SPRING TRAINING FOR FOOTBALL TO COMMENCE MONDAY

Athletic Council Grants
Coach Littlefield Permission to Train

TRAIN FOUR WEEKS

Beular, Joe King, Baldwin,
Sewall Among Lettermen to Participate

By LYNWOOD BOYETT

Starting Monday, the athletes that are to fight Varsity's gridiron duels next fall will begin the long grind that will not come to a climax until the Orange and White of Texas battles the Maroon and White of Aggie land on Kyle Field in the annual Thanksgiving Day contest. The Athletic Council has granted Coach Clyde Littlefield permission to start spring training, and the first meeting of prospective candidates for next year's Longhorn football eleven will be Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. At this time plans will be made for the pre-season training period. Coach Littlefield and the members of the football coaching staff will be present.

Although Monday will be the first day that the men can be seen in practice, old Z Hall will be surrounded with the seasonal football atmosphere the last of this week, for the issuing of equipment will take place Friday and Saturday. Footballs, orange sweaters, shoes, the doctor's kit, and other such paraphernalia that goes with the gladiators of the gridiron will be given out by Major Ekdahl.

Lasts Four Weeks

Spring training will last for a period of four weeks. During this time those out will be drilled in the fundamentals of the game. Kicking, passing, blocking, tackling, sidestepping, etc., will fill the programs for that afternoon so that when the call is sounded next September the squad will be able to swing into the more complicated work that goes with a smooth-running machine.

The number of candidates reporting for spring practice will probably be the largest that the coaches have had in many moons, and among this quantity will also be found a certain amount of quality. A wealth of material is coming up from the frosh squad and a large number of last season's lettermen will again tread the turf for Varsity. As this material is looked over, the prospects seen are rosier than an early-May rose blush. Most of those that will be on hand Monday will be men of from one to two years' competition in Southwestern circles.

Mainstays Are Back

Little Eddie Beular and Joe King will be able to fill Mack Saxon's shoes when it comes to running the team. Leo Baldwin and Ike Sewall are old lettermen that did not participate in any of last season's contests. Patsy Allen, Hughes, Ford, Captain Rufus King, Estes, and Jimmie Boyles are lettermen answering the role for backfield positions, while Captain Ox Higgins, Rhoades, Tignor, Wray, McCullough, Terrell, Coffey, and Cowley will be lettermen back for line positions. Out of 21 lettermen, there are only six lost to the 1927 team.

From the frosh team debuts that boy, "Big Un" Rose, Brown, Pugh, Cheatham, Modisette, Krueger, and numerous others who are going to make somebody hustle a bit if they make the call of the referee's whistle announcing the kickoff. A number of reserve lettermen will also be on hand for the building of a formidable football machine.

Looks like some tough afternoons in store for the Kansas Aggies, the Vandy Commodores, S. M. U. Mustangs, and the Texas Aggies—worst foes on the 1927 Longhorn schedule.

LARGEST LONGHORN CIRCULATED TODAY

March Issue of Campus Literary Magazine Is Ready for Students

Do you know a lazy fat man in your home town who spins yarns by the hour? Or an ignorant sheriff whose hazy ideas of justice could be outwitted by a romantic vagabond? Or a ranting member of a women's club who still insists that French novels aren't "nice?"

If you do or don't, the March issue of the Longhorn Magazine, which will be distributed beginning at 10 o'clock today at the University Co-op, will interest you, according to opinions expressed at a pre-view of the magazine Tuesday.

Featured by an unusual number of book reviews, three short stories, two essays and numerous prose sketches and poems, the March issue of 48 pages is the largest issue ever published.

This is the third issue in 1927, and from the January, February and March issues the best poems, for which a prize of $15 is offered each term by the University Co-op, and the best prose selection, for which a term prize of $10 is offered by the Home Drug Company, will be selected by a group of judges and announced within the next week, according to the editors. Only two more issues of the Longhorn will appear and students desirous of publishing material to compete for the long session prize of $50 offered by the Texas Book Store for the best prose selection should submit copy to the editors in L Hall at once, it was announced.

