TEXAS TAKES FIRST TENNIS DUAL MEET

THALHEIMER AND MATHER WIN TILT

Steer Captain Loses Singles; Remaining Five Matches Easily Taken

Taking five out of six matches, Varsity won the first Southwestern Conference dual tennis meet Saturday afternoon. The doubles match between "Red" Mather and "Red" Thalheimer of Texas and Tommie Armstrong and Bill Powers of Baylor proved the premier attraction of the series. Net fans were given the thrill of seeing the prospective national intercollegiate doubles team in action against a duet of players far from the amateur class.

Mather Plays Best

Mather played exceptionally good tennis in both singles and doubles, almost whitewashing Meroney with a score of 6-0, 6-1, and helping Thalheimer smash through their doubles match 8-6, 3-6, 6-2. Thalheimer did his best work with drives and lobs. Mather's uncanny accuracy in placing the ball where Meroney wasn't was responsible for the ease with which he gained the points so disastrous to the Baylor man. In the doubles match, he was almost fatal to the Bruins when he used his long reach to make a smash.

Powers was the star of the afternoon for Baylor, taking his singles match with Thalheimer 2-5, 6-4. The score was standing 5-1 in the first set in favor of the Texas man when an inexplicable something caused the Baylor Bear to crash through and administer defeat to the Longhorn captain.

Funkhouser Takes Match

In singles competition, Armstrong did not show up so well. Funkhouser took the match with a one-sided score, 6-0, 6-4, but in the doubles Armstrong supported Powers with an able net game. Funkhouser's good form set him apart as one of the best on the Varsity squad. Doubles, however, is essentially Armstrong's game, and he did much better work as a partner with Powers than alone.

Key of Texas and Wecter of Baylor played rather slow in the singles. Although not very fast in covering the court, Key is a consistently hard worker, and it was not very difficult for him to take a 6-4, 6-3 score from Wecter. Key and Funkhouser then got together in doubles against Wecter and Meroney and played off two snappy sets to the tune of 6-2, 6-0.

B. HALL STARTS 'RETURN OF LOANED BOOKS'

A nuthér drive comin' folks! Starts today, in fact. We're the victims of a good many sales, races, funds, and all the other names by which such may be called already, but this additional one cannot be helped. It's been called—goin' to last a week, regardless of all the griping that may be griped! One thing, though, pretty and not-so-pretty girls aren't going to stage it—they with their short-lived you're-the-best-friend-I've-got look!! You won't even have to pay out any of your money in this drive. For 'tis nothing but a "Return-of-Borrowed-Books Week," from Sunday, April 13, to Sunday, April 19, declared H. G. Woodruff, manager of B. Hall, and for the B. Hallmen exclusively!

PAYNE BEGINS 'LIFE OF CHRIST' SERIES TODAY

Dr. L. W. Payne, Jr., professor of English, will give a series of lectures at the University Baptist church on "The Life of Christ," beginning Easter Sunday. The lectures are given to his Sunday School class, but everyone is invited to attend. Dr. Payne has just completed a series of instructive lectures on the Book of Isaiah.

Win With 4 Treys HAPPENS IN BASEBALL

When the Longhorns outslugged the Austin Mustangs for a 14-8 win Friday, they scored three runs in the fourth, seventh, eighth and ninth innings. "Four treys are hard to beat," remarked one of the fans.

Strong Men Lift Car Entangled With Tree

A car parked in front of the library Friday rolled into a cedar tree when its emergency brake failed to hold. The automobile seemed to be inextricably stuck as the tree was caught between the bumper and the fender. The problem was solved, however, when four strong men of the campus lifted the front end of the car and moved it.

Notice Silver? No! That's High Finance

An economics instructor was discussing money problems a few days ago, and he asked if anyone in the class had noticed that there are more silver dollars in circulation than formerly. "No, sir. I don't deal in high finance," answered a back row inhabitant.

Trio of Dogs Stage "Triangular Meet"

Campus buzzards were disappointed Saturday afternoon when a dog fight which had started was as quickly stopped. The canine scrap had the appearance of a "triangular meet" as three dogs participated. Quick action of a passer-by separated the trio.

Stabbing Accidental Declares Freshman

Stabbing yourself is not necessarily a sign of intentional suicide, according to freshman reporter. Such an act may be only an accident, he has decided. He sat on a granite bench south of the Education Building and leaned back on a dagger plant Thursday.

UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA TO GIVE LAST CONCERT

Closing Program of Year Will Be Presented Tuesday Night

Tuesday evening at 8:15 at the Woman's Gymnasium the University Orchestra will present its last performance of the year.

"The performance promises to be one of the best of the season and one that music lovers will enjoy," says Frank L. Reed, Professor of Music and Director of the Orchestra.

The Orchestra is one of the most recent musical organizations on the campus. It is the only musical organization comprised of string instruments together with wood and wind, being composed of violin, viola, cello, bass violin, horn, saxophone, organ and piano.

The organization is composed primarily of University students, assisted by artists in the city. Mrs. Eldred McKinnon violin artist of Austin, heads the first violins. Dr. E. P. Schoch and Frank H. Raymond of Austin, assisted by Darthula Davis of the viola section. Julio Galindo, string instrument instructor of the Texas School of Applied Music, and Carl T. Widen, of Austin, take charge of the cello section. C. E. Jackson plays the bass violin and Maud Thomas and Mrs. C. E. Jackson have charge of the cornet places. Oscar Rosenberg assists Geo. S. MILDRED BEALL IN CHAIRMAN'S RACE

Academ Candidate for Head of Woman's Council Favors Honor System

Mildred Beall, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences in the University, has authorized the announcement of her candidacy for chairman of the Woman's Council. Miss Beall is serving as a member of the Woman's Council this year. She believes in upholding both clauses of the pledge, and in the careful consideration of all cases as soon as possible after they are reported. She also believes that the practice of printing a report of all cases in The Daily Texan for the benefit of the student body should be continued.

In addition to serving as a member of the Woman's Council, Miss Beall is an active member of W.A.A., Reed Music Society, Present Day Club, Sidney Lanier Literary Society, Cap and Gown, Chemistry Club, and Y. W. C. A. She has completed the work for her B.A. degree in three years and is returning next year to take graduate work.

Because of her wide experience in campus activities and in view of her splendid work on the Woman's Council this year, her friends believe that she is especially qualified to serve as chairman of the Woman's Council.

TEXAS AGGIES WIN

Stillwater, Okla., April 11.—Texas A. & M. won from the Oklahoma Aggies by a score of 12-0 today.

3,500 Students Expected 1925 Session University Summer School and Normal

Governor Miriam Ferguson, in signing the appropriation bill, vetoed the item for the maintenance of the summer session of the University of Texas. A number of newspapers throughout the state jumped to the conclusion that this action abolished the summer session of the University for 1925, now just two months away. This was a most egregious error and calculated to do our session great injury and to confuse a large body of students.

