NICHOLSON AND BENEDICT ON FETE PROGRAM

Newman Club Visitors Entertained at Banquet

GUESTS AT TEA

Dance Held at K. C. Hall Friday Night

The principal speakers at the banquet Saturday night at the Driskill Hotel in honor of the visiting delegates to the convention of the Newman Clubs of the Gulf States were Dr. Ann Nicholson of Washington, D. C., and President H. Y. Benedict of the University.

Dr. Ann Nicholson has been actively connected with the National Council of Catholic Women at Washington for the past several years, and is active in educational work, particularly along the western coast.

The program for the banquet was as follows: Invocation, the Rev. Joseph Burke, C.S.C., Ph.D., president of St. Edwards; introductory, the Rev. Wm. F. Blakeslee, chaplain of the Texas Newman Club; toastmaster, William M. Ryan, president of the Texas Newman Club; chorus, "Lullaby," "Our Clock," Newman Hall Glee Club; "The Texas Newman Club," Theodore Weiss; vocal solo, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" (Saints), Xenia Bell; the alumni, J. Austin Hunter, president of the Texas Newman Club in '24.

Address, Dr. Benedict; vocal solo, (a) "Rain," (b) "Icicle," Mrs. J. E. Callahan; "Civic Responsibilities of College Graduates," Miss Ann Nicholson, Ph.D., field representative of the National Council of Catholic Women; chorus, "The Eyes of Texas," Newman Hall Glee Club; benediction, the Rev. Wm. J. Cartwright, C.S.P., pastor of St. Austin's Chapel.

Visiting delegates to the convention of the Gulf States Province of Newman Clubs, which is being held in Austin through today and which opened Thursday, were welcomed to Austin by an informal reception in both Newman Hall and the Newman Club rooms Thursday.

Business sessions were held Friday and Saturday mornings from 9 to 12 o'clock, and on Friday and Saturday afternoons from 2 until 4 o'clock.

Friday afternoon the visiting delegates were guests of honor at a tea given at the Country Club. Ladies of the Auxiliary, officers of the province and officers of the local club composed the receiving line. Approximately two hundred guests called during the afternoon.

An informal dance at K. C. Hall on Friday from 9 to 12 o'clock was given in honor of the visitors. The hall was decorated in a profusion of rainbow colors. Buda Boyles' orchestra furnished music for the occasion. A novel ballroom dance added to the enjoyment of the affair.

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock Carlos E. Castaneda, Latin-American librarian, conducted a tour through the University grounds.

Saturday night at 7 o'clock at the Driskill Hotel, a banquet was given as the climax of the social affairs.

A special mass at St. Austin's chapel at 8:30 o'clock, followed by communion breakfast at the Driskill Hotel, concluded the activities of entertainment by the local club for the second annual Gulf States Province convention.

UDDEN SPEAKS TO GEOLOGY SOCIETY

Dr. J. A. Udden, director of the Bureau of Economic Geology, spoke on "The Structures Favorable for the Accumulation of Oil" at the regular meeting of the Southwestern Geological Society Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Main Building.

During the business session, a committee was appointed to plan a program number which the Southwestern Geological Society will give at the annual meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, which meets in Fort Worth, March 28, 29, and 30, according to R. H. Cuyler, president of the society.

Dean Moore Suggests Change in Dance Hours

Acting upon a suggestion signed by various house-mothers and owners of boarding houses for women students, and upon personal convictions, V. I. Moore, dean of men, proposes to suggest to the social calendar committee a resolution that article 121 of the handbook of the Students' Association be so altered that University dances be set at a time to end at an earlier hour.

"The proposal will state that Saturday night dances will be from 8 to 11 o'clock rather than from 9 to 12, and organization dances on Friday nights from 8 to 12 o'clock rather than from 9 to 1," said Dean Moore.

There is, however, no intention on the part of any authority or faculty member to attempt to force such action, which is merely a matter of personal suggestion based on the petition of the house mothers. In the event that the social calendar committee should adopt such a resolution, it then would have to be referred to the Students' Assembly for adoption.

"The only proper way to cope with social affairs, as well as others, is to refer the matter in question to the proper authority, which is the Students' Assembly through the social calendar committee," Dean Moore stated.

The reasons for the suggestion stated by the house mothers are that dances which now end at 12 and 1 o'clock disrupt harmony among the students both before and after the dances. The minority of students that attend the affairs can hardly accomplish any study before the dances, and tend to disturb the majority who do not go. Sleep is interfered with by those returning from the dances, and this tends to interfere with studies on the following days.

Dean Moore's reasons include those stated by the house mothers, and, in addition, "the detriment incurred on the students by the loss of sleep, and 'night owl' habit that is always present in college life, and the difficulty in securing chaperons."

"It is really a good plan to institute the daylight-saving plan on Fridays and Saturdays here," Dean Moore said.

EXTENSION DEAN AT SCHOOL DEDICATION

Cactus Beauties on Screen at Majestic

Cactus beauties may now see themselves glide across the silver screen at the Majestic theater. The news reel pictures were taken by Pathe and were purchased from this company by the management of the Majestic theater. This theater usually shows only Paramount News but arranged the special purchase from Pathe.

The picture consists of six scenes which are being released nationally by Pathe. The beauty candidates were filmed before the Littlefield dormitory and on the grounds of the old Perry estate. C. O. Lee was the photographer. He divided the girls into three groups, blondes, brunettes, and red-heads. A little comedy is injected when one of the girls stubs her toe in little girl fashion.

RUSK WINS IN SECOND ROUND OF CONTESTS

Spain and Parsons Beat Mogford And Kacir

SERIES DELAYED

Must Finish Schedule Before Holiday Season

August O. Spain and Homer L. Parsons, representing the Rusk Literary Society, Saturday night defeated George Kacir and Linville Mogford of the Hogg Debating Club on the question, "Resolved That Parliamentary Form of Government Is Superior to the Presidential Form." Spain and Parsons took the negative side of the question, while the Hogg representatives sought to uphold the resolution as stated.