FOUR HOMERS IN STEER-PONY CLASH

Teams Split Two-Day Series;
Last Game Furnished
Hectic Struggle

By DICK McMURRAY

Brilliant pitching by Hume, a newcomer to the conference, gave S. M. U. the second game of the Texas-S. M. U. series by a 5-4 tally. The game, which was featured by home runs of Harris, Hume, Walker, and Speer, was one of the most thrilling games ever staged on Clark Field. The score seasawed throughout the contest and it was not until the final out in the ninth that the S. M. U. team had put the game on ice.

A paradoxical situation presented itself to the packed grandstand that saw the Ponies and Longhorns lock up through the long nine-inning hectic battle. The heavy bats of the Texas team that rang so frequently Monday were completely silenced, while the sticks of the Mustangs rang out at will, putting the Ponies on the sacks in nearly every inning of the game.

Mueller, a young Texas pitcher who hurled the five innings for the Longhorns, was highly ineffective and was touched for one, two, and three hits in every inning he was in the box. In his six inning stay he was touched for 10 hits that scored four runs for the Ponies, giving them the victory. While Baker, who took the mound in the seventh, was credited with the loss, it was not due to his pitching that the game was not a Texas victory. It was the brilliant headwork of the Texas team behind Mueller that saved the game from being a top-heavy victory for the Ponies.

Hooks and Speer Heroes

Hooks and Speer were again the heroes of the Dallas team that carried home the victory. It was Speer's homer in the seventh that gave S. M. U. the 5-4 lead that ended the game in a brilliant victory for them. And it was Hooks' brilliant work at first and at the bat that filled in behind the team for the necessary punch to put over the Mustang win. Craig, who substituted for Kimbrough behind the bat, was also an effective contributing factor to the S. M. U. victory, as his triple in the second inning scored a run, as did his double in the sixth, and following that double, he himself scored in front of Hume's homer.

The Longhorns had a glorious opportunity to win the game in the ninth inning when they staged a brilliant rally that filled the bases with but one out. Harris then ended the game by hitting into a double play. It was a case of S. M. U. luck, however, that kept the winning run from crossing the plate. For Mann, the Pony shortstop, who was playing in and out of position, took Harris' hot liner which should have gone for a single.

Several factors contributed materially to the Longhorn loss. Davis, a new centerfielder, dropped Dublin's fly ball to center which should have been an easy out, and which cost the Longhorns the winning tally. Then, had Baker been sent into the box an inning earlier, the defeat might have been staved off. Then, (Continued on page 6)

Steele to Address the Legionnaires

The University Post American Legion and its Auxiliary will have a dinner this evening at the University Cafeteria at 7:30. Those men and women who are eligible but who have postponed joining are invited by the presiding officer, and they are expected to be present. This would be a very appropriate time to join the Legion, it is pointed out.

Major S. N. Ekdahl, coach of the Men's Rifle Club, will preside. There will be a number of informal talks given by various members of the Legion and other invited guests. Those who will make informal talks will be J. Frank Dobie, Frank Stewart, Captain Ramsey, and Lieut. Steele. For the ladies, Mrs. Chas. Joe Moore will speak. A short musical program will be given by Mr. S. N. Ekdahl, who is a popular Austin soloist. The old members of the Post will answer to the questions concerning the reason for membership in the Legion.

The officers hope that a large attendance will be had, as there is important business to be taken up at this meeting and all members are requested to be present. The only invitations extended will be through the press and it is hoped that a large meeting will be the result.

Racquet Club Nears End of Tournament

Matches in the Racquet Club's Round Robin Tournament started in December and will be finished one week before "T" Night. Winners will be awarded a gold and a silver pin in the form of a racquet.

During the first two weeks in May the All-University Women's Elimination Tournament will be held. Women faculty members, students, and University officials may compete. This tournament will involve both singles and doubles.

Griffith Speaks at Reading Thursday

Dr. R. H. Griffith of the English department will be in charge of the regular public reading this week. The subject of the reading will be given in Thursday morning's Texan.

The public reading will be held as usual Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock in room 12 of the Biology Laboratory.

ASSEMBLY MEETS TODAY

At the Assembly meeting today at 4 o'clock a blanket tax committee will be appointed, the eligibility bill will be discussed, and routine business will be attended to in addition to the bill proposing the creation of an executive board for furthering athletics to replace the Senior Council.

