"BEAT BAYLOR" YELL WILL BE HEARD WHEN STUDENTS RALLY AT 7

Miss Bascom Will Read From Works of American Women Poets

Selections from the works of women poets of the very earliest type to the modern works of American female artists will be the reading of Elva Bascom, of the Library Department, Thursday at 5 in Education Building 312.

Miss Bascom gave this reading before the Open Forum, a local women's club. The program proved very interesting, according to members of the club, not only because of the good selections, but also because it deals with the development of American poetry as handled by women.

Among the poets whose works Miss Bascom has selected are: Sarah T. Bell, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Phoebe and Alice Cary, Felicia Hemans and others.

Inter-class Swimming Meet Will Be Held at Deep Eddy Today

An interclass meet in swimming will be held at Deep Eddy this afternoon at 4 o'clock at which time the winner of the "Little Sister Turtle Cup" will be determined. This cup is being offered to the best speed swimmer who is not a member of Turtle Club.

Competitors in the meet will be graded on form, speed, diving, and plunging. All girls who expect to receive team points will have to be present at Deep Eddy this afternoon.

Senior Invitations Distributed Today in Main Building

Seniors who ordered invitations may secure them this morning from 9 till 1 o'clock in the corridor of the Main Building. The graduation exercises will be held on the evening of June 8.

All invitations not called for within two days will be sold by the distributors to pay costs. Extra invitations may be had by seeing Joe Steiner or Arthur Boaz. No checks on out-of-town banks will be accepted.

Contract for 1926 Cactus Photographs Will Be Considered

Award of the contract for the photographic work for the 1926 Cactus will probably be made at the meeting of the Texas Publications Board this afternoon, according to William L. McGill, manager of the board.

Monday afternoon, bids from four studios were received, opened, and tabulated by a committee composed of Dr. J. B. Wharey, R. L. Harris, editor of the 1926 Cactus, and McGill.

Pre-Laws Elect Officers Tonight

Some exceedingly flowery speeches of nomination are expected when the Pre-Law Association meets tonight at 7:30 to elect officers for the fall term of next long session, according to Cecil Rotsch. Having won out in intramural athletics as well as taking part in other activities, the past year has been one of the most successful in the history of the association, he said.

It will be decided at this meeting whether to elect the Pre-Law representative on the Intramural Council this year.

LAST DAY FOR RANGERS
Today is the last day that students may obtain copies of the May number of The Ranger, according to Burt Dyke, circulation manager. Publication cards should be brought to room 155, Main Building between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. today, he said.

ROOTERS GATHER BY CHEM BUILDING

Special Train May Be Obtained for Trip to Waco Saturday

"Let's go to beat Baylor!"
Tonight at 7 o'clock promptly in front of the Chemistry Building a rally will be held for the purpose of finding out how many loyal Varsity rooters will sign to go to Waco Saturday and cheer for the Longhorns when they cross bats with the Baylor nine.

Tonight's response of the students at the rally determines whether Uncle Billy's team will be supported by a cheering section of Texas rooters at the game.

Special Train
Railroad officials have agreed to charter a special train for the Waco trip if as many as 125 students, including the twenty men on the baseball squad, will sign to make the trip to Waco Saturday. A rate of $5.95 for the round trip has been made if 125 will agree to ride the train to Waco. If as many as 250 students can make the trip, the rate will be $4.40. The train would leave Saturday morning about 10 o'clock and return that night.

For half an hour and no longer, former yell leader Bob Payne and the new yell leader, Bill Rippey, will canvass the rooters and find out just how many will be able to make the trip and give their support to the Longhorns in one of the most crucial games of the baseball season.

Disch Will Talk
Coach Billy Disch, who has coached winning baseball teams at the University for fourteen years, will be on the program for a short talk, and will tell the students just what it means to the Texas team to have a rooting section in Waco Saturday.

Dean T. U. Taylor, who has never failed the University when called on to support the teams, will also make a talk.

The Longhorn Band, the Cowboys, and the Orange Jackets will be out, probably their last appearance this year, and will help put pep into the meeting.

Today in the rotunda of the Main Building a tablet will be placed on a table where all students who can make the trip are asked to sign.

"Let's go to beat Baylor!"

