until January, 1945.

Throughout his triumphal primary campaign last summer, Governor O'Daniel advocated the removal from office of the old time politicians, and in their places he proposed placing practical business men and women to execute the government's affairs. Following his election many people believed that he would make a wholesale sweep of all the appointive offices within his power, living up to this declaration of removal of the old time politicians.

But, as has been the case with the University Regents, and with two of the Regents at Texas A.&M., the Governor has reappointed some officers who have been serving the State for many years.

Some people may wonder why he has gone against his declarations made time after time last summer. There could be no better answer than that contained in Governor O'Daniel's statement given The Daily Texan upon making the reappointments. This announcement included the following:

"The present Board of Regents has done a wonderful job for the school. I know the members and I know they are greatly interested in the work. And I don't wish to interrupt the things which they are doing. It is a pleasure to reappoint these three people."

In making these appointments, Governor O'Daniel recognized that they were not in the class of "professional politicians," he recognized that they were business men and women working at a job with a true interest at heart. He recognized that the University has made great strides during the last few years.

In making the reappointments, Governor O'Daniel selected three true business leaders of the state, each of them having had varied experiences which have been and will continue to be of great value in the management of the state's affairs.

Dr. Aynesworth is a prominent Texas surgeon and has long been actively interested in the advancement of the University and of Baylor University, his alma mater.

Mrs. Fairchild has long been a leader in the civic activities of women's clubs and organizations of the state. Since her appointment in 1935, she has served as chairman of the Regent committee on buildings and grounds, and, exemplifying her business ability, she has also served on the committees of the College of Mines and Metallurgy, complaints and grievances, and the board for lease of University lands.

Mr. Stark is one of the State's most successful business men. For eighteen years he has served on the Board of Regents and his reappointment is a tribute to his interests and loyalty of devotion to the University and its activities. Many times since he graduated from the University has Mr. Stark halted a pending crisis in some organization of the campus or some project being sponsored by the Board and students. His interests in athletics has contributed much to building the great athletic program on the campus today.

The University is proud that Governor O'Daniel has recognized the ability of these three Regents and reappointed them for a six-year term. The University is happy to welcome these three Regents back to the next meeting of the Board and the University is happy in knowing that the excellent work of the Regents will go along uninterrupted.

Alpha Phi Omega Initiates 33

Thirty-three University boys were formally initiated into Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary scouting organization, Sunday, January 15.

Previous to initiation, pledges had to pass through two probationary periods, in each of which they had to measure up to a certain standard of A.P.O. activity. The new members are as follows:

G. Jones, Charles Johnson, Malcolm Lamb, Harper Leiper, Robert Mathis, Hilton McSpadden, James Blackstone Newman, J. C. Nelson, Walter Quebeaux, George Rich, Walter Selinger, Kincy J. Scott, Philip Sterling, Mose Smith, A. J. Smalley, Carroll Slubicki, and Frank Williams.

Mary Ellen Chase to Speak At 8:15 Tonight in Hogg

Mary Ellen Chase, English professor and novelist, will discuss "The Longer Life in Books" when she appears at the third speaker in the Austin Celebrity Series at 8:15 o'clock Wednesday night in Hogg Memorial Auditorium. Dr. L. L. Click, professor of English, will introduce the speaker, and Mrs. Sara Lockwood Williams, associate professor of journalism, will preside.

Miss Chase has written novels, textbooks, and essays. Her novels include, "Dawn in Lyonesse," "This England," and "Silas Crockett."

The holder of five degrees, Miss Chase owes much of her fame to a penchant for it and a habit of detail. She sees to it that no fact, place, or person is overlooked when she composes her popular essays, articles, or novels.

Since 1926, she has been a professor of English at Smith College.

Members of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional journalism fraternity for women, have announced that the audience is invited to meet Miss Chase on the stage after the lecture. Guest tickets for 75 cents will be available at the box office.

Four-Hour Ceremony for W. Lee, Coke

has appointed "janitor" of the company, were both dressed in slacks and blue sweaters. Both are University students.

Governor O'Daniel started his address with the words of James Stephen Hogg during his first inaugural, using the theme, "While the people see much of this administration, they can be trusted to wait for results, in which they will not be disappointed." Then Governor O'Daniel asked, "Pray tell me, who could read those words with more sincerity than I? And what could better prove that history repeats itself in the perpetuation of the rights of the common citizens than for those immortal words of Governor James Stephen Hogg to be today heard by millions who now listen here, and on these numerous radio networks, as they were repeated by one who was born in the same year that Governor James Stephen Hogg was elected?"

"Possibly I may fall short of the humanitarian achievements of my ideal Governor, but his glorious accomplishments certainly provide a goal for which any Governor might proudly strive to reach," Mr. O'Daniel continued. "If full and complete self-sacrificing devotion to duty; a determination to achieve happiness and prosperity for others; contribution of every ounce of my ability; and supplications to Him on High for guidance, will lead me on and on in the same path tread by Governor James Stephen Hogg, I shall be happy. Anything short of that accomplishment will leave me sad."

