SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE BEGINS MONDAY

Appropriations for University
Will Be Submitted by Governor to Body

SLIGHT SALARY INCREASES

Other Schools Suffer Cuts in First Estimates Submitted

In what promises to be the warmest executive session in years, Governor Neff has issued a call for a Special Session of the Thirty-eighth Legislature for Monday, April 16 to consider appropriations for the higher education institutions, the eleemosynary institutions, and revenue and prohibition measures advocated by the Governor, but which were untouched in the regular session.

During all of Friday the Appropriation and Finance Committees of both the House and Senate were in sitting, considering appropriation recommendations of the heads of higher education and also of the Board of Control for the University and the other State schools. In the recommendations of the Senate committee as drafted in a bill which went to the printer Friday afternoon there is a slight increase in the salaries of University professors with several other additions. The Senate committee recognized a contingent sum of $49,000 out of which this increase might be made other than the definitely specified amount of the Board of Control.

Senate Recommendations
The budget asked for by the Board of Regents of the University was $1,845,000 while the Senate Finance Committee bill only called for $1,352,837. Senator Dudley, a member of this committee, regards the Committee's recommendations as fairly representative.

"The University is gradually coming out on top," said Senator Dudley yesterday. "I regard the budget recommended by the committee as a gain for the University, although even yet it is not by any means what the University of Texas needs for proper current maintenance."

"Texas A. & M. suffered much more this time than has the University," continued Senator Dudley. They have not received one per cent of what they need. A. & M. asked for $1,748,195 but suffered nearly a $1,000,000 reduction."

Further cuts in appropriations practically abolished Grubbs Vocational College.

For the past two years the Board of Control has stepped heavier than

LONGHORNS TO MEET BRIUNS

Nineteen Members of Longhorn Squad Leave This Morning for Events With Baylorites Who May Offer Strong Opposition

By George T. Kirksey

Nineteen well-trained representatives of the Orange and White will invade the land of the Baylor Bears this afternoon in an effort to extract a decisive victory from the Bruins in track. Dope says that Texas will walk away with the meet hands down, but dope is stuff that losing athletic teams partake of. Coach Littlefield is confident that the Longhorns will emerge from the meet victorious, but at the same time he expects considerably more competition from the Bears than the Steers were afforded by the Rice Owls last week end.

Three Strong Bears

It is well known that Texas drubbed Rice 101 to 16 and that Rice defeated Baylor 85 to 33 and that on comparative time and results the Longhorns should take every first place. But Texas will likely fall considerably short of annexing every first place. Baylor's most likely candidates for winning places are Earle Frazier, one of the State's few nationally known athletes, in the hurdles, Leon Moses in the dashes, and "Jew" Goodman in the weights. All of these men are sure to place.

The most brilliant part of the meet will be the triple duel between Earle Frazier of the Bears and Raleigh Sapp and Clement Thames of the Steers in the 120 high hurdles and the 220 low hurdles. Frazier's time has not equalled that of either Sapp or Thames this year, but the Baylor star is holding back—and no small amount at that. When pushed Frazier runs his best race. It is the ambition of Thames to defeat Frazier in the 120 high hurdles and Sapp has a similar hankering in the 220 low hurdles. Aside from winning the track meet, nothing would be more pleasing to Coach Littlefield than to have the honor of developing a hurdler, who can beat the great Frazier.

Weak in Relay

The Texas team is materially weakened in the relay with Hugh Titsworth out with a bad muscle in his leg, which he jerked last Monday. Coach Littlefield regards Titsworth as one of his best men in the relay and is not optimistic over the prospects of the relay team, which promised to lower the Conference record at the first of the year. Titsworth will possibly be ready to go again in two or three weeks but his layoff will certainly hurt his condition. Harris will replace Titsworth in the relay today.

Baylor defeated Rice in the relay in fairly good time and with Titsworth's loss to the Longhorns, that race will possibly be a thriller.