Matcek and Boyles Win Debate at Last Versus Club Meeting

Versus Club met yesterday in its last regular meeting of the year. The program consisted of a pianologue by Annie Lee Durham accompanied by Orleans Van Zandt. Talk on "How Girls Can Become Engaged" by Lorena Hillyer, a debate, "Resolved, That there should be more intercollegiate athletics for women," upheld by Agnes Mateck and Fannie Boyles for the affirmative and Lorena Drummond and Lenora Whitmore on the negative, and a piano solo by Margaret Ekman. The decision was rendered in favor of the negative.

A called meeting will be held next Wednesday to elect officers for the ensuing year.

Rachel Garza Heads Spanish Fraternity

At the business meeting of Sigma Delta Pi, honorary Spanish fraternity, yesterday new officers were elected for next year. Rachel Garza was re-elected president; William Clayton, vice-president; Dorothy Whitehurst, secretary; J. R. Howell, treasurer.

The following members were selected to serve as vocales: Lucille Stover, Martha Reese, Virgil Childress and Barbara Mounts.

Total Amount Given by Littlefield Now Exceeds $1,500,000

H. A. Wroe, representing the trustees of the Littlefield estate, had Governor Ferguson present President Splawn and Luther Stark chairman of the Board of Regents $500,000 in bonds Wednesday for the purpose of constructing a Main Building for the University.

This sum was the gift of the late Major George W. Littlefield, making the total amount given by him exceed $1,500,000. Major Littlefield's gifts to the University include $300,000 for a girls' dormitory for freshmen; $250,000 for the Memorial Gate; the Wrenn Library, valued at $225,000; Southern History books $150,000; and his home on 35th and Whitis Streets, valued at $100,000 to be used as a home for the president of the University.

Plans for the Littlefield Dormitory are being prepared by Herbert Green of Dallas, University architect, and will be ready within the next two weeks. Work on the building, to be constructed on Whitis Street between 25th and 26th Streets will be started in the near future.

The spring motif will be carried out in the decorations, and novelties will be introduced throughout the evening. Roy Martin, favoring Ruth Ropes, will lead the grand march. Tickets for the banquet and dance are now on sale at $2 a couple.

REGENTS MEET AT GALVESTON MAY 19

Will Consider New Dean of Women and School of Journalism

Miss Lucy Newton, who recently resigned as dean of women at the University, may be offered the position at the May 19 meeting of the University Board of Regents, it was learned on the campus Wednesday.

The Board will convene in Galveston Tuesday and select a dean of women, according to a statement issued by President Splawn Wednesday. He made no statement as to who would be considered for the position, but rumor had it that either Miss Lucy Newton, Miss Helen Knox of Giddings, or Miss Edna McDaniell, former assistant dean, and now dean at Baylor University, would be selected.

President Splawn gave out the following statement Wednesday:

"The appointment of a dean of women to succeed Miss Lucy Newton, who recently resigned, will not be made until the next meeting of the Board of Regents. The basis upon which the selection will be made will take into consideration not only those fundamental personal qualities that inspire confidence and give assurance of wise and sympathetic leadership, but also academic experience, scholarship of high order, and previous successful experience as dean of women."

Fate of the University Department of Journalism will also likely be decided at the Galveston meeting or the June 9 meeting of the Board of Regents, according to a statement by chairman Luther Stark recently.

Contract for the remodeling of one of the buildings at the Galveston branch of the University will be let at the Tuesday meeting. Robert L. White, University architect, will leave Austin Monday with specifications for use when the contract is awarded.

Adams of the School of Education, will demonstrate to elementary students of education the way in which moving pictures may be utilized in the primary class room, Thursday night, 7 o'clock in K Hall, according to Mrs. C. 2. "Inside Out."
3. "The Pied Piper of Hamelin."

2. He must apply to John Woodruff, sophomore president, for measurement of his hair before 5 o'clock today.

COMEDY SKIT WILL BE PRESENTED BY VARSITY PLAYERS

Curtain Club Gives Rollick- ing Play, "Stop Thief," at 8:15 Tonight

LAST REHEARSAL TODAY

Cast Is Announced for Final Production of Organiza- tion This Year

A comedy with a smashing climax—that is the Curtain Club bill at the Hancock Theater tonight at 8:15.

"Stop Thief" has been aptly described as the fastest-moving and most logical comedy which has been turned out in years. And in that fashion the Curtain Club is attempting to present the Carlyle Moore play tonight. Speed, punch, and a knock-out climax are three things the director has been working toward since beginning rehearsals.