"... After we have untangled some of our legislative mistakes of the past and placed our government on a sound, constructive economic business basis, so that pangs of hunger and poverty of our helpless citizens are appeased, and the minds of our business men, we shall then be ready to enter a new era of industrial and agricultural development which should bring to every man, woman, and child in Texas happiness and prosperity."

"... It was the teaching of my hard-working, religious mother that prepared me for a happy life of service based on faith in God; of compassion for the poor; respect for the rich; praise for the right, and forgiveness for the wrong, all of which tenets are essential to the job I am now commencing," he continued.

"In a little country churchyard near Arlington, Kan., now rests the body of that saintly mother. At this very moment there are gathered around her grave some of my relatives who were unable to come to this ceremony, and for me, in her memory, they are tenderly laying upon her grave a cross of fresh flowers. By that act, and with trust in God, allegiance to all the citizens of Texas, and devotion to duty, I now pledge my all to help perpetuate government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

The Hillbilly Boys then played "The Old Rugged Cross," and the Governor led the audience in "Beautiful Texas."

The retiring Governor James V. Allred left marked for Mr. O'Daniel the second verse of the ninety-first Psalm, which reads, "I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God: in Him will I trust."

Governor Allred said of Mr. O'Daniel: "Today the state government is delivered into the hands of a new servant, one fresh from the people, one who inspired their confidence and represents their hopes and high resolves. He is sincere, clean, zealously devoted to the public welfare with an humble prayer that success may mark his endeavors as he rises to the responsibilities of this great office. I cheerfully surrender to him the Governorship of Texas."

Mr. Allred then introduced Governor O'Daniel, who received the oath of office from Chief Justice C. M. Cureton of the Texas Supreme Court.

While Governor O'Daniel was taking his oath of office, the University Tower chimed were pealing out "America," and the Governor received an aerial salute from six planes of the Texas National Guard. They passed directly over the stadium three times. Immediately after Governor O'Daniel had repeated the last word of his oath, he received a military salute from the Battery B, 132nd Field Artillery from Cleburne. A precedent was broken when the guns fired a 21-gun salute to the new Governor, rather than the 19-gun salute which has been bestowed on former governors. Under a new regulation, a governor is entitled to a 21-gun salute, since he is commander in chief of the army within his own state.

Preceding the O'Daniel part of the program was the inauguration of Coke Stevenson into the office of Lieutenant-Governor. He received the oath of office from Justice R. L. Hawkins of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Mr. Stevenson's speech was devoted to the Texas Constitution. "I will to the best of my ability observe the traditions and precepts of our organic law," he said. He warned against those who would write a new Constitution, and said the present one is sufficiently elastic for the fundamental needs of Texas.

The new Lieutenant-Governor also paid tribute to Governor O'Daniel: "It will be my pleasure to co-operate with him in every constructive suggestion. His philosophy of business principles in the application of governmental authority is a whole some one which challenges thoughtful men throughout Texas." Mr. Stevenson was introduced by Walter Woodul, the retiring Lieutenant-Governor.

The joint session of the Legislature, which was necessary before the inauguration could be official, was called to order by Emmett Moore, speaker of the House and Weaver Moore, president pro tempore of the Senate, acting in place of Mr. Woodul. Dr. M. E. Sadler, pastor of the Central Christian Church, delivered the invocation at the beginning of the ceremony.

Ken McClure, news-captain, announcer of Radio Station WOAI, San Antonio, at the request of Governor O'Daniel, described the activities of the day over the loud-speaking system. He invited the visitors to the University's open house.

Governor O'Daniel and the official party entered the stadium at 9:45 o'clock. Mr. O'Daniel stood in the open roadster when his car was driven around the stadium. People in the stands rose to greet him.

Mrs. O'Daniel and Molly were the first to walk past the file of Ross Volunteers from A.&M. College to the reviewing stand. The Governor and Pat and Mike followed. Behind the first family followed Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Coke Stevenson and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woodul.

To the gratitude of many of the spectators, tired of hearing "I AM AN AMERICAN" from the chorus of "The American Way of Life," in which two hundred University students participated, Governor Allred arrived at 11:30 o'clock. His arrival caused the camera men to rush to the reviewing stand from the stage and again perform their interesting antics of taking photographs from every possible angle.

Following the parent, the dignitaries moved from the reviewing stand to the elevated stage, where the inauguration took place. The Ross Volunteers made a lane with their crossed swords, and Governor O'Daniel and his family led the procession. They were followed by Governor and Mrs. Allred, the Stevensons, Walter Woodul, Emmett Morse, Justices of the Supreme Court, and former Governors Pat Neff, Dan Moody, Will Hobby, James E. Ferguson, and Ross Sterling. The only living former governors not present were O. B. Colquitt and Mrs. James Ferguson.