The Longhorns will pull out of Austin this morning at 10:25 o'clock on the Texas Special for Waco. The men to make the trip are Captain Loop, Stinnett, Hackler,

LONGHORNS WIN UNANIMOUS DECISION OVER TULANE ON POLITICAL QUESTION

Going to be Hard on the Celebration--

BOOST YOUR VARSITY'S ANNIVERSARY

SLEDGE AND HART TAKE AFFIRMATIVE IN HOT ARGUMENT

Economic Position of Labor Enters into Discussion of Electoral Problem

Texas, represented by Terrell Sledge and James Hart, won by a unanimous decision of the judges over Tulane, represented by Leon S. Cahn and Lawrence Martin, in debate Friday night on the subject, Resolved, That organized labor should enter politics as a separate party.

Sledge opened the debate for Texas, taking the affirmative of the subject. Stating that the economic situation was the fundamental question in government, he said that the solution would only be found by bringing the question into politics.

He showed that there were no longer any real issues between the two political parties of the United States, that organized labor takes a view of the problem radically different from that taken by the other parties and in order to bring this view into consideration must enter politics as a separate party.

Hart Takes Offensive

James Hart for Texas showed that the non-partisan political attitude of labor was an admitted failure and that the entrance of labor into politics would benefit all but the parasitic class.

Leon S. Cahn for Tulane based his argument on the propositions that labor as an organization is not fit to enter politics; that its principals are unsuited to the formation of a party platform, and that therefore another way must be found to solve the economic questions and bring them into politics.

Lawrence Martin after pointing out that labor's past record is one class war-fare and economic disturbance, suggested that the solution to the question of introducing the economical situation into politics could be found in the new alignment that the political parties are now taking.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS LITERARY OPEN HOUSE

Representatives of Ten Organizations Have Part in Entertainment

Members of ten literary societies of the University gathered at the open house meeting of the Alpha Phi Epsilon, honorary literary fraternity, at the Women's Gym Friday night at 9:15 in honor of the members of the Tulane debating team whom Texas representatives met earlier in the night at the Law Building.

Rusk opened the program represented by Henry Woodruff who spoke on "Fellowship." Dot Duckerly gave a medley of emigrant comment on the statue of liberty as a part of the Pierian program. The aims of the Speakers Club was discussed by C. M. Spence of that society. The Hogg Debating Club was represented by Walter T. Rundell.

After a short introduction by Carrie Bell Thomas, "Berceuse" from Jocelyn was the musical variation of the program offered by Winifred Hines on the violin the representative of the Reagan Literary Society. John J. Cox gave a demonstration of the unique meetings of the Athenaeum Literary Society. Dave Maud Cummins represented the Pennybacker Debating Club at the meeting, and Daisy Mildred Jones, Sidney Lanier Literary Society. A comic skit "The Dangers of Petroleum" was delivered by the Ramshorn Society representative, Lewis J. Robinson.

TICKET TO BE GIVEN FOR EACH HOME RUN

Officials of the Fortieth Anniversary Celebration have announced that the prizes of a season ticket to the festivities May 10 to 12 offered for each home run in the A. & M. games Friday and Saturday will be given for the games Monday and Tuesday.

Some misgivings have been expressed as to the outcome of this rash offer by Celebration officials, since Billy Disch has been credited with the following statement: "I have the kindest of feelings for the celebration, but I hope they will go broke handing out passes to the ball players."

Many Votes Cast on Friday for Queen in Varsity Circus

Dorothy Brown Heads
Standing in Queen's
Race Friday Night

DOROTHY BROWN

Dorothy Brown of Dallas, was in the lead in the Queen's contest, when the polls closed at 3 o'clock Friday. She is a senior in the University and a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Before coming to the University, Miss Brown attended Visitation Academy in St. Louis, and later the College of New Rochelle, New York. She was a member of the Dramatic Club, Girls Glee Club, vice-president of her class and a contributor to the school paper while in school at New Rochelle.

Miss Brown lead the Easter German, Friday night.

PLANS FOR CORONATION ARE TO BE SPECTACULAR

Elaborate plans for the coronation of Queen of Varsity are under way, according to Mr. George J. Stephens, director of the coronation. The coronation will be held Thursday, May 10, at 7:15 p. m. in the Men's Gym and will be followed by a musical extravaganza, at 8:15 and by the Queen's Ball at 9:45 in the Women's Gym.