Rehearsal This Morning
No rehearsal was held for the cast Wednesday night. Dress rehearsal will be held this morning at the Hancock behind closed doors.

The ticket sale of the past three days indicates that the largest house of the year will attend the play tonight, the popular nature of the play probably being the cause of the increased demand for tickets. A few desirable seats were left Wednesday night at the box office. These may be obtained early this morning.

PRIZE WINNING
Complimentary tickets to "Stop Thief" tonight at the Hancock may be obtained at the box office by Ox Higgins, Mauritz Nyquist, and Harner Brown, who have been declared winners in the "Stop Thief" ghost story contest which The Texan has conducted during the past ten days. Higgins won the first prize, awarded last Thursday morning, Miss Nyquist the Sunday prize, and Harner Brown the ticket which was awarded this morning.

Cast Named
The honors of the play will probably lie between Melvin Williamson, a veteran of many performances, who is appearing as Jack Doogan the clever crook, and Seth Fessen-den and James Parke, new-comers in the cast. Margaret West and Maxine Hewitt have the feminine leads as Mrs. Carr and Nellie, the accomplice of Jack Doogan.

Others appearing in the play are Emily Anderson, Ruth Berman, Betty Scherr, Lee Bilberry, Ray E. Lee, David Miller, Claud Voyles, Ed Tae-gel, Morgan Davis and Woodfin Butte.

The set for "Stop Thief" was designed especially for the play by Kindred McLeary. No attempt at ornamentation of the set has been made, as a working set was what was needed.

Educational Association Holds Luncheon at Caf

University Educational Association will hold its regular luncheon today at the Caf, according to the president of the association.

Dr. A. C. Ellis, of the Department of Philosophy, will make the principal talk of the day. He has not announced what he will speak about.

Splawn Presides at Official Dedication of Biology Building

Smith Speaks at Last Meeting of Commerce Club

Lloyd B. Smith of the firm of Hutchison and Smith of Dallas was the chief speaker at the last meeting of the Commerce Club at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium Wednesday night, according to Virgil Childress, who had charge of the meeting. Mr. Smith was brought here by Beta Alpha Psi, honorary accounting fraternity, which arranged for the meeting.

Points stressed by Mr. Smith as prerequisites for successful accounting were integrity, loyalty to the profession, tact and courtesy and knowledge. He also stated that since accounting is a comparatively new profession, opportunity for accountants is practically unlimited.

Beta Alpha Psi will have a banquet at the Stephen F. Austin Hotel at 7 p. m. and they will have as their guests the members of the state board of accounting and outstanding business men of Austin.

STUDENTS ISSUE DOWNTOWN PAPERS

American and Statesman Workers Given Holiday by Journalists

Journalism 12 and 14, classes in news-gathering and copy-reading, were in complete charge of three regular editions and the baseball edition of the Statesman yesterday, and two editions of the Austin American for this morning.

The same classes issued last Tuesday's Statesman and last Wednesday's American. To give all the students experience on both morning and afternoon papers, the staffs exchanged places and edited alternate papers this week.

The members of the Statesman staff this week were: Sam Johnson, managing editor; Granville Price, city editor; Blanche Horn, assistant city editor; Emil Bose, telegraph editor; Priscilla Austin, society editor; Flora Holman, assistant; John Sammons, sports editor; Gilbert McAllister, columnist; Vivian Richardson and Prebble Durham, copy readers, and a number of reporters.

Sigma Xi Initiates Nine and Dr. Sellards Speaks at Banquet

The initiation of nine new members and an address by Dr. E. H. Sellards upon the subject of "The Probable Origin of Petroleum" were the principal features of a banquet held by the University chapter of Sigma Xi at the Cafeteria Wednesday evening. The following new members were elected: C. M. Cleveland, H. F. Kohler, S. A. Durbin, L. F. Marek, M. E. Mullins, C. A. Nau, W. A. Schultze, A. H. Ullrich, C. F. Wiebusch.

Dr. Sellards stated that it was not definitely known as to the exact origin of petroleum, but that in so far as can be determined by experiment it probably came from hydro-carbon compounds in the bituminous shales on the sedimentary rocks, being converted by both heat and the high pressure to which the rocks were subjected. The lecture was illustrated by diagram slides of the geological formations found in the Luling, Lockhart, and the Reagan fields and the faults which caused the deposits of petroleum to be in their particular locations.