The debate was held in Rusk Hall in the Law Building with S. O. Green, Robert B. Renfro, and George W. Parker, all middle law students acting as judges. Spain was picked as the best individual speaker of the evening.

The victory Saturday night gives the Rusk a record of one win and one defeat. The Athenaeum speakers have a clean slate so far, having registered victories over the Rusk negative and the Hogg affirmative teams.

Illness of a number of the debaters on the different teams has slowed up the schedule. The Rusk affirmative team composed of Ben Davis and Charles Harris has been unable to compete because Davis has been on the sick list the past week.

The rules of the intersociety debates require that the contests of the second round be held between December 15 and 18. The complete program for the week is as follows: Speakers affirmative versus Athenaeum negative, Monday night, December 17, in the Athenaeum Hall, Law Building; Speakers negative versus Athenaeum affirmative Tuesday night, December 18, at the Texas Bible Chair; Rusk affirmative versus Hogg negative Tuesday night, December 18, meeting place to be announced.

The team having the highest standing at the end of the series will receive the Wroe cup, annual award to the winner of the contests.

A brief social meeting will precede the lecture.

GRADUATE CLUB POSTPONES MEET

The meeting of the Graduate Club scheduled for Saturday was postponed until after the holidays, according to Dr. J. O. Marberry of the director of extension teaching bureau.

At the meeting after Christmas, Dr. Marberry will speak on "Extension Teaching as Viewed by the Student."

CONTENTS OF RARE PAPERS PRESERVED BY PHOTOSTAT

Making possible the acquisition of many manuscripts, documents, letters and books whose rarity causes them to be hoarded by their original owners, and the preservation of many torn and fragile papers, the photostat machine in the library of the University is of invaluable aid to the library staff, according to E. W. Winkler, librarian. With the photostat, exact copies can be made of papers which cannot be secured by the library as permanent property. The photostat was purchased by the library about four years ago and it is in almost constant use. It is operated in the basement of the library building by Edwin Crowell of Cameron, University sophomore. The machine resembles a huge camera both in appearance and in its operation. It photographs the object placed beneath the lens in much the same way in which a camera photographs, but the first print made from the original appears in white on black, and a second exposure is necessary to secure the positive copy in black on white.

Library Books Out For Holidays to Be Checked Dec. 21-22

Books taken out of the Library for reading during the holidays must be signed for or renewed on December 21 or 22, according to an announcement by E. W. Winkler, librarian.

The Library will remain open from 8 to 5 o'clock on all days except Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Day, and the afternoon before New Year's Day.

ROGERS SPEAKS ON P. T. WORK AT 'Y' MONDAY

Lecture Delivered to Men and Women Staffs

HEALTH DIRECTOR

Will Address Kiwanis At Noon Luncheon Monday

The second of a series of two talks on health subject will be delivered by James E. Rogers, director of the National Health Service of New York, in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening. The talk will be for the benefit of the instruction staffs both men and women of the University and Austin High School and will deal with problems relating to physical training work.

Monday at noon Mr. Rogers will speak to the Austin Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon. He is attempting to arouse interest in the passage of a bill that will make teaching of physical training in the schools compulsory.

In his talk Saturday to students majoring in physical education, Rogers stated that sport for sportsman's sake should be the goal of all true followers of sport. He made his first talk in room 201 Law Building. A large number of students and faculty members were in attendance.

Mr. Rogers also stated that physical education concerned health, play, athletics, and leisure, in his talk Saturday. He stressed the fact that there is not enough common ground, or a close medium of contact, between the general faculty and physical education staffs and advocated a remedy for this situation.

The demand for physical education instructors exceeds the supply, continued Mr. Rogers, mentioning the fact that 35 states have laws making physical training compulsory in the schools.

STEERS RESUME WORK AFTER RATTLER CLASH

Walker Sends
Basketsteers
Through Paces

Yesterday was not a day of rest for the Steer cagers. In spite of their game Friday night, Coach Walker gave them one of the hardest workouts that they have had this year. After a preliminary limbering-up exercise, a stiff scrimmage was on hand for the regulars, with three and four teams getting into the fray, against a team composed of Brock, Camp, Rose, Looney and Wray.

Everybody seemed state, and weren't hitting the basket as often as a winning team should be able to do, but their defense was still working, and the scrimmaging teams had a hard time getting through to take shots at the basket. The teams were slow in getting started, but once they got "hot," the scrimmages got plenty fast and rough.

Walker was well pleased with the showing which his men made in their game Friday night and was speculating on what the outcome might have been had he left his starting five in 'till the finish, or had just alternated the five that started with the second five that got into the affair. The entire squad participated in the game, more for the purpose of seeing how the defense of the new men would stand up under fire.

With a week more of work before the holidays start, and two weeks of work after school reconvenes in January before the first conference tilt, Walker will have plenty of time to whip his men into shape for the opener with Baylor in Waco January 12. The first conference game for Austin will be with S. M. U. January 19.

Between the reconvening of classes January 3, and the first conference game January 12, it is probable that a non-conference game with some of the stronger teams from the other conferences in Texas will be billed. Walker would like to schedule a game with the strong Denton Normal quint. The Denton Eagles have whipped Baylor and S. M. U. this year, and the Texas mentor feels that a game with the Denton boys would be a good thing for his club, at any rate it would accustom them to tough opposition.

Walker has intimated that he will not cut his squad this year, but will retain the present number unless they drop out of their own accord. Walker has made a habit of never cutting his squads and for this reason a large number of experienced squadmen are back every year for his team.

TRACK WORK GOES ON WITH
COACH ABSENT75 Men Get Togs;
200 Expected for Spring Work

With Head Track Coach Clyde Littlefield out of town on a duck hunt, the early birds of the 1923 Steer track team have been going through light limbering-up exercises every afternoon on the Stadium track. Work started this week and Littlefield issued equipment to 75 men at that time, and more have been reporting daily. It is expected that at least 200 will be out for the regular track work next spring.