Other events of the day included the band parade yesterday afternoon and the receptions and dances last night.

H. E. Lab, Dorm Work Continues

Rains last week slowed down construction work on the dormitory which will house Longhorn football players and on the Home Economics Institutional Laboratory, but work on both buildings is proceeding rapidly now.

The forty-five room dormitory is located southeast of Gregory Gymnasium and north of Prather Hall. Metal sash work for the windows on the first floor and furring-tile for the walls was begun Monday. Metal lath for the interior is to be installed next Monday at which time it is expected the concrete pouring will be finished.

Standing southeast of the intersection of San Jacinto Boulevard and Twenty-sixth Street, the H. E. Laboratory is expected to be ready for use within five weeks, weather permitting.

Ceiling work on the laboratory is finished with the exception of a few hours work. Beams have also been put up, and the trimming work has already begun.

Now that the dining room and the kitchen in the basement have been completed work will proceed more rapidly on the dormitory, S. G. Shaffer, construction superintendent, said.

And They Every One Wanted To Ride the Tower Elevators

LITTLE GIRLS AND BIG BOYS, young women and old men, nice people and grouchy people—1,800 of 'em in all—had been to the top of U. T.'s Main Building Tuesday afternoon by 3:30 o'clock to see the sights.

But that 1,800 is not the whole story. They were still coming strong—pushing, shoving, yelling, laughing. Many were agog at the sights they saw from the run-around at the top. Some said it was the highest they had ever been.

There were no lights on the elevators. The darkness and the swift descent scared some of the little girls, and they screamed. Everyone laughed except the elevator girl. It did not tickle her; it had been going on all day, she said.

One little boy declared it was not the highest building in Texas, either. Another said he bet they had taller ones in New York.

A woman at the top said the wind was blowing harder up there. Some one below asked that Austin is not so big after all, when you look at it from something so high.

The passengers leaving the elevator at the bottom did not have a chance. There was always some little boy waiting until the elevator had stopped and the door opened. Then he would start running like a fullback, dead intent on being the first in the elevator, and without regard for life, limb, or property.

Emergencies --

the permanent press box on the west side of the stadium, Mr. McGill scanned the field, constantly watching the program and dictating terse messages in staccato style as new complications arose each minute.

It was high-geared, dramatic action—the kind you see in the moving picture show—as the constantly flickering switchboard announced a multitude of problems. The group had started to work at 7 o'clock and had carefully mapped out its program. But each turn of events upset those plans. Then it was think and act under pressure, as each second counted. As the last of the huge crowd milled out of the stadium, the operators slumped down in their seats in utter exhaustion.

Just for example, in case you are thinking of staging an inauguration sometime, you might consider what you would do if you were to receive telegrams announcing that forty bands would not arrive owing to bad weather. Yesterday that message meant that some type of program would have to be provided to fill up the thirty minutes those bands would have used in marching about the field. Another problem, how to keep cameramen, legislators, and other people from crowding around the reviewing stand, blocking the view of the governor, the press, and others seated in the special section.

The Firing Line

HOGG FIRE ALARM

TUESDAY NIGHT there was an accident backstage in Hogg Memorial that almost brought about very serious consequences. Just before the curtain went up to begin the second performance of "Time Stagers On," a scenery cannon went off prematurely and set the main curtain and stage left tormentor afire. The flames instantly shot upward on the lining of the main curtain, and only very quick action of one of the boys avoided a general conflagration that would have burned all the curtains backstage and probably injured a number of people.

The boy grabbed a small hand fire extinguisher from the wall and quickly put the fire out, but had the fire had as much as thirty seconds it would have been out of reach of the extinguisher. Once it had got out of hand it would have been necessary to run through the audience to the phone in the ticket booth and call the fire department via the University switchboard, which is usually busy at that time of evening. Each minute's delay might have cost thousands of dollars and endangered a number of lives. Several minutes would have been lost in contacting the fire department and the damage would be complete before the engine could arrive.

The builders of the auditorium considered the possibility of such accidents backstage, as is shown by the presence of the fire extinguishers and the big asbestos curtain that will drop automatically in the case of a big fire, but they did not provide any accessible means to summon the city fire department.

I take this opportunity to call attention to this danger as one who has seen flames leaping up an expensive curtain at three feet per second and to suggest that a suitable direct fire alarm be installed backstage in the Hogg Memorial Auditorium.

BARLOW WEAPON

THE comments of Mr. Kornblatt on the character of Ed Barlow were an excellent reproduction of what those who are so unsophisticated in the ways of the University as to enter his classes face. Nonetheless, he omitted one very interesting point in Barlow's threat to make anyone who gets a little out of line in his classes stand in a corner for the duration of the class session. Even though he has yet to utilize this threat, so far as I know, it still remains a very potent weapon, and one he may call into play at any moment.
