POLLARD SAYS U. T. CAN HOLD BOND BUYERS

Constitutionality Was Approved by Buyers' Attorneys

REGENTS TO DECIDE

Enforcing Contract in Power of Regent Board

Attorney General Pollard issued the statement Thursday that the University can hold, at the discretion of the Board of Regents, the Guaranty Trust Company of New York to their contract to purchase University development bonds.

Mr. Wood of the firm of Thompson, Wood and Hoffman of New York, attorneys for the trust company, stated to members of the Attorney General's department some time ago that they believed the opinion of the Attorney General to be correct on the question of the constitutionality of the University bonds.

A newspaper Thursday stated that the trust company wished to rescind their contract and to withdraw the $10,000 deposit they made on the purchase of the bonds.

Pollard states that he has informed the Board of Regents of the matter, and that it is entirely in their hands to do as they see fit.

The statement given by the Attorney General Thursday is as follows:

"The matter as to whether or not the University Board of Regents want to permit the Guaranty Trust Company of New York to cancel its contract for the purchase of University bonds is one purely within their discretion. The bid of this company was an unconditional bid for these bonds and it has no legal right to be released from the contract.

"Mr. Wood of the firm of Thompson, Wood, and Hoffman of New York, attorneys for the trust company, unequivocally stated to members of my department at Austin, and again to me at Houston in a conference in regard to these bonds that my opinion as to their constitutionality was undoubtedly correct in all respects, and not until the trust company seeks to get a refund of the deposit made under this contract has the constitutional question been raised.

"I have in my files a copy of

E. P. Choice Gives Essay Prizes for English Students

Prizes amounting to $25 have been offered again this year by E. P. Choice of Lake Providence, Louisiana, in an essay contest open to all students taking English 13. For the two best essays offered as class exercises by members of English 13 classes, Mr. Choice awards prizes of $15 and $10, respectively.

In a letter to Dr. E. M. Clark of the department of English, Mr. Choice, who was a student at the University from 1918 to 1923, said:

"I have been much pleased with the results of the contests, especially since the students have been entering and winning Atlantic Monthly contests, thereby gaining national recognition."

The first prize in last year's contest was won by Charles Ramsdell.

JACOBS GIVES SLIDE LECTURE ON SPECTRUM

Color Mixing Shadows And Combinations Explained

"Paints are not color; they are chemicals that reflect color," stated Michel Jacobs in his lecture on "Art and Color" Thursday night at Garrison Hall. The lecture was sponsored by the Austin Art League.

Jacobs states that there are only three colors in the spectrum. They are red, green, and violet, and it is from the combination of these that make the different colors that are seen. Combinations of the vibrations of the rods and cones on the retina of the eye are responsible for the various shades of the three colors of the Helmholtz spectrum, he said.

Color mixing, color combinations, and shadows are the three things that Jacobs teaches in the Metropolitan Art School, of which he is the founder. Complementary colors and their usage in combinations and shadows were discussed by the artist. "Scintillations and vibrations are very necessary for the painter to achieve the desired result," said Mr. Jacobs. "Particularly is this true of the pictorialization of sunshine and other intangible things in the portrait," he added.

Mr. Jacobs illustrated his theory with slides, and concluded his lecture by answering personal questions and problems of the audience.

BEN STOLBERG LECTURES ON LABOR TOPIC

'Capitalism of Union' Defects Shown In Talk

By VERDA H. BAKER

"A new disparity was created between capital and labor by the World War," said Benjamin Stolberg, lecturer-journalist and nationally known authority on social and industrial problems, in his lecture on "The Changing Relations Between Capital and Labor" in the auditorium of the Biology Building Thursday night.

"Before the war, capital and labor were largely economic forces," Mr. Stolberg explained. "After the war, capitalism became extraordinarily powerful and labor, by comparison, extraordinarily weak. The disparity thus created was so great that the social democratic movement to which it gave impetus, or as it is sometimes called, the new 'trade union capitalism,' took on a protective coloration by assuming a philosophy of economy in an effort to imitate capitalist psychology."

Mr. Stolberg brought out the three-sided system of this imitation: First by investment of funds and the control of banks; second, by education of the laborers; and third, by collaboration of laborers with capitalists. None of these methods have been, in the lecturer's opinion, particularly successful. The investments brought loss of money; education degenerated into a form of propaganda; and collaboration between two movements on vastly different levels has proved exceedingly difficult.

