BASKETBALL "T'S" AWARDED TO NINE MEMBERS OF TEAM

Managerial "T" to Macatee and Qualified Letters
Also Awarded

"T's" have been awarded to nine members of the 1920 University of Texas basketball team. In addition there have been awarded one managerial "T" and four qualified "T's." These letters were recently awarded by the Athletic Council, and the names of those selected announced today.

The ones who receive letters are Robert Blaine of Houston, H. M. Russell of Pilot Point, Al DeViney of Austin, George Hill of Fort Worth, J. W. Duckett of Houston, George McCullough of Waco, Charles E. Barrett of Austin, C. W. Knebel of Waco and Paul Newman of Houston. The managerial "T" goes to George Macatee Jr. of Houston. Qualified "T's" were given to Charles Dittert of Pilot Point, Frank Martin of Goliad and Dave Barrow of Austin.

"Bob" Blaine is one of the veterans of the team and a former captain-elect, although he was unable to serve as head of the team. He played a good, strong game all season in spite of an injured head, which he received early in the play.

H. M. Russell, team captain, wound up his career on the court with the best playing he has yet demonstrated. He fought harder at his position of guard than ever before, in spite of the odds which continually seemed to be against his team. He also graced the list of casualties at one time during the season, but he recovered in time to face A. & M.

Al DeViney is another who is winning his letter for the last time. He is the real veteran of the team and has won his letter for the fourth time, serving as captain during at least one of his terms.

George Hill is receiving his first letter in basketball, but his second letter in Varsity sport since he is also a football "T" man. He has two more years to go with the University.

J. W. Duckett of Houston is a freshman who has the double honor of winning his letter and at the same time making the best 1 per cent on

THREE SECTIONS OF CACTUS NOW ON PRESS

Material for the coming issue of the Yearbook is rapidly being completed and rushed to the printers, according to "Zeke" Crutcher, editor-in-chief of the 1920 Cactus. Several sections of the book are already in the printers' hands.

Mr. Crutcher states that the Faculty section, the Administration section, and the Senior sections of the book are now being printed, while the view section will shortly be another finished product of the Yearbook.

When interviewed as to the Grind section of the Cactus, D. A. Simmons, editor of that department, smiled and said nothing. Mr. Simmons is from a well known department of the University, and he promises that particular prominence will be given the notorious deeds of his classmates.

In view of the fact that so much work has been completed, Bennett Woolley of the business end of the book states that issuance of the book around May 20 is assured.

FROSH GAME TONIGHT

Intersection Basketball Contests Are Postponed From This Afternoon.

Intersection freshman basketball games scheduled for this afternoon will be played tonight, beginning at 7 o'clock, instead of at 4 o'clock, as originally announced. This change is made necessary by the game which is to be played today between the Varsity nine and the San Antonio Aces. The two games which are changed are those between Section 2 and Section 3, and between Section 1 and Section 5. Unless otherwise ordered later, all games will be played according to the posted schedule.

FINAL GAME FOR INTRAMURAL CUP

Law and B. Hall First Floor
Teams Will Meet in Contest
For Championship

B. Hall First Floor and the Law Department team will meet Saturday in the Men's Gymnasium for what is to be the final in the intramural basketball season.

This game, which will be held at 4 o'clock, is to determine who shall be champion of the University, since the B. Hall five have already defeated Phi Gamma Delta and now needs to defeat the Law Department to be able to claim first honors. The game promises to be hard fought, and from present indications both teams are going to have to fight for the honors.

DEAN OF MISSOURI JOURNALISM SCHOOL WILL LECTURE HERE

Dean Walter Williams of the University of Missouri school of journalism has been engaged to lecture here on the night of April 6, according to an announcement by the committee on public lectures. The bringing of Dean Williams was at the suggestion of journalism students and members of the different organizations to which student writers belong. There is to be a joint meeting of the school of journalism students and Press Club members Monday night, March 22, for the purpose of discussing and making plans for the social entertainment of Dean Williams on the occasion of his visit.

Dean Williams is one of the most noted journalists in the country, and is also widely known as a platform speaker. The University of Missouri school of journalism is the oldest school of journalism in the United States. Mr. Williams has been dean of this school ever since it was established. Several years ago he made a trip around the world studying foreign newspapers.

The lecture planned for April 6 will be free. The subject will be announced later.

