

FACULTY FAILS TO PROTEST REMOVAL OF U. POSTOFFICE

Petition Against Mail Change Not Sent to Varsity Officials

CLASSROOM SPACE NEEDED

Merchants Favor Removal to Guadalupe Street for Business Interests

Opposition to the moving of the postoffice by the faculty will not take the form of a petition, it was indicated on the campus Saturday. While there were many members of the faculty who strongly opposed the moving of the University Station from its present convenient place in the Main Building, they felt that the petition would be coldly received since it appeared that University officials were convinced that the station should be moved.

Favor Change

It is understood that business interests on Guadalupe Street, where the University Station will be moved to, were very much in favor of the change, and had promised to pay the rent on the building to be occupied by the University Station.

Moving of the University Station means additional class room space of two rooms, but it also means that several hundred students and faculty members will be seriously inconvenienced by the moving of the office, those who oppose the change point out.

Not too Late

Postoffice officials have made the statement that it is not too late to stop the moving of the University Station if a petition signed by students and faculty were presented to the proper authorities.

This statement pertaining to the issuing of the salary checks was made by Long because of reports circulating to the effect that faculty members and employees would be unable to secure their checks until after the holidays.

Silver Cup to Best All-round Girl to Be Given in Spring

Every year the College Women's Club of Houston gives a silver cup to the "Best All-around Girl" of the University of Texas, according to Miss Ruby Terrill, dean of women. In choosing the girls to receive this honor, scholarship, democratic spirit, popularity with both boys and girls, organizations belonged to, and physical aspects are considered.

At the annual Senior Swing-out, held in the spring, the cup is presented by the dean of women. A committee composed of the dean of women, the student life secretary for women, and the head of the Physical Education Department for Women, and the president of the Women's Honor Council, and the president of Cap and Gown, seniors girls' organization, make the selection.

Eugenia Marshall of Hearne was awarded the cup for the first year. It was given to Elizabeth Tucker of Nacogdoches the following year. Last year it went to Rachel Dunnaway of Amarillo.

Blue Pencil Club Members Sell Stories

That Blue Pencil Club members are achieving prominence in the feature story world is evidenced by the fact that seven of the ten members have sold stories within the last two weeks.

Among those having articles in State newspapers recently are Hazel Hedick, who had a four-column story in the Dallas News on vocational education in Texas; Vivian Richardson, whose article on "Lion Trails Along the Rio Grande" appeared in the December issue of the Southwest Magazine; David Morris, who had a story on Dan Moody in today's St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and has sold another to the Austin American-Statesman and the San Antonio Express; Sam Johnson received a check from Newspaper Enterprise Association for a story on Jack Dempsey; Granville Price has sold a story on the fossilized elephant bones found near here, the article appearing Sunday in the Galveston News; and Trueman O'Quinn writes two feature stories each week for the Beaumont Enterprise and recently sold that paper articles on Garrison Hall, the University of Guadalupe, and Dean T. U. Taylor's famous chair.

CHANCELLORS TO TAP NEW MEMBERS

Jeffrey Presides; Prominent Judges and Attorneys on Program

Promising to be one of the most successful affairs ever given by the Law School, the annual banquet for the future followers of the legal profession will be given Tuesday night on the roof of the Stephen F. Austin Hotel. Lewis A. Jeffrey, president of the Law Department, will introduce the first speaker on the program.

Moody Talks.

Chief among the speakers will be Honorable Dan Moody, attorney-general of Texas, and a Texas ex. Next in order of appearances will be Thomas Watt Gregory, graduate of the School of Law in 1883 and one of the foremost members of the bar of Texas. During the Wilson administration Gregory was Attorney-General of the United States for two years.

Judge W. C. Morrow, presiding justice of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, will also be one of the prominent speakers to talk before the assemblage Tuesday night. Following Judge Morrow will be Associate Justice William Pierson of the Supreme Court of Texas, Justice Pierson, prior to his election to the Supreme Court, was a district judge for several years.

Stayton Toastmaster.

The complete program, as announced by Judge Robert W. Stayton of the Law School faculty, who will act as toastmaster after an introduction by Jeffrey, will include, in addition to the four speakers above named, the speakers of the classes, Carl G. Phinney for the J. A.'s, Percy E. Foreman for the Middle Laws, and Henry S. Kelly for the seniors. Music for the evening will be furnished by Steve Gardner's orchestra. The Law School quartet, composed of Tom L. Hartley, M. Lucian Touchstone, William J. R. King, and Woodward Ritter, will render several selections. Hartley will also give several yodelling songs.

Chancellors will hold its annual Tap Day ceremony during the course of the evening. Chancellors, founded in 1912, is the honorary society of the Law School, and each year elects to membership not more than 15 per cent of who must rank among the highest 20 per cent in scholarship. The Chancellors, in black robes, will tap the newly elected members on the evening of the banquet. Sterling C. Holloway is Grand Chancellor of the organization.

Perigrinus Will Be There.

And, of course, Perigrinus. No law banquet since 1904, the date of Perry's birth, has been complete without this nondescript patron saint of the legalites. The tradition in connection with the coming into the world of Perigrinus tells that Russell Savage, one of the best cartoonists who ever enrolled in the school in the valley, after listening to a lecture by Colonel W. S. Simkins on the subject of the Roman equity judge for aliens, known as the praetor perigrinus, was called upon for some information just given by the Colonel, and was forced to admit, "I don't know, Judge."

Next morning, before class, Savage slipped into the room, picked up a piece of chalk, and this strange and beloved half-breed emerged to the astonished view of the class, bearing the label, "This is the Perigrinus." All law students have since venerated the animal under the

Longhorns and Saints to Play This Week

ONLY TENTATIVE
DATES ARRANGED

Basket Ball Practice Discontinued Six Days During Holidays

Longhorn eaglemen will be seen in action for the first time this season when they meet the St. Edwards quintet for two games the latter part of this week, according to a statement given out by Coach E. J. (Doe) Stewart last night.

Thursday and Friday.

Only tentative dates have been set for the two games, which will likely be the only ones the Longhorns will play before the Christmas holidays, Coach Stewart said. It is probable, however, that the games will be played on Thursday and Friday nights.

Basket ball practice will be officially discontinued only six days during the holidays, which arrangement is in keeping with the Southwestern Conference rules. Practice must be discontinued two days before Christmas Day and cannot be resumed until three days after the holiday.

No Drill.

A number of the Longhorns will remain in Austin during the holiday period to work out with Coach Stewart, but no official drill will be carried on during the six days set aside by the conference ruling.

Austin All-Stars and Silents Battle to Scoreless Tie

Featuring the forward passing of Roger Powell's Texas Silents, and the line plunging of the Austin All-Stars, the two teams battled to a scoreless deadlock at the Stadium Saturday.

Rufus King was sent in for the All-Stars and one one play gained 30 yards. Coach Powell protested this, and the Rammer was removed and the ball brought back to its original position.