"The American Federation of Labor left since the war with the craft-separatist idea has had to resort to a 'song and dance' psychology in order to hold its membership," Mr. Stolberg continued. "The new unionism favors the

S HALL TO BE THEATER FOR CURTAIN CLUB

Auditorium Will Seat 200; Price Fixed At 50c

READY FEBRUARY 1

First Presentation in New Theater to Be February 10

S Hall is now being remodeled so that the Curtain Club will have an adequate place to present its plays at reasonable prices for the student body. The work, which was begun this week, is being sponsored by the University and by the Curtain Club.

In order to avoid undue expenses and at the same time save money for the students, the club decided on the plan of remodeling S Hall to suit its purposes. Doors will be changed, a new floor will be put in, and seats will be provided so that a comparatively suitable auditorium will be provided.

The "campus theater" will be completed about February 1, 1929, and will have a seating capacity of about two hundred people. The price of admission will be 50 cents.

The Curtain Club will stage three or four performances next semester. The first program will be given February 10, the second March 2, and the third May 1. The final production has not been decided upon. There will be no advance sales and no reserved seats. A policy of "first come first served" will be maintained. The Curtain Club at a called meeting Thursday night discussed further plans of the project.

St. Edwards U. Is Among Schools to Close Due to Flu

There only eleven cases of the "flu," however, at the school. The holiday period has been moved up one week. Classes will be resumed January 3.

The effects of the "flu" epidemic are being felt in various other universities and schools of the United States, according to reports received by The Daily Texan.

In the past week the University of Missouri at Columbia, the University of the South, at Seavane, Tennessee, and the University of Georgia have suspended classes. The Wentworth Military Academy at Lexington, Missouri, has also been closed.

About sixteen hundred absences occur daily in the public schools of Council Bluffs, Iowa. The public schools of Chattanooga, Tennessee, have suspended until after the holidays.

STEER CAGERS MEET RATTLER FIVE TONIGHT

Steers' Chances Good With Dozen Fast Squads

LINE-UP UNCERTAIN

Grind for Conference Race Starts Tonight

By BOB CANTRELL, TEXAN SPORTS EDITOR

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock Austin cage fans will get their first chance to see the 1928-29 Steers in action when they clash with the Rattlers from St. Mary's University over at San Antonio at the Silents' Gymnasium out beyond the Colorado River, where the Longhorns will play all their home games this season.

Not much is known of the strength of the Rattlers, but in the past Jimmy Hendricks has put out a powerful team at the Alamo City institution, and the same is more than likely true this year. The size of the crowd which will be able to see the game will be small, owing to the size of the gymnasium, and to the fact that it is not yet completed.

When students start out to the Silents' Gymnasium tonight, it may be difficult to find at first. Enter the grounds at the main entrance, follow the road, and the first brick structure off on the right hand side of the road is the gymnasium. At a late hour last night complete seating facilities had not been arranged, but it is expected that a few of the seats will be ready tonight.

No matter what kind of a team Hendricks brings over, he will find the Longhorns their equal and better. Never before did a coach have so many men of equal caliber from whom to choose a team. There are at least a dozen, and even more, men on the Steer squad who are equal in every respect, and in selecting the starting five, Coach Walker will find that he has a difficult task facing him.

Scrimmages since the opening of practice have shown that no one man will be the big show for Texas this year, and tonight will see a fast-working, fast-breaking five on the floor with every man giving all he possesses.

Captain Holly Brock and Sug Camp may start the game at forwards, but this isn't certain. Jake Looney, Pint Webb, and Frank Cheatham have been showing up well in the workouts, and will get in the game before it is over.

Big Un Rose, Earl Taylor and Cheatham all have been looking good at center, and any one of the three may start the tussle, with the other two certain to get in the game before it is over.

The question of the starting guards is one that will cause Walker to pause and ponder a long time. Nona Rees, Red Wray, Rut Vining, Jake Looney, Frank Estes, and Jim Beard have all been showing plenty of stuff in the practice scrimmages, and either two of the group may start the melee. Rees and Wray are veterans, while Vining is a graduate of the frosh squad and Estes and Beard are old squadmen. It is almost certain that all the men will see service sometime during the evening.

In addition to these men, there are a dozen others who likely will get into the melee. Big Boy Peterson, Shorty Nemir, George White, Jimmie Miller, Pete Harrison, Ug Ingram, Witsell, and others are all good men and likely will see some action before the thing is over.

After tonight, Walker will start his men in constant practice before breaking camp for the holidays. The conference games will begin early in January.

DEAN'S ASSISTANTS RETURN TO WORK

Miss Lula M. Bowley and Mrs. Frances E. Goldbeck have returned to their positions in the dean of women's office after having been ill for a short time with influenza.