PHI ALPHA TAU IS REORGANIZED

Chapter First Organized During the Year 1916 Becomes Active Again

Phi Alpha Tau, honorary forensic fraternity, was re-organized a few days ago. This fraternity was first organized at Texas in the spring of 1916. At this time there was quite an active chapter here, but with the coming of the war only a few men remained.

Phi Alpha Tau is an honorary fraternity which has very high standing in the large colleges of the country, and has as its membership basis any kind of public speaking excellence. The lines of public speaking, whether it be oratory, debate, dramatics, or any other kind of public speaking, has nothing to do with the qualification for membership so long as there is excellence in the chosen line.

The membership of Phi Alpha Tau is approximately limited to sixteen, but this is not definitely marked. There are at present five active members in the chapter, and a number of others have been pledged to make up the membership. These pledges will soon be initiated and then the officers for the year will be elected.

Phi Alpha Tau has in other colleges been ranked in scholarship with the honorary fraternity Phi Beta Kappa. Although it is not well known in the University circles at the present, the members hope that with the reorganization the place which it deserves in the scholarship rank will be well known and it will be one of the most active and progressive of all the honorary fraternities.

PRESS CLUB WILL AID STUDENTS IN PUBLICITY WORK

McGill Gives Report on Plans to Tell People of the State of Class Contest

At a called meeting of the Press Club Monday night, an announcement was made of the joint meeting of the Press Club, School of Journalism and other student writing organizations, to be held March 22, for the purpose of discussing the entertainment to be given in honor of Dean Walter Williams of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, who is to lecture here April 6.

William L. McGill gave a report on the actions taken by the committee of freshmen and sophomores appointed to aid in correcting the distorted view given by most state papers of the recent inter-class fight. Mr. McGill reported that it was the desire of the committee and of the officials to give the people of Texas an exact statement of the affair, and to make generally clear, by history of past conflicts, the class spirit that has always prevailed. With the co-operation of the larger papers of the state, the committee has succeeded in getting out a correct report of the fight and a summary of the facts has been accepted by them. The great trouble now which is facing the committee lies in reaching the smaller papers of the state, the numerous small town weeklies and journals. The plan is for all journalists in the University, Press Club members, etc., to contribute articles giving the true facts and to send statements or personal letters to the editors of their home town papers, which will help to straighten out the misinterpretations. The committee will in the near future issue suggestions to correspondents and other writers who desire to aid in this important publicity campaign.

The social committee, which consists of Elizabeth Harcourt, Mallie Jones, and Jessie Mary Hill, was requested by President Buck Murray to bring up plans at the next meeting for some kind of a social event to be given in the near future.

Eastern Travels With Bercowich

(Editor's Note: Henry Bercowich was editor of the Longhorn Magazine in 1916-17. Mr. Bercowich did valuable work on other college publications while here, and has had extensive training on Austin and San Antonio newspapers.)

Special to the Texan.

Hongkong, China, Feb. 1 (By Mail) —Our ship for ordinary purposes carries a cargo of general merchandise, but since our arrival in Hong Kong we have taken on additional freight in the shape of canary birds and Cantonese chow dogs; now the old-timers in the crew are seeking a few monkeys to complete the menagerie. The American sailor has "spoiled" the East. His money flows like water, for he is the best paid sailorman in the world, and he buys what his fancy directs.

The canary birds will twitter and perhaps die before we get to Manila and the chow dogs will be sleeping underneath the bunks of the men in the fo'c'sle head before very long. In the American invasion of the East the sailorman plays an important part, his follies and foibles adding only to his general reputation for getting what he wants.

This is our second visit to Hong Kong within two weeks. We are now in drydock, awaiting repairs to the propeller, a blade of which broke off somewhere in the China Sea as we were making toward Saigon, a rice port in French Indo China. We were about eleven hours out of Hong Kong when the ship quivered and shook with tremor. "The Old Man," the seaman's appellation for the skipper, was out of his bunk in a jiffy, and in the midwatch—it happened at 2:37 in the morning, made his way back aft in the shaft alley, where he consulted with the chief engineer as to the extent of the damage. At first it was thought we had hit a rock, but the skipper knew his bearings were right, and it required a quick mind to

DELTA SIGMA RHO HOLDS INITIATION

Four Members Added to the Membership of Honorary
Forensic Society

Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity, held initiation Sunday night at the Driskill for the following men: Albert Sidney Johnson of Corsicana, Herbert Bowyer of Austin, C. E. Collidge of Fort Worth, a transfer from Vanderbilt, and Wayne R. Howell of Corsicana.