Miss Anna Hiss is the chairman in charge of this division, and Miss Susie Fisher is directing the musical extravaganza which will be held for the entertainment of the Queen and her court. These two, with Mr. Stephens the director of the coronation, are working on the plans for the stage and other parts of the celebration, and promise something unusual and spectacular.

The standing in the Queen's race, according to the official count Friday after the polls closed at 3 o'clock was as follows:

Dorothy Brown	6,850
Lynette Onstott	6,500
Minifred Smith	5,950
Constance Douglas	3,500
Maria Taylor	3,450
Josephine Gilliam	3,450
Stella Slade	3,050
Thula Hardie	2,300
Ruth Ratliff	2,200
Katherine Bates	1,850
Eleanor Seastrunk	1,400
Margaret Schoch	1,100
Betty Murrah	550
Gladys Dublin	300
Murrell May	250

Interest in the Queen's race took a tremendous leap Friday. Over eighty girls called at the Celebration Headquarters asking for season tickets to sell. The receipts from the sale of tickets over one hundred dollars, and three hundred and forty tickets were given out.

The contest has only been on four days, and 848 students have cast polls, and it is estimated that there are over 400 polls being held in reserve by the different campaign managers.

Those in charge of the official count report that quite a number of votes are being thrown out, because they do not comply with the rules of the contest. Joe Ward, or someone for him, has voted religiously every day, and each time for a different young lady. A number of

Moore Expects Neff to Submit Question to Houses

Further purchase of any land for the University campus extension may be prevented if a bill, now being prepared by Representative Joe M. Moore of Greenville, passes the coming special session of the legislature.

The bill being prepared by Representative Moore calls for the suspension of purchasing in the proposed University extension, and prevention of buying any lots north of Twenty-fifth Street. The Greenville representative will ask Governor Neff to submit the question so that it may be considered by the called session beginning next week, he declared Friday.

The bill, according to those familiar with the campus purchases, would result in the saving of about $600,000 of the appropriation of more than a million dollars for purchase of additional campus land, but would virtually stop the buying at the point where it is now.

Just what effect the suspension of the land purchase would have on the University building program is not known. Present plans for the future development of the school call for the use of the entire 135 acre tract provided for by the legislature appropriation of two years ago. Hearings are now being conducted in an effort to reach an agreement between property owners and officials placing the valuations on lots which have so far not been purchased.

MANY GREENHORNS GATHER FOR BANQUET

Talks From President Vinson, Miss Lucy Newton and Vaudeville Stunts Feature Entertainment for Freshman Girls

Entertaining between one hundred fifty and two hundred girls, the Greenhorns made their banquet the night of Friday, April 13, one of the outstanding affairs of the year.

For the first half of the evening, vaudeville received large applause. Especially did Gertrude Miller as "The Typical Freshman" and two co-eds as "The Valentines" delight the audience. After the history and future of the class of 1926 had been spoken of by the president, Rachel Summers, an invitation was extended for a garden party for the Frosh girls by Miss Newton and Miss McDaniels.

"As Dean of Greenhorns," said Miss McDaniels, "I have certainly counted this year worthwhile, and am proud of the fact that out of 575 freshmen, only 22 'busted out.'"

Dr. Vinson stressed particularly his desire that this class carry on with its spirit of loyalty, a new appreciation of its scholastic work. "Let us live, while we live," was quoted as embodying the keynote of this talk. "I believe," said Miss Casis, continuing Dr. Vinson's idea of true scholarship, "that we ought also to count in the home influence. Let us relate that to our work here, and carry the University back with us, so that those around us may understand the spirit of true scholarship."

Miss Budd appealed for the development of individuality. "Let us not be Cook's tourists through life," she stated. "I wish that we might go on our own individual paths." Concluding the evening's talks, Miss Lucy Newton told of the "All Around Girl" cup to be offered each year to the best all round woman student in the University. She explained that it was difficult to select such a person, and enumerated the four points worthy of consideration, scholastic attainments, spiritual influence, outside activity, and social success.