POLLARD LEAVES FOR TEXARKANA TO UPHOLD McDONALD WILL CASE

Attorney General Claude Pollard passed through Austin Tuesday on his way from San Antonio to Texarkana, where he will take charge of the University's defense in the contest of the McDonald will. The appeal from the Paris District Court will be heard by the Court of Civil Appeals at Texarkana on Thursday, March 31.

Relatives of W. J. McDonald, who left more than a million dollars to the University for the erection of an astronomical observatory when he died last year, have contested the will. Judgment was rendered, in favor of the University in the probate court and in the district court at Paris. If the decision is upheld at Texarkana, there will be only one further possible appeal, the supreme Court.

The contest over the will of the late W. J. McDonald of Paris, Texas, who left $1,000,000 to the University for the construction of an astronomical observatory, has delayed the consideration of sites. Up to this time only 12, ranging in size from 50 acres to 600 acres, and located between one and 45 miles from Austin, have been considered. The committee in charge of the location is soon to renew activities however. New spots will be visited in the hope that conflict over the will in the higher courts will soon be at an end. The observatory will probably be constructed near Austin.

Mayes Will Address Texan Staff Members Thursday at 4:30

Governor Will H. Mayes, former chairman of the department of journalism, will get acquainted with the Texan workers and give a short talk at the regular spring term meeting of the staff Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in M. B. 157, the editors have announced.

All student in the University wishing to sign up for work of any nature on the paper are asked to attend the meeting.

Following Gov. Mayes' talk, instructions and information will be given the workers and announcements for the term made. All reporters, assistants, issue editors, department heads, and special writers are expected to be at the meeting.

Graduate Students Eat Chicken Friday at Barbecue Event

Graduate students of the University will be engaged from 4:30 until 7 p. m. on Friday on the banks of Barton Creek, participating in an old-fashioned chicken barbecue, with emphasis on the "chicken." Several shipments of the choice fowls have already arrived, with special cars coming in each day, it is said.

Aside from being an informal get-together for the graduates, this meeting promises high class music by select members of the Glee Club, swimming, a good lunch, and a delightful rest from the toils of the day.

Graduates who wish to take advantage of this opportunity for a much-needed outing should make reservations with Miss Allen in the Garcia Library, according to Estes Hargrave and Justine Harris, co-chairmen of the attendance committee.

NECESSITATE J HALL REMOVAL

Enlarged Structure to Involve Half Million Dollars of Building Fund

By MATTIE SALLER

An extension of the present library building to cost approximately half a million dollars is under consideration of the Faculty Building Committee, Dr. J. W. Battle, chairman said yesterday. It is probable that the west wing of the building will be expanded necessitating the removal of J Hall and the University Press. Arrangements would have the changes completed by the fall of 1928.

The extensions would include new reading rooms, work rooms, more stacks, and seminar rooms would be provided for. The architecture would be the much the same design as the present building harmonizing with it. A Dallas architect is working on blueprints now. The amount of enlargement will depend on the appropriations secured for the building changes.

Some discussion was held in regard to building another library building, to be located either west or south of the Main Building. Such a structure would cost approximately one million dollars.

The reserve library which is now in the north wing of the Main Building would be moved to the enlarged library. If these plans are approved by the faculty they will be submitted to the board of Regents at their next meeting April 18.

Building Funds Available

The money for this building is to come from the University Building fund of approximately $450,000 a year secured from interest on oil royalty bonds. The legislature having passed a bill in the fall requiring that the interest on this money be used for building purposes at the University each year. It will allow for one new building each year if the rate of interest does not deviate.

The extension of the west wing of the library would necessitate the tearing down of J Hall and the University Press. These departments would probably be moved to the Little Campus, possible suggestions have also been made as to moving them to the old power building or building a new shack for them.

VISIT OF DADS AND MOTHERS STIRS HIGH IDEALS AMONG STUDENTS HERE

By GUSTAVO W. FERNANDEZ

"Gosh, you better hurry up hiding them Greta Garbo pictures before anything else happens," said the stude, when he prepared himself and his surroundings to welcome his parents in a most humble manner, for the Dads' and Mothers' Day! The brand new "Standard 45" (charged on the annual account) and all the new apparel for the spring, were also confined to the most inextricable places of the room; the Bible was placed in a prominent place on the table . . . and everything was ready for the arrival of the High Powers of the family.