A banquet was enjoyed by the members present. Judge Spencer of the Commission of Appeals gave an interesting address.

Those present, including guests, were: Robert Fields, president; Jack Blaylock, Garland Day, R. C. Coffey, Ernest May, Owen Barker, R. L. Arterbery, T. V. Smith of the English Department, Dr. E. D. Shurter, chairman of the school of public speaking, and Judge Spencer of the Commission of Appeals.

ENGINEER-PRE-MED INTRAMURAL GAME TO BE CONTINUED

Since a great deal of dissatisfaction was shown at the Pre-Medic Engineer basketball game in that the game was called at the end of the first half with the Medics leading 4 to 1, the Intramural Board of Arbitration took the case under consideration and has now announced its decision. It decided that the Engineers were entitled to play the last half, since in that time the Pre-Med lead could be easily overcome. The following regulations were laid down as to the playing of that extra half.

The game is to be played Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Ten minutes of play will be allowed, and the score will be at the beginning the same as at the end of the first half during the game, 4 to 1. In case either team fails to appear, the game will be forfeited. If both teams fail to appear the score will remain permanently 4 to 1 in favor of the Pre-Meds. No appeal can be made from this decision.

PROMINENT MEN ATTEND SMOKER

University Masonic Club Enjoyed Social Evening at Cactus Tea Room

Members of the University Masonic Study Club enjoyed a smoker at the Cactus Tea Room last Friday night. By 8 o'clock practically all had arrived at the Tea Room, and an hour of introductions and conversation followed.

Refreshments were served in the nature of cigarettes and cigars for those who smoked, and plenty of sandwiches, and hot, steaming coffee for all. President William J. Hughes welcomed those who were there for the first time and turned the floor over to Ed Dunlay, who acted as toastmaster. The program then followed:

"The Value of Friendship," President R. E. Vinson.

"That the Future Holds," Judge S. P. Saddler.

"The University Masonic Study Club," Mr. F. M. Pfefflin.

"Young America's Duty," Judge Sonfield.

"Glimpses Into the Past," Judge J. R. Hamilton.

"Something Humorous," Mr. Joe H. Muenster.

"My Experiences in France as a Mason," Mr. Martin.

"Musings," Dr. W. A. Felsing.

Following this a number of interesting short talks were made by members of the club and guests present. At different times during the evening selections were rendered on the piano by W. R. Howell. The entire evening was enjoyed by all present and was voted a great success.

Among the guests present were President R. E. Vinson, Mr. R. A. Modrall, Judges S. P. Saddler and Sonfield of the Court of Civil Appeals, Judge Hamilton of the Court of Domestic Relations, Dr. Felsing, Mr. Joe H. Muenster, Judge Hare, Mr. P. J. McDonald, and Mr. F. M. Pfefflin. The remainder of the large number present was made up of University students.

SIGMA DELTA CHI MAKES SELECTION OF NEW MEMBERS

R. L. Murray and Everett H.
Jones Pledged to Professional Journalistic Fraternity

Raymond Livy Murray.
Everett H. Jones.

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, announces the pledging of Raymond Livy Murray of Port Arthur and Everett H. Jones of San Antonio. The selection of these men for membership was made after careful consideration of their records along the lines of professional journalism.

Mr. Murray is a member of The Texan staff and correspondent for Beaumont and Houston papers. He is also president of the University Press Club.

Mr. Jones is an issue editor on The Texan and a second-year student in the University.

Sigma Delta Chi is a national organization of college men who are professional journalists, with chapters located in many of the leading universities of the country.

The Texas chapter includes the names of many former students who have since made enviable records in the profession of journalism.

GLEE CLUB BEGINS ANNUAL TOUR SOON

Points in South Texas to Be Visited—Twenty-Seven Men Going

Varsity Glee Club will begin its annual tour on Saturday, March 20, going first to San Antonio, where the program will be rendered at the Brackenridge High School. From San Antonio stops will be made in the following order: Monday night, Bay City; Tuesday, Matagorda; Wednesday, Galveston; Thursday, Orange; Friday, Orange; Saturday, Port Arthur.

The final engagement will be in Houston, where the club will sing under the auspices of the Alumni Association. The club has never made but one other trip to South Texas, and that was quite a while ago. In former years it has always visited the larger cities of North and East Texas.