This spring will see Texas under the tutelage of Coach Littlefield and the leadership of Captain Leo Baldwin fighting to recapture the track championship, an honor which was snatched from their grasp last season by a great Rice team. Prospects right now are fair to medium, with the outlook in some events exceedingly bright, and the prospects in others being rather dim.

The outcome of the year will depend on the development of the men who will come up from the frosh squad, and old squadmen who have not been able to hit their stride in years past.

The work before the Christmas holidays has been and will continue to be very light.

Real track work will start after the holidays and get harder until the opening of the track season in the south with the Texas Relays, and continuing on to the conference meet.

RAZORBACKS WIN
INITIAL GAMES

Special to The Daily Texan

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 15.—The Arkansas Porkers made a clean sweep of their two-game series with the Oklahoma Teachers when they swamped the visitors tonight 54-28. As in last night's battle, the outcome of the game was never in doubt, and the Razorbacks had things their own way from the start. Having the advantage in height, weight and experience, the locals literally ran away with the teachers.

FORT WORTH, Dec. 15.—Football fans who journey to Fort Worth December 29 to see the tilt between the all-star team composed of members of the Southwestern Conference and the team made up of stars from the T.I.A.A., Texas Conference, and independent schools of the section, will have an opportunity to see a "mythical" eleven perform. Almost all of the Southwestern stars were selected for all-conference positions, five of them being captains of teams during the past season.

picked Rufus King, Charlton Fincher, Tommy Hughes, Ross Love, Herschel Burgess, and Merlin Toller for all-conference honors.

Eagles Meet
Port Arthur
In League
Finals

Port Arthur vs. Abilene Eagles! It's all over but the shouting and weeping. One more game, and the Texas State Interscholastic League football race will be ended for the year 1922. Last September some 200 high schools started the fight for the title and Waco was favored to win, but Corsicana whipped them, and then Cleburne downed Corsicana. Abilene then gave Cleburne a good licking to get into the finals.

While Abilene was whipping everything in north and west Texas, Port Arthur was having a big time down on the gulf and in central Texas. Through forfeiture, ineligibility and hard luck, the rest of the teams down there were eliminated, and Port Arthur bested Main Avenue of San Antonio in a coin flipping match, and then got the best of Marshall in a 0-0 tie by penetrating the Mavericks' 20-yard line the largest number of times.

The two teams meet this weekend. Abilene is picked to win, and they should. They have the best record, the best team, and should give the gulf coast boys a neat wallop. The outcome may be a bit different, if the Port Arthur luck lasts long enough.

3 TEXAS GRID STARS ON ALL-WEST ELEVEN

SPORT TALK

By BOB CANTRELL
Texas Sports Editor

The opener Friday night between the Steers and Rattlers gave every member of both squads a chance to break into the line-up and at the same time gave the score-keepers a few things to think about. When 25 men get in any game, we don't care what kind it is, the keeping up with the substitutes is a bigger job than keeping up with the play. Walker has an abundance of material, and he will use all the men he can in every game, something which doesn't speak of an easy time for the scorers.

Holly Brock appears to be making an ideal captain. The Steer forward takes an interest in every man on the squad, and lately has been taking time to show the beginners the error of their ways, and help them remedy their faults. Acts like this on the part of Holly makes him better liked by every member of the squad, something which goes a long way towards retaining good teamwork and co-operation between the squad and coaching staff. Dissension among the members of a squad sooner or later affects the relations between the squad and the coach.

The fact that Coach Walker doesn't cut his squad has given him one of the biggest squads this year in the history of Texas basketball. Practically all of this year's group were members of last year's squad. Walker says that you can never tell when a sub will turn into the best court star around. He has several men on the squad that will come around and make great basketball stars, and it is men like this that make the cage teams of next year, and the next.

The showing of Pint Webb in Friday night's clash came as a surprise to many of the followers of the court game. Webb started out last year, but dropped the work after going out for some time, but this year he started out again, and it looks like somebody will have to get up and step to keep the little man from robbing them of their place. The little fellow gives his best in everything that he attempts.

Well, Port Arthur and Abilene will meet for the state Interscholastic League football title the last part of next week. Abilene outscored her opponents, while Port Arthur outflipped one Main Avenue, San Antonio, and beat the other, Marshall, when she got inside the 20-yard line more times. It looks like Abilene to us for the state champions, but then Port Arthur's luck may hold out—who knows? Personally, we hope it doesn't. The Abilene boys deserve the title; they've licked every team that has gone up against them, while Port Arthur—well, the records speak for themselves.

The ducks must be having a great time over in Louisiana while Coaches Littlefield, James, Karow, Higgins and Disch are all over there trying to bag enough ducks to supply the members of the 1928 Steer grid squad a duck supper. All five of these tria are dangerous shots—it's dangerous to be any ways close to them—and the poor ducks just can't help coming close to hear Marty sing.

Arkansas started her basketball season off with a 54-34 win over the Northeast Oklahoma Teachers' College Friday night, and took their second step last night with a win over the same club. The Porkers have all of their offensive ability from last year back, and Rose, their big guard, was the only man whose loss might in any way hurt them, and Schmidt has a bunch of six-foot giants fighting it out for that position. Looks like a big time when Texas and Arkansas meet here along the first part of February.

Petty, Walker And Cowan Are Men Named

Three Texas grid stars will participate in the annual East-West star charity game to be played in San Francisco December 29. Red Petty, the Texas Aggies' great all-southwestern end, handsome Ramsome Walker, Texas Tech quarterback, and Cowan of Sul Ross, also a quarterback, have accepted invitations to play in the clash.

Petty was a unanimous choice of critics this year for all-conference honors and was given honorable mention for all-American honors by several eastern newspapers. His consistent play has been the talk of the conference for the past two years and he is certain to carry on the good work of Mann, Matthews, Hunt, and Sikes in last year's game.

Walker has for the last three years been the "big gun" in the Texas Tech attack. He is rated as one of the greatest backs in the southwest and his spectacular runs have sent many a thrill up the spines of grid fans of the state. He is big and fast and will probably give the Pacific coast fans a few things to talk about before the game is over.