The appropriation financing the summer session of the present year amounting to $105,000, and $11,500 addition voted by the Board of Regents are not affected in the slightest degree. This appropriation was made by the legislature two years ago, and is available. On the basis of this total sum of $116,500 the organization of the summer session

INTERCOLLEGIATE GAMES OPPOSED BY W.A.A. CONFERENCE

Girls Adopt Resolutions Against Co-ed Athletic Contests

DENTON GETS 1926 MEET

Secretary of Texas Organization Made Secretary of State Conference

By Melissa Castle
Denton, Texas was chosen as the 1926 Convention city, with the two state institutions, C. I. A. and North Texas State Teachers College acting as joint hostesses, at the Saturday morning session of the Baby Conference of the National College Women's Athletic organization. The conference went on record as being opposed to intercollegiate athletics for girls, when resolutions presented by the committee appointed Friday were unanimously adopted after each delegation had expressed itself as being in favor of the action. Although several of the colleges in the conference at this time are sponsoring intercollegiate contests, each representative expressed herself as being desirous of promoting the W. A. A. ideals which are so strongly opposed to such games.

Demand for College Games
"We have been playing intercollegiate games every year, including this past season, and there is a big demand for them at our school," stated Miss Beulah Harris, instructor in Physical Training at the Denton State Teachers' College.

Dorothy Gregory, delegate from San Marcos, expressed herself as being personally against too strenuous participation in sport by girls. The majority of delegates from institutions which have never entered contests with other schools seemed of the opinion that the freshman girls come from the high schools expecting inter-school games, but they soon enter as enthusiastically into interclass combats.

C. I. A. first extended the invitation for the 1926 conference and the North Texas State Teachers' College joined in the bid. Baylor College of Belton then advertised their campus as the ideal meeting place, quickly followed by Texas requesting a return engagement with the aggregation. Count of the secret ballot showed Denton 9, Baylor College 1, Texas University, 1.

In accordance with action of Friday's session, the President of the local association serving as hostess to the convention becomes president of the state organization. In this instance where the two state institutions are involved, it was necessary to designate the President. Secret ballot indicated C. I. A. the favorite, with the North Texas College chosen for Vice-president.

Secretary of Texas W. A. A. will become secretary of the state organization.

OIL ROYALTY LAW BEFORE REGENTS

Called Session Monday Will Discuss Appropriation Bills and Sale of Land

By Jumbo Haynes
Discussion of measures in the session of the Legislature, relating to University funds totalling $800,000 will be made at the special session of the Board of Regents Monday, according to President W. M. W. Splawn.

One of the most important matters scheduled to be taken up at the session, which has been called by President Splawn, is the new law affecting oil royalties. The act provides for transferring all royalties from the permanent to the available building fund, thus making it possible to carry out an extension building program on the campus. Officials intimated that considerations would be made of contracts submitted for erection of the proposed $250,000 Recitation Building that will be constructed this summer.

Other matters that will be taken up Monday will include sale of University land near Fort Bliss, El Paso; extension of leases on grazing and oil lands from four to ten years; and bills providing for sub-leasing on competitive basis of oil lands on forty acre tracts, President Splawn stated.

Consideration likely will not be made at the meeting of appropriation budget cuts of the departments of journalism, music and library science and the summer school of 1926, and 1927, the president said. "Reports from faculty committees must be heard before action will be taken by the Regents," Dr. Splawn added.

The regular meeting of the board will be held on May 19.

ASSOCIATION PASSES NEW ELECTION LAW

No More Nominations Will Be Accepted After Midnight May 2

By Jumbo Haynes

In the springtime of the good old days the young peoples' fancies lightly turned to thoughts of love, according to Bill Shakespeare, but today it's different—it's thoughts of politics, judging from the amount of buzzing of political bees now heard on the campus.

There is no definite way of ascertaining whether the sting has "took" on all the students who may have been touched by the little insect, but thirteen have evidently already come in contact with the buzzer and have announced their candidacy for offices in the spring election May 12.

Mildred Beall carefully donned her Easter bonnet, bee and all, and came forward with the first political announcement to be made in The Texan this year. She is a candidate for Chairman of the Women's Council.

The announcements this spring were made three days earlier than last year, political campaign openly beginning in the last elections on

Tag Day Nets $225 for Missionary; Miss Spears Is Pleased

Swan Day, put on by the campus Y. W. C. A. for raising money for the support of Nancy Lee Swan in China next year, according to officials, was a success. The total amount raised by the drive on Thursday was $225. Mollie Ma sold the highest number of tags, with Ruth Allred and Grace Oldfather next. Ione Spears stated that she was highly pleased with the co-operation shown by the girls and the result of the tag day.

Dr. Ettlinger of the Math Department will be the principal speaker at the Vesper services on Monday at 5 o'clock. Special music by Beulah Pinson will be a part of the program, and Ruth McMillan will lead the devotionals. All girls are urged to attend promptly at 5 o'clock in the Girls Study Hall.

Roy Otto Jubilo Clements Keeps 'Em Guessing With His Powerful Delivery

MODEST BALL TWIRLER LED STEERS TO SEVEN VICTORIES LAST YEAR

By John Sammons

"Who's that tall pitcher with the big hands?" asked a freshman fan at a recent Varsity baseball game. "That's Jubilo Clements," answered a second fan.

"Does he know his stuff?" the freshman inquired. "He must be mighty quiet. I haven't heard much about him."

"You said a mouthful. He's got lots of steam," the informer told him.

Jube Is Modest

Both speakers were right. Jubilo, the huge, high-powered right-hander, is a very retiring young gentleman. If asked about his record he just smiles and modestly replies, "Oh, I haven't done much." Occasionally, however, he will talk if sufficiently urged.

"I never did intend to become a pitcher—not even a baseball player," he said a few days ago. "Football was the game I used to like best."

Wanted Grid Career

"You see, in high school I was on the grid squad, and the rooting section's roaring appealed to me. I craved action. Anyhow, I wasn't very good on the diamond, and bench-warming isn't a very attractive pastime."

"When I came out here. Mr. Disch decided he wanted to teach me how to throw 'em so I could be a pitcher. I like working in the box pretty well, but it's a lot more fun to play in the outfield."

Won 7 Last Year

Last year Jubilo hurled the Longhorns to seven victories. Only once during the season did he have an off day. That was when he started a contest against Rice, Ponsford relieving him and leading the Steers to a 7-2 win.

Two of his wins, however, were registered against the Owls. He downed Southwestern in the final game of the season, 7-4. His second victory was over Minnesota, 6 to 0. The Gophers got only five hits and eleven of them were retired by the strikeout route.

Beat Rice Twice

His great twirling fooled the Rice batter who lost twice, 5-1 and 10-0. The Owl batters got only five bingles in each game, and Jubilo fanned eight in the first battle.

Holding Southwestern to four hits and whiffing five of the Pirates, Jubilo added to his string of scalps in a return fracas at Georgetown. He had a real battle with Duncan whom he outclassed, shutting out the losers, 3-0.

T. C. U. was his next victim. Though hit hard, he was never in danger. The Longhorns smashed the pill all over the lot, winning 12-7. When the Oklahoma Aggies visited Austin, they went back to Stillwater with a 9-2 defeat against them and with great respect for Jubilo's swift delivery.

Began on Sand Lots

Jubilo is a product of the Austin sandlots, having played ball on vacant lots of the Tenth Ward. Last summer he played on an amateur team in Houston as hurler and outfielder.