The following men will make the trip: Irvin W. Jones, director; William J. Park, manager; Neal Davis, C. R. Hooton, Fred K. Laurentz, Arlie McTea, Cletus O. Oakley, Herbert Poyner, Vernon Elledge, Walter Gohmert, Royal James, S. Errel King, William J. Park, Glenn Wilson, Harold Broome, William G. Camp, Ira Horton, Dick Lewis, Paul Pond, Tulane S. Smith, Steve S. Gardner, John D. Glecher, Ralph Homan, E. P. Hornaday, Donald H. Smith and Stewart J. Smith.

Entertaining Program.

The program which the Glee Club gave last Friday night at the Junior High School seems to indicate that the coming trip will be very successful. There was a large audience in spite of the competition of the Neal O'Brien minstrels. The audience was very appreciative and every number was encored as long as the director would allow encores to be given. The membership of the club includes such men as Mr. Hooton, who is a soloist of wide experience having traveled Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana during last summer with the Southwestern Glee Club quartet. The program which met with such enthusiasm last Friday night included songs, solos, and numbers by the quartet and stringed sextet. The programs which will be given on the trip will be similar to this one.

ATHENAEUM TO NAME EVANS CONTESTANTS

Representatives for the Evans prize contest in oratory will be selected at the meeting of the Athenaeum Literary Society tonight at 7 o'clock. All members desiring to try out for that contest must attend the meeting tonight.

An interesting program of debate and short speeches has been prepared for tonight's meeting, and all visitors will be cordially welcomed.

HEAVY LINE-UP TO MEET SAN ANTONIO IN CONTEST TODAY

Coach Billy Disch to Lead
Longhorns Into Battle Against Aces

About two-thirds of the lineup which will face the San Antonio Aces this afternoon will be made up of old letter men unless something unforeseen comes up which necessitates a change in the plans of Coach Disch. At catcher, it is probable that Grip Penn of Austin will start. He or Maxey Hart will be sure to go in at the beginning, and indications right now are that Grip will be first.

In the box, Gillett seems to be strongest for the honor of starting off. He will not be likely to finish out, but he ought to pitch the first two or three innings. Barry, Leisner, Ross and McNamara are all ready to follow him on the slab. The last two have been troubled by sore whips and they may not get into the game.

Old Men Playing. First base will be held down by Barry as long as he is out of the box. Whenever it becomes necessary to send him into the box, Bib Falk will be called out to do the thing up brown at the first sack.

Second base has last year's captain, George McCullough, to do its work. McCullough will probably be switched before things are all finished, for Sanford, so as to give the new man a try at what he can do. Either man is good for the place.

Nowlin is slated to start at third. Three other men will contest the place with him if given half a chance. They are Ball, Graves and Wickline. All of the four men are strong candidates for the place left open by the graduation of Jimmy Greer last year.

English at Short. Dudley English will be shifted, for this game at least, from his usual position in the field to shortstop, since Robertson is out with a sore arm. Johnson will be a good second man, in case Dudley goes out.

Left field goes to Maxey Moore. Center field is held down by Bib Falk, whenever he is not busy at first. Right field will be held by Ball, whenever he is not busy at third. Williford and Hart are two others who may be called on to show up what they can do in the way of catching flies.

With this line-up things ought to start out pretty well for the Longhorns. The San Antonio line-up has not been definitely announced, but the players will be selected from the list published in Sunday's Texan.

The game this afternoon will begin promptly at 4 o'clock.

DR. WHAREY SPEAKS AT Y. W. MEETING

Browning and Fundamentals of the Christian Religion
Are Discussed

Dr. J. B. Wharey of the school of English addressed the Young Women's Christian Association at its regular vesper service on "Browning and Certain Fundamentals of the Christian Religion."

The speaker opened his address with saying that Browning came at a time when Christianity was battling for its life, when higher criticism was coming into vogue. He further stated that at this time the poets were divided into three distinct groups in reference to their relation to the movements of the period.

Dr. Wharey pointed out that the poets of the period to which Browning belonged were of one of three groups—those unable to reconcile the old with the new, those who went back to a more remote period for inspiration, those who faced the new at the same time clinging to the old in an effort to adjust the old to the new.

Tennyson and Browning, he said, belong to the last group. The speaker then went on to say that one can not expect to have the poet's creed pointed out definitely, for his writings are of too imaginative a character. Especially is this true, said Dr. Wharey, of the works of Browning, which were mostly dramatic works featuring the dramatic monologue. An example of this was the "Last Duchess," where the poet leaves him-

FREE THINKERS.