A LONG WAIT REWARDED

TEXAN SPORTS

BASKETBALL
NEXTSPORT
TALKBy BOB CANTRELL
Texas Sports Editor

Tonight Austin cage fans will have their first chance to see how the 1929 Steers cagers will "stack up" against opposition, this time in the form of St. Mary's Rattlers. They open the season at the Silents' Gymnasium out beyond the Colorado, where they will play all their home games this season. The Steers should win without a bit of trouble, and Walker will likely give every man on the squad a chance in the opener, but he will take no chance on losing the opener.

Speaking of the opening game, there won't be room for as many people at this scrap as there will be for those coming later in the season. The Silents' Gymnasium hasn't been completed and work is still being done on the structure in the way of putting up seats and getting the floor lined off and in shape. The playing floor of the gymnasium will be one of the best in the state when it is finished.

Those ducks had better look out!

Five nimrods of the athletic department will depart this morning for the swampy marshes of Louisiana where they will deal death and destruction to various and sundry members of the "quack" family. Coaches Clyde Littlefield, Bill James, Marty Karow, "Ox" Higgins, and "Uncle Billy" Ditch will comprise the quintet of hunters. While on the trip, they hope in some way or another to secure enough ducks to form a repast for the 1929 Texas football squad.

The new trophy for the intramural athletics has been received by Berry M. Whitaker, and is now on display in Z Hall. The cup is offered by Spalding, and will take the place of the Gill trophy which was put out of circulation last year when the Steers won it for the third successive year. To become permanent possessor of the cup, a team must win it three years in succession.

The Steers started their track work yesterday afternoon. Texas will try to beat her way back to the leadership in the conference, having been dethroned last year by Rice for the first time in six years. The chances for a Texas victory will depend on the progress made by the new men in the dashes, distances, middle distance runners, high jumpers, broad jumpers, and pole vaulters. These divisions will have to be filled by new men who will develop this year. Veterans will be depended on for the best performances in the weights and hurdles. Leo Baldwin, a great discus hurler, shot putter and fast hurdler will captain the Steer team.

Preliminary Track Work
Under
WayBy STUD NASH
TEXAN SPORTS STAFF

With eight letter men as a nucleus, Coach Clyde Littlefield is putting his track aspirants through their preliminary paces, preparatory to starting serious training immediately after the Christmas holidays.

Captain Leo Baldwin, Dan Daniels, Frank Mondrik, Perry Harris, Curtis Beatty, Fred Sandberg, Walter Howe, and Barney Slaughter are the letter men about whom the 1929 team will be molded.

Equipment has already been issued to about seventy-five men, and Littlefield expects that at least 200 will have answered the call by the time the season opens.

"We will begin organized workouts right after the holidays," he stated Thursday, "and will begin to hold the regular Saturday afternoon practice meets with all squad men and freshmen participating about the first of February."

There is a world of material on hand from which to mold a team, but it will have to be developed. Many men who barely failed to make a letter last spring and many who showed up well on the freshman team have reported for practice, and it is from these that Littlefield hopes to draw capable running mates for his eight veterans.

W. C. Westerfeldt and C. D. Dilworth look good in the half-mile and 440, while Shirley Bowen and Williams are expected to show up in the mile. Among the hurdlers are Roe Simkins, Magus Smith, and Milton Perkins, and Tony Windrow and Scot Wilkie are going good in the dashes.

The Longhorns will open the season with the Texas Relays, March 29 and will climax it with the conference meet, May 10 and 11, and will close by attending the national meet in Chicago, June 12.

ACADEMS TO HOLD
BASKETBALL MEET

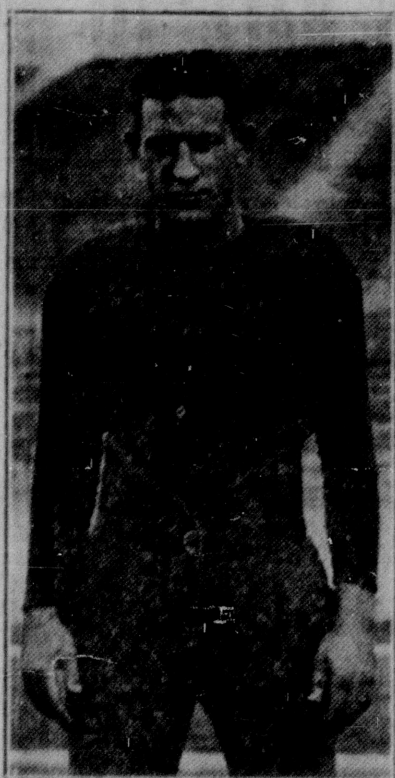

All academic students who wish to play intramural basketball are asked to meet at the Freshman Gymnasium this Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

An intramural manager will be elected and arrangements for the tryouts made at the meeting.