Other recommendations of the Resolution committee adopted by the convention provide that the Texas conference apply to the national organization for recognition as a division of that body; that the ten schools represented should try to enlist other colleges of the state and that all should promote the standards and spirit of the national association.

Jean Holland Reports

Jean Holland, Texas delegate to the Mid-Western Section conference of the Athletic Conference of American College Women held in Urbana, Illinois April 3, reported her impressions of the fourth convention.

The National conference ignored the question of intercollegiate contests, believing them to be of such iniquity that no action was granted. Expensive material awards were

Largest Part of Conference
Schedule Still Facing
Varsity Nine

After playing twelve games, the Longhorn baseball team is rounding into shape for its coming Southwestern conference battles. Seven of the contests to date have been won for a percentage of .583.

On March 19 the season was opened with a record-breaking score piled up against the Southwestern Pirates. Every man on the squad got a chance to display his wares in the slaughter of the Buccaneers. Eleven markers were hung up in the eighth inning, the final outcome being that Texas won, 44-4. The following day the Steers ran wild again for a 11-1 score.

When the Mississippi Aggies visited Austin for a two-game series, their heavy hitting proved too much for the Varsity aggregation which had been weakened by the loss of Heinie Odom, star shortstop. The Aggies, led by the great pill-swatting of Corley, first-sacker de luxe who lifted the ball over the fence in both games, won twice, 8-4 and 12-8.

These losses seemed to put fight into the Longhorns, for they snapped out of their slump. Two victories over Minnesota University were registered in the next two games. Lefty Williamson had the Gophers guessing in the first set-to, the score being 10-3. The next day Big Ben Dave Allen hurled the first shut-out of the year to the tune of 10 to 0.

The Rice Owl outfit pulled a surprise by defeating the Longhorns to the tune of 8 to 3. Grandpa Wood twirled a puzzling pill while his teammates knocked William out of the box and tapped the offerings of Cox and Clements freely.

A hard eleven-inning contest was played with the Minneapolis Millers April 6, the American Association team finally taking the big end of a 6-4 score. Clements started for Texas but gave way to Allen in the fifth frame. A home run with one on decided the outcome of the struggle.

Leslie Cox held the Austin College Kangaroos to three hits, leading the orange and white team to a 4-1 victory. Morgan, Austinite mound ace, was clearly outclassed.

Three slugging bees have been held with the Austin Mustangs. The Texas team took the first, lost the second, and hammered their way to a 14-8 victory in the third.

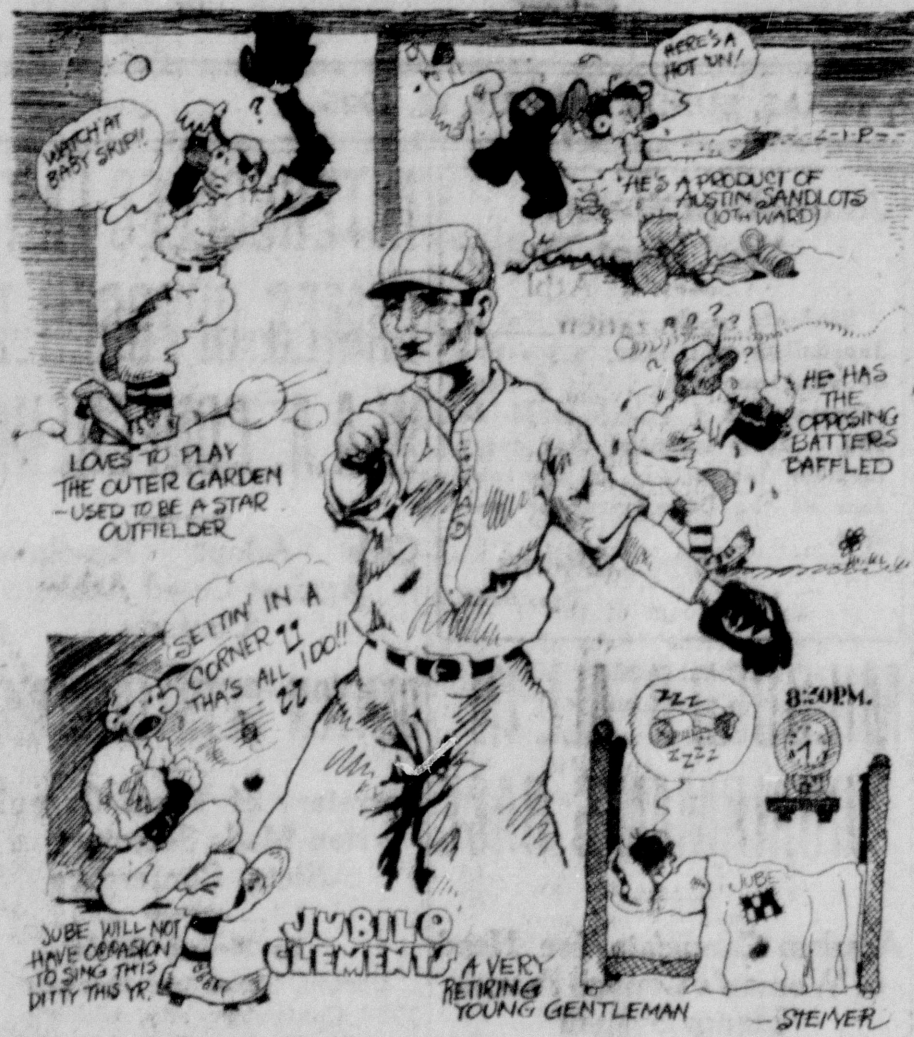

The remainder of the Longhorn schedule follows:

April 16, T. C. U. at Fort Worth.
April 21, Rice at Houston.
April 25, Texas A. & M., Austin.
April 27-28, Okla. Aggies at Austin.

May 1, Baylor, Austin.

opposed. Great commendation was given the Texas delegate on the magazine, "The Sports Girl." No other college of the conference has attempted anything more than a news letter.

Forty-nine of the sixty-nine institutions invited to attend the convention were represented. Lucy J. Newton, Dean of Women, gave the farewell address of the morning session which was adjourned till 4 o'clock when a skating party was given at the Women's Gym in honor of the delegates.

Half Moon fraternity won its second straight victory of the season Saturday when the Phi Gamma Delta crew was downed, 14-0. Thornton, winning twirler, had a special delivery which the losers were unable to solve, the Phi Gams garnering only one hit. The lunar aggregation made seven bingles. Last week Half Moons beat Beta Theta Pi in a hotly contested fray, 12-10. The score was decided by a home run in the ninth inning with three men on bases.

Two Conference Records Bettered As Steers Swamp Pirates by 98-17 Score

BUDD, ESQUIVEL AND REESE SHOW HEELS TO FIELD OF RUNNERS

Although not standing as official, two Southwestern Conference track records were bettered yesterday when the Texas Longhorns defeated the Southwestern Pirates by a top-heavy score of 99 to 18. Captain Long Jim Reese stepped the mile in 4:23, exactly 4 seconds better than the conference record held by Dickerson of Oklahoma A. & M.

Sandi Esquivel ran away with the two-mile, almost lapping the other Texas men. Sandi's time was 9:46.2, three seconds better than Musselman's record for Arkansas.