Cowan, the mainstay of the Sul Ross Lobos for three seasons, has failed to score in only one of his club's games this year. Like Walker, he is big and fast and can plunge a line with terrific driving power.

Redman Hume, Southern Methodist's great back, was invited to show his wares to the fans of the far west but declined, fearing injuries that might keep him out of professional baseball. Bevo Beavers, Arkansas fullback, also refused an invitation in order that he might play with the southwestern all-stars against a similar aggregation from the Big Six in Dallas January 1.

The men picked so far are: ends, Petty, Texas A. & M.; Cruickshank, Olympic Club; Boren, Southern California; Ford, Olympic Club; Tackles, Sellman, Stanford; Tobin, St. Mary's; Dressel, Washington State; Carman, Utah; Guards, Robesky, Stanford; Diehl, Idaho; Farwick, West Coast Army; Centers, Granucci, Santa Clara; Vickers, Colorado Aggies; quarterbacks, Walker, Texas Tech; Cowan, Sul Ross; halfbacks, Simms, Stanford; Speicher, West Coast Army; Marcus, California; Horan, Washington State; fullbacks, Hoffman, Stanford; Allen, Olympic Club.

DALLAS READY FOR ALL-STAR GRID BATTLE

Squads Announced by Coaches for Big Charity Game

DALLAS, Dec. 15.—Plans are being pushed to completion for the football game here New Year's Day between an all-star team from the Big Six Conference and the Southwestern Conference. All arrangements have been completed, and the squads of both teams announced. Coach Bearg will arrive in Dallas December 26 with his team and will go through several workouts on Ownby Oval where the game will be played.

The all-star club from the Southwestern Conference will come to Dallas from Fort Worth, where it plays December 29. The Club in Fort Worth will have 19 men on it, while the club playing in Dallas will carry six more, or a total of 25 men.

Delay Action On Seating Problem at Gym

Nothing else has been done in regards to the seating situation of the Silents' gymnasium, and nothing will be done until the gymnasium is completed, and all the bleachers have been placed along the south side of the structure, according to Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, director of athletics. The official attendance at Friday night's game was 260, a crowd which practically filled the incomplete bleacher seats.

A plan of dividing the holders of blanket taxes, faculty season tickets and business men's tickets into seven equal groups, and each group to see one game is being considered by the athletic officials and a definite settlement of this situation may be expected within the next week or ten days. All non-conference games will be worked on the basis of "first come, first served," while a special plan will be used for the conference affairs.

CONKLIN MODELS OLD GLOBE THEATER

Henry Ernest Conklin, instructor in English, is completing a model of the old Globe theater in which the early Shakespearean plays were given. The model is made in such a way that it may be folded into flat parts, so that it may be packed away without breaking.

Mr. Conklin will take the model to the meeting of the Modern Language Association of America which meets in Toronto, Canada, December 27, 28, 29, where he will use it in reading his paper, "The 'Heavens' of the Globe—Notes and a Model." The model is a complete replica of the original, and a variety of materials have been used in its construction.

What Do You Know About—

By J. C. WATKINS

1. Boulder bill passed?
2. Ford's plane?
3. Vestris verdict?
4. Star dies?

A seven-year legislative fight is nearly over.

Boulder Dam bill, which provides for the great power and irrigation project on the Colorado River, passed the U. S. Senate Friday afternoon by a vote of 64 to 11.

In the Senate the bill entered its final legislative stage. It now goes back to the House for concurrence in Senate amendments, after which it will go to President Coolidge for his signature. The White House has already let it be known that the measure will receive the president's approval.

The project will cost $165,000,000.

"Flivver Plane Idea Abandoned by Ford," announces one of last night's headlines.

The motor magnate declared yesterday that he had abandoned his experiments with a light airplane which might be used as commonly as automobiles—because he believes it impractical at the time. He predicted, however, that the "flivver plane" would become a reality as soon as the public became sufficiently "air-minded" to insure its success.

"I think we can expect greater progress in the next ten years than we have seen in the last 25," said Mr. Ford. "Development will no doubt be seen in a combination of the lighter-than-air and heavier-than-air machines. I have thought for some time that wings might be put on our Zeppelins to good advantage."

Absence of discipline on the part of the crew was given as the chief cause of the heavy loss of life in the sinking of the Vestris last month, in the report issued by the committee of special inquiry into the disaster.

The United States inspector general absolved the steamboat inspection service of charges of failing to make complete examinations of the vessel before it left New York.

Theodore Roberts is dead. "The grand old man of the films"—stage and screen star—died at his home in Los Angeles Friday night at the age of 68. The thespian had been in poor health for the last five years, but was not seriously ill until stricken at the completion of a picture two weeks ago.

Roberts entered the silent drama early in his career, and was a member of the original Lasky company. He was the only actor to be granted a life contract.

Worse than influenza is this latest epidemic which is raging near Jefferson City, Missouri—spinal meningitis.

With the death yesterday of two more victims, the toll has been increased to eight. Several new cases also were reported in the epidemic region.

Payment of more than 94 million dollars was made the United States by the British government on the war debt account yesterday. Payment included $27,000,000 in principal, the balance being interest.

Great Britain now owes us only $4,453,000,000.

Possibility of all war debts being abolished is seen, with the discovery of a new and deadly gas, which would make war an international suicide.

Dr. Hilton Ira Jones, widely known research chemist, announced the discovery, and declared that the new gas caused instant death to any person who inhaled it.

Members of Kappa Kappa Gamma will have a formal dinner at the chapter house Sunday evening, and Monday will entertain their pledges with a Christmas tree.

Ruth Duncan of the Kappa Delta house is visiting in San Antonio for the week-end.

TWO-SIDED EDUCATION

Some summers ago, Mr. and Mrs. Taft spent a few days in a mountain camp. One evening the party stood on the shore of a beautiful lake and admired an astounding sunset. A little girl stood by Mrs. Taft's side, tugging at that lady's skirt.