BRAY AND KOFOID OTHER SPEAKERS

Dedicatory Program for New Structure Is Held on Cam- pus in Afternoon

By Elmer Callihan

"In thankful recognition of this gift to the University through the generous provision of the devoted citizenship of Texas and as a pledge that it shall ever be regarded as a sacred trust, I now, as president of this institution, solemnly dedicate this building to the service of God and man through education," so spoke President W. M. W. Splawn in formally opening the ceremonies at the dedication of Varsity's new $400,000 Biology Building in the auditorium of the new structure Wednesday afternoon. Dedicatory addresses were delivered by Dr. W. L. Bray of Syracuse University and by Dr. C. A. Kofoid of the University of California, two of America's eminent scientists.

Tells History

"In the wisdom of the founders of our state government, certain lands were set aside as a permanent endowment of the University. Through the statesmanship of the representatives of the people, expressed in legislative enactment, the income from this endowment has been dedicated to the construction of buildings on the University campus. One of the first results of this wise provision is this commodious, well-planned and attractive laboratory building. In recognition of the group of scientists and students of the natural sciences whom it will accommodate, it will be known as the Biological Laboratory," proclaimed Dr. Splawn in his dedicatory speech.

"May whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, find their lodging in the lives of men and women who shall worthily interpret the ideals of the people of Texas and of their University," concluded Dr. Splawn.

Bray Discusses Botany

Brittain, Burt Dyke, Ralph McBride, Swampy Thompson, Bill Rippey, Ox Higgins, Sammy Glass, and Bill Erwin. The new members will be initiated before the close of the present session.

The next regular luncheon of the organization will be held Wednesday, May 20, at the Cafeteria.

JAWING

Someone said once that a woman's jawing could break up a happy home. If that is true, what dark futures are in store for the women graduated from our own institution of learning. Jawing, jawing, jawing—before and after meal, in every class, during every exam, in conversation, someone even ventures to suggest in sleep.

This continual jawing on the part of K. U. women requires skill, endurance, and agility. It requires perseverance and financial backing as well. And the sad thing is that they seem to derive so much pleasure from their little—shall we call it outdoor or indoor sport?

The burden of this most emphatic jawing falls upon a great class of people. It is a bit trying on the instructors, and the mere men suffer as well. It is even wearing on the jaws of the young ladies in question.

However, a great good comes from this practice prevalent among the fair sex of this University—a great good to a deserving part of our American civilization—the chewing gum manufacturers. We feel that at their next national convention it would be only fitting and proper that they should pay some tribute to "those noble souls who have brought such prosperity to them." Don't say woman has no place in the world.—Daily Kansan.

A STITCH IN TIME

This is the time of year when good intentions are discarded with abandon, and firm resolutions waver at the first sign of attack. Half-hearted resistance is offered to the atmosphere of languor pervading the campus, and those who do not succumb effect a shuffling compromise between defiance and prostration. Class-room attendance is irksome; studying seems out of the question. Greensward is more restful to the eyes than the printed page, and the diamond is by far the most interesting geometric figure. The general end-of-the-year slump, so noticeable in the extra-curricular activities, also affects the performance of certain academic duties.

Despite the formidable obstacles to the discharge of scholastic responsibilities, experience dictates the proper employment of the all too short time before the final examinations. Term essays and reports, long deferred by the procrastinative undergraduate, must be submitted if credit is to be obtained. Assigned readings must be gulped down in indigestible quantities, instead of in the leisurely fashion provided by the schedules. Experiments must be brought up to date, and drafting plates made contemporary. All this, and more, must be done, even at the expense of drawn looks and pale complexions, bespeaking the all-night seige of reading or writing. But after all, the efforts spent are well rewarded. Sufficient work done between now and the finals may prove the salvation of an individual tottering on the ragged edge. A passed final is usually a passed course.

Activities men in particular would do well to utilize every moment of the time intervening before the examinations. Mid-term grades disclosed numerous incidents of downward trends, which, although not hopeless, must be checked to insure eligibility. It seems a far cry to the sports of next season, and men at present engaged in athletics are prone to disregard the scholastic standings which determine their participation in those sports. The committee on student activities has rendered yeoman's service in checking up on the grades of activities students and calling them to task for poor performances, but the burden of passing rests with the individual and his eligibility depends on the attitude he assumes and the work he does.