In the javelin, Mateer of Southwestern captured first place, beating Sailor Shearer by one-half inch. The two men afterwards congratulated each other as if both had been victorious. Mateer was the only Pirate who succeeded in getting a clean first, as Burgin and Cowles tied in the high jump.

Stallter had everything his way in the hurdle events. Stallter and Stud Wright finished one-two order in the 120 yard highs and the 220 yard lows. Cockrell, dashman, with Stallter, hurdler, tucked away two firsts. The two men tied for high points, with a total of ten points each. Cockrell easily led Hardin of Southwestern in the century dash and also ran away with the 220. Kidd of Southwestern placed second.

Budd of Texas ran one of the prettiest races of the day when he nosed out Skipworth of the Pirates in the 440 yard dash. FREE VERSE POET WILL APPEAR HERE APRIL 22

"The New Poetry" Is Subject of Discussion by Harriet Monroe

"The New Poetry" has been announced as Miss Harriet Monroe's subject when the noted poet and editor speaks at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium April 22. Miss Monroe, editor of Poetry, a magazine of verse published at Chicago, is a pioneer in seeking the perfection of modern poetic technique.

She was one of the first of the modern poets to advocate freedom of expression and execution. As an advocate of abandoning the old-world poetic technique, Miss Monroe received much criticism, but she en-

DEPARTMENTAL BASEBALL CONTEST IN FULL SWING

Pre-Law Aggregation Meets Both Pre-Med and B.B.A. Nines This Week

With the departmental baseball contest now in full swing the two games scheduled during the coming week will have an important influence in determining the probable winner of the University championship.

According to the schedule issued by the Athletic Council, the first game of the week will be played between the Pre-Laws and the Pre-Meds on Wednesday, April 15 at 4:45 on the Stadium Field. The second game will be between the Pre-Laws and the B.B.A.'s on Thursday, April 16 at the Stadium Field.

The Pre-Med team broke up the Pre-Law drive for the championship pennant when they came out with the heavy end of a 24 to 12 score in a slugging contest played last Thursday. The Pre-Meds have a hard-hitting team, the men are doing well in the field, considering that the game last Thursday was the first they had played, and they will give the veteran law team a hard battle.

The Pre-Laws have been playing stellar ball during the opening games, however. They won from Nixon College by the score of 17 to 7, and from the Laws by the score of 19 to 3. Last week the Pre-Law team out-hit and outplayed the Austin High team for a win of 7 to 5. The mound position is where the Pre-Laws are having the most trouble. When that position is strongly fortified, they will be in a position to regain their lead for the pennant.

couraged others to write according to their convictions. "Poetry" was established for this purpose, and was devoted to the publication of original verse and to the criticism of current poetical output.

To a large degree, Ezra Pound owes his recognition as a poet to Miss Monroe, for it was she who first recognized his merit, and pointed out such merit to the public. Miss Monroe also "explained the verse of Vachel Lindsay to the public," with the result that he was not long considered as a "cracked-brain" poet, but a verse-writer of rare poetical insight and talent. The first garlands of Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology" were prized by Miss Monroe, and printed for the edification of the public.

W. A. A. INITIATES AND MAKES AWARDS

Twenty-one Co-eds Admitted to Women's Athletic Organization

Initiation of twenty-one new members and the awarding of twenty-one W. A. A. pins to those having won 100 points comprised the major portion of the business session of the organization last night at the regular monthly meeting of W. A. A. held in the banquet room of the Cafeteria. Delegates to the "Baby Conference" of the National Athletic Association, members of the faculty of the Physical Education department, Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, and Misses Spears and Parker were honor guests of the affair.

"The one thing for which Texas was criticized was the awarding of blankets, sweaters, pins and other expensive trophies," she declared. "But we were highly commended on our organization in which we are far in advance of other colleges of the conference." Another thing for which we were commended was our magazine, the "Sports Girl." Eddie Ross Heads Vaudeville Bill at Hancock Opera House Monday

THE TEXAS FOUR GIVE PEPPY ACT

"The Music of Motion" Presents Marvels of Dancing Art

In the vaudeville portion of the Hancock bill beginning Monday afternoon Eddie Ross, blackface humorist and banjo specialist extraordinary shares the calcium of featured act with Coyne and French, a dancing combination that ranks along with the topnotchers if we are to believe the reviewers and the Hancock management.

Coyne and French offer "The Music of Motion" as their vehicle for the week. In this act the dancing marvels get through serious or intricate and novel maneuvers.

Blackface Eddie Ross, hasn't been down this way for several seasons. He's coming today packed some new stories and ditties. The African harp that made him famous is with him.

Four Texans find themselves on this week's bill. Billed as "The Texas Four" this quartet of native sons has been singing itself into fame along the lanes of the two-day. Pep an originality together with some clever close harmony business seems to be a speciality with the foursome of Texans.

Ned Norworth a nut comedian, who has made 'em laugh in vaudeville and in New York's giddiest musical shows is another feature on the bill this afternoon. Patricia Cayrns, restive on the yea and talented is Norworth's newest partner.

NOTED SOPRANO SINGS HERE SOON

Florence MacBeth Is Brought to Austin by Amateur Choral Cub

"To love one's self is the beginning of a life-long romance" wrote Oscar Wilde in the "Ideal Husband." Florence Macbeth the brilliant coloratura soprano of the Chicago Civic Opera Company who sings at the Men's Gymnasium soon has the following to say on the subject:

"To be one's self, one's true self in the presence of others is always a joy, and that is really the difference between singing in concert and the more exacting work of grand opera. Which do I prefer? Naturally there are greater rewards, material and artistic, associated with grand opera. But in the operas I am compelled to sink my identity into that of another character, who is all too often a person very far removed from myself. And it is impossible to tell what share of the public appreciation belongs to the opera and its presentation, and what is to the singer. The more intimate form of concert singing, on the other hand, is much more a matter of pure enjoyment to me. It is a great satisfaction to find one's audience listening in evident enjoyment to the message which every song must convey, if it is to survive the test of time. I am myself to my concert audiences."

"Which songs do I like the best? Please don't laugh. I like those which speak of home and mother, institutions a little despised in these ultra-modern days. Songs that speak of nature; love and hope, the ones which have power to transport the soul, earth-weary, into a state of affluence in better things and beautiful memories."

"North of 36" Will Be at Texas Friday

"North of 36" is a film with as many hair-raising thrills as there are feet of film.

Produced by Irvin Willat from the novel by Emerson Hough, and featuring Jack Holt, Ernest Torrence, Lois Wilson and Noah Beery in the leading roles, "North of 36," opens a two day's run next Friday at the Texas Theater.

Here's a story of the pioneers—a story of Texas that'll knock you right off your feet. The time is directly after the Civil War when the Lone Star state was almost broke and at a loss for a market for its herds.

FRITZ LEIBER AS D'ARTAGNAN

"The Three Musketeers," with Fritz Leiber as D'Artagnan, will be given at the Hancock Opera House Saturday night, April 25.

"THE AIR MAIL" AT MAJESTIC

Warner Baxter and Billie Dove have the leading roles in "The Air Mail," which closes the week at the Majestic Theater.

'BORDER LEGION' AT TEXAS MONDAY

Antonio Moreno and Helene Chadwick Star in Zane Grey Film

The new Paramount picture, "The Border Legion," a screen version of Zane Grey's immensely popular novel by that name, will be shown next Monday at the Texas Theater.