University of Mexico May Be Represented at T.U. Relay Games

General athletics were discussed at the University of officials of the University of Mexico yesterday, according to L. Theo. Belmont. The Mexican officials sought information on athletics of all kinds and the methods of conducting them in the United States.

Athletes from the University of Mexico will in all probability be represented in the relay games to be staged at the University March 26.

ENGINEERS LEAD FOR GILL TROPHY

Laws Are Second, With First Place in Grid Race; Pre-Meds Third

Points toward the large Gill trophy, the intramural loving cup which must be won by a department three successive years to retain possession, have just been announced by Director Berry Whitaker. The Engineers were victorious in 1923 and 1924, but in 1925 the Pre-Laws won the right to have their name engraved on the silver trophy.

Thirty-Six Points.

The earliest points toward the trophy for the present season were tabulated at the close of the recent successful gridiron season. The victorious Law School eleven gave the legal department 36 points. The Engineers with their runner-up status

Frosh Teams Not to Compete With Outsiders in '26

The Athletic Council at the University has ruled that freshmen teams will not be allowed to compete with teams from outside of Austin in the future, according to L. T. Belmont. Freshman contests will be confined hereafter to teams in Austin, so that the students will not have their studies interrupted by trips away from the University, it is said.

This ruling is a precedent in the Southwest, as no other school or college has ever passed such a ruling.

were slated with 30 points. The Pre-Meds were given third place because of their 500 per cent standing. The Academics, the B. B. A.'s, and the Pre-Laws were awarded 12 points each for their football efforts.

The second list of points toward the high 30-inch loving cup, came as a result of the cross-country meet between the various schools on the campus. In this event, the Alecs were first with 18 points. The Business team was second with 15 marks. The Benedict-Parlin squad amassed 12 points toward the cup. The Medics were last to score with 9 points. The Pre-Laws failed to place any of their runners.

Totals for Fall.

Totals for the close of the 1925 division of the year of 1925-26 are as follows: Engineers, 48; Laws, 36; Pre-Meds, 33; B. B. A.'s, 27; Academics, 24, and Pre-Laws, 12.

The next event of the Gill card is the basketball race. Much interest is already displayed by the six departments, and a warm contest is expected, according to Neal Pickett, intramural student director.

BIG DAM LOBOE SETTLES CLEBURNE TIE TUESDAY

CISCO SCENE OF PLAY-OFF GAME

Cleburne High School May Counter Offer for Game

As a result of a decision given out by the Interscholastic League executive committee Saturday afternoon, the Cleburne High School Yellowjackets and the Cisco Big Dam Lobos, the 0-0 tie game which was played by the two teams Friday will have to be played off Tuesday. The game will probably be played in Cisco, according to Roy Henderson, athletic director of the Interscholastic League.

"The clash may be held at Cleburne if the Cleburne High School authorities make an offer to Cisco which is accepted. The League does not require that games between two contestants be played on neutral grounds. Cisco and Cleburne will arrange as to where the game will be played," Director Henderson said.

Cleburne sent two representatives to the conference Saturday, Supt. Emmett Brown and Coach H. S. Parker. Cisco was not personally represented, but wired in a statement.

The Waco Tigers will meet the Beaumont High team this week in addition to the Cleburne-Cisco clash. The finals will be played before the Christmas holidays.

Students and faculty members should shop now before the rush of exams.

BOAT RACE ON LAKE AUSTIN TO BE HELD THIS AFTERNOON

Oars will flash on the placid waters of Lake Austin this afternoon when two members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity meet at 4 o'clock to settle the question of who is the best sailor.

"Spider" Connor, Varsity track man, contends that he is as fast with the oars in his hand as he is on the track. Frank "Sailor" Mitchell disputes the claim of Connor that he is the best sailor, and to prove his claim, has challenged Connor to row across Lake Austin in row-boats this afternoon.

The winner of the event will be presented with a loving cup after he has demonstrated his supremacy on the water. It is called the Annual Sailor's Trophy of the S. A. E. fraternity.

Fencing Classes to Be Discontinued in Winter and Spring

No credit for fencing will be given during the remainder of the 1925-26 session, it was announced by the Athletic Council Saturday, and all classes in fencing will be discontinued. The decision was made by the council because of "unsatisfactory results" obtained in the classes so far conducted this year.

Fencing equipment amounting in value to more than $200 has been collected by the council, which will remain in the hands of the athletic department in all probability. Fencing clubs will continue at the University.

This fall was the first year that fencing has been given for credit in physical training, it is said.

Students and faculty members should shop now before the rush of exams.

$120,000 CONTRACTS SIGNED FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNEX— MAY BE READY IN SEPTEMBER

All of the contracts have been signed and the work has been begun on the annex of the University Presbyterian Church. The building contract was signed by James F. Johnson for $99,500.00. John L. Martin has the contract for the electric wiring and fixtures for $2,365.00, and the contract for the plumbing was taken by Donnelly and White at $7,500.00.

Costs $120,000

The entire cost of the annex is estimated to be $120,000. This will include the above contracts together with the architect's fee and the necessary amounts for furnishings and equipment.

Frederick W. Mann of Minneapolis, Minn., is the chief architect, and Geo. A. Endress is the local supervising architect.

The contract calls for the building to be completed by October 15, 1926, but the contractor is pushing the work so that it will possibly be ready by September, in time for the opening of the fall term of the University.

The annex is being built on the north side of the present church building and will greatly alleviate the crowded condition that exists because of inadequate seating capacity in the present auditorium and the lack of class rooms. It will have buff brick walls, a tile roof, and steel and cement floors to make it absolutely fireproof.

Contains Kitchen

The plans specify that there will be a large recreation room, a dining room, serving room, kitchen, two class rooms and a store room in the basement.

The first floor will have a student assembly room that will seat between five and six hundred people, the beginners' department, a large ladies' parlor, the cradle roll room, the office of the church, and a kitchenette.

The second story will have six student class rooms, the primary department, and the balcony of the auditorium, which will be two stories high.

Sororities Celebrate Xmas With Parties

Nearly every sorority seized opportunity the Christmas season afforded to give some form of party or dance in honor of the members. The affair usually took on the form of a Christmas tree, others planned both Christmas trees and buffet suppers, while others had informal dances to celebrate the ending of the fall term and the holidays.

Delta Delta Delta sorority has planned a Christmas tree for its pledges and members to be held Sunday night at the chapter house. One hour and a half, from 7 until 8:30 o'clock, will be devoted to the presenting of gifts to the pledges and members.

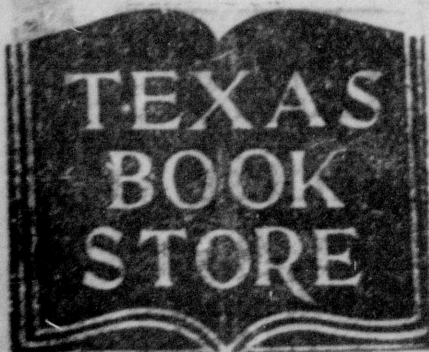

Phi Mu sorority has selected the afternoon for their Christmas party and from 4 until 7 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the members and pledges will receive their gifts at the Phi Mu chapter house. Appropriate decorations will enliven the occasion.