As for the co-eds, both the package of Chesterfields and the latest novel of Percy Marks were substituted by a set of bodkins and a copy of the Ladies Home Journal. (Of course girls that do not smoke and do not read popular books did not have to effect such substitution.)

When the parents arrived, they saw with argeable surprise that their children did not look something like what they had seen in the college magazine they received at home . . . "What's the name of that book? Oh, yes, the Ranger." And they were still more surprised when son and daughter solicitedly conducted them through the different beauty spots of the campus, instead of running around with their friends like they used to at —ville, the old home town.

Such gentle dispositions shown by the children could not be spoiled by unpleasant memories, according to Dad's opinion, and so, he, with that admirable tact that only parents can have, avoided any allusion to last term's grades, while Mother would proceed to divide the cake she made at home, listening with complacency to sister's detailed story on the clothes she had to buy ("just had to") for the winter and spring terms.

The day passed by, with not a single cloud (silver-lined or not) to disturb the patriarchal happiness of the family, and when the time of departure came for Dad and Mother, edifying resolutions and laudable determinations came from the young people, assuring their parents to make better grades in the spring. But Daddy, in the meanwhile, would wink at Mother, saying with irresistible logic, "Byons will be boys."

REED TO LECTURE ON MUSIC DRAMA

Music Director to Give Two Public Lectures on Drama, "Parsifal"

Two University public lectures will be given Thursday of this week in K Hall on Richard Wagner's music drama, "Parsifal," by Mr. Frank L. Reed, Director of the University Conservatory of Music. University lectures are free to the public. These will be illustrated by ninety lantern slides showing the scenes of the drama and also the symbolical interpretation of the story as well as the music. "Parsifal" is a religious drama and has a significance other than the mere story of the text and the visible drama. It is this inner hidden meaning that the lectures interpret. The Introduction and First Act will be given in the first lecture at 4 o'clock and the second and third Acts in the evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Reed has been a student of Wagner music and literature for many years and has assembled an interesting collection of pictures on the subject.

UNIVERSITY HAS LARGE NEWSPAPER COLLECTION

The University of Texas has a most extensive collection of newspapers. This collection includes the local papers, county-seat papers, and papers of the larger cities from all over the state. The editors send in free of charge. They are bound each month and then filed. There are daily papers, weekly papers, and semi-weekly papers. The state papers are also recorded.

These papers date back to 1850; the papers published before this time are filed in the archives and are kept in vaults to ensure their safety. Among the University collection are national papers and papers from other states that date back to 1820.

The most important national papers are the New York Tribune and New York World, and the filings of these papers cover a long period. The National Intelligencer was the most important paper filed up to and during the Civil War. The most important national paper today is the United States Daily; the collection of this paper was begun in 1926.

There is an extensive collection of foreign papers among the files. There are papers from all over the world; France, Germany, England, Mexico, Latin America, etc. These are daily papers, and they are compiled monthly.

The University's most valued collections, however, is its collection of Southern papers, covering a period before and during the Civil War. Mr. Littlefield donated a special fund for this collection, and very valuable copies may therefore be obtained. Collections are being purchased all the time. Such papers at the Charleston Courier, New Orleans papers, and early Tennessee papers are included among those filed.

NOEL TO DISCUSS DUST EXPLOSIONS

Gives Illustrated Talk in K Hall Auditorium This Evening at 7:15

Wednesday evening, March 30, at 7:15 p. m. W. A. Noel, Mechanical Engineer of the United States Department of Agriculture will exhibit a motion picture reel together with lantern slides in the Auditorium of K Hall on the subject of "Dust Explosions." In addition to this exhibition, Mr. Noel will also show a miniature grain elevator in which actual dust explosion are produced.

The Austin Chamber of Commerce has sent out invitations to those men engaged in the grain business, oil mills, wood working establishments, and also fire marshals, fire chiefs, insurance men, chemists, and professional engineers. Consequently a number of business men are expected to be present at this demonstration.

Anyone who is interested in the subject of Dust Explosions is invited to come to the demonstration. The Chamber of Commerce has arranged for the lecture to be on the University Campus in order that those students who are interested in this subject may have the privilege of learning more about it.

J. W. Gruber will be in charge of the motion picture machine, and Sidney P. Smith, Vice-President, Industrial Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce is in charge of the general arrangements.