Antonio Moreno and Helen Chadwick are featured, and Rockliffe Fellowes, Charles Ogle and Gibson Gowland have prominent supporting roles. William Howard directed the picture, his first work under the Paramount banner.

The story is a typical Zane Grey Western thriller, an appealing tale of romance and adventure in the old days when a man was judged by his ability to handle his six-guns.

Deep Eddy Reopens for Season; Many Improvements Added

With new improvement and concessions, as well as more modern equipment, the Deep Eddy Bathing Beach has re-opened for the season. A ferris wheel, riding apparatus in the pool, a shooting gallery, a new concession house in a modern bungalow, and new swings and diving boards have been added. The pool itself is as clear as a crystal, and its increased dimensions make it one of the best of its kind. It is a veritable "Coney Island of the South."

The new pleasure resort is open to the public at all times except the hours reserved for classes in swimming for University students.

FRITZ LEIBER TO RETURN HERE SOON

Shakespearean Artist Will Give Three Plays at Hancock Beginning April 24

Fritz Leiber and his big company of noted players who have been honored and applauded by large audiences at the Tulane Theater the past week for their comprehensive and feeling portrayals of the great classic plays will return to Austin for three performances beginning Friday, April 24, will present the first night Shakespeare's great drama, "Julius Caesar," for the Saturday matinee. "The Merchant of Venice" will be given, is one of the best known of all of Shakespeare's plays and is probably the best liked. The story is different. There is enough of the serious and yet sufficient of the humorous to vary the reading. Shylock is a character true to life and one that has developed into an everyday expression of the people who seeking the one desire of personal gain with showing the generosity with which we are all imbued.

As Shylock, Mr. Leiber is bound to be received with acclaim for he will put into it all he possesses in a dramatic way. He prefers this character to any of the others in Shakespeare.

Mr. Leiber will be supported with the same company seen here last. The play for Saturday night will be Alexandre Dumas' stirring romance "The Three Musketeers." Mr. Leiber will be seen as D'Artagnan.

"NORTH OF 36" AT TEXAS

"North of 36" with Jack Holt and Lois Wilson will play the last two days of the week at the Texas Theater.

Harold Lloyd Plays Lead in "Girl Shy"

In his latest feature comedy "Girl Shy," which will be seen at the Queen Theater Thursday, Harold Lloyd once more demonstrates his remarkable versatility before the camera. Lloyd's role in this new fun-film is said to be so entirely different from any he has ever attempted to portray, that he debated a long time before tackling the part.

The locale of "Girl Shy" is for the most part a small town, although towards the end of the picture the action is staged in the city.

Lloyd will introduce a real novelty to the screen in this picture, and he has carefully guarded his secret because it is his own idea and to have it known before the showing of the fun-film might rob it of some of its appeal.

Monte Blue Heads Brilliant Cast in Warner Brothers Picture

"Her Marriage Vow," which opens next Monday at the Majestic Theater, throws a fierce searchlight on the problem of living up to the marriage vow. It is the story of Carol, the most popular girl in her set, who turns down a wealthy young man to marry a man who has only a meager salary check to offer. The rejected suitor, Ted Lowe, continues to bob up on the scene, and provides the wedge of calamity when misunderstandings and suspicions begin to appear.

For the filming of this screen version of the Owen Davis play, Warner Bros. assembled a brilliant cast, consisting of Monte Blue, Willard Louis, Beverly Bayne, Margaret Livingston, John Roche, Priscilla Moran, Mary Grabhorn, Martha Petelle, Aileen Manning and Arthur Hoyt.

In addition, he must present a statement from the registrar to the effect that he has passed nine hours of work in the previous term and is signed for twelve hours' work in the term in which the election is to take place.

An amendment has been made to the article dealing with qualifications for positions on the various student publications. In order to be eligible, Ed Gossett, chairman of the Men's Council explained that the aspirant to the down realms of some editorial position "must have served on any one of the publications for one year, or during the preceding school year, must be taking two courses in journalism in the university."

College Heads Had Say in Determining Item Cut in Budget

An authoritative statement has come from the executive office that in the vetoing of the several amounts for the State educational institutions including the $200,000 for the University of Texas summer schools, the college authorities in each instance indicated what they desired vetoed as hurting them the least. This statement has been made by friends of the administration in answer to the criticism for the vetoes.

According to this information, the college authorities were told that it would be necessary to trim the bill and that a certain amount would be taken from each institution and that they were accorded the privilege of indicating what they would rather have vetoed under the circumstances, and that in every instance these requests were followed in the vetoes.

This applies to the University's $100,000 each year for a summer school; that the representatives of the University preferred that it come out as well as the obliteration of the Schools of Journalism and Music, to the curtailment of other long-term work appropriations, that this was agreed to by Dr. Walter M. Splawn, president of the University, and the two regents, George W. Tyler of Belton and Edward Howard of Wichita Falls, in conference.

This same procedure was followed as to the A. & M. College, the College of Industrial Arts and the State Teachers Colleges, it was declared by those who discussed the matter with the Fergusons.

ALL persons who are candidates for degrees in June and who expect to take a teachers diploma in addition, should see Dr. Benedict at once and fill out the proper teachers diploma card (not the B. S. in education.)

of the plans which have been matured through many months.

Let no teacher who has the slightest desire to attend the University this summer alter his or her plans; the summer session of 1925 promises to be the best we have ever had.

The sum of $200,000 vetoed by the Governor last Saturday was voted by the legislature to maintain the summer session of 1926 and 1927. The question, therefore, arises whether there will be a summer session during these years. Several facts must be kept in mind.

First, it ought to be known by all who are interested that the Governor is not in the slightest degree inimical to the summer session of the University. The veto was not exercised in order to close the doors of the University during the summer against 3500 or 4000 students.

Again, the value of the summer session ought to be more fully appreciated throughout the state than it is now. The summer session is the most economical of the entire year; every dollar expended goes twice as far as it can be made to go in the long session. University instruction can be given 3500 students of $115,000 for three months.

The University summer session serves two classes of students.

1. Those who cannot attend the long session because they are at work throughout the year. This includes superintendents and principals of schools, teachers in the high elementary and rural schools, and teachers in colleges. About 2500 of these come during the summer. In many cases city school boards require teachers to spend their summer vacation in advancing their professional knowledge and skill.

2. Students who desire to shorten their college course. These are a most deserving class of students, meriting all the advantages which the state can offer them.

In furnishing instruction to these students during the summer vacation, the state makes an investment in learning which brings an immediate return. The 2500 teachers go out into the schools and colleges of the state to influence and benefit between 250,000 to 400,000 pupils.

It is wholly unimaginable that a school which has run continuously for almost 30 years, that enrolls 3500 students, that serves so economically so great a body should be suddenly and without grave reasons suspended. Every teacher and student may rest assured that the University authorities, the members of the legislature, and the Governor will find some means of continuing a work so vastly important.

THREE BANDS WILL LEAD STUPENDOUS TORCHLIGHT PARADE

Red And Green Flares Will Light The Five Sections of Floats And Marching Students

By Lee Wood.