"May I run and bring my parent to see this sunset?" she asked.

"Surely, child," Mrs. Taft replied, "but they have seen this sunset many times. It has always been here."

"Oh, but it was never as beautiful before you came," cried the child.

Education is like this. Information, in itself does not give the values that all men need. We of this university are fortunate to have the surroundings that tend to give us real education. We shall have memories; we shall have values; and we shall have lived. These experiences differentiate between real education and the mere acquisition of knowledge. Real education includes knowledge plus the many human values.

This is the problem of the new generation—to obtain a good education. Our institution offers books; it offers the chance to study human nature. Those men and women who are so foolish as not to make full use of these two general sources of knowledge are not the true representatives of this university. They are not real Trojans. They do not carry the spirit of fight into all that they undertake. They do not form the moral fiber of the young generation. But, unfortunately, the greater part of this generation is judged by this group of human parasites. But we shall not break faith with those who have placed faith in us. We shall carry on the high standards set for us. In short, we shall become educated and the uneducated shall "die by the wayside."—Southern California Daily Trojan.

AN AMERICAN OXFORD

Amidst all the jubilation that greeted the announcement that Harvard University had received $3,000,000 in order to erect a series of halls housing from two to three students each, and so transform three-hundred-year-old Harvard into an American Oxford, one discordant note arises. The Harvard Crimson, presumably speaking for the student body, looks the gift horse in the mouth and detects several potentially rotting teeth.

The basis of the Crimson's fear is that the unhampered individualism and complete freedom without previous restraint or future punishment that is the most precious gift Harvard offers her sons will be lost among the mazes of these new portentous dormitories. The fear that men will be coerced into living with people they dislike, eating drab, monotonous food, studying under the surveillance of proctors in the guise of tutors, seems to us more of a phobia than a reasoned fear. What is a greater objection, The Nation points out, is that the criteria of selection may be everything but scholarship, and that instead of several cross-sections of university life, Harvard will have a hall of grinds, a hall of Prom men, a hall of "undesirables," so that another hall will be driven in to the coffin of democracy in American education.

The dangers are great, conceded. But still the magnificent gift which may be the entering wedge for the complete emancipation of American universities from infantile standards is worth a few dangers. Students of education will have an intense concern in the Harvard of the next few years.—Cornell Daily Sun.

CONCERNING DEFINITIONS

Prating of definitions brings a great weariness to any college senior: he has been defined at so long, and so abstractly, and with such endless insistence. He has found in the life he has been living during the defining-time so divorced from engrossing emotion, and the moonraking of a college community to apart from the life-struggle of the world. In the Forum definition contest for November, on "Religion," is a striking indication of this weariness of seniors.

The prize-winning definitions are led off by a list of definitions "handed down by the world's greatest minds." One of these is Matthew Arnold's "Religion is morality touched by emotion." Ethics heightened, rekindled, lit up by feeling." Almost a perfect opposite of these clear and unassuming words is the cumbersome effort of one of the prize-winners: "Religion is a sort of egocentric conceit, in the interests of which man postulates a 'supernatural' world, populated by certain of the risen dead, over which reigns a vainglorious sovereign whose alleged solicitude toward mundane economy is made a basis of the assumption that man occupies the supremely important place in the universe—a pretty theory in proof of which biological research has not been reassuring."

If this prize-winner were traced, ten to one he would be found to be a senior. But Matthew Arnold was a senior once, at Balliol. The difference is that when Matthew Arnold went to college, people saw sunsets instead of billboards.—Southern California Daily Trojan.

BEER AT VARSITY?

Notwithstanding the defeat of the proposal to sell beer in the McGill union, as evidenced by the straw vote last week, the matter seems to be of sufficient importance to arouse discussion in our sister university in Toronto. Telegraph advices indicate that the matter is at present arousing just as much discussion there now as it did here last week, with the same main arguments being advanced on both sides. We recommend to that estimable journal, The Varsity, the plan of conducting a straw vote. It proved very successful here. We might also remark that if they could hold their council elections on the same day, they would, as we did, poll a heavier vote than has been seen for some time.

Without expressing any opinion as to the advisability of selling beer in the unions of the Canadian universities, we can safely say that we are glad to see the matter come up in other universities than our own. It is a matter which can not be dismissed lightly by either faction, whether on the ground of thirst on the one side or of morality on the other. It would not be surprising to see the verdict expressed here reversed in some other colleges, nor would such a verdict necessarily indicate a marked opinion one way or the other. Of far more value than the actual results of these votes are the reasons advanced on the one side and the other by the propagandists, before the matter is taken to the polls. If it is the opinion of Canadian university students that the reaction of the public toward such a measure will be the same here as it is in European countries, there would seem to be little reasonable excuse for banning the serving of beverage in reasonable quantities. If, on the contrary, any general opinion among the students of the various universities seems to indicate the reputation of these universities would suffer as a result of the measure, it ought to be definitely and irrevocably quashed.

In any case, we would encourage any discussion of this question, in order to see whether the unofficial opinion expressed at McGill is supported elsewhere or not.—McGill Daily.

MOVIE TRAINING

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is watching with interest the preliminary movements towards the establishment of a course in motion picture training at the University of Southern California.

While S. C. is the logical place for the operation of such a course because of its close proximity to the Hollywood studios, this is nevertheless the first time that any university has taken this industry seriously enough to work out a definite course of instruction.—University of Washington Daily.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

ALL of us are glad
Mary was no glutton
Or else poor Mary's lamb
Might have been some mutton.

FLU

Flu has got us in its clutch,
Sixty-six are ill
At least that's what the count was
When last we saw the bill.

And lots of us have fevers and
Most of us have colds
Because of fits of coughing
The pros can't call the rolls.

Hospital space it at
A premium so they say
They're there for months or just
A week
Or maybe for a day.

Some say there ought to be a law
This disease to fetter
But there are several more who think
A holiday is better.