EASTER APPAREL

Will be ready soon. Watch for important announcements from Austin's leading merchants in The Daily Texan.

INTERSCHOLASTIC WELCOME PLANNED

All-University Committee Is Working Out Details of Program

Tentative plans have been adopted for an all-University welcome for the Interscholastic League contestants when they come to Austin May 5 in their seventeenth annual meet. Plans are being drawn up by a committee appointed recently by Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, and Dr. M. R. Gutsch, the chairman, has made assignments as to the preparation of the various parts of the program.

The program will be in three parts, an introduction with addresses of welcome, an exhibition by various student activities, and a concluding benediction. Governor Dan Moody is scheduled for the principal address, "Education and the State," while President Splawn will give a welcome talk and T. H. Shelby, dean of extension, and Roy Bedichek, head of the league, will make other speeches.

The Longhorn Band, Austin High School Band, Orange Jackets, Cowboys, Athletic exhibitions by men's and women's classes, the two glee clubs, and the Choral Club are the organizations scheduled to appear on the second part of the program.

A special souvenir edition of The Daily Texan will be distributed to the contestants and visitors upon their registration Thursday morning.

Playwright, Mother of Student, Visits Campus

Mrs. Molly Godbold, mother of Nat Godbold, University student, was a guest for the Dads and Mothers celebration. She is the author of "Help Yourself," a comedy in three acts which has been presented in various Texas towns recently. This comedy can be played without or with music. She is a descendant of the famous Melly E. Moore Davis, the noted Texas authoress. Mrs. Davis' work can be found in the archives of the University.

Around the Bases

With Dick McMurray

You can't ever tell what a left hander is going to do. About 10,000 of them went to war and not a single one was killed.

At Waco there are two dangerous left handers. Both are pitchers for the Baylor Bear baseball team. Stallings is the name of one, and Sheldon is the cognomen of the other.

Now, children, this Stallings went into the box against the T. C. U. Bullfrogs Friday and did right nobly. He allowed the Bullfrogs but five hits, and crashed out four of the seven hits that the Bears had. Two of them were homers that sent across the seven winning runs that featured in the 7-5 Baylor victory over T. C. U. to open the conference season. No, you can't ever tell what a crazy left hander will do.

Morley Jennings, new Baylor coach, is second only to Billy Disch of Texas as the greatest baseball man in this part of the country. Under the tutelage of Frank Bridges, Stallings did fair, but was wild, but Jennings seems to have ironed out most of the difficulties and developed a real star. He is an excellent coach for pitchers, and has certainly worked wonders with a team that was shattered by the gruesome Baylor tragedy.

All of which looks bad for the Longhorns when they go up against the Bears in the first Baylor series that will be played in Waco April 14 and 15. The Bears also have something besides pitchers.

A. & M. AND RICE

At Aggieland Friday, the Rice Owlets gave the Aggies the scare of their lives. The score of the opening game of the series between these two teams was 6-5 in favor of the Aggies, but the score seesawed so much during the game that the spectators were dizzy from looking to see who was ahead.

Hillion, the Aggie pitching ace from last year's team, was used against the Owls. He allowed them but four hits, but these were timely, and coupled with two Aggie errors, resulted in five runs that came close to beating the touted and highly praised Aggie team. Bob Ables was the Rice pitcher, and held the big bats of the Aggies down to eight bingles, but eight hits is enough to win an ordinary baseball game.

The Aggies already have their flagpole erected on which they are going to fly the pennant they win this year.

We just wonder if that flagpole hasn't a bit of grease on it.

SMART BASEBALL

Tyrus Cobb, who is now connected with Texas A. & M., and who formerly was a manager of one of Coach Disch's championship teams was in Austin Thursday to see the Longhorns and Detroit play. Cobb, who is an excellent baseball authority despite his miniature frame, said that the Aggies had a better team of natural baseball players than the Longhorns, but that they were dumb.

Cobb thinks that Disch's brains will put Texas over to another championship. With Texas' usual smart baseball teams, they should be able to beat the Aggies, even though the Aggies may have a better club.

A bit of smartness was exhibited in spurts by the Longhorns last Thursday against the Detroit Tigers. There was one flaw in the game that over bloated the whole smart game that they played, however, and that was when they allowed Fothergill to steal home.