Are all men with new ideas radicals? History discloses to us the fact that men of all ages have styled the individuals with new ideals and thought as radicals. In the present era, there are so many anarchistic movements and plottings against stable governments that all men have become prone to look upon the man with ideas which happen to be slightly unconventional in the same class as those who seek to destroy the existing government. Individuals may have extremely liberal views upon a matter, and for this reason be styled a radical or bolshevist because he dares to think differently. Destroys the radical and the cause of liberalism may be lost for tomorrow. A certain well known writer recently defined the liberals of today as the radicals of yesterday.

This is particularly true in the colleges of the country today where the great centers of learning are centered. One of the great functions of such institutions is to teach men to think for themselves and to depart from the ruts. The radicals and the theorists never are practical because their ideas are too ethereal and fantastic, but they are indispensable to the welfare and advancement of any nation. The great body of men are sane, but content to follow the old way of doing things. It is with the advanced thinkers of the age that the new reforms originate, not as a complete entity but as the skeleton upon which the practical body politic will one day adopt in a modified form. No community can tolerate anarchists, but the moment it begins to ostracize the man with the new ideas, and to assume intolerance toward new thought, it has begun to revert to the medievalism and bigotry, the curse of the ages.—The Daily Californian.

MIDNIGHT MAUNDERINGS

By Buck

This is about the time of the year when you realize that the ten weeks of a term make up an incredibly short time.

This great column feels a hesitancy about wrangling either with the American or the Forum, but in view of ye scribe's present intention to go out into the frigid, heartless world in June to earn a poor but Irish living, he must vehemently protest against his grave philosophy being reprinted as was done last week. Certain to injure his earning capacity.

Anti-blood movement is vociferously endorsed by every frat in the University, we learn. The ladies remain modestly silent.

A new novel by Basil King is "The Wild Olive." That's not the one I know.

Maxims of a campus bum: He travels fastest who travels alone, unless the party of the second part is a good She-martian with a car.

Farmer's telegram to his friend: "If you need any mules, don't forget me." A certain journalistically inclined J. A., studying this phrase in logic, could see nothing wrong with the sentence. He was eminently correct, in his case.

It is respectfully and with furious enthusiasm urged that the secret service department in the Library be provided with a lookout post—some sort of a crow's nest swung from the beams.

That uptown, Fifth-avenue looking visitor (the one that cut such a wide, blood-red swath in the senior law class) certainly ran up a high score at Hillyer's while here. Sam was admittedly down.

There will be no more of the Wandering Beauties Contest. The faculty continues its policy of disregarding a joke, and the contestants are about to get into trouble. O Regulation, what crimes are committed in thy name!

Firing Line, written by Sumdam Martyr, asserts in a flattering way that the Maunderer's insipid humor is "like old beer." Very refreshing sort of humor, I'll have you know.

Don't know who all will get amputated from dear old varsity within the next few days or weeks, but, whoever they are, we bid them their first farewell. (You've heard of last, fond farewells, but this kind is something out of the ordinary).

Forecast for today: Unusual activity in regard to inspection of hitherto unused books. Beginning of a fateful, fitful, fearful race against time, with six days to go.

The exhibition of interpretative dancing scheduled to take place in the Woman's Gym last night (for coeds only) was postponed. There was a neat notice on the door saying that the dancing was postponed "on account of the cold weather." Sounds interesting.

How many know where this Leap Year business got started? It is traced, of course, in a legal way, by statutes and laws, whereby one finds that in 1228 a law was passed in Scotland which provided that each Leap Year a maid might bespeak the man of her choice, and if he should refuse to take her to wife he was to be "mulcted one pound," to be paid the lady. His only defense was that he was married or engaged to another woman. If that law were in effect here today, some of the good souls would make a fortune.

Justice and equity compels the additional statement that a number of big, old, ugly boys in this great institution of more expensive education might safely live in ignorance of the above law. It would never cost them a cent.

Disappointment: That feeling of misery you have when you are aware of a desire to sneeze and find you can't.

Disgust: The acute mental disorder which rushes over you when you stay out until 1 a. m. in order that your roomie will have the bed warm for you, and then get home to find that he hasn't even come in yet.

Shove off, Jack.

FIRING LINE

"TO THE SCRAP-PILE."

If allowed space, I would certainly like to write a word of heartfelt commendation for the writer of Friday's Firing Line who took occasion to turn his heavy artillery upon the pathetic articles inflicted at various intervals upon Daily Texan readers under the somewhat appropriate title of "Scraps." I sincerely believe that the writer expressed the opinion of a large majority of the Daily Texan's clientele when he declared that such articles were detrimental to the Daily Texan's general tone.