The academics will play their first intramural game against the business administration team this Friday night.

The intramural basketball games are bringing a few surprises to the staid followers of the sport of late. The games have been anything but orthodox, and the scores in many of them have been more like baseball games than basketball games.

FORD

Ford Receives
Loving Cup
For Best Man

Bill Ford, all-conference end, was awarded the silver loving cup for being the best blocker, having the best spirit, and being the best offensive man on the championship Longhorn squad this year at the banquet tendered the squad last night at the Cafeteria by the Athletic Council. The cup was presented by an anonymous donor. This was Ford's last year as a member of the Longhorn squad, and the presentation of the cup came as a complete surprise to the Steer end. Captain Rufus King made the presentation speech in which he paid numerous tributes to the spirit and ability of Ford.

Prior to the presenting of the cup to Ford, the squad, coaching staff, athletic council and a number of invited guests enjoyed the third banquet that has been tendered the champions.

President H. Y. Benedict spoke to the squad for some four minutes, and his speech sparkled with the witicism for which he is famous.

During the course of his talk he declared: "The team and not the rooster wins the games. It is merit which wins for the team. A team may get the breaks at times, and they go against the team at other times, but in the long run, it is merit which wins for the team."

Clyde Littlefield, coach of the Steers, said a very few words in which he praised members of his squad who went unnoticed by the press during the regular season. In closing, he added that as long as the men fought and gave their best that Texas need never worry about her football teams.

John McCurdy, secretary of the Ex-Students' Association, told of the part that the ex-students play in the development of a football eleven, and stated that exes looked up to the lettermen more than any other ex-student.

Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, newly appointed director of athletics, was present and said a few words of congratulation and commendation to the squad members.

Gordy Brown, all-conference and All-American, captain-elect for 1929, made his third speech thanked the council for all that it in the past week, in which he had done.

Allen Mansfield, Boston University alumnus, was a visitor at the Delta Sigma Phi house Monday evening.

FACULTY FIVE
WIN SECOND
IN ROW; 13-10

Stark House Defeats
Gullet Quint in Second Fray

Only two games were played in the Intramural League last night, with the Faculty five continuing their winning ways with a 13-10 victory over the Faulkner quintet. The professors worked together well, and the Faulkner five found themselves outclassed in more ways than one. In the other clash of the evening, the Stark house five handed the Gullet five a 16-3 wallop, with the outcome of the game never in doubt.

Captain Dolley was high point man for the faculty, counting six points during the fray. The last few minutes of play saw the Faulkner five rally, but the faculty lead was too great.

Stark Downs Gullet

With Martini looping baskets with perfect impunity to lead them, the Stark house five walloped the Gullet cagers 16-3 in the second fray of the evening. The excellent work of Martini soon put the game "on ice" and the Gullet five never became dangerous. The game was marred by personal fouls and general roughing.

Do Christmas Mailing Early, Urges Gresham

"Do your Christmas mailing early," says John S. Gresham, superintendent of the University Station of the United States post office. Last year there were approximately five hundred parcels mailed daily during the holiday rush and this year packages and Christmas cards have begun pouring in already.

Three men will be on duty starting December 18 and the post office will keep its usual hours, opening at 8:30 and closing at 5 o'clock.

Saint Nicholas Attends Party

Santa Claus has suffered serious reverses by the destruction of his factory at Weinachtsbaumfeld by an avalanche of snow, according to a letter received by Dr. M. R. Gutsch, secretary of the University Faculty Club. Every year the club entertains the children of its members with a Christmas party, and plans for this year's party are being completed.

Saturday afternoon, December 15, at 3:30 o'clock is the day set for the party and on the same evening at 8 o'clock the members will be entertained. The following letter was received by Dr. Gutsch in July and has been forwarded to the club members:

North Pole, Arctic Zone
July 2, 1928.

Secretary University Club, Austin, Texas.

Dear Sir:

I am writing you this early so that you will have ample time to send me the list of club children. Please let me have the list not later than December 8 as I am literally overwhelmed with Christmas orders.

My doll factories at St. Nicholasburg have been running full blast since early in the year but can hardly supply the demand. My trusty Eskimos have just completed the construction of a new toy plant at Kringlestorf which is in operation at this time, turning out daily millions of fire engines, hook and ladders carts, building sets, puzzles, games, magic lanterns, girls' dishes, miniature furniture, automobiles, rubber balls, and animal sets.

My factory at Wshrdlueaionafeld which specialized in tree decorations was completely destroyed.