Lighted by the flare of green and red torches and moving to the tuneful strains of three bands, the most stupendous parade in the annals of the Varsity Circus will be held from 8 to 9 on the night of April 24, when sixty gorgeous floats, representative of every organization in the University, will form in line back of the Capitol and advance down Congress Avenue to Fifth Street and back.

Plans are being carried out to make the procession elaborate and complete in every detail, according to Claude Voyles, manager for the event. Not only will there be unusual features and floats done in artistic color effects, but the time of the parade is an innovation in itself, as the glamor of the occasion will be heightened by the weird light of the many torches.

"We expect to set a precedent for the Varsity Circus when the big night parade is staged," said Voyles. "The city authorities are cooperating with us and the lights on the Avenue will be turned off while the procession is in progress. Freshmen will carry the only lights for the brilliant affair, with red torches on one side and green on the other side of every float."

There will be five sections in the parade, which will be led by the men who have managed the Circus in former years. In the first section, will be President W. M. W. Splawn, the deans of the different schools, and other University officials. Following them will come the float carrying Queen Marion of the House of Ball, and the six duchesses, Martha Reese, Mary Glen Vick, Josephine McHugh, Elizabeth Rice, Elizabeth Hudspeth, and Grace McNamara. They will be escorted by Company "A," 111th Engineers of the National Guard in full uniform.

A feature of the procession will be the electric lighted, hand-carved chariot in which the Imperial Potentate of the Shriners will ride dressed as Ben Hur. Behind him will come the Shrine Band.

In the second section, there will be the floats entered by the thirteen sororities, followed by the Longhorn Band, the members dressed in their orange and white uniforms. Next in order will be the floats entered by the twenty-five fraternities, which will make up the third section of the parade.

Fourth, will come the organization floats, of which there will be fifteen or more, entered by the Woman's Rifle Club, the Cowboys, W. A. A., the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Ramshorn Society, Newman Club, the Orange Jackets, the American Society of Civil Engineers, Cap and Gown, the Home Economics Club, the Pre-Med Association, the Pre-Law Association, literary societies, and possibly others of the organizations on the campus.

The fifth and last division will be made up of eighteen clowns and the comical floats, featuring the J. A. Class Brigade and the clown band, led by the manager of the freshman band. The caliope will bring up the rear of the procession.

Three loving cups will be given as prizes by the Circus committee, one to the best float entered by the men's organizations, one to the best one by the women's organizations, and the third to go to the best comical float entered. The winners will be selected by three judges to be chosen by the circus managers. The cups will be on display at the Co-Op this week.

Various campus groups that wish to enter floats in the parade and have not done so can easily manage it as there will be no obligation or large expense on their account, stated the manager. The circus committee will furnish free the necessary colored paper, confetti, serpentine, torches and torch-bearers to each of the floats, and all that the entrants must do is to decorate the cars or floats and see that they are ready in time.

Claude Voyles is manager for the affair, and is being assisted by several students, including D. A. Webb, who is in charge of the organization section, and Alphonso Ragland, who is handling the fraternity and sorority sections.

Claude Voyles Is Manager Torchlight Parade of Circus

This student is manager of the Varsity Circus parade, and his hard work and ingenuity promise to go a long way toward putting over the parade. The night parade, an innovation, is certain to be one of the most interesting features of the 1925 Circus. Voyles comes from Clovis, New Mexico.

QUEEN WILL HAVE ORIENTAL PALACE

Weird Lighting Effect and Design to Characterize Ballroom

Queen Marion of the House of Ball with her king—after the coronation ceremonies are over Thursday evening, April 23, at 10 o'clock will drive from the Hancock Theater to the Burmesean Palace Ballroom rooms will be used as a reception and the Queen's Ball. Following the king and queen to the Palace will be the court consisting of fifty members and the thirty patronesses. The names of the patronesses will be announced next Wednesday.

Palace to be Oriental
The entrance of the Palace will be through the front of the Woman's Building. One of the large rooms will be used as a reception room; the other will be used as one of the places to dance. The Woman's Gym itself will be the main dance hall. It will be transformed into a beautiful oriental palace. The walls, windows, and ceiling will be covered with a light cardboard. On the covering of cardboard will be stenciled in black oriental designs which will create a weird atmosphere so characteristic of the eastern peoples.

Buddha to be Present
At one end of the room will be a statue of Buddha. The statue is six feet tall and is standing on a pedestal. Buddha was cast by members of the architectural department and is green.

The Palace will be lighted by many beautiful floor lamps with shades of many colors. Around the posts in the Woman's Gym will be draped paper which will be stenciled in the same weird design.

The decoration of the court between the Woman's Building and the Woman's Gymnasium has not been determined as yet. Possibly however refreshments will be served in this square.

Bids for the dance will go on sale April 20 at 9 a. m. and the limit will be four hundred couples and a hundred stags. Bids will be sold at $2 each. The dance floor of the Woman's Gym and the floor in the Woman's Building will hold nine hundred dancers, it has been estimated.

The costumes of the members of the court will be oriental in effect, according to Harvey Eagleson, who is in charge of planning the costumes for the coronation. They will be gorgeous with extravagant trains peculiar to the people of Burma.

MISS FISHER DEVELOPS ORCHESUS ORIGINALITY

Dancing Instructor Thanks Those Responsible for Success of Recitals

"Absolute cooperation on the part of all those assisting us in our presentation, hours of hard work in practice in the making of shades gave our two studio evenings the degree of success attained," stated Susie Fisher in commenting on the performances of Orchesus Club on Tuesday and Wednesday nights of the past week. "I wish to acknowledge publicly my appreciation of the aid given us by the business manager, the lights furnished by Sam Hargrave, and above all, the violin music furnished by Mrs. Gaedecke, the cello of Mr. Galindo, and the piano accompaniment by Elizabeth Baker," she added.

Members of the faculty, Rotarians, and Lions of Austin and students especially interested in the work of the club were guests of honor at the four performances. Aside from the demonstration work of six girls, used to illustrate points of Miss Fisher's lecture on the educational value of dancing, all dances were entirely of an original nature and have been worked out by the girls themselves during their regular class work. The group work was led by Marion Ball and was performed without previous direction. "The girls were familiar with the music and had learned the modes of expression, but they had never followed Miss Ball as a leader," explained Miss Fisher.

Because the club, when known as the "Dancing Club," was so often confused with a social organization, the name was changed to Orchesus, the Greek word meaning "to dance." The Greek type of dancing only is taught in the club and in regular physical education classes.

Girls who took part in the program were: Kathleen Houseman, Frances Graham, Fannie Eisenlohr, Nellie Fox, Helen Shafer, Elizabeth Savitt, Mildred Rudd, Anne Marshall, Ruth Stevens, Kathleen Rupert, Faye Sappington, Margaret West, Margaret Schoch, Patti Bailey, Marion Ball, Elizabeth Thrasher, and Millicent Sheridan.

Full Dress and Tuxedos in Style for Junior Prom

Junior girls in tuxedos and full dress and senior girls in evening gowns will be the outstanding features of the Junior Prom which will be held next Friday evening, April 16, in the Women's Gymnasium. A seven-piece orchestra will furnish the music for the dance, the hours being from 8:30 to 12 o'clock.