DAILY SANTA CLAUS LETTER FROM UNIVERSITY KIDDIES

Dear Sandy Claws:
Being as you are the first liberal Scotchman I got acquaintance with, I aint going to strain your pocket book this year. They aint but two things I want in my sock—one is a little book greatly demanded by all us college fellers entitled "How to Dress Well" by Strip Poker.

The second thing that would make the Yuletide a hot one for me is a little millionaire heiress—five feet two, eyes of blue. None of your hardshell co-eds for me I'll do all the drinking. Besides a inferiority complex, she's got to have a family line (and I don't mean wash line), a father that was a blueblood. And Sandy, to make the bargain binding, shoot all the poverty-stricken relatives before you leave.

That was a dirty trick you pulled on me last year. You said you were too fat to come down the chimney, so I left the cellar door open. The next morning I didn't find nothing but empty beer bottles there, and no "course passer" like I asked for neither.

Send an Heiress (and her money) here in a purple Cadillac to avoid inconvenience.
Yours-respectfully,
FULLER GINN.

OUR DAILY BULLETIN FROM BYRD'S BUNCH

By Mike Moran

ON BOARD THE BARK "CITY OF AL SMITH" WITH BYRD'S EXPEDITION TO THE SOUTH POLE—SOMEBODY SOUTH OF GOOFUS ISLAND—December 12. (By special greased wire to Bull Belows). A very eventful day was spent by Commander Byrd making observations and tabulating results of the famous blindfold test now being enacted upon his helmsman.

The process of dodging icebergs makes the experiment most interesting indeed, and the results of it may pave the way for other discoveries by Commander Byrd at the bottom of the Anarctic.

Gigantic bergs, looming like Woolworth's on every side, filled us with awe and wonder at their majestic nonchalance, and inspired us to uplifting anchors, but owing to the glare of the sun on their sheer faces, they made deck golf difficult and shaving practically impossible.

Navigation is now becoming more and more difficult as we near the lower rim of the world. Owing to the fact that the magnetic pole has attraction for the "CITY OF AL SMITH," Commander Byrd expressed the belief tonight that the name of the ship would have to be changed before any noteworthy progress could be made. The cause, Commander Byrd explained, was due to the stuffing of ballot boxes in Southern California during the past election.

Last evening the Commander and several friends rode ashore on the ship's log to the famous Cliquot Club on Goofus Island. They report that a cool reception was given them, and they were forced to swim back to the "CITY OF AL SMITH" after using the log for firewood.

This afternoon a pair of chess sharks appeared from off to the leeward and after a close contest that lasted for about an hour, they carried off the Anarctic Subterranean Chess Championship Cup, greatly to the dismay of Commander Byrd.

The other ship of the expedition, the ELEANOR BOILING, is making knots ahead of us, some of them so efficient that the "CITY OF AL SMITH" is meeting with difficulty in untying them.

FRESHMEN GIVEN HYGIENIC TESTS

Freshman hygienic tests, given by the health council, were completed Saturday. The tests were given to 400 freshman women and to 500 men in the University as well as to the seniors of Taylor and Austin High schools.

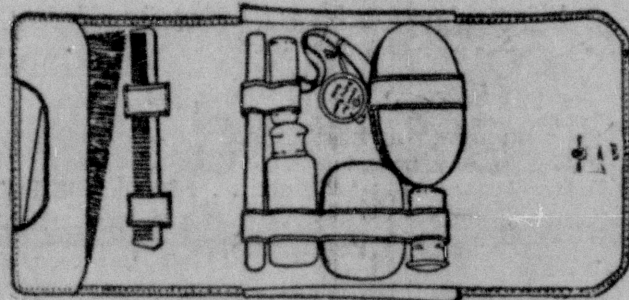

The tests were based on hygiene taught in high schools, their purpose being to find out just how much freshmen know about personal hygiene, prevention of communicable diseases, and temperance education. The tests were composed of 50 multiple choice questions and 100 true or false questions. The grades will be posted after the Christmas holidays.

The tests were given to the women Tuesday and to the men Friday and Saturday. Miss Jeanie Pinckney.

BLAU WRITES ARTICLE FOR DECEMBER 'TEXAS OUTLOOK'

L. W. Blau, instructor in physics in the University, is the author of an article on "Elementary Mathematics and the High School Graduate" in the December issue of the Texas Outlook.

"The object of the article," said Mr. Blau, "was to give the results of some tests which were given 72 freshmen physics students February 5 and 27 of 1928 and to arouse the high school and grammar school teachers of the state to remedy the conditions revealed."

It is the belief of many instructors of mathematics that the majority of our college students are sadly deficient in arithmetic and elementary algebra. One amusing fact revealed by the first test was that when the familiar unknowns of high school algebra, x, y and z, were changed to some other letters, many students became hopelessly confused.

"The second test given after the students had been given some additional instruction in extra periods revealed slight improvement. Though the results obtained from so small a group as ours are not conclusive, they do prove that in our particular group the previous mathematical training was not adequate."

CHILDREN HONORES AT FACULTY FROLIC

The University Faculty Club entertained Saturday afternoon at the club house, 2304 San Antonio street, with a Christmas party honoring the children of the members. In the dining room, tinsel in moss, red candles, silver stars, and mistletoe carried out the Christmas motif, and in the reception room a large Christmas tree based with red leaves was the main decoration.

About one hundred children took part in the special games led by Katherine Florey and Sula Conn, after which cookies and ice cream were served. Mrs. L. M. Hollander entertained the guests with piano selections until Santa Claus arrived to distribute the gifts.

Saturday night at 8 o'clock the club entertained the members with a program and dance. The program included a Christmas story by Dr. L. W. Payne and special Christmas songs by a quartet. After the program, the dining room was cleared for dancing.

At 7:30 p. m. the girls' choral club from the Methodist Orphans Home of Waco will render a Christmas concert. This is the occasion of the "White Christmas" for the Sunday School. The offering will go to the orphans home.