The efforts of the most capable staff of coaches can be nullified by poor scholarship of the pupils. It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that the football games of next fall may be won in the classroom and examination hall within the next three weeks.—Columbia Spectator.

Application for Home Economics Scholarship Will Be Made May 15

The new council met with the old council of the Home Economics Club Wednesday at 7 p. m. in the Girls Study Hall. Plans for next fall were discussed in regard to the membership drive and the Christmas card sale.

New provisions for the club's scholarship fund were made through the suggestions of W. R. Lang, auditor of the University. A fixed date for receiving application for the scholarship was set for not later than May 1, and will be awarded by May 15. Miss Gearing, head of the Home Economics Department, will confer as an adviser with the custodian of the club concerning the payments of the scholarship loan.

DR. BUTTE TAKES OATH

Dr. George Butte, former dean of the Law School of the University, has accepted the position of Attorney-General of Porto Rico, and will take the oath of office today, according to Mrs. Butte.

Dr. Butte will sail for San Juan, Capitol of Porto Rico, where he is to be stationed, in about a week, without returning to Austin. His family will probably join him in a month or six weeks.

Theatricals

"The Heart of a Siren" Comes to Queen

Photoplay fans who witness "The Heart of a Siren," with Barbara La Marr and Conway Tearle, will find some excellent comedy relief interspersed throughout this entire production.

The supporting cast includes several excellent comedians, including Arnold Daly, famous stage star; Clifton Webb of musical comedy fame, Tammany Young and William Ricciardi.

In the hands of these experienced fun manufacturers, the lighter situations in "The Heart of a Siren" are made extremely enjoyable and furnish a strong contrast to the dramatic scenes in which Miss La Marr, Tearle, Harry Morey, Ida Darling and Ben Finney appear.

The picture will be presented at the Queen Theater next Thursday by First National.

Old Time Melodrama Returns to Screen

Right in the middle of the cinema ring is Emmett Flynn's sombrero. He has declared that melodrama is coming into its own, and to back up his words with action, he filmed Owen Davis' old thriller, "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," the picture coming next Friday to the Hancock Theater, at the Goldwyn studios.

One reason that the picture is auspicious is that it will bring Claire Windsor to the screen, a Claire Windsor who, besides being thrillingly beautiful, must also be beautifully thrilling.

Queen: "The Heart of a Siren," Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Majestic: Buster Keaton in "Seven Chances," Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Buster Keaton at Majestic

Buster Keaton is a most religious young man in his latest Metro-Goldwyn comedy for Joseph M. Schenck, "Seven Chances," coming to the Majestic Theater on Thursday.

Obedience a precept he finds in a book on "Right Living." Buster sells all he has and gives his millions to the poor. Then, broke but happy, he advertises for a wife.

Some 7,777 women, all dressed in bridal regalia and all laboring under the belief that he is worth many millions, descend upon him. Custer's massacre was child's play compared to what happens to Buster when they finally get their hands on the gay deceiver.

Last Showing of "East of Suez"

It takes a real picture to come up to the standard of Pola Negri in Ernest Lubitsch's "Forbidden Paradise," but Miss Negri's latest for Paramount, "East of Suez," a Raoul Walsh production which is the feature at the Texas Theater, is just as gripping and entertaining a feature.

The screen play, written by Sada Cowan from Somerset Maugham's stage success, has for its background China—with all its romance and mystery and lurking perils.

The star is cast as a beautiful English girl, daughter of a British consular agent living in Shanghai. Daisy (Miss Negri) has been away at school in England since she was eight years old. In all this time she has not seen her father. She returns only to be greeted with the news of his death, and what is probably more heart-rending, that she is the daughter of English and Chinese parents—a half-caste, which is but another way of saying she is a social outcast.

SILK LECTURE FRIDAY

Mrs. Radnor-Lewis of New York will give a moving picture and lecture on the "Production and Manufacture of Silk" on Friday, May 15, 7 p. m. at K Hall 5. This lecture is sponsored by the textile and clothing classes of the Home Economics Department. The girls of this department are especially urged to be present. All others who are interested are welcome.

DEDICATION

delivered a dedicatory address on "Botanical Science and the State," following President Splawn's formal opening of the ceremonies.

"In speaking on 'Botanical Science and the State,' it is but a part of that larger question of 'Education and Democracy,' which Texas inherited in the form of the slogan, 'A cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy,' which every catalogue of the University brings freshly to mind," stated Dean Bray in opening his address proper. "We, the democracy or the state, have built and plan to maintain an institute for research and teaching in the field of biologic science; what returns, then, will issue from this investment?"