Kappa Delta sorority will not give their party until Saturday night when a tree will be held at the chapter house. The party will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Gamma Phi Beta entertained with a Christmas kid party at the chapter house Saturday night from 7 until 9 o'clock.

LEAGUE RULES ON SHERMAN HI CASE

School Failed to Enumerate Caraway in 1922-23, Say Officials

In refusing to re-instate Elbert Caraway as being eligible for the Sherman High School football team, the executive committee of the University Interscholastic League adopted the following resolution, giving reasons for the action taken, according to Roy Bedichek, chief of the League:

"Whereas, three consecutive and corroborative census rolls in the office of the State Department of Education, viz., the consolidated census rolls for Grayson County for 1919-20, 1920-21, 1921-22, show that Elbert Caraway to the Sherman football team is now more than twenty-one years of age; and

"Whereas, the failure to enumerate Caraway in 1923 further corroborates these rolls; and

"Whereas, earlier documents which were presented by Sherman or obtained in Grayson County show conclusive evidence of alterations with regard to the date of birth and age of Elbert Caraway; and

"Whereas, Section 1, Article VIII, of the Constitution and Rules provides that in all matters of dispute arising under the Age Rule, 'earliest documentary evidence shall be final';

"Be it resolved by the State Executive Committee of the University Interscholastic League, that the committee feels bound to be guided in its decision, not by the affidavits submitted by Sherman, but by the unquestioned documentary evidence cited above, and for these reasons declines to reverse its former decision ruling Caraway ineligible under the Age Rule."

AIRPLANE STUNTS AT MABRY TODAY

Special Attractions Are Scheduled by Pilot Jerry Marshall

Camp Mabry will be the scene of a special all-day airplane attraction Sunday, according to Pilot Jerry Marshall, and a special rate of $2.50 per passenger will be charged throughout the day.

According to Ike Sewell, manager of Jerry Marshall, the airplane will be on the grounds at Camp Mabry all day today, and will carry passengers in both the morning and the afternoon. Stunts will feature the afternoon rides, according to Sewell.

Saturday morning Marshall flew to Waco, carrying Webb Ruff, manager of the Longhorn Band, who was called there on business. The trip was made in good time, and Ruff has suggested this means of transportation as a method to be adopted by vacationing students within the next few days.

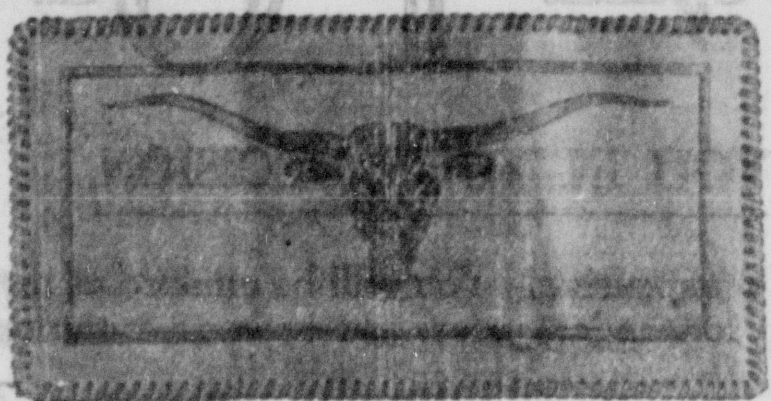

Marshall will remain at Camp Mabry until after the exams are completed, and will return to the University with the beginning of the second term in January.

HONOR COUNCILS GIVE STEPS IN REPORTING CASES OF VIOLATION

Steps to be taken in reporting cases to the men's and women's honor councils have been outlined by the chairmen of these bodies for the benefit of students in doubt as to the procedure. There has been a lack of understanding with regard to reporting violations of the honor system, according to the officials, and the details, as outlined by them, follow:

Don't Pass Buck.

"If you see a case of cheating during an examination, do not simply 'pass the buck' by omitting the pledge in order to save your conscience, for such practices make the Honor System an unwieldy and burdensome thing when it is really very simple. Half of the cases reported in this way never reach the Councils. Then, the students blame the profs and the profs blame the students. Give the Councils some definite information on which to base their investigation. Help them prosecute the offenders.

"You can do this by obtaining the name of the person you suspect of cheating by asking his name of the professor, an assistant, or some student in the vicinity.

Show Another Student.

"If it is possible, call another student's attention to what is going on, and in so doing your testimony will be made doubly effective and convincing, and practically unquestionable. Such information should then be given either in writing or verbally to Dean Hubbard, the chairmen of the honor council involved, or any member of the council. If the cheating occurs between a man and a woman student, the case is tried by both councils.

"It should be a matter of personal interest to each student to see that the Honor System is enforced on the campus. It rests with the student body."

Carols and Other Musical Numbers Scheduled for "Y" Banquet

In order to help pass Christmas Day pleasantly, the University Y. M. C. A. will give a dinner to students who remain in Austin through the holidays. Tickets for the dinner are now being distributed by Block Smith, secretary of the "Y," and it is urged that all who desire them to get their tickets early in order to give the Y. M. C. A. an idea of how many will be present.

Special entertainment for those who partake of the dinner has been arranged. Speeches will be included on the program during the dinner.

After dinner a group of University singers will sing a number of Christmas carols, and later in the afternoon special music will be given by various students. Those taking part in the activities have not as yet been announced, but an attempt will be made to make the program as interesting as possible.

Mice, Caterpillars Lead Soft Life As Pets of Co-eds

Canaries, Parrots And Bulbs Adopted By Dormitory Girls

BY TRUEMAN O'QUINN

"Whose pet are you?" queried Bugs the Goldfish of Capernicus the Caterpillar.

"Oh, I belong to the girls next door," replied Capernicus, purring contentedly in the morning sunshine.

"Well, how about a frolic this morning?" further ventured the google-eyed Bugs as he poised himself for a jump at the hunk of fish-flake.

"No, I guess not," demurred Capernicus. "Since poor Ptolemy died I take very little exercise. He was so companionable, you know, and now I must preserve my energies for my butterfly days."

No, boys and girls, this isn't a bed-time story being broadcast over the radio to the little folks. It's merely a conversation that may have taken place out at the Scottish Rite Dormitory between two pets belonging to the girls.

Perhaps further eavesdropping would reveal much more about the pets, but not about all the pets, for the University boarding houses and dormitories are filled with varied collections of pets which include mice, caterpillars, fish, cats, parrots, canaries, flowers, bulbs, and dogs.

U. Co-Eds Love Mice.

The traditional legend that girls are afraid of bugs and caterpillars and mice has been shattered by University co-eds, who have tamed them all in campus dormitories. The story is told of the capture and attempt to rear two fine young caterpillars taken near the Scottish Rite dormitory. The young captives were taken into a room on the third floor and placed among some green pot plants, but one of them died of a broken heart or some hidden sorrow, and was named Ptolemy, for he was "dead as a mummy."