The banquet ended with "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

SUPERSTITION FOR EVERYBODY

If you busted a quiz, or made your best girl mad at you, or received bad news from home, or had any other dire calamity happen to you on yesterday, do not be dismayed. Just blame the bad luck on Friday, the thirteenth. Even the most matter of fact, practical sort of fellow usually has a streak of superstition in him somewhere. He may not carry a rabbit's foot around with him; but, on the other hand, he will pick up every horse-shoe that he sees. Although he may not refuse to start on a journey on Friday, he feels creepy every time a black cat crosses his path. Every individual, under some circumstances, has amazement and dread of the supernatural, an excessive reverence for, or fear of, that which is unknown or mysterious. The attitude toward Friday 13th, horse-shoes, and black cats is merely an expression of the universal weakness, whether acknowledged or denied, in regard to superstition.

Superstition, the belief in the supernatural, is receiving world-wide attention at present as the result of the death of Lord Carnarvon, the noted discoverer of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen. After reposing undisturbed for thirty-five hundred years, the tomb of the ancient Pharaoh of Egypt was opened by the ruthless excavations of the foreign archaeologists. While the world was still marvelling at the wonderful riches which the outer compartments of the tomb displayed, Lord Carnarvon, as if having premonition of what was to follow, ordered the tomb closed for the time being, with the inner tomb proper not to be opened until next Fall. But, too late was the action taken—the old curse of the Pharaohs had become operative. After a series of tragic events, Lord Carnarvon died from a mysterious malady, in spite of the strenuous efforts of all the medical experts.

Probably Lord Carnarvon, the discoverer of King Tut's tomb, did die from the bite of an insect, as the doctors announced; but it would be a hard task to convince Egypt, and the many millions of superstitious people throughout the world, that the curse of the Pharaohs did not, in fact, wreak revenge on the despoiler of the ancient king's last resting place. Although we may be practical, sophisticated folks, and protest that we are not the least bit superstitious, we do not envy Lord Carnarvon in having been the discoverer of Pharaoh's tomb.

HOBOS GET "THE BUG"

Education is contagious. Given half a chance, the passion for learning will spread into all parts of the earth and into every walk of life. Nothing aristocratic and stuck-up about education, which offers its riches alike to the laborer and the idler, the poor man and the millionaire. For instance, take note of the Chicago College which has been established under the auspices of the International Brotherhood Welfare Association, or the "Hoboes' Union," as it is better known.

According to press dispatches, the Hoboes' College has a creditable curriculum, consisting mainly of such stable courses as spelling, grammar, English rhetoric, and literature. A dormitory, where quarters are rented at a nominal price, make the college convenient for Weary Willies who run into town for a short course in the latest intellectual developments.

If the next hobo, in asking for a hand-out, quotes a few choice lines of Chaucer, Shakespeare, or Burns, do not think that he is unbalanced mentally: Just greet him as a brother in the cause of education.

Opinions of Others

HOBBY-HORSES

(Harvard Crimson)

Man travels through the world whither his hobby-horse bears him, sees those things which the faithful animal gives him to see, browses on what fodder of facts the hobby recommends. For years an ancient Abyssinian manuscript, "The Glory of the Kings," has rested among the treasures of the British Museum, and many times has it been translated. But never until an enthusiast for flying studied it did it disclose that Solomon gave to his friend, the Queen of Sheba, an airship which her son, Menyelek, flew. Without the hobby-horses of Colonel Lockwood Marsh, Secretary of the Royal Aeronautical Society, the world might still honor Leonardo da Vinci as the first designer of air craft.

Professor Kittredge once said that he marvelled at the genius of the "skin-clad savages (name and date unknown) who first invented the fish-hook or the blow-gun or the fire-drill." It is possible that the genius of this ancient savage has been grossly under-rated. Heretofore scientists alone have examined the records of the rocks and runes. Why not turn loose upon these records devotees of electrical lore or send into the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen those with a hobby for automobiles? Then, thanks to the hobby-horse, perhaps the world will learn that the Neolithic man had telephone connections with the adjacent caves or that Pharaoh toured his land in a horseless carriage.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS REMAIN UNDEFEATED

Interscholastic League Contenders Retain Perfect Average

High school baseball reports reaching the University of Texas Interscholastic League office the past week show that the undefeated list of teams has not diminished but has been augmented by four new comers. Brownwood has 1,000 per cent due to victories over Brady and Comanche. Seguin surprised the fans by winning over San Antonio Main Avenue thereby taking its place with the leaders. Stephenville seems to be the real class of that territory, while Waxahachie is again showing strong in baseball, reporting wins over Red Oak, Hillsboro and Polytchnic.