EDUCATION GROUP GIVES HOLIDAY PROGRAM FRIDAY

The local chapter of the council of primary education met Friday night at the Faculty Women's Club under the direction of Mrs. Cora M. Martin, instructor in primary education. After the business, the meeting was turned over to Leafy Whitaker, chairman of the program committee. Lucile Burnett, Lucille Fullwood, Lucy Small, and Marie Miller were hostesses with Miss Whitaker for the meeting.

The program was followed by a round table discussion of the question, "Whether or Not We Should Tell Children There Is a Santa Claus, and If So When?" Jewel Hudspeth closed the discussion with an article from the New York Sun.

Leafy Whitaker was elected permanent chairman of the program committee. Hostesses for the next meeting, which will be held the second Friday in January, are Winnie Burnett, Jewel Hudspeth, Onica Ladman, and Lettie Mae Kirkpatrick.

CURTIS AEROPLANE MAKES TEST OF AERO SILENCER

Actual test on the new aero-silencer muffler for internal combustion engines will be made with a Curtis aeroplane engine Tuesday afternoon, according to information from the department of mechanical engineering.

William Werner Von Falkenstein, inventor, will be present to witness the test. Von Falkenstein is connected with the Southern Airways Company located in Dallas and a branch of the company in San Antonio.

Patent is now pending on the new muffler.

Tests of the new muffler are to determine the extent to which it reduces the noise of an engine and its effect on engine power.

TEACHERS ASK REVISION OF GRAMMAR TEXTBOOKS

Realizing the average high school student's lack of knowledge of grammar, the language teachers of the State Teachers Association, in a joint meeting at San Antonio November 30, appointed a committee to confer with S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, concerning the revision of the language textbooks.

The committee is composed of Dr. L. W. Payne, Jr., professor of English in the University; Miss ing. Punch was served during the evening.

Professor and Mrs. E. J. Villavaso were in charge of the program and decorations, and assisted in the decorating by students in the interior-decorating class of Miss Florence Wright.

Roberta Lavendar, associate professor of classical languages in the University; and Dr. Alfred H. Nolle, Southwest Texas State Teachers College, San Marcos.

The committee will present Mr. Marrs with a set of resolutions drawn up by the teachers. These resolutions suggest that Marrs appoint a committee of trained language teachers to advise and cooperate with the State Department of Education on ways and means of securing proper sequence and emphasis in language work, and in the study of grammar and fundamental language structure.

The teachers urge systematic examination and revision of the course of study of language in the grades, with emphasis on language work from the third through the sixth grades, and a thorough study of grammar from the seventh to the eleventh grade. The next meeting of the State Teachers Association on the progress made on the resolutions. The committee will report at

WITH C. B. "MANHATTAN COCKTAIL," talking and singing in spots with Nancy Carroll and Richard Arlen, and always sounds and music; reviews say it's good—like cocktail; plus vitaphone acts and Movietone news; it's here Sunday through Wednesday at the Queen.

"THE FOREIGN LEGION," being ten degrees better than Greta Garbo; with Mary Nolan, Norman Kerry, and Lewis Stone; Thursday through Saturday. At the Queen.

"COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE" is good Ben Lindsey propaganda with fine acting by Richard Walling; you don't want to miss it; Sunday through Tuesday. "MADEMOISELLE FROM ARMENTIERES"—the song (the kind that you quit singing and merely hum when you get to certain words) pictured at last but they had to do it in Europe; here Wednesday through Friday. At the Majestic.

VAUDEVILLE is good, with the best youth and beauty and pretty girls we've had this season; absolutely over-weighted with jockeying for applause and this master-of-ceremonies bunk—in fact, both are carried to extremes, slowing down most tragically the tempo of a really excellent bill, and the jokes are sadly moth-eaten for the most part. There's only one act, the Anatol Friedland Night Club Company, chiefly dancing, but it's well worth seeing. Audiences liked it yesterday. It's here today, last times. "ROMANCE OF THE UNDERWORLD," with Mary Astor and John Boles will be here Monday through Friday. At the Hancock.

"THE OPENING NIGHT," with Claire Windsor and John Bowers here Sunday through Tuesday. "TURKISH DELIGHT," with Rudolph Schildkraut Wednesday only. "DIAMOND HANDCUFFS," with Lena Malena, Conrad Nagel, etc., Thursday only. "THE DEVIL DANCER," with Gilda Gray, Friday only. "F O U R WALLS," with John Gilbert, Joan Crawford, and Carmel Myers, Saturday only. At the Crescent.

"LES MISERABLES," the great film of France from Victor Hugo's masterpiece, Sunday and Monday. Richard Walling, Sue Carol in "WALKING BACK," Tues. "Warming Up," with Richard Dix and the perfect sweetheart, Jean Arthur, don't miss it, Wednesday and Thursday. "THE DOCKS OF NEW YORK," George Bancroft, Bacanova, and Betty Compson; Friday and Saturday.

VAUDEVILLE GOOD AT HANCOCK NOW

At last Austin has the chance of being really wicked and seeing one of those devilish night club shows! Need I take you into my confidence and admit that as a result of Federal authorities having placed lock, chain and notoriety on the Night Club Anatol in New York, we now have Broadway laid out for our approval on the Hancock stage? If you know there's a vaudeville in town, you know how Anatol Friedland and his review happen to be the big occasion on it.

Whether hot from Broadway or not, it's plenty warm, although they don't really pass around the bottle as you might expect from the publicity. Finish and smart-

IN VAUDEVILLE AT HANCOCK

LOTS OF FUN and youth and beauty greet the Vaudeville addict at the Hancock Opera House today. The bill is good, with more pretty girls than you have a right to expect.

NOW AT MAJESTIC

BETTY BRONSON AND RICHARD WALLING as the youngsters who try out Judge Ben Lindsey's theory of marital happiness in "COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE," now at the Majestic.

ness are the chief attributes of the production, and the performers show ability that is a good break for the Majestic Circuit as well as the Hancock.