ENGINEERING LAB GETS NEW EXHIBITS

Three new displays have been added to the engineering laboratory recently; one is a display of grinding material of the kind necessary for grinding wheels, showing the various stages of the raw product, the process of manufacturing and the finished product. A display of super heaters, supplied by the Super Heater Company of New York, also is being made. Construction of the heaters, machine processes involved, and the unusual workmanship are pointed out in the display.

6 REGISTERED PHARMACISTS IN UNIVERSITY

Men Who Passed Tests Continue Courses Of Study

Fully registered pharmacists, six in number, are enrolled in the College of Pharmacy at the University this year, according to Dean W. F. Gidley. These men have passed the examinations given by the State Board of Pharmacy, but are continuing the course, which was recently changed from a two- to a three-year course.

"Texas is filled with pharmacists who, because of the State's lax laws, have never taken a college course and are therefore excluded from the majority of states in the United States," Gidley said. Plans are being made to introduce a bill before the next legislature with the end in view of raising Texas' pharmaceutical standing.

This year marks the 35th anniversary of the College of Pharmacy. It was organized in 1893 at Galveston, soon after the creation of the School of Medicine. Because it was not established by enactment of the legislature, the Board of Regents was allowed to move it from Galveston to Austin, in order that its students might be able to take advantage of the better laboratory and library facilities here.

Until 1925, the College of Pharmacy was an anomalous organization offering only two years' work. Under such conditions, it could not be a member of the Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, to which the state colleges of pharmacy of 46 states belong. Seven members who were graduated in 1928 form the roster of the first class graduating under the three-year system. There are at present fifteen members in the senior class in the College.

What Do You Know About—

By J. C. WATKINS

1. War clamor?
2. Al Smith Club?
3. "Flu" epidemic?
4. Senate debate?

Snarling South American republics continue their clamor for war.

Patriotic manifestations continued yesterday throughout Bolivia, as citizens rallied to the support of the foreign policy of President Siles. Offers of all kinds constantly poured into the presidential palace, ranging from automobiles to medical supplies and man power.

The League of Industrial Employees in La Paz addressed a communication to the general commander of the army, requesting that its members be the first enrolled "to march in the great crusade of conquest and civilization against Paraguay."

"We may be out but we're never down"—evidently.

Washington, D. C., has given birth to the first "Al Smith for President in 1932" club.

Moreover, efforts will be made to promote other clubs throughout the country with the same objective, according to its sponsors. The club has a membership containing many prominent Washington Democrats.

Yesterday's reports showed the following schools closed until after the holidays because of the influenza epidemic:

Wentworth Military Academy, The University of Georgia, The Bishop School for Girls, City schools of Chattanooga and Council Bluffs, Iowa.

And Kansas University reports nearly a hundred cases, while Dean Hall of T. C. U. denied that institution would close, although there is a large amount of sickness.

In Washington yesterday Surgeon General Cummings called together a "board of strategy on influenza" to consider reports of the Bureau of Census showing an increase in the influenza death rate and to make recommendations on steps which might be taken to curb the spread of the disease.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the U. S. Senate adopted a new policy.

Limited debate, the lever used by that body to loosen legislative jams, was applied to Boulder canyon discussion, bringing a prospect of an early vote on the measure which has blocked action on nearly all other business since the session of Congress began.

Senators are now limited to 15 minutes for speaking time to express views on the subject which has filled the congressional record with millions of words.

What is described as the most spectacular siege in the history of Chicago's police department occurred when a crazed negro boy, barricaded in a three-story apartment house, held 20 policemen at bay for several hours.

The boy wounded nine policemen in the battle, and was only dislodged when a police squad, protected by bullet-proof shields, invaded the flat. The negro was shot to death while resisting arrest.

FORMER STUDENT VISITS ON CAMPUS

Eyer Newton Simpson, who was a student in the University from 1917 to 1922, has been visiting friends on the campus for the past few days.

Simpson received his bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from the University and his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago, where he was an instructor for several years. At the present time, he is connected with the Institute of Current Affairs in Mexico City.

Ralph Earl Prafka has returned from Camden where he spent a few days.

Both Pfeiffer of the Alpha Chi Omega house is spending the week-end in Dallas where she will attend the Psi Omega dance at the Adolphus Hotel.

PUNISHMENT GIVEN TO STANFORD STUDENT IS UNNECESSARILY HARSH

The punishment which Stanford's men's council has meted out to the one unfortunate Stanford student convicted of participation in the painting of the Big "C" before the Big Game is absurd.