With settled weather, the next two months will produce a close and interesting race among the following teams that are leading in their respective sections at the present time according to the reports to the Interscholastic League: Austin, Amarillo, Crowell, Corsicana, Laredo, Longview, La Porte, Milford, McKinney, Naples, Rockdale, San Antonio (Brackenridge), Seymour, Van Alstyne and Wichita Falls.

HANDRICK IN HOSPITAL

Henry A. Handrick, graduate student, who withdrew temporarily from the University in order to undergo an operation, is recuperating at present in a San Antonio hospital. Will Meet University Methodists Sunday at Morning and Night Services

Charles H. Hounshell, of Nashville, Tennessee, will arrive in Austin Saturday night and will be here Sunday and Monday to close the Daniel Fund Drive which has been carried on this week.

Mr. Hounshell has been all over the South and has visited many colleges. He will meet the students at Sunday School Sunday and will speak at the night services at the University Methodist Church. The Finance Committee announces that no public collections for the Daniel Fund will be taken Sunday.

MRS. STARK PRESENTS BOOK TO UNIVERSITY

Mrs. W. H. Stark of Orange has presented to the Wrenn Library of the University a rare first edition of Shelley's "Masque of Anarchy." This volume was published in 1832, after Shelley's death, by Leigh Hunt.

Mrs. Stark is gathering together rare volumes similar to the collection of the Wrenn Library, and, having two copies of this particular work, requested that one be added to the University collections of Shelley.

Longhorns Will Need Aid of Varsity Rooters Next Week When They Face Aggie Squad

Texas A. & M. is speeding down the Conference highway in the baseball race and throwing dust in large quantities at Texas U., S. M. U., Rice and the rest. Texas U. is not accustomed to such proceedings, while the other schools in the race have experienced such things in the past and no doubt are used to them by now.

Texas must stop the Texas Aggies on Monday or Tuesday and do that thing it's going to take not only William J. Disch and his team, but the co-operation of every student in the University. Texas has won eleven consecutive championships in baseball to date, but things are not very rosy this year. And the first series of the season will come on Monday and Tuesday when the Steers tangle with the Aggies. The school must back that baseball team as never before from here on out.

Coach Disch, L. Theo Bellmont and Shorty Nowotny have made arrangements for temporary bleachers to be put up on the left field foul line especially for the Texas rooters. All the male students are urged to occupy these seats for rooting purposes only. Shorty Nowotny, tiny Texas pep dispenser, is going to have his entire yell staff out for both games in full uniform—the first time in the history of the school for a baseball game. Nowotny's word to Texas rooters late last night was "Men we have got to put that team over for 'Uncle Billy' Disch."

The Longhorns may not have any too great amount of pride in some of their athletic teams, pitiful to relate, but that baseball team is something that every red-blooded Texan should be proud of and ready to fight for. Berry, and old Texas letter man in baseball, saw the Aggies defeat S. M. U. in one game and tie them in another and he said that the rooting of the A. & M. cadet corps threw the Mustangs up in the air and was the greatest factor in the victories for the Farmers. The Aggies are playing their first games away from home in the Texas series and the Texas rooters can capitalize that fact to an advantage for the Longhorns.

Longhorns in Good Shape

The Texas squad is in tip-top shape and anxious to take a fling at the perfect percentage of the Aggies. Kenneth "Plum" McCalla or O. J. "Jubilo" Clements will hurl the opening game for the Steers. Oscar Eckhardt will be held in reserve in case either them should falter. The Aggies pitching selection for Monday's game will probably be King Gill, who beat Texas in the only game A. & M. won last year, or Pat Olsen. Both are right handers and have been travelling "great guns" so far this season.