He's a Telescope.

The other caterpillar lived and thrived, and was named Capernicus, because he folded and unfolded like a telescope as he "walked," thus emulating the action of the great Capernicus' astronomical development—the telescope.

Capernicus was a friend of "Bug" the Goldfish belonging to Bonnie Tom Robinson, and he took many sun baths along the rim of Bugs' bowl.

Capernicus eventually turned into a beautiful butterfly, and was released at a window with great ceremony, and Bugs was given a celluloid turtle for a companion.

Probably the most unusual thing in the way of a dormitory pet is a set of flower bulbs owned by Dorothy Harris and Leta Graham at the S. R. D. There are nine of the bulbs, five narcissus bulbs, two hyacinths, and two "unknown." Each one of the bulbs is named for some friend, and the competitive growth of the plants has aroused considerable interest in the circle of friends.

Regular reports are made on the bulbs, which started sprouting some weeks ago, and at the last notice, the girls were outgrowing the boys rapidly.

"Golly," the Canary.

A very common pet among the co-eds is the canary, usually caged in the room, where its singing can be enjoyed to best advantage. A number of the canaries are caged in other parts of the dormitories, in the hallways, corridors, and parlors.

"Golly" is a gorgeously colored canary belonging to the girls at S. R. D. "Golly" was named for Galli Curci, the operatic star, because of his wonderful trill and warble concerts given early every morning as the girls file down to breakfast.

The eds who drop in at SRD for visits may sometimes see Golly sitting in his cage, swung from a stand in the main parlors. He entertains while the eds await the belated arrival of their dates.

The dormitory pet at Grace Hall is "Polly," a parrot of shrill voice and rasping tongue, who squawks loudly every time the rattle of knives and forks is heard from the dining hall. Polly likes to eat and drink, and when the girls at Grace Hall eat and drink, he throatily voices his desires until some attention is given his wishes.

Polly Wants a Cracker.

The parrot is kept in the basement most of the time, but is occasionally moved to the hallway on the first floor, where he can greet the co-eds as they come in from classes. He is a favorite with the girls, regardless of his vociferousness and noisy demand for attentions when he feels his neglect too keenly.

A 2-months-old Persian cat has lately been adopted by the co-eds at Kirby Hall, where the young feline lopes up and down the hallways like a puppy and is petted by all the girls.

The Persian kitty's mania for hopping on clean beds with his dirty feet gets him in slight difficulties at times, but on the whole his friendly attitude saves his fur.

Flowers that are watched and named, canaries named for great singers, unruly parrots, and friendly cats by no means complete the list of dormitory pets. There are some pets whose existence cannot be known to the chaperons, and their story must naturally be a secretive one.

Girls Feed Mice.

For example, the story goes that two small mice were found half-starved in a bath room of the women's building, and were fed secretly for weeks by the girls whose benevolence would have been censured very likely.

Satisfaction Is Expressed Conduct Fall Term Dances

Complete satisfaction on the conduct of social affairs at the University was expressed by Mrs. Florence Bell of the dean of women's office Friday.

"The organizations giving dances this term have followed the new rules with respect to the conduct of dances and we feel that fall social affairs were the best managed in the history of the University," said Mrs. Bell.

Many fraternities and sororities have already filed applications for dances to be held during the winter term. With a great number held last term the winter is the real social season of the University, as indicated by the number of formal affairs, which are scheduled to take place. One or more fraternities have already made application for a Friday or Saturday night date. These applications will be considered when the social calendar meets the first week in January.

Saturday night the all-University dance and German closed the fall term social affairs.

For the information of all organizations planning dances next term the following regulations are printed:

1. That no petition for a place on the social calendar be considered which is presented earlier than 30 days before the beginning of the term in which the social affair is to be held.

2. That the petitioner present a written statement from the manager of the club or hotel or other place approved, where the social affair is to be held, stating that he has the preference for the date requested.

3. That the organization giving the social affair name one of its members as the organization representative who shall be personally responsible to the manager of the club or hotel or any other approved place for the conduct of the dance. Failure by the representative so named to co-operate with the manager shall be reported by the manager to the social calendar committee.

4. That no costume party of any sort be permitted unless such costumes are conventional, final decision as to conventionality being in the hands of the Dean of Women and her assistant.

5. That all devices calculated to cause rowdiness and unseemly behavior, such as "wifebeaters" and paddles, be prohibited.

6. That the organization giving the social affair be held responsible for the conduct of the affair, both as to its members and its guests. In addition, responsibility will be fastened also on individuals.

7. That the manager of the social affair in every case be required to make a detailed report to the Social Calendar committee within forty-eight hours after the affair is held, the form of this report to be as per attached, and this report form to be read carefully by the representative of the organization petitioning for a place on the calendar, before signing application for same. When the report is given by a group in its own home, the report to the Social Calendar Committee shall be made by the president of the organization. This report shall be sent by the Social Calendar Committee to the Faculty Discipline Committee, except when they concern the all-University dance, the Thanksgiving reception and ball, and the University German Club dances.

Newlyweds Spend Honeymoon Corpus Christi

Leaving after a beautiful wedding ceremony Thursday evening at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Hunt have arrived in Corpus Christi to spend their honeymoon, according to word received from the newlyweds by friends on the campus.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ratliff, 2102 Rio Grande Street, their daughter, Mary, was married Thursday evening to F. F. Hunt of Austin. The wedding ceremony, simple yet impressive, was said by Dr. H. C. Garrison of the Central Christian Church.

The parlors of the Ratliff home were made to assume the spirit of the Christmas season with decorations and formed a suitable setting for the marriage.

Mrs. Vena K. Mathews of Austin played the wedding march as the bride and groom came into the parlor where the ceremony was performed. Ruth Ratliff, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and F. L. McNamara was best man.

Mrs. Hunt is a graduate of the University and a member of the Phi

A large Christmas tree with elaborate decorations will be placed on the stage in the auditorium, and hundreds of toys will be hung from it.

It is the custom that the girls give a large number of these toys to the poor children of Austin after the Christmas party is over.

McKay-Emmons Wedding Nov. 27 Is Announced

Beautifully engraved announcements have been mailed out today by Mrs. Daniel Boone Emmons, announcing the marriage of her daughter, Gertrude, to Jack Ayndon McKay of Ferris, Texas, on Friday, November 27, 1925. The bride is an Austin girl and has been very popular in both Austin and University circles. She is a graduate of Austin High School and attended the University of Texas for three years. The bridegroom attended the University of Texas two years, having transferred here from Trinity University. He was a member of Theta Xi fraternity and a very popular student. He received his B.A. and B.B.A. degrees from the University at the end of the summer school of 1925. Mr. and Mrs. McKay have gone to Dallas to live, where Mr. McKay is in business.

Kirby Hall Greet Santa Claus Saturday

Kirby Hall held its annual Christmas party Saturday night just after the dinner hour. A large Christmas tree, attractively decorated, had been placed in the center of the living room. Besides the regular Christmas decorations there was a gift on the tree for each girl, and also for the chaperons.