There is no ground for believing that student opinion, frankly in favor of such expressions of friendly rivalry, is going to support the decision handed down by the Stanford judges. They, of course, were put in a difficult position when the discovery of a pocketbook belonging to the raider definitely proved his guilt. It was up to them to uphold the agreement between California and Stanford which expects punishment of convicted "sandals," but the three punishments of which he was given the choice are unjustifiably harsh.

It would be far better to abrogate all agreements, written or unwritten, if they forced the imposition of so severe a penalty for so trivial an offense.

The situation would be different, and would justify extreme measures, if the so-called "acts of vandalism" were committed in a bitter and unworthy spirit, and amounted to unnecessary destruction of property. Our "gentlemen's agreement" should apply only in such cases.—Daily Californian.

THE UNIVERSITY AND A GENTLEMAN

We have it from Cardinal Newman in his lectures before Oxford University audiences that it is "almost" a definition of a gentleman to say that he is one who never inflicts pain. He goes on to say that the gentleman is "mainly occupied in merely removing the obstacles which hinder the free and unembarrassed action of those about him; and he concurs with their movements rather than takes the initiative himself."

It would seem that if Cardinal Newman were living in this modern age and among people of the modern university that he might be inclined to leave out that word "almost" in despairing that anything closer to a gentleman could be found among the university people than one who "never inflicts pain." Certainly if a person were found during the present generation who conformed to the qualities which Newman considered to be essential to "almost" defining a gentleman, he would undoubtedly be heralded among those with whom he came in contact as a gentleman.

When we go on to find what is included among the characteristics of a gentleman we find that the true gentleman carefully avoids whatever may cause a jar or jolt in the minds of those with whom he is cast; all classing of opinion, or collision of feeling, all restraint, or suspicion, or gloom, or resentment; his great concern being to make everyone at his ease and at home. He has too much good sense to be affronted at insults, he is too well employed to remember injuries, and too indolent to bear malice. He may be right or wrong in his opinions, but he is too clear headed to be unjust; he is as simple as he is forcible, and as brief as he is decisive. He respects piety and devotion. He is tolerant in all matters.

In summing up these characteristics, it must be admitted that altogether it appears as if the perfect gentleman is just about an impossibility. In spite of this undeniable fact, it is not impossible for the present generation, or any preceding or succeeding, to bear in mind a general conception of those things which might be expected of a gentleman and to do his part in the uplift of society as a whole, by doing so. The courtesies expected of a gentleman are certainly not unfair and the observation of Cardinal Newman's general rule by our campus population, no one excepted, would add to the bonds of all loyal Minnesotans.—O. D. in The Minnesota Daily.

STUDENT FACULTY CO-OPERATION

In former years college and college government was a comparatively simple thing. The president and the faculty merely set down the rules of discipline and scholarship and the students followed them, or 'got by' with as much as they could. Today in our complex civilization, where colleges that formerly housed only several hundred students now find room for as many thousands, the problem of student self government is the dominant problem on practically every campus. Many institutions have met the issue by giving the students practically unlimited control over student activities. Some institutions have increased their restrictions in an effort to control their increased population. Today, however, finds the greater portion of the country trying to solve the problem to fit their individual needs.

The University of Cincinnati is now in the midst of such a program of change and reorganization. The proposed constitution for student council, radical as its measures may seem to some who live by the constitution now enforced, is an expression of the students to establish a recognized understanding between the faculty and the students. This new constitution will, if accepted by both students and the faculty, definitely establish the status of the students, and student government on the campus of the university. Under this there will be delegated to the students the entire control of their own affairs. This will legally give the students some tangible evidence of their position in relation to the faculty.

Today the faculty for the most part lacks an interest in the student body as a whole. It is impossible that they could be adequately informed on every student problem that was formerly decided in the faculty room; so in a university of more than nine thousand students it is well that the solving of student problems is being left to the students. It is well that such government is being placed on a definite basis so that both students and faculty may benefit by the co-operation.—The (Ohio) University News.

ARE YOU A SPONGER?

"Lend me a sheet of paper," said a boy in the study hall. "Say, that's the twelfth sheet you've borrowed this week. When are you going to buy some yourself?"

"Oh, some day, maybe."

The sponger is a common pest infesting Main Avenue and other schools. It is identified by its continual borrowing and by the fact that it never has its lesson properly prepared nor does it have the proper material for study. In every room at Main Avenue you will find at least two spongers.

Are you one of them?—Main Avenue Huisache.

BULL BELLOWS

By VIRGIL H. HERALD

THOUGHT FOR TODAY: Even though Alex Murphee is sick with the "flu" and another bull belloweth across the green pastures of the Texas campus, it is still bull that bellows.