Probably the most attractive and charming feature of the bill is the dancing of little Lucille Hayes. One can't find fault with that girl; she's up on her toes most of the time.

LeBlanc and Du Charme, who exhibit grace and rhythm in their somewhat original musical presentations, and Jack Waldron, Broadway comedian, give commendable performances.

Al Jockers of the Anatol Club directs the musical features and does a good specialty number.

HUGO PICTURE NOW AT TEXAS

And here's the repeat at the Texas theater for the week, served in the following courses: Sunday and Monday, heavy diet of "Les Miserables," which is one of these super-pictures, made from Victor Hugo's masterpiece. You'll want to see it. "Walking Back" with Sue Carol and Richard Walling will be worth your time and money Tuesday. And don't miss "Warming Up," coming Wednesday and Thursday, aside from the fact that it's a Richard Dix picture and therefore prime entertainment, having in it a little girl by the name of Jean Arthur, and we're all for her. She's got everything. A good picture is "The Docks of New York," being George Bancroft assisted by Bacanova, the best actress in America, and Betty Compson. It is shown at the Texas theater Friday and Saturday.—C. B.

AT QUEEN

NANCY CARROLL, who is featured with Richard Arlen at the Queen theater through Wednesday in "MANHATTAN COCKTAIL." It talks and sings.

SNAPPY COMEDY AT QUEEN IS TALKIE

"Manhattan Cocktail"—that's what greets theater-goers at the Queen through Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, the picture being in fact just what its title says it is, according to reviews elsewhere, having cleverness, snap, pep, and even IT. Nancy Carroll and Richard Arlen are starred. Nancy Carroll sings two songs, "Another Kiss," and

"Gotta Be Good." And then Richard Arlen, the best juvenile on the screen, according to us, and certainly the most masculine, is always good. For Vitaphone specialties, Tex McLeod does a Will Rogers or so; and the Ceballos Revue with the Vitaphone babies returns for the third time, or is it the fourth? Also Movietone news.

The picture Thursday is "The Foreign Legion," being hot as hell, according to advances, with Mary Nolan, Norman Kerry and Lewis Stone. Also Vitaphone presentations.—C.B.

'COMPANIONATE' NOW AT MAJESTIC

We never liked propaganda pictures, and "Companionate Marriage" is a propaganda picture from start to finish, but it hides the propaganda so well that the whole thing appears as an attack upon modern marriage. Only in the first few scenes and last hundred feet or so, does the propaganda come definitely to the surface.

Betty Bronson and Richard Walling do the best work in the picture, but we frankly say that Betty Bronson is not suited to the working girl part she plays in the picture. She is more suited to the type which she played in "Peter Pan." Imagine Peter Pan getting married! Walling does the only acting in the entire picture, and it doesn't last long.

And the Majestic is still Public. The comedy, "And Came the Dawn," is the most laughable thing we have seen in some time.—R.M.C.

Dull Hours Enlivened By Song, Says Gidley

By HENRY DLUGOLENSKI

"Singing is something that I enjoy; that helps me pass away many an otherwise dull evening, and at the same time increases my appreciation of all other arts," said Professor William F. Gidley, dean of the College of Pharmacy, in discussing the reason why he chose singing as a hobby.

"Of course," he added, "there must be some talent attached to I would never have given singing a thought."

Professor Gidley, according to his own words, just "naturally drifted" into singing. While he was teaching at the University of Indiana in the College of Pharmacy, he became associated with a group of fellows who liked to sing. A club was formed and they made annual trips to Culver, Indiana, to compete for the prize of the best chorus.

"I don't think a man should take up a hobby that is not useful in some way," asserted Professor Gidley. "It seems to me that hobbies, like cards, checkers, and pool, are a total waste of time. They benefit no one, do not develop one mentally or physically, and the only purpose that they can serve is to pass away some valuable hours that could be put to good use. All hobbies, while useful, should serve to distract one from one's life work."

"Sometimes people claim that their life work is their hobby and that they have no time for other things. This should not be the case. All persons should take up some form of recreation that will serve to take one's mind off a serious subject. Otherwise, he is apt to get in a rut and not be able to think clearly; he then wonders why he is not progressing as rapidly as he should."

Professor Gidley thinks a person should not spend so much time on a hobby that it gains preponderance over the life work itself. "If that were the case," continued Professor Gidley, "the hobby should be the life work and vice versa. A hobby usually should not occupy more than ten hours a week of one's time. I never spend more than five hours a week in singing."

"If it is possible to make money from one's hobby, that is one's privilege, but personally I think that a hobby should be practiced for the pure sake of enjoyment obtained from the hobby. If a hobby is pursued for the sake of enjoyment alone, I think it will add some years to a man's life. At least it will not make him old before his time."

"When I have a busy day at school, with plenty of papers to correct, and the students have been rather trying, I can always turn to singing as a way to relieve myself of my nervous tension. I also like to turn to athletics such as handball, tennis, or volleyball for a way to relieve myself of this strain; however, the facilities of the school right now are not conducive for the faculty to turn to such means. Perhaps when the new gymnasium is erected, they will have a place for the faculty. I think it is a good thing for a person not only to have one hobby but several. This, in a measure, will minimize the danger of becoming too seriously devoted to one hobby."

Professor Gidley was born in Holy, Michigan, in 1884. Upon graduating from the Holy High School, he entered the University of Michigan where he received a bachelor of science degree in 1908. He also received a Ph.D. there. He taught for several years in the department of pharmacy in the University of Michigan and then received an appointment at the University of Indiana in 1914 as a professor of pharmacy. He moved to Galveston where he was professor of pharmacy in the Galveston branch of the University until the college moved to Austin two years ago.

In Austin Professor Gidley is connected with the Amateur Choral Society, Methodist choir, and the non-sectarian singing class which meets in the Texas theater. The Amateur Choral Society has selected Professor Gidley to take one of the principal parts in the opera, "Bohemian Girl," which will be presented by the society sometime next spring. Professor Gidley will play the part of Florstein, a happy tenor who is rarely sober.