The program, prepared by Donella Smith, chairman of the social committee, was in the form of a children's Christmas program and was given before the gifts were distributed. A group of girls dressed as little tots sang songs. The songs were followed by a number of Christmas speeches and recitations.

At the close of the program Santa Claus appeared, the gifts were presented to the girls, and the living room was turned over to the girls for the evening.

Spring Concert Tour By Girls' Glee Club

"Although there is nothing definite about it, we expect to establish a precedent this year by arranging a schedule for a concert tour the coming spring," said Minerva Cunningham, president of the Girls Glee Club of the University, while commenting on the activities of the club.

"Any trips the member of the girls' club make will be to nearby towns and will only take them away from the University for the weekend. With these possible trips in view, I believe that the girls will get more than they anticipate out of the work in the Girls Glee Club."

There are now fifty members in the club, and they are practicing for a concert to be given in the spring term. New music has been ordered, and it is expected to suit the taste of the people who will hear the club.

A number of social affairs will be held by the members of the club during the winter and spring term, it is said.

Three Nuts Receive Keys at Luncheon

With the High Worthy Nutt, Marion Penn presiding, the members of the elastic fraternity gathered at the Cafeteria at luncheon Friday and initiated three into the fraternity.

Around the necks of Priscilla Austin, Maybelle Corf, and Kathleen Hardwicke, were hung the Nut keys—reunited on red strings. After the initiation, the new members presented with the assistance of other Nuts, a one act play called "The Gathering of the Nuts." Misses Corf and Austin gave a duet called "Orphans of the Storm," which was more than enthusiastically received by the old members.

Nuts who were present for the first formal luncheon to be held this year by the elastic fraternity were Miss Lula May Bewley, Ruth McMillan, Annie Rae Keiffer, Elizabeth Baker, Frances Molesworth of Belton, Kathleen Molesworth, Helen Reed, Marion Penn, Bernice Green, Mary Goldran, Patti Bailey, Kathleen Hardwicke, Maybelle Corf, and Priscilla Austin.

Carroll Thomas, president of the Valley Club, will spend the holidays at his home in San Benito and he will also sponsor the Rio Grande Valley dance.

Virginia Agnew will leave for her home in McAllen at the end of exams. Virginia is a sister of Francis Agnew, chairman of the Woman's Council.

THE UNIVERSITY'S NEW TRUST

While the cornerstone of Garrison Hall was laid with all the propitiatory ceremonies that seem appropriate in invoking the consummation of the ideal of which the foundation blocks of this building are but a beginning, the announcement of the gift by Miriam Luther Stark of her art collection to the University marks the dedication event as one which will live, not only in the history of the University, but in that of the whole State of Texas.

The princely bequests and foundations that have been bestowed upon institutions of learning by rich benefactors have evoked all manner of praise. Universities such as Chicago, Stanford, and Vanderbilt owe their existence to these expressions of generosity which the makers of great fortunes, or the heirs of great fortunes, have wisely bestowed upon agencies of culture.

But the gift of Mrs. Stark is of a different order. It has more than a material significance to us. This gift cannot be interpreted in terms of monetary value, as in the instance of laboratory equipment or of buildings erected at a certain stipulated cost. In passing on to us these many treasures, each one of which is an expression of her love and her appreciation of art, Mrs. Stark has endowed us with an inspiration toward aesthetic enjoyment, rather than making us the proprietors of so many curios and so many rare paintings.

The significance of this gift, then, lies not in its mere value, but in that it constitutes the University of Texas a trustee to a foundation, the beneficiaries of which are not only those who attend the University, but the people of the entire state.

THE OBSTRUCTIONIST

The approaching examinations give rise to a word of warning and admonition. We are very busy, and do not like to be overrun with cases immediately after the holidays. Of course, our attitude is purely a selfish one; but we plead with the would-be cheats and frauds not to add to the already too heavy collection of scalps which dangle from our belts, rustling dryly in the warm breeze of student honor.

The other day an ex-student, who had cheated his way to an audience with the Honor Council and lied himself into a suspension, modestly told the chairman that he was an aristocrat of the Old South. "Why," quoth he, "I am a direct lineal descendent of Henry Clay." He received the reply, "That is honor's scorn which challenges itself as honor's born and is not like the sire." Moral: Don't come before the Council with the plea that the University of Texas is signally honored by the presence of a descendent of an illustrious progenitor. We feel that it is no fault of the ancestor. Our beatifications upon him! May he rest in peace! We recognize no aristocracy of blood or legal tender. The only peerage we know is honor.

This same aristocratic son of the Old South pleaded his presumption of innocence. But when two papers are identical, and the innocence of one writer is established, the presumption falls. As someone has expressed it: "Presumptions are bats of the law, that flit about in the twilight of uncertainty, but disappear in the sunshine of actual knowledge." Doubtless the twenty-odd students whom the Council has this fall relieved of further scholastic responsibility would be glad to attest to the fact that the presumption of innocence in which we indulge will not shield elephantine dishonesty.

We believe in the student body, in its support of the honor system. We believe in the unqualified co-operation of the faculty in most respects. But we bear no love for the obstructionist, be he student or instructor. When a man accepts a position on our faculty, he agrees to accept a government by the students. When such instructor tells his students he does not believe in the honor system, he not only breaches his agreement; but he destroys the morale of his class, encouraging his students to carry the germ to their other classes. We plead with such instructors to be a bit more constructive in their thought and influence, to require the pledge to be written out in full, and to read it carefully on each paper. Pity the man with nothing to offer but destructive criticism, the moron who hides behind the professorial cloak, conceiving intellectualty to be evidenced by moral degeneracy and un-conventionality.

But the success or failure of student government rests ultimately in the hands of the students. If you cannot pass your courses honestly, fail honestly. Do not place upon the shoulders of the Honor Council the responsibility of taking your credit from you. The task is unpleasant and distasteful in extreme. If you cheat, you will be detected; if you are detected, you will be penalized. Have regard for us and for yourselves. Or perhaps you too would like an opportunity to write a little treatise on "THE HONOR COUNCIL AS SEEN BY AN EX-STUDENT."—O. R.

HAROLD TEEN—THE SAGE AND THE SHEIK

Our Campus

BY ROY McDONALD

Regrettably I enter upon my task tonight, for the first thing I must do is disillusion the Man with the Iron Mask, and his chivalrous supporters, and even Gara, concerning the author of the column last Thursday. Last perchance, the Knight of the Ferrous Mug should labor under the false impression that I had suddenly managed to write a column in which I actually said something. I must inform him that Thursday's article was by his friend, M. G., and that my name was placed at its head through an exchange of "by-lines." It happened just the other way a couple of weeks ago, and G. and I are now even. But we cannot allow the Man to be chewing his nails—can a man with an iron mask chew his nails—in vexation at our sudden, apparent, imitation of the chameleon.