The speaker then reviewed the prospective returns under two general headings: first, the return in the form of material benefits, and, second, the returns in the domain of ideas as effecting a philosophy of life. He first explained that botanists by this time have pretty well explored the earth for species of the higher plants, and now the business of biologists is to sort them out geographically and to control their performance in the matter of quantity and quality of yield, to raise their vitality and increase their immunity against disease, and so on.

"But the greatest returns coming from botanical knowledge lie in a certain philosophy of life and in the nature of certain spiritual qualities—appreciation, breadth of sympathy, tolerance, joy and freedom in the expanding horizon of truth, enrichment of the religious nature, in modes of thinking and in my total concept of the Universe," concluded Dr. Bray.

Kofoed Talks on Botany
In the final dedicatory address of the program, Dr. Charles A. Kofoed, professor of zoology in the University of California and one of the country's most eminent scientists, spoke on "The Human Values of Biology."

"We are met today to dedicate to the service of this great commonwealth a new gift from its hands of this superb building to house the youths of this land in their pursuit of a knowledge of the living world, to shelter within its friendly walls to patient investigators in their diligent search for the secrets of life," Dr. Kofoed said, "and as we light the fires today of their new temple of learning, we may well turn aside for a time to question why a commonwealth has given this building into our charge."

The speaker then proceeded to a discussion of the aims and purposes which animate biological instruction and research. He asserted that the material benefits of biological science are indeed great, and that they are increasing every day in both variety and number. Most striking illustrations of the benefits derived by mankind from biology were then discussed in detail by Dr. Kofoed, dealing with applications of biology in surgery and agriculture.

Congratulating the University on its excellent new building and exhorting the biological students of the University to carry out the greater vision which has just recently been gained in the field of science, Dr. Kofoed concluded the dedication ceremonies. Inviting those present to make an inspection tour of the new building, President Splawn brought the ceremonies to a close, and Varsity's newest addition to the campus was formally dedicated.

SCARBROUGH'S

GEOLOGISTS SEE PERMANENT INCOME FOR UNIVERSITY IN DEVELOPMENT OF POTASH BED

By D. W. Hollis

Conclusions recently reached from a long series of investigations confirm a long left conviction that potash does exist in commercial quantities on University of Texas and other Southwest Texas lands. The total area is something like three hundred by two hundred miles. Dr. J. A. Udden, of the Bureau of Economic Geology of the University, said:

"There can be no mistake about there being potash on these lands and it runs in a territory for three hundred miles in length by two hundred miles in width. But no one could think of this being one continuous potash bed; it can only be arms of the old sea extending out here and there. Yet even at that, sufficient investigation has now been made to justify a thorough and extensive test of the whole field.

"It will take a couple of million dollars to make the survey of these potash possibilities, but every preliminary investigation has been made that is necessary and now is the time to make the final and conclusive investigation of the matter. And we this much money should be provided from some source for such investigation have every reason for saying that. Every evidence has been obtained that would justify such an expenditure.

"There are some commercial concerns interested in the potash beds of Southwest Texas, but whether any of these are of sufficient importance to take care of the situation, I am not able to say. We have letters and other communications concerning the beds very often, but whether any of the men who have seen me are sufficiently backed to carry on the work or not, I cannot say."

Dr. H. P. Bybee of the geology department of the University thinks that in the absence of other funds for the development of the potash beds on University lands, the oil royalties of the institution should be turned to that work. He said:

"The oil on these lands will not last always. Why not turn it toward developing a source of income which we might say will be permanent? We have proof of the existence of potash on the University lands in sufficient quantities to justify the spending of these oil royalties to develop the potash sources. If this is done, we might turn a temporary source of revenue into a permanent source which would no doubt prove to be much greater than the oil royalties have or will ever prove."

Dr. E. H. Sellards of the Bureau of Economic Geology said:

"We have had hundreds of inquiries coming in from the publicity given to these potash possibilities. It is not because the newspaper articles have been erroneous within themselves, but because people put the wrong construction on what they read. We do know that potash does exist and we believe it to be in such quantities that would justify the expenditure of any reasonable amount of money to fully determine just what we do have. It will take possibly a couple of million dollars to completely investigate the matter and get it on a productive basis."