Far be it from me to criticize some budding Mary Roberts Rinehart or embryo Mrs. Horace Greely, but I believe when the welfare of our college publication is endangered by the publication of such pitifully banal stuff as Scraps, that it is high time some part of the student body spoke out against it. It does not take a veteran to see that such feeble efforts as we usually read beneath the title Scraps (if we really do read them) serve in no way to increase the value of the Daily Texan's contents. Even though it is not news, however, we might excuse it if it contained a tenth of the subtle humor, the pleasing originality, or the true philosophy which we enjoy in Midnight Maunderings. I have often thought, when observing Buck's column and Scraps side by side, that such a page-mate was poor compliment to the author of the first.

In spite of the fact, that while perusing Scraps we occasionally caught sight of which might be actually considered as true gleams of journalistic ability, we heartily believe that it is the sentiment of the Varsity student body, that until these faint gleams develop into real lights, it would be an improvement for the Daily Texan to cease publishing them.

If the Daily Texan desired to run a comic supplement on Sunday, Scraps would be the most appropriate material possible, but as the supplement is omitted, we feel certain that Scraps could be dispensed with. Already a live, up-to-date college sheet, (in spite of the undesired and little noticed opinion of its poorest rival, "Austin's Very Best Sunday Morning Newspaper") the Daily Texan could be infinitely improved if these sad attempts at humor known as Scraps would be barred from its columns.

Mr. Editor, don't you think we have been punished sufficiently? We are certain that you have long since discerned the fact that Scraps was unworthy of publication and that you have been merely waiting the expression of student opinion, before acting.

In conclusion, we will state, that we honestly believe that with a few years' additional apprenticeship and earnest study (all to be done in private) the esteemed authoress of Scraps will have made sufficient advancement to warrant offering her journalistic wares as something worth reading. Be that as it may, our dictum, for the present at least, is "To the scrap-heap with Scraps!"

TEXAN READER.

IN SUPPORT OF SCRAPS.

I wonder whether "scores" of students are moved to protest by the voluminous inanity of Scraps or by resentment at a too persistent exposure of their own foibles. In either case, may I respectfully suggest that they ignore Scraps and peruse the ads? Grumblers who struggle in vain to comprehend the feminine terms employed can, of course, leave such reading matter to those of us who find it useful in whiling away an hour in Government 1.

But perhaps they pine for the excellent news that these "inane personal outbreaks" exclude. Presumably, those items that are printed are more interesting than those excluded—except in the case of Midnight Maunderings. Let us choose at random from Saturday's paper. An item on the first page announces to an expectant world the startling fact that the faculty will use the Y pool tables. Yet Protest maintains that news less interesting than this should be printed in preference to Scraps. Again, on the last page, an item urges more sensible shoes for women. When, however, the same matter of dress reform is advocated, in a witty and appealing manner, in an essay on the Venus de Milo and modern dress, Protest and his friends are filled with righteous indignation at the exclusion of real news.

Knox-Rogan.

One of the most beautiful of home weddings was solemnized Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Judge and Mrs. Charles A. Rogan, when their daughter, Miss Mary Lou Rogan, became the bride of Warren Penn Knox of San Antonio. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. Frank Smith of San Antonio, in the presence of a large group of friends of the young people.

The decorations were very elaborate and beautiful for the occasion. In the hall were white Killarney roses and smilax. In the library and dining room the same color effect was carried out, with chandeliers draped with maline and smilax, softening the glow of the electric lights. Candles in the handsome candelabra added to the beauty of the bridal scene. The altar as a canopy of smilax and white carnations in American beauty baskets. To the sound of wedding music played by Miss Anne Garrison, with violin accompaniment by Palmer Throop, the bride appeared on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Just before the bride came Mrs. W. S. Freeman of San Antonio sang Cadman's "At Dawning." During the ceremony the music of "The Swan" was softly played by piano and violin.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Knox left for their home in San Antonio, where a furnished bungalow awaits them. The bride's going away suit was a modist spring model coat suit with accessories to correspond. A corsage of roses was pretty worn with it. The wedding bouquet tossed by the bride as she departed was caught by Miss Ruth Robbins. The bride is the attractive daughter of Judge and Mrs. Rogan and was reared in Austin. She graduated at the Austin High School and the University of Texas. She is an Alpha Delta Pi, and has been teacher of Spanish in the Main Avenue High School of San Antonio.