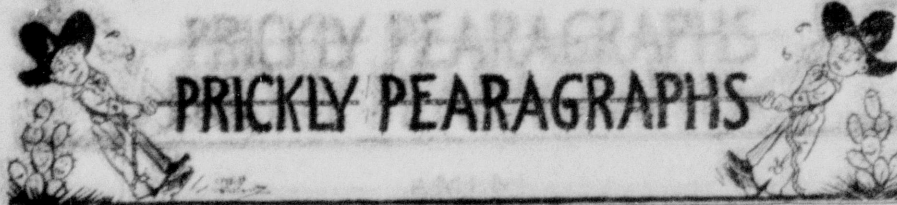

In the lobby of the Main Building, Home Economics girls are dedicating their days to separating susceptible students from their money. The unique thing about their effort is that the student is well rewarded for his susceptibility if he lets the lusciousness of the candy and the attractiveness of the salesladies overturn his better judgment. It is worthwhile—this scholarship fund which these girls use in bringing worthy students to the University. And we admire their method of raising the money more than we do that of the organization who makes the campus an enlarged "tag" game at a dime per tag. (Of course I'm hungry, girls.)

No student will represent Texas at the Student World Court Conference at Princeton. We don't know a thing about the conference, or whether the Texas representatives would have achieved any notable results. But we do know that the Students' Assembly was to pass on the question, and they did not even have a quorum present to vote one way or the other. Presumably the Assembly is elected to serve the campus, and presumably the meetings are to be attended. Yet twice within the last ten days has the Texan announced meetings postponed because of a lack of a quorum. Offhand, it seems that the students who elected the Assembly expected their officers to at least have quorums at their meetings.

Sunday morning we rowed across the lake to Bee Creek. There had been a heavy frost that morning, and the sheltered spots on the shores were solid white, contrasting with the dark shadows beyond. Upon the quiet back water of the creek was a thin coating of ice which broke at the slightest touch, along its cliffs and beside its crystal pools, until the little brook gave way to intermittent pools of stagnant water. We found a shallow spring and cooked lunch, then circled back over the nearby hills. During the whole morning and early afternoon we met not a single person.

Perhaps approaching examinations explained the desertion of the lake, but I doubt it. There are hundreds of students—this is no exaggeration—who do not even know that there is a University boathouse there, who do not know that for a small sum they can rent a boat or be taken across the lake in a motorboat, and who never see the beaut of the hill country west of Austin. Many of them will travel several thousands of miles in the summer, vacationing among the scenic places of other states, and never realize that Texas has just as beautiful scenes in such unadvertised sections as the country around Austin. Try it for a change.

Pinkus Swirshitzik, from an ice bound Russian home, is coming to the University. Pinkus of the funny name will be welcomed by the students, we hope, whether his English is fluent or not. The foreign students upon the campus, despite linguistic handicaps, maintain a higher average than do our home students. This is probably based upon the same reason that makes our American students in France and Germany probably have similarly higher averages. A student who is willing to travel

PRICKLY PEARAGRAPHS

AMEN!

We've tracked wild beasts in pathless wastes,
And fought 'mid snow the polar bears;
Had rounds with monsters of the deep,
And taken all kinds of foolish dares.
Oh, we can make bad hombres sick,
Make bill collectors meek as lambs;
But what strikes fear within us here
Is the thought of final exams.

Joke's on Us
The poets sang
In days of old
Of ladies fair
And knights so bold.

With feeling strong
They wrote of love,
Of perfect bliss,
Of heaven above.

Of nature's charms,
Of ev'rything,
And then some more
Their poems ring.

They wrote and wrote,
And made it hot.
If we wrote such
Stuff we'd be shot.

Thanks

The fall term being about over we wish to thank those who have contributed. Honorable mention should go to George Jones, Abe Mehl, Forrest Bennett, Freshman Bayley, Etta Martin, and Bert Barksdale.

"Bill likes to make pointed remarks doesn't he?"
"Yeah! He told me to go sit on a tack."

half around the world for an education, often at his own expense, or one whose record justifies his nation or a friend sending him, will make good. He realizes that he is here for a serious purpose, and he works with that thought in mind. That is more than can be said for a rather large number of American students. We'll be glad to have Pinkus here.

Prof (before exam): Smith, have you been burning midnight oil?
Smith: No, sir. I don't experiment with new brands. Ordinary "lube" is good enough for my flivver.

When your little brother writes to you, you know Christmas is near.
Short story: He told everybody that he cut his face all up while shaving, but his windshield is broken.

Obsolete
"Do you mind if I smoke?"
"Can you drive with one hand?"
"I go to bed at 9 o'clock every night."

"Do you dance?"
"Do you like my hair bobbed?"
"I think jazz music is terrible."
"Girls ought not to use powder and paint."

We suggest that the honor system could be more effectively enforced if "The Eyes of Texas" were sung before each exam.

THEATER CALENDAR

Majestic: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, "The Dark Angel."
 Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, "Go West."
Queen: Monday and Tuesday, "Lord Jim."
 Wednesday and Thursday, "Only Thing."
 Friday and Saturday, "Winds of Chance."
Texas: Monday and Tuesday, "The Manicure Girl."
 Wednesday and Thursday, "A Reckless Romance."
 Friday and Saturday, "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall."

QUEEN—MONDAY

Theatergoers will have an unusual opportunity to see a real picture when the film "Lord Jim" comes to the Queen Theater for a two days' showing, beginning next Monday. The last showing will be Tuesday night, and no one who is interested in Joseph Conrad's work can afford to miss this film on his book.

"Lord Jim" is a sea picture. Those who love the sea will obtain all the thrills and entertainment which goes with the showing of this kind of picture at the Queen, Monday.

QUEEN—WEDNESDAY

The screen has a new blonde heroine. This time a famed brunette beauty, none other than Eleanor Boardman, donned a golden wig to appear in Elinor Glyn's production of "The Only Thing" as a golden-haired princess.

The role of the Princess in "The Only Thing" is one of Madame Glyn's most important and alluring heroines. The story was written directly for the screen, and with Miss Boardman in mind from the very beginning as the living personification of the leading feminine character. The finished production is coming to the Queen Theater on Wednesday.

Conrad Nagel plays the chief male role, that of the Duke of Chevenix, and others important in the cast are: Vera Lewis, Carie Clarke Ward, David Mir, Mario Carillo, Arthur Edmund Carew, and Edward Connelly. Midnight matinee Tuesday night, 12:05. Texas Collegians will play.

TEXAS—MONDAY

"The Manicure Girl," which will be shown at the Texas Theater on Monday and Tuesday, is an original story for the screen by Frederic and Fannie Hatton, who wrote many big Broadway stage hits. Edmund Burns plays opposite the star. Hale Hamilton, Dorothy Cumming and Mary Foy are a few of the prominent players in the strong supporting cast.

Frank Tuttle, who made "Miss Bluebeard" and "A Kiss in the Dark," directed.