The Junior Prom has been an annual affair on the campus for many years. It is the spring form of entertainment for women only, furnished the seniors by the juniors. The affair is carried on as an ordinary formal dance. The "boy" hostesses make dates with the honorees, send flowers, and call for them in taxis. Program are filled and the dances are fulfilled accordingly.

This year's entertainment committee is composed of Mildred Taylor and Bernadine Stokes, and the refreshment committee includes Gladys Stallings and Bonnie Erwin. Black and white decorations will be used and soda water will be sold throughout the evening.

It is desired that every junior girl who dances sign up in Miss Bewley's office, M. B. 111, by Thursday morning. These seniors not having dates are also invited and are promised an enjoyable evening.

T. O. C. Gives Skating Party

T. O. C. entertained with a skating party yesterday afternoon in the Women's Gym complimenting the visiting delegates to the ACACW conference. About seventy-five people enjoyed the afternoon's entertainment.

Charlotte Knowd of Temple has gone to Chicago to attend the national convention of Delta Zeta sorority.

Revolving Light Features Pre-Med Dance Friday Night

From the time the confetti throwing began as the long line of couples marched across the woman's gymnasium floor until the orchestra played "Home Sweet Home," the Pre-Medical society dance was one of the "peppiest" affairs ever held on the campus. Dancing was enjoyed from 9 until 1 o'clock, with the grand march being held at 10 o'clock.

Approximately two hundred students were guests of the Pre-Medical society, and joined in the line of march as the orchestra struck up a march tune at 10 o'clock. The grand march was led by Horry Payne, president, favoring Miss Josephine McHugh, who is one of the Varsity Circus duchesses. James A. Willie, favoring Miss Anna Marshall, led the cotillion.

Red and blue shaded lights changed the gymnasium from a bare appearing hall to an attractive dance floor, and assisted in creating an atmosphere of gaiety for the occasion. A large spot light on the second floor of the gym was kept moving across the floor, and gave the appearance of a revolving beam of light.

Students attending the dance pronounced it one of the many enjoyable social affairs given on the campus so far in the spring term. Chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. T. S. Painter, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Duncan, Dr. and Mrs. O. B. Williams, and Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Gates.

Eugenia Sheppard has as her guests at Kirby Hall her sister, Esther Sheppard, Bessie May Reagan, Katherine Schutze, Kenneth Bonham and Houston Crump. All are students at Texas Christian University and motored from Fort Worth to spend the week end here.

John Bowers is visiting at his home in Houston.

Open House Plan B. Hall Students

B. Hall Association, composed of the resident of B. Hall, mens dormitory, not long ago voted to have "open house" on one night during the present spring term, the night to be determined by a committee appointed for that purpose.

A number of other committees were appointed: program committee, house cleaning committee, entertainment committee, reception committee. The committees are cooperating to make the affair a success.

The nature of the entertainment program is not yet known. In the past, however, "open house" was placed on the social calendar of the University. High University officials were guests and chaperones, and gave their hearty approval to the affair.

On nights of the "open house" the dormitory was thrown open to the public immediately after the supper hour, and remained open until about midnight. At about 8 o'clock, the residents of the hall and their invited guests repaired to the auditorium on the fourth floor of the dormitory, where a program was given by University talent.

After the program refreshments were served, and the remainder of the evening spent by the guests inspecting the rooms of the dormitory. It is said that many co-eds are anxious for an opportunity to see the inside of the one building on the campus from which women are excluded.

Delegates Honored With Reception

Delegates to the Athletic conference held here this week-end were honored Friday afternoon from 4 to 5 in the Girls' Study Hall with one of the most delightful informal affairs on the entire program. Council and members of the local W. A. A. served as hostesses and greeted the representatives of ten colleges and universities with the true "Texas" spirit.

Spring lowers and pink and lavender sweet peas were used in profusion along with palms and ferns, in decorating the reception suite. Impromptu musical selections were rendered by both delegates and members of W. A. A. About 100 guests called during the receiving hours.

Luncheon Given Visiting Delegates

Members of the Orange Jacket entertained visiting delegates to the "Baby Conference" of the National Athletic Conference with an attractive and delectable luncheon Friday at noon in the private dining room of the cafeteria. Members of the Council of W. A. A., Misses Hiss, Schmid, Fisher, and prominent committees were joint honorees.

The large "U" shaped table around which the 75 guests were seated was adorned with yellow and white runners forming an unusual background for the various red sweet peas and green sprays, used as table centerpieces.

Snappy songs rendered by the various delegations, including S. M. U., T. C. U., Stephen F. Austin, North Texas State Teachers' College, Sul Ross, Sam Houston Normal, San Marcos, Baylor University, Baylor Female College and Sargeant; dancing by Jessie Church and Jean Holland, and the introduction of delegates formed the program of entertainment. Marion Penn explained what the Orange Jacket organization stands for, the "introduction of the right kind of school spirit on the campus and the development of an all-round girl" and suggested that similar clubs be formed in each college so that "jacket conventions" could be held. The program was concluded with the singing of the Orange Jacket song and "The Eyes of Texas."

Lorine Shaw is spending the week-end in La Grange.

Kathryn Ship will spend the week-end in Ennis.

Number Please! Operator Gives Low Down on Profs

"Old Fogies" Usually More Considerate Than Other Users

By Bill Murphree

"University," "Number please," "The line's busy," "They don't seem to answer," "That's the trunk line; this is the P.B.X."—these phrases sum up the business vocabulary of Miss Ethel Lallier, pretty brown-eyed operator of the recently installed P. B. X. system in the corridor of the Main Building.

According to Miss Lallier, a real insight on the character and disposition of any man can be gained by the way he talks to the telephone operator. As all of the professors in the University have telephones that are connected with her exchange, she is able to find out what kind of stuff they are made of.

"It would surprise you," stated Miss Lallier, how some of the so-called "old fogy" profs are so nice about calling their numbers. They are never in a hurry to such an extent that they bawl you out but are always kind and considerate. On the other hand, some of the women teachers seem soured on the world and unless you get their connection with the beauty specialist or the chiroprapist at once, they eat you out like an apple. I'll take the men profs on any day," she concluded.

"The boys over in B. Hall are sights," laughed our operator as she connected this apartment with the Woman's Building. "They like to kid you along and they call their place the University Mule-Barn, the Poor-house, and the Brackenridge Apartments. About seven o'clock every evening they line up at the phone and all of them want to talk for fifteen minutes to the flossies whom they have dates with and will see in thirty minutes. Why they do this I don't know, unless it is to have the girls primed on their line of talk so they can be congenial for the rest of the evening," she concluded as she told one party the line was busy, connected two trunk lines, and dialed the Woman's Building.

And this lead her to another train of thought. "If I was writing a directory of don'ts for the students in this University," she stated, "I would put in along with don't shoot craps on the campus and don't mind being investigated another don't and that would be—don't ever try to call the Woman's Building between seven and eight o'clock. Even a death message won't get through. The boys line up in the booth outside of this office and from seven on there is a continual stream of cute palaver and repartee that would put a Majestic to shame."

Miss Lallier has lived in Austin all of her life and worked on the long-distance desk in the exchange downtown before coming to the University. "I have been out here three months," she concluded, "and am liking my job better and better every day." The students and teachers out here are a good bunch of sports and I hope I can stay here always."