The bridegroom, Warren Penn Knox, is a graduate of New Hampshire State College, his home being in Madbury, N. H. During the war he was a first lieutenant in the Fourteenth Cavalry, Fort Sam Houston. He is now connected with the Chamber of Commerce in San Antonio.

Complimenting Miss Rogan.

The Alpha Delta Pi Alumnae Club entertained in honor of Miss Mary Lou Rogan, their bride member, with a very delightful miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Gordon Wilcox on Friday afternoon. Decorations were very attractive in pink and white, this dainty color scheme being carried out in the ice course of brick ice cream and angel food squares. On each plate was a nosegay of pink sweet peas and violets, an exquisite corsage of these flowers being reserved for the bride-elect. The guests of the club were the honoree, Miss Mary Lou Rogan; her mother, Mrs. Charles Rogan, and sisters, Misses Octavia and Mildred Rogan, and Mrs. Freeman of San Antonio, a house guest of the Rogans.

EIGHT MEN APPLY FOR
Y. M. C. A. SCHOLARSHIP

Mr. T. W. Currie of the Y. M. C. A. stated yesterday that eight applications have been made for scholarships out of the fund recently set aside by the "Y" for the benefit of ex-service men. Aside from these eight, about twelve applications are in process of execution and lack only the filling out of the required blank to make them final.

The courses preferred by the applicants, as indicated by these applications, include. One bookkeeping, one pedagogy, one stenography, one general education, one poultry raising, one automobile school, one mechanic, and one commercial. It is interesting to note that the applicant for the "poultry-raising" course was a negro, whose present avocation is that of a shoe repairer.

Besides several local applications, two applications have been received from Georgetown for scholarships in the collegiate fund.

IMPROVEMENTS ON CAMPUS.

Several small improvements have been made on the campus of late. A shack behind the cafe is being moved to a less conspicuous place, and it will be used for the purpose of storing wood and coal.

the honor roll for the fall term grades.

George McCullough is a three-letter man who is finishing his second year on the basketball team. He is one of the best guards in the state, and he deserves to be counted among the all-state players. This is his last year with Varsity, since he graduates in June.

Charles Barrett is another freshman who distinguished himself. He always had to go up against men who were much heavier than he, but he always made good. His best asset is speed, and he frequently managed to get away from opposing guards because of his great ability to dribble down the court while going at full tilt.

C. W. Knebel is a newcomer to Varsity circles who made a big reputation for himself with the Waco High School basketball team while he was in that institution. He lived up to his reputation here, and more than once his ability to shoot the goals at the necessary moment proved to be the winning factor in a doubtful game.

Paul Newman went out of the game during the second A. & M. game with a sprained knee, and he had to stay out the rest of the season. He did enough work during the first part, however, to secure his position. He was the one who was responsible for the comeback that brought the Longhorns within one point of the Farmers in the first game at Austin.

Of the second string men, the Dittert brothers are former letter men. Charles Dittert would have made his letter again this time if it had not been for the flu, which took him under about the middle of the season. He was hitting a strong stride when he took sick. Frank Martin is new to the University, but in what games he did get into he showed up well. Dave Barrow is a football man, but this is the first time he has ever got into action on the basketball court for Varsity.

ALL SAINTS CHAPELSpecial Program to Be Observed
With Prominent Speakers Participating

Sunday, March 14, has been designated as Christian Education Day in the diocese of Texas, and the day will have special significance for All Saints Chapel, which is the University Episcopal Church for the State University. On that day the Rev. W. Bertrand Stevens, rector of St. Mark's Church, San Antonio, will be the special preacher at All Saints Chapel. Special mention will be made of the interests and work of the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., which is the only university entirely under the control and management of the Episcopal Church. Of Sewanee the late President Roosevelt said: "It should become a University of all America." Further, at present the diocese of Texas of the Episcopal Church is making large plans for the development of work at the centers of education, of which Austin is one.

On that Sunday there will also be a corporate communion of the Episcopal members of the University at 7:30 in the morning. This service will be followed by a breakfast in the Gregg Memorial Parish House. Dr. Stevens will preach at the 11 o'clock service and again in the evening, and will give an address to the Students' Sunday Club at 4:30, the topic being "The Reformation Period in the English Church." Special attention will be given to the relation of Henry VIII to the movement. A most interesting address and discussion will be had. It is hoped that large numbers of the Episcopal students will be present at all these services and make the day a red letter day in the history of the parish.