The night was rainy and dark. The lone man trudged on, guided by the light that glowed cheerily ahead of him and beckoned him onward. Keeping his face in the direction of the light, he splashed through the mud and water toward home, that cozy little spot he so longed to see, home! Suddenly the light vanished. The friendly glow was no more. His cigar had been rained on.

THOUGHTS OF CHRISTMAS

Santa Claus—it must be great to be a kid and believe in old St. Nicholas and his reindeer and gullibly soak in all of the wild tales your dad tells you and still think all people are sincere.

Christmas trees—like sailors in port, all lit up.

Parties—remember when you dressed up in your most uncomfortable clothes and mother slipped your rubbers on your shoes and away to the party you went—wonder who will be home this Christmas?—dances, handshaking, chemical analysis of the usual "wonderful stuff."

The ideal Christmas—no exchanging presents; no relatives to remember, no bills to pay—just December 25, and vacation and turkey.

idea of all workers in one industry belonging to one union. Modern labor cannot be run on the semi-savage tactics of militant craft-separatism.

In conclusion, Mr. Stolberg said that there is an unconscious gravitation toward a new capitalism in which the employer will be in charge of the labor movement. "Capitalism will be a new Mephisto which offers to labor high wages to purchase the products which it produces in return for its own soul."

Following the lecture, Mr. Stolberg invited questions from the audience and several problems introduced by individuals were discussed informally.

The second lecture by Mr. Stolberg, "Radicalism in American Labor," will be given this Friday night at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the Biology Building.

"ON TRIAL." Not only the best talkie yet out of the Hollywood tin cans but a darn good movie too. Don't think that they don't tell it all at the trial. At the Queen.

"SKIRTS." Syd Chaplin continues to cavort about for purposes of amusement. At times side-splittingly funny and at other times only side-splitting. At the Majestic.

"RIO RITA." It's here at last. It's good, they tell us. Those who've seen it. Musical comedy set on the Rio Grande with lots of legs. Matinee and night. At the Hancock.

spending your next 20 years in prison, what would you do? Accept the choice which seems likely to provide some excitement and offers a garbling chance of freedom? Or pin your hopes on a pardon for the jail sentence?

This is the choice given Julio, the hero of "The Gun Runner," showing until Saturday at the Crescent theater. This is the Tiffany-Stahl picture suggested by Arthur Stringer's absorbing story of love and adventure. John Francis Naffette wrote the continuity, Edgar Lewis directed, and Ricardo Cortez, Nora Lane, Gino Corrado, and John St. Polis comprise the principals in the cast.

'SKIRTS' ENDS TWO-DAY RUN AT MAJESTIC

After seeing such comedy riots as "Charlie's Aunt" and "Oh What a Nurse," one is likely to expect more of Syd Chaplin than is displayed in "Skirts," which ends its run at the Majestic today. Perhaps, however, after Mr. Chaplin has proven that as a real he-man he is undoubtedly the dip-piest dame that ever flaunted a petticoat, it may be that he deserves credit for attempting a role in which he confines himself almost entirely to masculine attire.

The complications that arise from wife's leaving hubby alone and at the mercy of a coarse chorus blonde from across the hall run perfectly true to form. Wife's mother is likewise the traditional halitosis type, only a bit more grotesque than usual in appearance, which makes her over-prominence in the picture.

However, if you have a weakness for comedy, now's your big chance to do some tall dissipating, because the program is composed of three comedies—one feature length and two short subjects, including Aesop's Fables. There is a Paramount news reel.—B. B.

"On Trial" Gives Excellent Opportunity for Speaking Parts

Don't miss "On Trial," now showing at the Queen theater. You won't come away with loud hurrahs but you'll come away satisfied with having seen the best all-talkie yet to rise out of the muddle of limp to lukewarm attempts at talking pictures which has become an epidemic in Hollywood. If you have no special warm spot in your heart for talkies, you may come away from this one with a germ of enthusiasm for them well planted in your innards; the story is thrilling and it is handled in a gripping fashion.

CO-ED WRITERS OFFERED $100 PRESS PRIZE

Contest Sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi Fraternity

Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism fraternity for women, is offering a cash prize of $100 to any woman who writes the best article on any phase of woman's work in journalism. Any woman is eligible who is registered in a school of journalism where there is a chapter of Theta Sigma Phi. The contestant may be a graduate, and under-graduate, or a special student.

In subject matter, the article may deal with any past, present or future work of women in journalism and also the history and achievements of journalism may be included. The article must be at least 1,500 words in length, but not more than 5,000 words, preferably about three thousand, so it will be possible to publish the articles in magazines.