TEXAN—WEDNESDAY

Hungarian literature is following the lead of the French and Spanish in providing material for American photoplays. The latest is the Al Christie laughing feature entitled "A Reckless Romance," which comes to the Texas Theater next Wednesday. This is from the Hungarian by Emil Nyitray and Herbert Hall Winslow.

The great cast includes Harry Myers, T. Roy Barnes, Wanda Hawley, Sylvia Bremer, Tully Marshall, Jack Duffy, Lincoln Plumer, Morgan Wallace and George French.

TEXAS—FRIDAY

In "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," the United Artists' release, coming to the Texas Theater next Friday, Miss Pickford again appears as a grown woman, but instead of the rags of the street she wears gorgeous clothes against a background of beautiful settings, and is a fashionable lady of Elizabethan England.

It is a real test of the versatility of this star, and she rises to greater histrionic heights than at any time during the past. The part of Dorothy Vernon calls for the utmost in dramatic acting, with expressions varying from the comedy for which Miss Pickford is famous to extremely dramatic moments, one of which shows what happens when she realizes that in her haste she has caused an order to be given for the death of her lover.

As Dorothy Vernon, Mary Pickford appears more beautiful than ever, and the vivacious and willful little lady of Haddon Hall will win the hearts of those who see the picture, just as in it she wins the heart of Sir John Manners.

MAJESTIC—THURSDAY

Real cowboys were used exclusively in making "Go West." Buster Keaton's personally directed satirical comedy of the great open spaces, which is coming to the Majestic Theater on Thursday. Plenty of real ones were available, but with 5,000 fractious steers to handle, the frozen-face comedian, who also directed the pro-

27 CANDIDATES ALREADY OUT FOR TRACK SQUAD-- 13 LETTER-MEN RETURN

Twenty-seven men are now coming out for places on the University track squad of 1926 according to Coach Clyde Littlefield.

A list of these men given by Littlefield follows: Sandi Esquivel, El Paso; Earle Connor, Eastland; Benell Budd, Waelder; Aubrey Cockrell, Alvin; Harry Miller, Austin; Bob Neblett, Jackson, Tenn.; Aubrey Gooch, Ennis; Sammy Glass, manufactured. You will see them when this picture is shown at the Queen Theater next Friday.

MAJESTIC—MONDAY

"None but former doughboys need apply!"

That was the slogan of George Fitzmaurice when recruiting a battery of field artillery, a troop of cavalry and a company of infantry, which he used at United Studios for a wartime sequence in his screen version of the famous stage play, "The Dark Angel." His entire young army was manned and officered by A.E.F. veterans, and a military atmosphere on the lot was complete.

duction, decided to place the herd in experienced hands.

The Keaton troupe spent a month on location in Arizona, sixty miles from a railroad. When the "grapevine" telegraph of the desert country broadcast the news that a big movie aggregation was to make a picture there, natives came from hundreds of miles around to offer their services.

Several cowpunchers rode for two days to reach the improvised ranch that was built in the barren lands. All of them were hired to help handle and guard the steers, which were transported to Arizona from Texas by special train and then driven across the desert to location. Subsequently the animals were driven back to Kingman, Ariz., loaded on another special train and taken to Hollywood for the final sequences of the picture.

QUEEN—FRIDAY

The Volstead act is making accuracy in motion pictures more difficult than ever. Old sourdoughs insist that cases and kegs of whiskey were among the first supplies rushed to Dawson City, Alaska, during the gold rush. In filming Rex Beach's "Winds of Chance" for First National release, Director Frank Lloyd had to have some of these, and he declared that nowadays they are as scarce as great augs and dodos. As a matter of fact, he had to have some

Notes on New Library Books

The loan desk especially Miss Olive Price, has been very busy in odd moments the last few weeks compiling a list of material in the library on Christmas. The result is now posted on the bulletin board in the reading room, where it can be easily consulted. While far from exhaustive, the list is much too long for publication in full; a selection only is therefore given from the Christmas stories:

Allen, J. L., "The Doctor's Christmas Eve."
Auenbach, B., "Christian Gellert's Last Christmas."
Browne, Frances, "A Christmas Cuckoo."
Bunce, O. B., "Mr. Bluff's Experiences of Holidays."
Davis, R. H., "A Recruit at Christmas."
Dickens, Chas., "Christmas Stories."
Dunbar, P. L., "Mt. Pisgah's Christmas Possessum."
Durand, R. S., "Voyage on the Wee Red Cap."
Fox, John, "Christmas Eve on Lonesome." — Christmas Night with Satan.
Freeman, M. E. W., "Christmas Jenny.—A Stolen Christmas."
Gale, Zola, "Christmas; a Story."
Grenfell, W. T., "Two Christmas-masses."
Hale, E. E., "Stand and Wait; a Story of Christmas."
Harris, J. C., "The Baby's Christmas."
Harte, F. B., "Christmas Gift That Came to Rupert," "Dick Spindler's Family Christmas," "How Santa Claus Came to Simpson's Bar."
Jewett, Sophie, "Christmas at Greccio; a Story of St. Francis."
Kelly, Myra, "A Christmas Present for a Lady."
Lagerlof, S. A., "A Christmas Guest," "The Emperor's Vision," "Legend of the Christmas Rose."
Murfree, M. N. (C. E. Craddock), "Christmas Day on Old Windy Mountain."

After making an extensive study of the temperaments and diseases that group coat tails of historical characters, Dr. MacLaurin, after giving the lie to much of the gossip associated with the names of these people, goes and adds several choice bits of scandal of his own which he has picked up in his travels. After making us feel a bit ashamed because he revealed so much of these notable women and concealed so little, Dr. MacLaurin relates the incident which inspired Schopenhauer to write his tirade against that "short-legged, long-haired race—the females." ### "MERE MORTALS"

Strange, indeed, but a modern doctor has given us an unscientific book filled with personal glimpses of famous men whose names are familiar to all persons with a high school or college education. Written in a simple, direct style understandable to the layman, "Mere Mortals" by Dr. C. MacLaurin, M.B.C., F.R.C.S.E., LL.D., draws aside the curtains of life so that we actually become acquainted with Arthur Schopenhauer, Frederick Nietzsche, Baruch Spinoza, the peculiar Dr. Johnson, and the old kings and queens of England and Germany.

After making an extensive study of the temperaments and diseases that group coat tails of historical characters, Dr. MacLaurin, after giving the lie to much of the gossip associated with the names of these people, goes and adds several choice bits of scandal of his own which he has picked up in his travels. Perhaps for the first time has a book been published which gives a true account of the wildness of Anne Boleyn and the flirtations of Queen Elizabeth.

After making us feel a bit ashamed because he revealed so much of these notable women and concealed so little, Dr. MacLaurin relates the incident which inspired Schopenhauer to write his tirade against that "short-legged, long-haired race—the females." Because Schopenhauer discovered a maiden seamstress gossiping on his stairs, "incontinently took her by the waist and threw her downstairs with a coarse description of her character to boot; and after her flung her sewing and the tools of her trade," he became embittered against women and wrote his caustic epigrams. Said lady took the case to court, and Schopenhauer was forced to pay her a pension of nine British pounds a year for the rest of her life. After all, he had little reason for loving women.