Other visitors to All Saints Chapel during this term will include the Rt. Rev. W. T. Capers, D. D., Bishop of West Texas, and the Rt. Rev. Harry T. Moore, D. D., Bishop coadjutor of Dallas.

On the evening of Sunday, April 18, the Rt. Rev. G. H. Kinsolving, D. D., will administer the rite of confirmation in All Saints. Names of those who wish to be included in the class should be given to the rector as soon as possible.

DEAN TAYLOR RECUPERATING.

Dean T. U. Taylor of the Engineering Department is now back in his office after a recent operation for appendicitis. Dean Taylor came back last Friday, and will spend from a half hour to an hour in his office each day until he has fully recuperated. It is expected that within the week he will be able to take over the full duties of his office.

COUNTY TOURNAMENT HERE.

Today at 2 o'clock finals in the Travis County Interscholastic Basketball Tournament will be held in the Men's Gymnasium. Two schools will be represented, Pflugerville and Creedmoor. These two schools have won out so far in their contests with the other schools of the county, and they now meet to determine which one shall have the right to claim the county championship. Finals will be held in four classes—senior boys, junior boys, senior girls and junior girls. A small admission fee will be charged, which will go to the benefit of Travis County interscholastic athletics.

DR. WHAREY SPEAKS

self entirely out of the poem and lets the duke tell his story.

Browning's Works.

In speaking of Browning's works, Dr. Wharey stated that the works of Browning divide themselves into three groups—the objective, the semi-personal, and the frankly personal. Dr. Wharey next discussed the three fundamentals of the Christian religion as they are illustrated in the works of Browning and as they reflect upon that poet's belief.

The speaker said that these fundamentals, as they are revealed in the poems of the author under discussion, are: The existence of a God and the kind of God in whom Browning believed his attitude toward Christ, and his attitude toward the life after this.

Dr. Wharey illustrated each of these points with concrete examples from the poet's works. He commented that the God whom Browning worshiped was a God of omnipotence, of omniscience, and above all, of love. This is illustrated, said Dr. Wharey, in his "Christmas Eve" and in his "Saul."

His next point was that Browning believed in Christ and the story of incarnation. He accepted, the speaker said, the story of Christ as satisfying his reason, and in Christ he saw the revelation of God's love.

A Future Life.

The third fundamental of Browning's belief as it is illustrated in his poetry, is his belief in a future life. He had, said Dr. Wharey, an idea of a series of endless existences, a life which is to complete this fragmentary life which we now live. The speaker further developed the thought that Browning did not have orthodox faith in the matter of eternal punishment, but that he rather thought that what God once blessed could never be accursed. The speaker closed his address by saying that Browning appreciated the heinousness of sin, and that above all he hated failure which consisted in not trying at all.

The devotions of the evening were led by Margaret Carter of Galveston, while Miss Tommie Woolsey, accompanied by Frances Mike, rendered a vocal solo.

know what to do. Without even stopping the engines, our course was changed, and we limped back into port, where we are now at the head of Causeway Bay, getting "fixed up."

Wiseacres around here say that only a very few years ago Chinese pirates waged warfare up and won the bay, and outside on the ocean against unsuspecting and unprotected craft. But these days are gone, although the Chinese "junks," curious looking seaboats, play up and down.

Our cargo is being shifted from the aft holds to lighters on the port side. On these lighters can be seen a most interesting phase of Chinese river life. Here men and women live and die, are born and are brought up. Here they cook their food and find their whole existence. As I write there are about a half dozen lighters alongside and if the truth were told possibly a hundred or two men and women could be found living on board in the most out of the way corners imaginable.

As we look over the side we watch the Chinese women brew amazing concoctions of food, mostly rice and greens. This woman has her babe tied to her back papoose fashion, and while she runs around the deck, bent on household duties, the little one is blissfully asleep. Dirty, ill-kept children look aloft or scurry up the masts crying for "kumshore," a Chinese word for "lagniappe." Hungry children swarm over our docks, thronging around the cook's galley, begging for "chow." On shore there is a veritable multitude of Chinese coolies traveling back and forth, chanting their weird songs as they pack heavy loads.

In Shanghai we saw individual coolies carry two 700 pound barrels for long distances. The barrels were balanced at the ends of a long bamboo stick of sufficient strength to support the weights strung from heavy ropes. Occasionally four men would pick up crated pianos, or similar weights. It is said that the slightest introduction of machinery throws hundreds of men out of work, and that new ideas are introduced sparingly. There is, however, much