Time and again the Longhorns caught Detroit runners off base, and on the only occasion when the Tigers tried the double steal, the lead runner was caught. One Tiger tried to pilfer second on Allen, but was thrown out by fully three feet. Time and again during the afternoon the brains of Baker and Allen combined to break up squeeze plays, and the hit-and-runs that would have put the Tigers in the lead earlier than they got there.

GREETINGS, CAPTAIN OLLE!

In selecting Olle as captain of the Longhorn baseball team, the six Longhorn lettermen made a wise choice. Olle is the best all-around athlete in school, and is a stellar performer in football, basketball, and baseball. Baseball is perhaps his best sport, though he has been mentioned for all-conference honors in the other two sports as well as in baseball.

If ever a man deserved to be captain of a varsity nine, Olle does. A hard worker and an excellent athlete, and a generally likeable chap who doesn't have an enemy anywhere, Olle should make an ideal leader.

Olle has crashed into the lime-light as a hero de luxe twice in his stay in Texas University. Last year against Southwestern, the Cap poled the pill over left field fence to score a winning run ahead of him, after two were out in the ninth and Texas was a run behind. This year against the House of David baseball team, Olle knocked two homers, one of which came in the ninth inning to tie the score and end the game a 3-3 deadlock.

Olle's excellent record at Texas University is preceded by one equally as brilliant at T. M. C. There he was a stellar four-letter man, and they still talk about him in that school as one of the greatest athletes that ever graced it.

The Chicago White Sox are anxious to sign Olle as soon as he gets through with his college season this year. Eddie Collins at Shreveport last year went out of his way to see Olle play, and after watching him, remarked as to the brilliancy of his maneuvers around the hot corner and at the bat.

Not only is Olle an excellent athlete, but he is an excellent student, making the best grades of any man in the "T" Association at present. He has been awarded every honor that the school can bestow upon him except making him president or dean. Making excellent grades and competing in three sports is nothing to be sneered at. And if Olle chooses to go into professional baseball at the close of his college career, we venture to say that he will be one of the better players in the major loops.

The Aggie baseball nine is creating considerable uneasiness among the teams of the Southwest Conference, although their twin victories from Rice were not as impressive as they might have been. The Owls have one of the weakest teams in the conference since Grandpa Woods had to detour before he reached the eligibility barriers.

It is rumored that the Aggies have already erected the pole from which they will fly the 1927 baseball bunting. If Coach Rothgeb's men have gone this far we would suggest that they inspect, by the numbers, the foundation of said pole. Such newly built flag poles as this are going to see some bad weather before these

March winds stop blowing.

Spring is here, the men that will fight Varsity's gridiron duels next fall are wondering where the training is?

Arrived out at the Stadium Saturday just in time to see Shorty Alderson stage his own Relays. The men that didn't go to Houston, for the Rice Paces participated in the Alderson Relays that were on the program for the afternoon. The only difference that I could see between the Texas Relays of the day before and Shorty's races of Saturday was the absence of the three thousand officials and the one thousand spectators.

Shorty had the bunch spinning around the Stadium track like mechanical tops. If the seniors Higgins and Blanton keep running the 440 in less than 53 seconds as they did Saturday somebody's mile relay team will have to step.

Friday seems to be the jinx day for this boy Landi. Jerry after getting a bad touch-off to Scotty Wy-song in the half mile relay to spoil a good race was barely beaten in the 100 yard dash. And that word barely means a close win for some athlete. The Eagle Lake lad didn't even place in the event, but the picture that Dan McCaskill has on display sure makes the former Relay record holder look like he is helping somebody break the tape.

ANNOUNCE PRIZES FOR BBA RESEARCH

Subjects Relating to Business Development Sent to Dean J. A. Fitzgerald

Prizes for research relating to Business Development and the Modern Trust Company, and Allied Subjects have been announced for 1927, according to a bulletin received by Dean J. Anderson Fitzgerald of the School of Business Administration.

There are two prizes to be given as follows: Triennial Research prize of $2,500; and the Monograph prize of $300 for first place, and $200 for second place.

"The Triennial Research prize is awarded every three years for an unpublished study which is considered to contain the greatest original contribution to knowledge and advancement in the field outlined.

"The award will be made in the autumn of 1927, and papers are due not later than June 1, 1927. No restrictions are made as to eligibility of contestants for this prize."

