Dear H. B.:

Just a note to express my appreciation of your kindness in taking time off to show me around your great university and thanks for the very fine Mexican lunch we had together. I always have enjoyed Mexican food.

We have had some samples of that transparent permanent vellum here that you were using in making drawings from airplane photographs, but right now no one in the place here seems to know where they came from. Would you mind giving me the address of where you got your material?

Kindest regards,

H. V. Howe