'HOW IS THE LONGHORN THIS MORNING?'---THIS IS QUESTION OFTEN ASKED DR. G. F. EVANS

By Vivian Fields

'Tis said that all men and women of note have some particular hobby or idiosyncrasy. Women of such prominence as Constance Talmadge and Dorothy Gish have been seen departing on an European tour, clasping in their hands ungainly, long-legged flapper dolls. An actress famed for her beauty has admitted that a doll cherished from her childhood days was her confidante to whom she confided all her joys and sorrows.

Occupying an honored place on the desk of Dr. G. F. Evans, instructor of English in the State University, there sits a diminutive steer, portraying the pure Texas bred longhorn. This steer is orange in color, has black eyes, and funny rounded ears, with a white T branded on its right side.

Though emblematic of Texas spirit, this cotton stuffed image of a runty little bull would not attract more than casual attention anywhere else. But on Dr. Evans' desk, it is different. Students coming into this room, greet this little orange steer with all solemnity. They lift him from his perch and handle him carefully, some of the girls going so far as to plant a kiss between the branching horns. Not that they mean to be familiar with him, but a reverential kiss as you might say.

The steer receives all this attention stoically. Costing but a quarter in the beginning, he has occupied this position of honor on Dr. Evans' desk for many years. Though some the worse for wear, there is no thought of replacing him with one of new designs. His beady eyes have watched the students come and go. He has seen the exultant in joy and sorrowful to tears. The only ones ever known to treat him with levity are the freshmen, but they soon learn that this is not just an ordinary, stuffed bovine, but one who shares the confidence of the wise.

It is rumored by those who should know that he is the close confidante of Dr. Evans, and he is the one to whom the Doctor appeals when he has to grade some of the dullest theses. "Now, sir," says the Doctor, taking the steer down by his side, and looking at him with a grave face, "What would you do when you have a theme so badly written that you feel like it is impossible? Would you give the fellow another chance to make good, or would you finish him?"

It is not known in just what language the steer replies, or just what he says. But somehow and in some way, it is thought that he balances the scales in favor of the student, consequently he is treated with the greatest respect and deference by all. It is confidentially stated that when Dr. Evans gets angry, (if it

TO EAT, OR TO SLEEP?---CO-EDS OF SCOTTISH RITE DORMITORY HAVE HARD TIME DECIDING

Jewell Pridden

To eat, or to sleep—which shall it be? When the seven o'clock bell chashes into three hundred and twenty-five rosy slumbers at the Scottish Rite Dormitory, the girls must make this decision rather promptly. There is a bell at six-thirty, but it is seldom heard, and never heeded except during the exam crisis. The seven o'clock bell, however, is a more urgent affair. It advises desertion of soft beds and downy pillows for fruit, cereal, and toast. By fourteen minutes after seven, about half the girls are crawling out of bed with a minute to go, while the remaining hundred and fifty sisters have sunk again into invited slumbers.

The breakfast bell rings at 7:15.

Sardines straggle down in singles, pairs, or trios; stopping on the way to get a Texan. Texans are strictly forbidden in the dining room, so the inner criminal urge makes each co-ed delight in breaking this rule. After a mumbled "morning," she drops into her chair, discreetly sitting on the tabooed Texan. The first bite, and the first word comes hard, but after that the consumption of food and conversation are almost normal. By the time bacon and toast arrive, a few jokes have been attempted, the success of which has varied as the peacefulness of the audience's respective nights.

Lunch time brings an entirely different atmosphere. Co-eds rush in breathless, but with astonishing appetites. Then one-ten bell has hardly finished its welcome peal, when a bevy of hungry Sardines rush down the steps. Exclamations of "Gee, I'm hungry!" "Hope we have a plate lunch!" and "Thrills! We have strawberry shortcake," are heard above the clatter of footsteps.

Conversation never lags at the noon hour. Why should it when there is a whole morning of school to discuss? The co-ed sits prepared to shoe in her say as soon as her neighbor pauses for a breath. "My—prof is the sweetest odd devil. He let us walk today for the third time!" "Mine isn't. He's an old bear. Gave us a twenty-page theme for March third," and "Lord, it's not! Wish I had some spring clothes," follow in rapid fire succession.

With the dinner bell comes a more dignified atmosphere. Most of the girls have sought nourishment during the afternoon and have their appetites under control. Each girl insists that her friend enter first and the usual impatient silence during grace is a reverent hush. The hostesses take conventional notice of the plates of their charges. Carrots are accepted as a means to the end of being beautiful, while cream puffs are greeted with a delightful buzz.

Conversation is more formal, and some interest is manifested in a monologue on a picture show or an S.L. The Scottish Rite Girls never linger over their meals. There is always the auditorium for dancing; or the long walks for a stroll, where the Sardine lives in the delightful expectation of being picked up by friends for a ride.

WIGMORE RANKS LAW SCHOOL HIGH

Women Law Students in University Should Make Good, Says Dean

"Judging from the impression which I have gained during my brief visit on the campus, the School of Law at Texas University ranks high among the foremost law schools of the country, and is one which any student should be proud to attend," stated Dean J. H. Wigmore, dean of the law school at Northwestern University and one of the foremost educators of America.

"Schools of law in American universities and colleges are better than any in the world, and that" that remarked Dean Wigmore. Coming from one who has studied all the legal systems of the world and who is better acquainted with these systems than any other living scholar, this statement can but bring great can be said that Professors ever do such things, that he grasps the steer by the horns and wrestles with him. Who wins in this unequal contest is not known, as this is mere rumor, too. But it is true that the steer sits on top of the Professor's desk, and students coming in stop long enough to hold a conversation with him. "How is the Longhorn this morning?" is an oft repeated expression in this office.

CHEAPER TO ATTEND SCHOOL IN FRANCE THAN IN THE U. S., DECLARES VARSITY STUDENT

By Hazel Hedick

One can live and study much cheaper in France than in the United States, according to Francis H. German, 20-year-old Austin boy who has been in Paris over six months, studying piano, voice, solfeggio, and French.

Some of the best musicians in the world can be obtained as teachers there at much less than it would be necessary to pay for the best music teachers in this country. The living expenses there are also only a small fraction of those in the United States.

German was for two years a student of Baylor University. Last year he attended the University of Texas. His musical talent was represented by the prominent part which he took in musical affairs about the campus. Last year he served as accompanist and soloist in the University Glee Club. He was also a member of the honorary musical fraternity which was organized last spring. Not only did he teach voice and piano during the winter and spring terms but he composed several selections of both classical and popular natures.

While attending Texas University, German majored in English. His literary ability was quite noticeable. Several of his articles in poetry and prose appeared in different issues of the Longhorn Magazine.

German sailed from New York last August, going directly to Paris. He was accompanied by Victor Powell, another Austin lad, who is proving his merits as a musician. These two young men are staying with Powell's aunt who makes her home in Paris. They are attending no schools but are studying their choice of subjects under teachers. Mademoiselle

Long, who is considered as one of the best musicians in France, is instructing German in piano.

He intends to remain there until August, when he will return to this country and will probably re-enter the University. Only one more year is necessary for him to receive a degree, and then, according to members of his family, his plans extend to the year following when he will return to Paris to resume his studies under the world's greatest musicians.