For briefer studies, not exceeding 20,000 words in length, there are the monograph prizes which are awarded annually. This award will be made about December 1, 1927, and papers are due not later than August 31, 1927.

Competition for the annual monograph prizes is open to students in commerce and law, and in departments of economics of colleges and universities; and to graduate students who have not completed more than one year of graduate work. Master's theses in the field of finance are considered desirable contributions in this contest, according to the pamphlet issued.

Students or others who are interested in securing further information in regard to the prizes are invited to see Dean Fitzgerald, where a list of topics appropriate for papers may be secured, and more can be learned about the conditions of the awards.

Engineers Should Be Looking Ahead Today, Long Tells Ramshorn

ing Building with a very interesting speaker for the evening. W. E. Long of the Austin Chamber of Commerce was the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Long had as his topic, the verse taken from the Book of Proverbs that is to be seen on every Chamber of Commerce publication: "Where there is no vision, the people perish." In connection with his topic, Mr. Long stated the advisability of looking ahead of today.

Mr. Long stressed the point that the engineers of today should not refuse or pass up the opportunity to assist the younger and rising generation in any way possible. That the trouble with the engineers of today is that they forget how hard it was to struggle up to the position and prestige that he has now attained. It was shown that there was more happiness to be gained by sharing your knowledge and ability with some one who is less fortunate than to be selfish and adhere to the standard of letting every one stand on their own merits. The speaker did not mean that the person in question should depend on the successful one for entire aid but that there was always some little bit of help or a word of encouragement that means so much to the rising engineers. A short business meeting was held immediately following the talk, and social plans put forward.

Fathers and Mothers Hear Vesper Service

Many of the visiting dads and mothers were present at Vespers Monday evening. A very interesting program was given, including a solo by Mr. J. A. McCurdy, accompanied by his brother, Marion McCurdy; devotionals, conducted by Helen Roberts, who read verses from the Bible referring to love as a subject on Dads and Mothers Day; and a violin solo by Miss Lillian Augspurger.

Both these players are under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer but have never worked in the same picture before. It was directed by Phil Rosen.

"Heaven on Earth" is a story of France, mainly two French people—a vagabond and an aristocrat.

Gwen Lee, Julia Swayne Gordon, Marcie Manon, and Pat Hartigan complete the cast of this story, which was adapted to the screen by Marion Orth and Harvey Gates.

CRESCENT

A new flapper story makes its bow to the public in the Associated Exhibitors production, "Two Can Play," appearing today at the Crescent Theater with Clara Bow, Allan Forrest, Wallace McDonald, and George Fawcett.

Clara Bow is her usual flippant self but is in a situation which requires considerable tact and mental agility to handle.

Two men are wooing this capricious lady, and when the three are marooned on a desert isle, she is in considerable of a quandary to pick the winner. How she does what she does, and who proves the best man is told in a new and exciting manner, calculated to thrill the most blasé of movie-goers.

TEXAS

"Battling Butler" at the Texas is different.

It gives Buster Keaton the opportunity to again show his versatility.

He portrays a rich young idler who falls in love and then has to pose as a prize fighter in order to win the girl, whose family believes him to be a weakling because of his fine clothes, and luxurious surroundings.

The comedian takes the name of "Battling Butler" but when the real "Battler" appears on the scene, Buster finds himself hopelessly entangled in the web of deception. How he finally triumphs and whips the champion in a vicious battle that makes the fight in the original "Spoilers" look like a petting party, provides a sensational climax in which thrills vie mirthful moments.

MAJESTIC

For the last times today the Majestic Theater is offering one of the most unusual war dramas ever filmed. It is Pola Negri's new Paramount starring vehicle, "Hotel Imperial."

The three central figures are the chambermaid of the Hotel Imperial in a town on the Austro-Russian frontier, captured by the invading Russian general, and a fugitive Hungarian officer. These portray one of the tensest dramas that has yet reached the screen.

Pola gives a characterization in this film that surpasses even her DpBarry in "Passion" in the role of a chambermaid who is even luxury and tosses it aside in heroic sacrifice for her country and lover.

To The Students!

Most of us, of course, believe in a hereafter—but what is YOUR conception of a heaven on earth? Is it two persons in complete understanding with each other—a home where peace and harmony reign supreme—a happily married life blessed with healthy children? Or, perhaps, something greater than all these?