All manuscripts must be typewritten—either double or triple space, on one side of the paper only. To each manuscript should be attached a sealed envelope containing the name, address, school, division of school, and the year of the contestant's graduation, the rules for contestants state. There must also be a statement signed by the head of the writer's school, authorizing the correctness of the information, and also a notation of any credit which has been received in a class for the article. The name of the author is not to appear on the manuscript nor on the outside of the envelope. The manuscripts should be mailed to Helen Jo Scott, Jay H. Neff Hall, Columbia, Missouri, by midnight April 30, 1929.

The National Council of Theta Sigma Phi will announce the award in the October, 1929, issue of the Matrix, Theta Sigma Phi magazine.

The committee in charge of this contest includes: Ruby A. Black, ex-student of the University and

REGENTS MOVE TO POSTPONE SALE OF LEASES

Sealed Bids on 103,000 Acres to Be Opened January 2

A move to suspend sale of oil and gas leases on University of Texas lands has been made by the Board of Regents, it was learned Thursday from the office of J. T. Robinson, state land commissioner. The 103,000 acres in Andrews, Winkler, Crane and Ward Counties advertised for sale on January 2 will be sold as advertised but no further leases will be on the market until January 16, Mr. Robinson said.

Sale of leases on 1,560,000 acres had been scheduled for several days throughout January but at the request of the Regents, dates between January 2 and 16 were moved up to the second half of the month by Mr. Robinson before publishing the sale dates. The action was taken to enable the regents and others interested to secure action by the Legislature, which convenes on January 8, to suspend further sales until satisfactory legislation regulating the sale of the leases could be secured.

Friends of the University have pointed out that sale of leases on such large acreage of University lands might result in overproduction of oil with another slump in crude oil prices. This would likely cut down materially the amount of bonus offered for future leases, it was feared.

Leases on the land are offered for sale to the highest bidder under competitive sealed bids. A bidder cannot lawfully bid on a portion of any of the numerous tracts of land offered but must apply for the whole of any particular tract. Each bid must be accompanied by $1 for the county clerk's recording fee and by the first year's rental of ten cents per acre and the amount of the bonus offered in addition thereto. The rental will be 25 cents per acre for the second year and 50 cents per acre for the third and 50 cents per acre for each of the third, fourth and fifth years during which the life of the leases shall continue. Failure to pay these rentals at the beginning of each year will subject the lease to cancellation.

The sealed bids will be opened at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, January 2, in the office of Mr. Robinson. Bidders and others interested will be allowed to be

COACHES LEAVE ON DUCK HUNT

The hunt is on! Coaches Cygus Littlefield, Bill James, Marty Karow, "Ox" Higgins and "Uncle Billy" Dish will leave early this morning for the swamps of Louisiana, where they will engage in a duck hunt, returning in time to honor the 1928 championship Steer football squad with a duck supper Wednesday night.

The duck supper has been an annual affair for the last several years, having been inaugurated by "Doc" Stewart when he was a coach here. The hunters go to a preserve in Louisiana, which is owned by Luther Stark, chairman of the Board of Regents.

Albert Searcy of the Beta Theta Pi house is spending the week-end in Brenham.

Mildred Tarver has returned to the Theta house after a visit in San Antonio.

present. The successful bidder for each of the numerous tracts ranging in size from 40 to 800 acres will be assigned the exclusive rights to explore for oil and gas on their respective tracts for five years. The annual rentals will cease when oil or gas is paying quantities shall be found. Thereafter, for the life of the leases, the lessee will be entitled to the exclusive right to operate, take out and market all the production so long as the area so produces and must pay to the University one eighth of the market price of the gross production.

17 say "Merry Xmas" with same Gift

Evanston, Ill. Dec. 31, 1927

Larus & Bro. Co. Richmond, Va.

Dear Sirs: I happen to be blest with a host of very fine friends, mostly "highbrows"—professors, scientists, etc. Generally at Christmas time they show their remembrance and all that with some little gift—a box of cigars, fishing tackle, a book—all that sort of thing.

Well, this Christmas many seemed to centre on tobacco. Now, mark you, these fellows have no communication with each other. They live in widely separated parts of the country, so it was no "put-up" joke on me or anything like that. But here came seventeen boxes of tobacco, and sixteen of them the familiar blue "Edgeworth!"

The seventeenth was a very flossy wainut, brass-trimmed box, but if I know tobacco, the contents were Edgeworth with a little perique in it. Just coincidence, perhaps, but a queer one. Am not an habitual smoker of Edgeworth, so they weren't catering to any special taste of mine. Looks like a consensus of opinion among the "highbrows"—or quite a batch of 'em—that Edgeworth is the stuff, the proper caper for a gift.

Sincerely yours, F. A. Fitzpatrick