BAND MAY APPEAR IN BATTLE OF FLOWERS

Invitation to Parade in San Antonio During Celebration Received

Erwin F. Smith, manager of the Longhorn Band, Friday received an invitation from Mrs. Eli Hertzberg, chairman of the committee on music for parades of the Battle of Flowers celebration of San Antonio, inviting the local organization to appear in the parade that will be held on Friday, April 20, which is officially known as the "Battle of Flowers Parade."

The band appeared in this parade in 1922, and scored a hit with San Antonians, being recognized as the best band that appeared during the entire entertainment, and receiving second prize for being the second best entry in the parade.

The manager indicated last night that the invitation would probably be accepted.

Freshman Nine Will Meet Silents Second Time on Wednesday

Coach Milton Romney's freshman baseball team will play its third game of the season on Wednesday, when they clash in the second game against the Texas Silents. The Frosh won from the Silents in the last game by the score of 6 to 0 in 7 innings.

The Frosh will probably play the St. Edward's nine on Clark Field when the Longhorns play the S. M. U. Mustangs in Dallas. Negotiations are in progress to schedule a number of strong games for the first year men after mid-terms are over.

COMIC MAGAZINE

change is based on the fact that there is seemingly a greater demand in the student body for this type of publication than for a literary magazine. Under such a plan no strain would be placed on either the advertisers or on the student body, as every student would be a subscriber through the blanket tax, it was pointed out.

The Students' Assembly recently authorized Sigma Delta Chi, honorary and professional journalistic fraternity, to issue a comic magazine, following which, Brazelton was selected to edit the proposed publication. In announcing his candidacy, however, Brazelton pointed out that placing a comic publication under the Student Publication Board, with the editor elected by the student body, and the staff selected from the general student body, as with other official publications, would result in a better All-University comic being issued, and at the time, prove a better financial investment for the students' publications.

Brazelton is a junior in the Department of Journalism, and will receive his B. A. and B. J. degrees in June, 1924. During his three years "Braz" has been connected with every student publication. He has served in the following capacities: Art Editor Longhorn '22-'23; Art Staff, Longhorn '21-'22; Art Staff, Cactus '21, '22 and '23; Scalper staff '21, '22; Editor-elect Scalper '23; and has contributed to The Texan for the past two years. He has also been prominently connected with Sigma Delta Chi and the University Glee Club.

SPECIAL SESSION

usual on the appropriation recommendations for the Aggies. Since the Pope resolution ordering an investigation of the Brown-Crummer loan of $2,500,000 made available through the passage of the Westbrook bill permitting extensive building plans for the University, was passed, but no action has been taken.

The Pope resolution alleged that the bid could have been gotten at a lower rate of interest. It was a Pope amendment two years ago that worked such havoc with the salaries of University professors and caused over seventy members of the faculty to resign, according to President Vinson of the University.

Regents Meet Soon

The Board of Regents will probably meet within the next two weeks, according to E. J. Mathews, secretary of the Board of Regents, to consider among other things the general building plan being drafted and to sit in a joint session with the committee authorized by the Pope resolution.

From unofficial sources it has been learned that the committee recently appointed by Dr. Vinson to draw up the general building plans will make a trip of inspection to other colleges and universities of the country beginning the early part of next week. It is probable that the Board of Regents will meet at some time before that within the next few days.

GLEE CLUB REHEARSAL

Members of the Men's Glee Club will meet Sunday afternoon at 1611 Congress Avenue for a rehearsal and making final arrangements for making the trip to Bastrop on Tuesday of next week. Manager Richard A. Hittson will announce the place of meeting for the trip and the time of leaving at the rehearsal Sunday.

Coach Littleford and Manager Harvey Young will round out the caravan of Texas representatives on the trail of the Baylor Bear.

been a member for more than two years.

While Miss Porter has been active in almost every phase of general student activities since entering the University, she has during the last two years devoted considerable of her attention to journalistic and literary work. She is a member of Sidney Lanier Literary Society, and also of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalistic sorority for women.

During her freshman and junior years she has been a member of the Daily Texan staff, starting out as reporter, and this year being made an assistant issue editor, which position she now holds. She expects to be a student in the University for one more year.