To our way of thinking a great love such as is exemplified in "Heaven on Earth," at the Queen Theater, today and tomorrow, comes nearer to being heaven on earth than any other blessing. In one inspired moment Edmond Durand (Conrad Nagel) renounces wealth and luxury to follow the wild, free life of a gypsy. The picturesqueness and glamour of this life and the heroic exploits of war combine to make this thrilling and enjoyable screen entertainment.

If you want to forget your troubles and worries for a few hours, see "Heaven on Earth." Starring honors are shared between Renee Adoree, star of the Big Parade, and Conrad Nagel.

Very truly yours,
L. R. Guyer, Manager.

Resists Corrosion

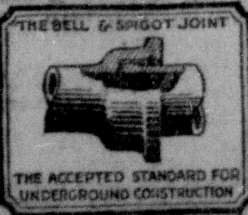

THIS picture, taken in the salt marshes near Kearny, N. J., shows two lines of 30-inch Cast Iron Pipe replacing pipe made of other material. The alternate exposure to the action of salt water and air is a severe test.

While the pipe shown in the picture is subjected to unusual corrosive influences, all underground pipe must be able to withstand corrosion to a greater or less degree. Cast Iron Pipe has this quality. It does not depend on its coating to resist rust; the material itself is rust-resisting. The first Cast Iron Pipe ever laid is in service today at Versailles, France, after two hundred and sixty years' service.

Joint Honor Council Meet Sentences One

At a meeting of the men's and women's honor councils held Monday night one sentence was given. The case arose over a charge of collusion filed by an instructor in French A. On an examination, it was brought out, the boy and girl in the case sat in the back of the room the boy in front of the girl.

During the examination the instructor noticed the girl apparently watching the boy's paper and in grading the papers a similarity in the mistakes was evident. Charges against the boy of giving aid were dismissed and a two term suspension sentence was given the girl. Dean Pittenger has approved the sentence.

ing short of brilliant. He allowed the Longhorns but seven hits and scattered them effectively. He was cool throughout the game, and worked well in the pinches. He completely silenced the big bats of Williams, Olle, and Hopkins, and gave up but a blow each to Baumgarten and Walker. In fact, his work was such that he could easily be classed among the leading conference pitchers if it is continued.

The Longhorns executed their famous double steal in the fifth, with Mueller on third and Williams on first. Olle, who was at the bat, swung at Hume's pitched ball, as the runners advanced, but Umpire Countryman ruled that Hume had balked, and Mueller scored.

The Longhorns scored first, in the initial frame when Harris hit the second pitched ball over the fence for a homer. The Ponies then evened the count in the next inning, when Dublin was safe when Davis muffed his fly, and later scored on Craig's triple to center.

Steers Lead in Fifth

The Longhorns added two more in the fifth which gave them a two-run lead, when Davis led off with a triple, and scored on Mueller's single to right. Mueller advanced to third on two infield plays, one of which was an error by Mann which placed Williams on third. He scored on the double steal.

In their half of the seventh, the Ponies came back with three runs which gave them a one-run lead. Howell led off with a single through the box, and was sacrificed to second. Craig doubled, scoring Howell, and later scored with Hume on the latter's circuit clout over the centerfield wall. Walker of Texas tied the score in Texas' half of the seventh with another homer, but Speer in the eighth sent the winning run across the rubber when he retaliated with another Ruthian wallop.

The Longhorns will go to Fort Worth Thursday for their next game which will be with T. C. U.

Modern smoking pleasure that never fails

THE smokers of this age are the most independent ever known. Accepting no hearsay, they have smoked out the facts. They have learned that the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown are rolled into Camels, that here is the incomparable blending for goodness, that Camels simply never tire the taste.

Camel is the cigarette that never fails to please the modern age. Regardless of how often you want the comfort of a smoke, of how steadily you light one after another, Camel will never fail you, never give you any but the finest thrill of smoking pleasure. This is why Camel's popularity, by far the largest in the modern world, keeps overwhelmingly in the lead. As modern taste becomes more insistent upon choice tobaccos, increasing millions discover Camel's incomparable mildness, smoothness and mellowness.

If you want the cigarette that's good to live with from morn to mid-night, the one that is the choice of the modern age, "Have a Camel!"