Perhaps the only phrase which smacks of the medical profession is "Wassermann test," used one or more times in every sketch. If it does nothing else, Dr. MacLaurin's "Mere Mortals" completely answers the oft mooted question and satisfies us that the world is growing better instead of worse.—S. J.

Regent Gives Rare Book to Law Library

On the occasion of the recent meeting of the Board of Regents of the University, Judge S. C. Padelford of Fort Worth, a member of the board, presented to the law library a copy of the first edition of a notable book. It is entitled "The Life of William, Late Earl of Mansfield, by John Holliday of Lincoln Inn, Esq., F. R. S., and Barrister at Law." The book was published in 1797. It is still in a fine state of preservation both as to binding and text.

12 SUSPENSIONS FALL TERM-- 'HOT CHECKS' DROP TWO STUDENTS FROM 'U' ROLL

In order to answer numerous inquiries which have been made regarding the administration of discipline in the University, and at the same time to acquaint all of the students better with the disciplinary situation, so as to assist them in conducting themselves in conformity with these regulations, the following statement has been prepared by Dean Hubbard:

All matters of discipline which have not been delegated by the Faculty to the students (with the exception of certain definite offenses, such as bad checks to the Auditor of the University, which call for specific penalties) are handled by the Faculty Discipline Committee, and penalties, in case of guilt, are fixed by this committee. The decisions, after being determined by the Discipline Committee, are administered by the Dean of Students' office, this function having been transferred by the Board of Regents during the past summer from the office of the President to the office of the Dean of Students.

Twelve Members Committee

The committee at present consists of twelve members, as follows: E. M. Clark, J. A. Carrell, C. T. Gray, C. T. McCormick, T. S. Planter, C. P. Patterson, J. E. Pearce, J. W. Ramsay, Irving Stewart, W. P. Webb, F. A. C. Perrin, and B. F. Pittenger.

The purpose of increasing the personnel of the committee from three to twelve members was three-fold: In the first place, the larger committee makes it easier to interpret Faculty opinion in regard to the interpretation of Faculty and Regent disciplinary regulations. In the second place, by dividing the larger committee into groups of three members, for the handling of particular cases, the administration of discipline is not so burdensome to the individual members. In the third place, occasional change in the personnel of the committee will not be so likely to involve a change in disciplinary policies.

The policy of suspension in all cases of public drinking, and drunkenness, has been reaffirmed as thoroughly established, and the attention of the students is called particularly to this fact. Other offenses have been discussed, and for the following offenses has been decided upon as an appropriate penalty in the absence of very special extenuating circumstances: taking liquor to a place where there are women, illegal possession of liquor or carrying same to a home or boarding or rooming place, theft, or the sale of stolen property. This list is not to be considered, however, as including all of the offenses for which students may be suspended.

The committee has also gone on record as definitely reaffirming the University policy regarding group responsibility, with especial reference to a social organization which gives a dance or other social function and which permits drinking or other disorderly conduct at such a function, either on the part of its members or of its guests. In regard to this the following resolution has been passed:

Organizations giving public functions shall be held responsible for taking all reasonable steps to prevent drinking and other forms of disorder, and for helping the Discipline Committee to discover all offenders; failure to do either one will mean a serious penalty; it is understood that the responsible individual or the responsible organization, or both, may be penalized.

Students Arrested

The University has adopted definite policy of taking up all students who are arrested by officers of the law. In this connection, the students of that it is possible to be found not guilty in the city, county, or district courts, and still be guilty of violation of the University regulations. One case in point is the regulation regarding drinking. In order to be guilty in the courts, for instance, it is necessary to establish the fact that the offender is intoxicated to the extent of having lost control of himself, but it is not necessary, as far as the University is concerned, to be completely intoxicated in order to be found guilty of drinking. Another case in point is the legal technicality that in cases such as assault the two contending parties involved in the assault case cannot both be guilty; that if one of the contending persons is guilty of assault, the other cannot be guilty. Technicalities such as these do not hinder the Faculty Discipline Committee in rendering decisions in accordance with facts as established.

In regard to theft, there is reason for believing that it is not going to be as easy in the future for the occasional thief who seeps into the student body to escape punishment for this offense as it has been in the past, and attention is called to the fact that there is now in operation at several of the book stores of the city a system of checking on books which are sold to them which makes it extremely hazardous to dispose of stolen property at these places.

Twelve Suspended.

Since the beginning of the long session of 1925-26 a number of cases have been tried by the various sub-committees of the Discipline Committee, some of which have resulted in conviction and others in acquittal. In the case of convictions, the penalties have been either probation or suspension, depending upon the character of the offense. So far twelve students have been suspended this year by the committee alone or in conjunction with the Men's Council and the offenses which drew these suspensions were drinking, theft, association with lewd women, and the presentation of false testimony.

In addition to these suspensions, a number of students have been disciplined under automatic regulations of the Faculty and the Board of Regents. Among such cases are the following: A former student who refused to come before the Discipline Committee and answer the charges against him. This student has been barred from re-entering the University at any future time under the regulation that Persons not registered in the University, when accused of misconduct that affects University life and work, if former or prospective students, will be called for trial, and unless they appear they will not be admitted later to the University.

Another student has been automatically dropped from the rolls of the University because of his indictment by the grand jury under the regulation that

A jury indictment for a felony or other offense of a serious character automatically suspends the student, without prejudice, pending trial.

Admission Denied Five.

Five former or prospective students have been notified that they will have to appear before the Discipline Committee before being allowed to re-enter the University, the offenses charged against these students being, respectively, drinking, theft, the passing of bad checks, and refusal to remain off the University campus while under suspension.

Two students have been automatically dropped from the University for refusing to make good checks which could not be cashed.

Three students have been dropped from the University and barred from re-entering at any future date for presenting false entrance credentials.

This list of convictions represents less than 1 per cent of the student body. Still, it must appear to all right thinking students that, if their own good name and the good name of the University are to be adequately protected, even the small number of law-breakers now enrolled should be eliminated.

The foregoing statements and examples are offered for the sole purpose of informing the student body, in order that fewer of these offenses will occur in the future, and fewer penalties will have to be imposed.

There is no implication that such offenses are increasing. On the contrary, serious cases of misconduct on the part of students are becoming fewer and fewer; a fact which has been noted with gratification by both University and city officials. The student body, as a whole, deserve commendation for the straight-forward conduct of the great majority at all times, and for the steady decline of the influence once possessed by trouble-makers.

Cold Water Suits Members Turtle Club

"Fall term tryouts for the Turtle Club are being held in the Y. M. C. A. pool in spite of the fact that the water is not being heated any more," stated the president of the club.

"Each of the thirty members is taking these tryouts," she continued, "and will be graded on her ability. These grades on tryouts will be given each term and the averages will be made in the spring. Those making the highest averages will be given emblems, silver turtles, and gold turtles according to their rank."
